State Highway Commission Holds Meet In San Diego

The California Highway Commission are convening in Southern California this week for a three-day business meeting and tour.

The commission, a citizen group which represents all Californians in guiding the State's highway program, will visit Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties.

Hearings are scheduled in San Diego Friday to permit the public to make presentations to the Commission.

Delegations already are scheduled to appear before the Commission as follows:

Friday, Supervisors' Chambers, Civic Center Building, San Diego. 10:00 a.m.—Highway 94 Improvement Association; 10:30 a.m.—San Diego Highway Development Association.

The chairman of the Highway Commission is Robert B. Bradford, State Director of Public Works and a public administrator for a quarter century. He is the only salaried employee on the Commission, the others all having been selected and appointed by a Governor as representative Californians who take time from their own businesses to contribute their counsel to the State Highway Program.

The Commission is making a series of trips similar to this one in order that the members may

Benefit Dance Is Big Success

The outdoor dance on the Youth Center tennis court given by the Junior Baseball Association and the Alpine Youth Center Saturday night was a huge success.

Many Alpine merchants donated prizes and women baked cakes to be auctioned. The prizes were raffled and the cakes were auctioned by John Thompson and Bud Cooper. Families also donated green stamp books to make it possible to purchase more prizes.

Winners of the prizes were: Mrs. Kenneth Drennon, one haircut at Bud's Barber Shop; Mrs. Bud Cooper, 10 gallons of gas at the Texaco station; Jimmy Mosier, two hamburgers and two malts at Jody's Malt Shop; Mr. Layman Lightfoot, a surprise gift from the Alpine Hardware; Jerry Mosier, two chicken dinners at the Log Cabin.

Vern Chynoweth, one lube and oil change at the Mobil station; Jack Mosier, two dinners at the Alpine Cafe; Gordon Gilroy, $5 grocery order at Florence's Market; Mr. Archer, one case of beer donated by Club Alpine; Vera Barkley, oil change at the Chevron Station; Steve Wilcox, two T-bone dinners

Youth Center Receives Benefits From United Fund

The Alpine Youth Center is able to provide the facilities and recreation for the youth of Alpine as it does largely because of funds provided by the United Fund organization.

The United Fund assumes the most of the maintenance of the building such as electric bills, telephone, etc. It pays the salary of the janitor, and also the salary of John Thompson, the summer recreation director.

Funds provided by the United Fund have purchased a new heater for the Youth Center, and also a new roof. A sum of $100 is set aside by the Fund for equipment used in archery, ping pong, badminton, baseball, and indoor games such as checkers, chess, etc.

These are just a few of the things the United Fund has provided for the Alpine Youth Center. Almost $4,000 was allotted for the Youth Center this year, which was $2,000 more than last year. The figure will probably be larger next year.

Jack Lovejoy, 1959 campaign chairman, says there is a new look this year in the United Fund's drive to recruit volunteers for the annual

Governing Board Meets At School

The Governing Board of the Alpine Union School District in a recessed meeting on July 20 authorized the transfer of district bond proceeds in the amount of $126,000.00 to the state school building fund.

The board also accepted the resignation of Martin Grissom, custodian in the school system the past two years. Mr. Grissom also taught art in the junior high school. The Grissoms are moving to northern California where they own a ranch.

The board then adjourned to executive session and discussed personnel problems involving vacancies which exist for bus drivers and custodians.

Alpine Heights District Holds First Meeting

An organization meeting of the Alpine Heights Municipal Water District was held Wednesday evening. It was the first official meeting for the District Directors.

The first action of the group was the unanimous election of Alex Adams as president. Mrs. Chireen Adams was elected secretary-treasurer. Mr. E. L. Freeland, an engineer and Alpine Heights property owner, was appointed general manager for the District.

Two District Directors, Fred Rohr and Floyd Lowe, had not filed their respective oaths of office, a legal requirement, and although present were unable to participate in the official proceedings.

The meeting was exceptionally well attended, over 25 percent of Alpine Heights residents being present. There was also good representation from all five sections of the district.

Thirteen items of business were discussed, among which was the proposal to have Mr. Freeland obtain information regarding all possible sources of water for the new district.

Engagement Is Announced Here

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Runbeck of Glen Oaks Drive, Alpine, announce the engagement of their daughter, Bobbi, to Cpl. Buck Sloan, U.S.M.C., Camp Pendleton.

Miss Runbeck is a graduate of El Cajon Valley High School.

The couple plan to be married August 30 in the Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church in San Diego. The new Mr. and Mrs. Sloan will reside in Vista after their marriage.

