Serving a Growing Area of Homes and Ranches

Raging Brush Fire Threatened Alpine

Aided by 20 mph winds and very hot temperature, a fire raged out of control last Sunday in the Dehesa area. With the help of seven planes, 200 fire fighters, 17 trucks and three bulldozers, it was brought under complete control early Monday morning.

The Alpine Fire Department sent their two trucks to the scene when the fire entered Alpine territory just below the Oeser residence on Alpine Heights and for a while all the homes on Alpine Heights were in danger because of the chance for a shift in the direction of the wind. A few acres of the Willow Glen Farm were also burned.

Other residences that were seriously threatened were the two homes of the R. E. Tift's of 6433 Dehesa Rd. Also threatened until back fires were started was a por-

New 4-H Leaders For Alpine

After many years of service to the Alpine 4-H Club, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Landt are being replaced by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blankenship, the new leaders.

Jack and Pat Blankenship will be on hand at the next regular meeting of the group, to be held 7:30 p.m., October 16 at Fuller Hall, at which time all interested parents and children may find out the requirements for joining and also may sign up at that time.

There is a need for project leaders who are willing to work with the children when they raise their animals. Sewing machines are available at Fuller Hall for the young ladies and anyone interested in such activities is welcome to come to this meeting.

The first Tuesday of each month will be a family night affair and the third Tuesday of each month is devoted to projects of the group.

At the last meeting of the club, Mr. Vern M. Butterfield, a member of the San Diego Kiwanis Club and well known authority on development of the San Diego Port gave a discourse on this subject.

Tragic Accident Involves Local Man

Last Monday evening, Knut A. Svensson of the Willows, returning home from work, apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his pick-up truck, less than one mile from his home. The car left the road and plunged into the under-brush off the main highway. Mr. Svensson was rushed to the El Cajon Hospital where he later died Tuesday morning.

Mr. Svensson was the son-in-law of the Carl Schweiss of the Willows, and had been in the county eight years, coming from Sweden where he was born. He was a self-employed building and remodeling contractor. He leaves his wife, Jo Ellen and four small children, who reside with her parents.

Hearings To Be Held On Aqueducts

Senator Hugo Fisher (D-SD) today announced that the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Water Resources will hold a hearing in San Diego October 18 and 19 on the timing and financing of aqueducts of the State water facilities in Southern California. He said the hearing results from Senate Resolution authored by him. (SR 23, June 1962 session). The resolution pointed out that eastern and western branch aqueducts were specifically provided for in the State Water Plan in a bill by Senator Fisher enacted in 1959. The Water Committee was asked in the resolution to "investigate the timing of construction of such branches of the aqueduct, with a view to determining the factor of cost, of service to needful areas, and a guarantee of continuous supply to all areas now serviced by the Metropolitan Water District, as well as the need to supply from such proposed aqueduct branches other areas not now serviced by the Metropolitan Water District."

"State plans contemplate two aqueduct branches, roughly of equal size, starting at a point just south of tunnels under the summit of the Tehachapi range," Senator Fisher said. "One, the west branch, would terminate in the immediate Los Angeles area. The east branch would extend to the"

Law Enforcement And The Press

The week of October 14 through October 20 has been designated as National Newspaper Week. The U. S. Department of Justice calls attention to remarks made by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, pertaining to the responsibility of the press in regard to law enforcement.

Mr. Hoover's remarks were made in an introductory statement in the October 1962 Law Enforcement Bulletin and are as follows:

"Law enforcement and the press, in their separate pursuit, have an essential relationship in helping to preserve our Nation's priceless heritage. Both professions perform a sustaining and vital service. Their contracts with the public, although implied, are based on trust and dependence.

Freedom of the press is one of the indispensable adjuncts of a democracy. Our forefathers felt so strongly on this point as to enact constitutional safeguards, stating, "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press. . . ." The American people, not the newspaper editors and publishers, are the real beneficiaries of this honored principle.

