Amusement Project Plans Reported

Initial plans are reported to be progressing for the possible future development of a western recreational attraction approximately 5 miles east of Alpine.

The proposed multi-million dollar project is to be located on a one-hundred acre portion of the Indian Reservation on old Highway 80.

A group of developers are supposedly negotiating for a 25-year lease on the site. Members of the group, however, have been unavailable for authoritative comment.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs is allegedly considering the project, but has not indicated whether it will approve or disapprove the development.

School Board Accepts Architect's Plans

In a regular recessed meeting Monday night the Alpine School Board accepted the final working drawings prepared by the school architect, Clyde Hufbauer, and authorized a call for bids on construction of the Harbison Canyon School.

September 21 was set as the date for the bid-opening.

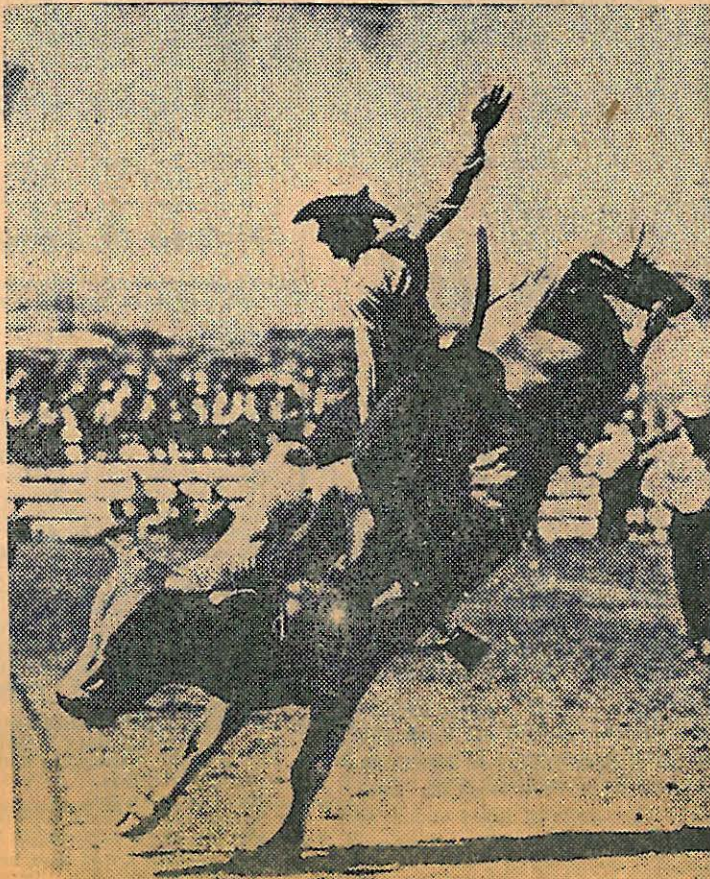

All Night Square Dance Saturday

Everyone is invited to the All Night Square Dance on the tennis court at the Youth Center Saturday, August 22.

The dance, sponsored by the Alpine Allemanders, will start at 8 p.m. Breakfast consisting of hot cakes, sausage and coffee for $1 will be served from midnight on.

Guest callers will be on hand, and plenty of door prizes. Put on your buttons and bows and join the Allemanders for a night of real enjoyment.

Bull Puts Riders In Orbit

"Sputnik," the terror of the big-time rodeo circuit, is about to catapult another rider into space. He will make a special appearance in Sacramento at the 1959 California State Fair and Exposition's first rodeo slated for the final four nights of the Fair, September 10 through 13. The picture was taken before special regulations for this Brahma bull went into effect, that now require the rider to wear a crash helmet and a catcher's mask. The Rodeo Cowboy's Association outlawed the animal from approved competition after several of the top cowhands were orbited into hospital beds by the ornery critter. "Sputnik" is the only bull to ever be placed in this dubious classification.

Funds Allocated For Purchase Of HC Site

Word has been received via telephone that on August 11 the State Allocation Board approved the purchase price of the new Harbison Canyon site at a unit cost of $2,686.10 per acre, a total of $35,000.00 for 13.03 acres.

Previously, all plans, specifications, and applications concerning the building project have been accepted and approved by the various State Agencies involved.

Call for bids on construction of the new building will go to press in the El Cajon Valley News this

Fire Dept. Cancels Burning Permits

The Alpine Volunteer Fire Department has cancelled all burning permits as of August 11 due to the hazardous fire conditions in this area, according to Fire Chief Jack Blenkinship. This has been done for the safety of the community and as a protection to the people. Violators will be fined. Notice will be made when burning permits will be issued again.

It might be well to mention a few facts about our Alpine Volunteer Fire Department at this time. The Department is made up of men in the community that have other jobs, but are interested in the welfare of the community. These men are: Jack Blenkinship, Fire Chief; Lee Roper, Mace Bratt, Malcolm Huey, Weldon Wilson, John Findel, Red Frey, Tommy Thompson, Bob Wilson, Harry Jennings, Lonnie Dennis, John Bates, Frank Moreno, Bob Bos-

It looks as though the association is on its way to another successful year.