Mr. Hoval Bostwick, owner of B & R Drilling Company, is convalescing in Grossmont Hospital following surgery last week.

Editorial

In our opinion, a highly significant water development occurred in Alpine this week. The Alpine Heights Municipal Water District held its first official meeting.

Although this was principally an organization meeting, it is noteworthy that among the first items of business was the appointment of a business manager with the delegated function of assembling valid information regarding the prospects of obtaining water from all possible sources. The manager was also asked to obtain information for the Board of Directors regarding annexations to the District.

We feel that the community will, in all probability, shortly give the Alpine Heights Water District a sincere vote of confidence and that the applications for annexation will not be long in coming. It should be pointed out that parcels of land to be annexed do not necessarily have to be contiguous with the current district boundaries.

Any motorist who has been caught behind a giant trailer rig on one of our freeways, and has experienced the jolting effect of worn pavement in the truck lanes, can sympathize with the correspondent of the Sacramento Union who cried out in exasperation recently that the right name for freeways should be Freightways. So can the taxpayers who build and maintain these roads. And so can those other taxpayers, the railroads, who suffer business-wise as well from this tax-subsidized competition.

In a very true sense our great highways have become to be the "rights-of-way" of a burgeoning freight business. They must be built to withstand the tremendous pounding of heavy loads, at millions of dollars in extra costs to those who pay for them. Whereas the railroads maintain—and pay taxes on—their rights of way, the truckers ride almost free.

This inequitable situation has long been a serious factor in the desperate financial problems of the nation's railroads. Every new State or federal highway project merely compounds it. It is to the great credit of the railroads that despite governmental indifference to this problem, they have done much on their own to alleviate it, in so far as they can within the antiquated rate regulations that still strangle them. The rapid growth of piggy-back transportation of loaded truck trailers is a case in point.

By literally lifting heavy trucks off the highways, and depositing them at a terminal near their destination, the railroads have provided a triple service. They have met competition by sharing it; they have made a start toward clearing the highways; and they have given both shippers and buyers the advantage of using the fast heavy transportation facilities which only the railroads can furnish.

The Russians lacking a precisely similar sound in their tongue for the English letter "h," have taken to calling our new secretary of state "Mr. Gerter" at the current foreign ministers' meeting. Secretary Gerter should not feel too badly, however. It happened before to notables like Cordell Gull, Garry Gopkins and Averill Garriman. Some American leaders, like Franklin D. Roosevelt, escaped humiliation, but not many. Garry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower must still wince every time it happens. A counter weapon, gappily, is available to our side at the four-power talks. Mr. Gerter can insist on calling Foreign Minister Gromyko "Mr. Homyko". Sauce for the hoose is sauce for the hander, by holly. (Boston Herald).

Motorists Warned On Turnouts

Vacationists who will be taking trips into the mountains of California this summer are being reminded by the California Highway Patrol that the new "turnout" law will be strictly enforced wherever appropriate signs have been posted.

Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden noted that the turnout law requires slow moving automobiles to move aside and allow impeded traffic to pass. Turnout areas have been built on two-lane highways throughout the state where traffic and road conditions warrant. Signs reading "Turnout one-quarter mile" give advance notice while others reading "Turnout" mark the location.

"Under the law, a motorist who is being followed by five or more cars must turn off at these marked locations and permit the cars behind to pass," he continued.

POLITICAL PARADE

California's Governor Edmund G. "Pat" Brown is a full-fledged, all-out candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination — all protestations to the contrary notwithstanding.

That is the hard-boiled opinion of many professional campaigners who profess to know the difference between a favorite son candidate and the real thing.

Brown, according to many practical politicians, is not merely waiting for lightning to strike, as did former Governor Warren, but has a team of men who are aggressively working to land the nomination for him.

Kennedy Annoyed

Senator John F. Kennedy, of Massachusetts, himself a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, has become so annoyed with various democratic Governors declaring their States out-of-bounds for avowed candidates as to comment:

"If States are going to abolish Presidential primaries and favorite sons are going to block off national candidates from running in their States, the effect is going to be to deny the people voice in the selection of the party nominees."

Kennedy reportedly has told friends that if the favorite son trend continues, he will not hesitate to step in and challenge.

Western Bloc

A strong move reportedly is afoot in the Western States to line up all presidential delegations in an uncommitted or favorite son manner and then follow the lead of California's Brown.