The free flow of legitimate information, unshackled by censorship, is a basic right not always fully appreciated by the public. Without it our society, as we know

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

Autumn arrived last evening just at sundown. It drifted in with a soft sighing breeze from the west where the brand new moon hung like one silvery eyelash in the pink sky. The air held a waiting stillness.

This is the beginning hush of summer's insects, those which buzz and hum through the warm evenings, making the air pulse with their sleepless season. It is the stillness that comes with the slackening of this life that goes on, unobserved by us, in the trees and shrubs, in grass and all living plants and in the dust, giving the hum of fruitful life to summer days and nights. This hush is the prelude to the silence of winter sleep for all those countless inhabitants who share our hills and mesas with us in warm weather.

Indications point toward an early winter. I found a tarantula already gone to bed for the season. He was asleep, curley up in a tight brown ball under a blanket of leaves which were under a board in the garden. He had already begun to take on the faded brown of the hibernator, losing the darker shade that makes him so hard to see as he hunts smaller insects in summer shadows.

Carpenter bees have almost all quit working in the redwood posts. Only an occasional individual booms blundering around the work area. Some cocoons, I don't know what kind, have clustered in the water tank house rafters a month earlier than last year.

And those little desert weathermen the brush rats, are frantically building their nests high up in the wild shrubbery on the west side of the mesa. They say when these rodents build their houses high, it is a sure sign of good rains. The rats always plan to be above the flood level.

The pack rats are trying valiantly to make trades with us for chicken feed and corn. They bring olive pits from the grove across the draw and leave them beside the feed bins in exchange for grains picked up. Somehow we always seem to spill a bit of grain where they can get it. We take the olive pits away each day. Silly? Who knows?

The way the world's human inhabitants are behaving towards each other now, I often wonder whether we really are the superior species. For a pack rat to cross that draw to that grove and back with an olive seed in each cheek

Local Residents Heading Horse Show

The Appaloosa Breeders Association, whose headquarters are in Alpine, is holding a horse show at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona on October 13 and 14.

The Association conducted its first horse show last March at the same location, at which show there were entered the largest number of Appaloosas to be entered at any previous show in California.

Mr. E. L. Freeland, the President of the Association, and Miss Margaret Lowthian, its secretary, are both local Alpine residents. Miss Lowthian states that the entries that have been received for this show total 202 individual Appaloosas and 64 horses of breeds other than Appaloosas, which entry

Post Office Improves Service

The Post Office Department is continuing its management and service improvement program in all post offices throughout the country having city delivery service, Raymond R. Holmquist, San Francisco regional director, announced today.

In the San Francisco region, which has 432 city delivery offices throughout California, Nevada and Hawaii, the program was started in the San Diego post office, September 18, according to Holmquist. The program was initiated in the Sacramento post office on July 5, 1962.

"The management and service improvement program is designed to encourage all offices with city delivery to improve service, increase efficiency and reduce costs," Holmquist pointed out.

Holmquist added that a novel feature of the program will be the establishment of a study team composed of Regional officials, post office supervisors, and representatives of postal employee organizations, to stress the employee-management coordination policy established by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

PTA Regular Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Alpine PTA will be held at the Alpine School auditorium on October 9. The meeting will be called to order at 8 p.m. with Mr. Norman Foster, president, presiding.

Special feature of the evening will be the presence of Dr. Charles Collins, Dean of Instruction of the Grossmont Junior College. Dr. Collins received his masters degree at Berkeley and his doctrine at Stanford. He has had four years of educational experience in Germany. He comes highly recommended as a speaker and will offer an enthusiastic and sincere talk on the part a junior college plays in our community.

The public is cordially invited to join in this evening of information and fellowship.

Fleet Reserve Assn. Meeting

The Alpine Fleet Reserve Association will hold their regular meeting this coming Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Youth Center. All members are cordially invited to attend.

Zoning Committee Meeting

At the last regular meeting held on Tuesday evening, of the Alpine Planning Advisory Committee, Mr. Harold Mattley of the technical staff of the Planning Department reviewed a map of the district proposed by the County to be zoned, which includes the entire Alpine School District.