Editorial Echoes

Although Alpine residents have been pre-occupied with the prospects of community water, one urgent problem is being currently overlooked. And it is a problem which many feel should be settled long before the advent of further development.

About two years ago, an application for area zoning was filed with the San Diego County Planning Commission. The Planning Commission considers applications in sequence and Alpine is now near the top of the list. The department is presently completing zoning studies for Fallbrook and Poway. Santee is next. Puma Valley follows. Alpine then has its turn.

If the work of the Commission proceeds as planned, Alpine may come under scrutiny by the end of this year. The group first makes a basic study of the requirements of the area and holds discussions with local representatives. Zoning proposals are drafted and issues discussed with area residents at a series of public meetings. The final recommendations of the Planning Commission are ultimately presented to the Board of Supervisors for adoption.

One can easily visualize the chaotic development should any kind of mass population growth proceed without orderly zoning requirements. If the area is ready to undertake any extended development which community water might bring, it should be receptive to zoning. In fact, if there is not reasonable agreement throughout the community, Alpine may be bypassed by the Planning Commission—an action which would necessitate an additional waiting period of about two years.

A great many harassed pedestrians and city planners will be watching with keen interest the 45-day experiment now underway in the heart of Toledo, Ohio, where all vehicular traffic has been told to get out. In a four block area, walking has been made the only legal form of locomotion, and trees have replaced traffic lights; potted plants have superseded parking meters.

The experiment sprang from a suggestion made two years ago by Lewis Mumford, writer and city planner, who observed that "Either the motor car will drive us all out of our cities or the cities will have to drive out the motor car." Since then, a number of cities have banded the Mumford idea about, but Toledo seems to be the first of any size, at least, to do something about it.

If the project proves its value, Toledo may soon be known not only as the world's largest coal shipping port, but also as the city where the metatarsal came back into its own again as part of the human anatomy.

Higher state taxes, which are deductible from federal tax returns, have U. S. Treasury officials concerned. The cost to the federal government is estimated at $1 billion with the increased take of the States aggregating $3 billion.

Hoegh Says Every Family Needs A Fallout Shelter

Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Leo A. Hoegh says "everyone, even those far from a likely target, would need shelter

 ... most could be saved from fallout" in the event of an enemy attack.

In the introduction to "The Family Fallout Shelter" Mr. Hoegh says: "In an atomic war, blast, heat and initial radiation could kill millions close to ground zero of nuclear bursts. Many more millions — everybody else—could be threatened by radioactive fallout. But most of these could be saved."

Mr. Hoegh pointed out that the Federal shelter policy is based on the knowledge that most of those beyond the range of blast and heat will survive if they have adequate protection from fallout.

The OCDM booklet contains building plans for five basic fallout shelters. One is a do-it-yourself project with solid concrete blocks. Cost of the shelters ranges from $150 to $1500.

Copies of "The Family Fallout Shelter" may be obtained from local civil defense offices or by writing: Box Home Shelter, Battle Creek, Mich.

THE ALPINE GARDENER

Oleanders are the subject for this week. The shrub grows as high as 20 feet and as wide as 25 feet, thrives in hot weather and dry climates. It is attractive at any time of the year and flowers during the summer and fall.

There are several varieties of oleander, the difference being in the flower. Some are single while others are double ranging in shades of white, light pink, salmon pink, deep rose, red and yellow.

Soil is not a problem, and the oleander can take wind, heat and reflect heat. The shrub can be pruned in the early spring by cutting off the old wood and pulling off the sucker growth. The oleander makes a good border flower for driveways, walks and places where color is needed. A tree may be formed by removing spreading and suckering growth. Many people in Alpine are growing oleanders as they do not require a great quantity of water, and are a beautiful and colorful specimen if properly taken care of. Just a word of caution—remember all parts of the plant are poisonous if eaten.

Iris may be planted for spring bloom at this time. Next week will feature the planting of iris and the various types available.

The Alpine Ramblers Teenage Club has just held an election of new officers, and the results are as follows:

Tommy Dun, president; Terry Buchmiller, vice-president; Patsy Eggleston, secretary; Leana McCarty, treasurer; and Dennis Chynoweth as sargent-at-arms. Sound like a capable bunch, don't they?

Charles Bradley has just returned from Boy Scout camp where he has been helping as counselor this summer. Linda Bradley is leaving soon for an air trip to Los Angeles to visit her aunt and uncle.

Michele Hughes, one of Alpine's teenagers, has just recently moved to Chula Vista.

Attention all "Beatniks" Friday night, August 28, will be your night at the Youth Center. The Alpine Ramblers are throwing a big "Beatnik" Party, from 8:30 p.m. to midnight! However, there will be no admittance after 9 p.m. so be sure to be there before then.

The admission charge to this wild festival is 25c, and everyone is cautioned to bring 25c or 50c in pennies, just in case you get fined for doing something wrong. Everyone is to be dressed in some sort of a "Beatnik" costume, which, of course, is a must at a "Beatnik" party! Be sure to wear old clothes, too! I won't tell you why, but believe me you'd better!

I hear the refreshments will be something special, too.

So, all you "Beatniks" mark that day on your calendar, and be there at 8:30 p.m. Cr-r-azy!