As the Democratic presidential race looks at this time, Brown stands a chance of snaring the nomination. He is leading from strength. A popular Governor of a key State apparently working closely with key Democrats in other Western States will have a tremendous amount to say about the Party's nominee if none of the out-in-the-open candidates can secure sufficient delegates to win nomination on the first two or three ballots when the party faithful gather in Los Angeles for the national convention next summer.

Synonymous: Summer and Full-Skirt Cottons

Dark cotton for summer is done in a rich tapestry print, left, with fitted midriff of velveteen. At right, ever-popular full-skirted dress has square neck inset with rows of frilly lace. Fabric is mixture of nylon, cotton and acetate. Both are by Betty Barclay.

Full-skirted cottons for hot weather are as American as apple pie, baseball and the hot dog. Like the shirtwaist dress, they bloom again and again, no matter what the current fashion. There are several reasons for this. But the important ones are that full skirts are cool, and pretty, too. They also hide hip problems and turn even a girl who's inclined to bulge in the wrong places into a semblance of a willowy beauty. They're easy to maintain, for those full skirts are not at all difficult to iron. And many of them have been given a crease-resistant treatment which makes them even easier to handle on an ironing board. The full-skirted fashion is one for every age, starting with the teens and going right on. Styling is far more sophisticated, of course, for the mature woman. But basically, it's the same fashion, and one of the few classic styles that looks good on a teen-ager and her mother, too.

minimal points for State highways and study highway matters in all parts of the State, Bradford explained. "We want to get a first hand impression of planning and construction in the people's ideas," Bradford said.

"Our trips will supplement the more formal procedure and ensure that we personally and individually keep in touch with the people and the problems."

Members of the Commission, in addition to Bradford, are:

James A. Guthrie, vice chairman; a member of the Commission since 1943, publisher of the San Bernardino Sun and Telegram, daily newspapers.

Chester H. Warlow, also a member of the Commission since 1943; a retired banker and attorney of Fresno, a highway enthusiast for nearly a half century.

Robert L. Bishop, member since January, 1956; automobile dealer and former mayor, Santa Rosa.

Arthur T. Luddy, member since January, 1959; insurance man and former member of the City Planning Commission, Sacramento.

Roger S. Woolley, member since March, 1959, attorney and leader in the San Diego Highway Development Association, San Diego.

The background and work of the Commission was explained by Bradford, the chairman:

"The State Legislature determined that the best way to keep California's expanding highway program close to the people and responsive to their wishes was to delegate the responsibility and authority for highway routing and budgeting to the Highway Commission.

"The Legislature establishes ter-delegates the determination of the Lovejoy reported more than 2,300 volunteers for canvassing the County's 9,000 plus business firms already are signed up—as many or more than were working when last year's drive ended.

"This year, when section chairmen begin setting up their teams, they already will have pledged workers," he said.

Lovejoy pointed out that hundreds of thousands of persons in San Diego County benefited in one way or another through the programs and services offered by agencies supported through the United Fund.

"So, since so many benefit, I thought the work should be distributed on an equally wide basis," he said. "The average Manpower recruit will need to spend only a maximum of eight or nine hours, and that's not too much, considering the many dozens of agencies that will benefit."

Lovejoy said he was shooting for about 3,500 Manpower volunteers.

This fall's United Fund campaign goal was set June 18 at a meeting of the Fund's Board of Governors. An "austerity" goal of $3,123,425 was decided upon as the minimum required to keep almost 100 health and welfare agencies in the county operating.

exact routing to the Commission. The Legislature sets up the rules governing the general apportionment of highway user tax funds and delegates the detailed budgeting to the Commission.

"The Legislature created the Commission as an unsalaried body, a body of unsalaried officials to give conscientious guidance to the program. The Commissioners' terms were arranged to provide continuity of membership and policy through changes in State administration.

"The Legislature made the Director of Public Works chairman of the Commission to provide working liaison between the policy-making Commissioners and the operating Department of Public Works.

"The Commission established procedures which provide that it will consider and study the views of interested citizens, the suggestions of local government agencies, and the recommendations of the State Highway Engineer.

TEEN TALK

By JANIE

Last Friday night, July 17, the Senior Pilgrim Fellowship members of the Alpine Community Church were hosts to 10 incoming members t a gay swimming party and wiener roast. The gala event was held at Shadyrock Ranch with everyone having a wonderful time.

Speaking of having a wonderful time, that's exactly what the Junior and Senior Pilgrim Fellowship groups hope to do Friday night, July 24, at their second skating party. They plan to start from the Community Church at 6 p. m.

Anyone who is interested in joining either the Junior or Senior Pilgrim Fellowship is welcome to attend the meetings on Sunday night from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Alpine Community Church.