The Planning Department had previously presented to the committee a map of the district on which was indicated the type, or types, of zoning proposed by the technical staff for each of the areas in the district. The map reviewed by Mr. Mattley at the last meeting contained a few changes

Alpine Property Sale Reported

Mrs. Charlene Brown of Alpine La Mesa Realty reports the sale of the James H. Sockwell property on Marshall Road. This property consists of four nice rentals. The new owner is Mr. B. V. Sturdivant of Yuma, Arizona. Mr. Sturdivant owns the adjoining 20 acres with home where his mother has lived for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Sockwell and family will remain in their present home, renting from the new owner.

Griffin Booster Club Being Formed

A group, headed by Mrs. Maryann Shaw of Lakeside, are attempting to form a booster club to support the Grossmont Griffins football team. This club will be for the purpose of getting a crowd out to the games and have a cheering section to encourage the team.

The Griffins won their last game last week. They will play the Mt. San Antonio Junior College from Los Angeles this coming Saturday at the Helix High School Stadium. The Booster Club urges that everyone come out to this game and sit in the cheering section to let the Griffins know they have the support of the area.

Mrs. Shaw will appreciate hearing from anyone who is interested in becoming a member of the Griffin Booster Club, and she may be reached by calling HI 2-1556.

RABIES

We are informed by the medical profession that rabies is one of the worst ailments that can afflict a human being, and every attempt must be made to eliminate the possibility of human beings becoming afflicted with this malady.

Rabies has its origin in certain breeds of animals which can be inoculated against the disease, but since it would be impossible to inoculate every animal in the County that might possibly develop rabies, every care must be taken by each individual pet owner that their pets are safe from contacting the disease and possibly becoming a danger to themselves and their neighbors.

Each time that rabies is discovered in an area, the population becomes aroused to the point that harm might be done by destroying pets which have been rendered safe from the disease if such pets are not under the control of their owners during the periods when strict enforcement of the rabies controls are being exercised.

FIRE

The danger to the Alpine community from brush fires should be very apparent to every resident in this community. During the past few months there have been several brush fires close in to the settled communities, any one of which under less favorable conditions could have resulted in great damage to property and the community.

The fire hazard is not reducing, but is becoming more acute during the fall months, so all of us must use every care to see that fires do not start. We have been very fortunate to date that our Federal, State and local fire departments have been able to control the fires before much damage was done, but we should take no chances.

County Declared Rabies Area

The entire County of San Diego has been declared a rabies area by the State Department of Public Health.

This designation permits State and local law enforcement officers to deal more severely with dogs and other animals subject to rabies who are found roaming at large within the county.

Small areas in the county adjacent to the Mexican border had previously been declared rabies area, but the new order from the State Department places the entire county in this category. After the South Bay area had been declared a rabies area, the State and Federal agencies prevailed upon the authorities in Mexico, particularly in Tijuana, to help control the possible spread of rabies by eliminating the large number of dogs now roaming both within Mexico and the south part of the county.

The Mexican authorities have started a drive which resulted in the elimination of a large number of stray dogs during the first day of operation which started last Wednesday.

Dog owners, in order to insure that their pets will not come under the quarantine restrictions, should have their dogs vaccinated against rabies if they have not been so vaccinated during the past two years, and also should keep them under strict control at all times.

ZONING

Continued from Page 1 from the original map which were explained to the committee by Mr. Mattley who also gave their reasons for proposing the changes.

The committee discussed briefly the zoning proposed in some of the areas within the district, but decided to adjourn without taking action on the proposed zoning until the next meeting or future meetings.

The committee has been meeting on Tuesday nights, but the next meeting was tentatively set for the evening of Wednesday, October 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Clarence Stearns Death In Minneapolis

Word was received of the death of Clarence Stearns, at the Veterans Hospital at Minneapolis. He will be buried in his old home town of Zumbrota, Minn. Mrs. Stearns will be staying with her sister, Mrs. Niles Wedge of Zumbrota for awhile.

The Alpine Community Church is accepting contributions for a memorial in the church for Mr. Stearns.

OBITUARIES

Knut Aron Svensson, 35, of the Willows died in the El Cajon Hospital October 2 of injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Mr. Svensson was a self-employed building and remodeling contractor and had been in San Diego county eight years. He was a native of Sweden.

Surviving are his wife, Jo Ellen, three daughters, Elsa Gay, 5, Marta Jean 3, Barbara Jo, 9, and one son, Eric Alan, 8. He also leaves a mother, Marie Svensson, of Sweden, three sister and two brothers, also of Sweden, one sister residing in Africa and one in Washington. Mr. Svensson was the son-in-law of the Carl Schweiss of the Willows.

Private memorial services will be held Thursday, 4:30 at the Alpine Community Church, Rev. Roger Larson conducting the services. Cremation will follow, handled by Paris Mortuary of El Cajon.

Friends who wish may donate to the Cancer or Heart Fund, in lieu of flowers.

Law Enforcement

Misinformation and suppression of news are deadly enemies of a free people. In our world today these dangers are exploited by those who would destroy our way of life. Accordingly, the newspaper's role in keeping the public informed becomes increasingly significant.

Integrity in journalism, as in law enforcement, cannot be at matter of percentages. It must be complete and impregnable. As guardians of American liberty, the press and the police are charged with a sacred trust. Operations which closely affect the lives of millions of people must be exemplary and above reproach.

In addition to its innate responsibilities, the press is morally obligated to promote the furtherance of justice and the perpetuation of law and order. Indeed, much of the progress our profession has made in raising its standards to professional status is directly attributable to the support of editors and publishers who recognize the need for effective law enforcement. On occasion, to be sure, the penetrating eyes of the press have spotted evidence of abuse of authority and corruption within enforcement ranks. However, fair and objective reporting of such matters has proved to be beneficial to both law enforcement and society.

Actually, most public service campaigns conducted by newspapers aid the enforcement of law. Such worthy causes as traffic safety, slum clearance, drives against obscenity, and promotion of youth programs are a few examples. This is in addition to the gratifying results achieved by the press, and other news media, in locating fugitives from justice. For instance, since the inception of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" program, more than one third of the 157 criminals apprehended were located as a result of publicity.

It is only fitting, therefore, that we of law enforcement join in special tribute to the Fourth Estate during National Newspaper Week, October 14 through 20. As America's first line of defense, law enforcement is fully aware of the contributions to the welfare of our country made by conscientious editors and newsmen. We have come to welcome and to depend on their competent cooperation.

In discharging its responsibilities, law enforcement could not wish for a greater ally."

BRUSH FIRE

The origin of the fire is believed to have been near the Sequan Indian Reservation southeast of Dehesa and before the fire was controlled, had burned approximately 1,000 acres of brush land with only one reported injury to fire fighters.

Aqueduct

However, Senator Fisher pointed out, a preliminary study by the Metropolitan Water District reached the conclusion that the west branch should be completed by 1972 to two-thirds the capacity of the two aqueducts combined, and that completion of a smaller east branch be delayed until 1981.

"Important questions of the availability of water and of the quality of water that can be delivered in Southern California are involved in the sizing and timing of these aqueducts," the Senator said.

Intimate Glimpses

Miss Lowthian also states that other Alpine residents will play an important role in the conducting of this show. Mr. Norman Foster is the Show Manager, and Miss Lowthian, as Show Secretary will be assisted by Mrs. Hazel Foster and Mr. John Bilsky.

Grossmont College

The Board of Trustees of the Grossmont College District are planning the sale of bonds in the amount of $2,000,000 in the near future to furnish funds that will be required to start the acquisition of the Junior College site and commence construction of the college facilities.

The bonds to be sold will be a portion of the $7½ million dollars in bonds recently authorized at an election held for that purpose.

LAW IN ACTION

OUT OF STATE DRIVERS AND VEHICLES

Each year motorists by the thousands visit California and thus become subject to our traffic laws.

An adult pleasure car driver from elsewhere with a valid license can drive a year in California before he must get a license here. Others must get a California driver's license within 30 days. A youngster under 21 must get one within 10 days.

How do you know whether someone means to stay in California? You come to stay, the law assumes, if you get a job here.

The Department of Motor Vehicles often issues the out-of-stater a 60-day license until he gets his permanent one.

If an out-of-state motorist gets into an accident, he must put up cash or bonds to cover the damage, or show that he is well covered by insurance. Otherwise, the state may lift his driving license. An out-of-stater who has had many accidents before coming here may have his license suspended and his driving privileges taken away. California may store his car at his expense until he can show financial responsibility.

You can sue an out-of-state motorist who gets into an accident even when he leaves the state. You serve the papers upon him through the California Secretary of State who under the law is his "agent" for law suits if he gets into an accident.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Alpine Gardener

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

If you have not taken cuttings of your favorite geraniums yet, you had better not delay any longer as they do better while the weather is still warm, especially before the nights get chilly and there is too much difference between night and day temperatures.

Make your cuttings from three to five inches long. Remove all but two or three top leaves and make the cut about one half inch below a leaf joint. Short cuttings with closely spaced joints are best. There are more places for the roots to start from.

For a potting mixture take three parts leaf mold, three parts peat moss and two parts real coarse sand. Put broken pieces of old pots or a few small stones in the pot first for drainage. KeKep cuttings moist but not wet or they will rot.

As you take your cuttings you should prune the plants at the same time if they have grown rank and scraggly. Now if one or two of these tall plants have grown straight and sturdy, why not transfer it or them to separate pots to grow awhile making a small tree? Pinch the top out when you have it as high as you want, it and let it grow short branches and flowers at the sides. I have seen geraniums trained that way as well as other types of plants.

You may have seen tiny white flies around your paleragoniums and especially around your fuscias on the underside of the leaves. Well, get out your spray gun with the Black-Leaf 40 as prescribed on the bottle and spray the undersides of the leaves for that is where this type of varmit works. You will have to repeat this treatment for you can't get all these flies at one spraying. Mealy bug is another pest that gets on plants, on ferns especially. They also can be treated effectively with Black-Leaf 40. There are many insecticides, but read the labels first as some of them may be too strong for fragile plants.

Lawn moths may be getting into that new lawn you planted, so be on the lookout for brown patches. Bermuda grass may be alright as a ground cover but keep it away from drain pipes. I know whereof I speak for I have had some right good battles with this Jekyll and Hyde member of the grass family. Ask your nurseryman for an eradicator, for it takes a powerful chemical to kill Bermuda. First, try to spot it before it gets a good start and dig it out. All of it. Remember the roots go very deep. Good luck to you.

County Fly Control Ordinance

The Board of Supervisors held a hearing on a proposed ordinance that would permit regulations of operations that might, or do, encourage the propagation of flies.

The hearing was attended by over 300 persons which was the largest number to ever attend a supervisors' public hearing.

Those in opposition to the proposed ordinance brought up the point regarding its constitutionality, stating that the terms were vague and unenforceable, and that it placed too much authority over private property in the hands of the County Health Department.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the Board of Supervisors referred the proposed ordinance to Mr. Bertram McLees, Jr., County Counsel, for an opinion as to its constitutionality and enforceability.

Space Flight Success

Last Wednesday the Federal Space Agency projected into orbit a capsule which made six orbits of the earth at a speed of approximately 17,500 miles per hour and was successfully landed within a short distance of the predetermined landing spot.

The space capsule was manned by Cdr. Walter M. Schirra, one of the artronauts previously selected and trained for this type of flight. From the reports issued by the Federal Space Agency, Cdr. Schirra suffered no ill effects and had completed control throughout the entire flight of that portion of the operation of the capsule assigned to him.
