PRELIMINARY ZONING PLAN UNVEILED

Recall Committee Completing Petitions

The Alpine Recall Committee met Monday evening with most of the persons present who had circulated the recall petitions during the past 10 days. The petitions which were turned in to the Committee had a total of over 380 signatures.

The petitions are now being checked by members of the Committee who are entering the precinct number of each of the signers in order to assist the County Registrar of Voters in checking the signatures against the Registrar's list of registered voters.

Several of the persons circulating the petitions asked for more time in which to circulate their petitions as there were a number of voters in the District who had not been given an opportunity of signing the petitions but had indicated their desire to do so. After these persons have been contacted, the remaining petitions will be submitted to the Committee for the entering of the precinct numbers and after this has been accomplished, the petitions will be transmitted to the County Superintendent of Schools as required by recall proceedings.

At the time that the petitions were first circulated, the Recall Committee estimated that there were 1486 registered voters in the Alpine School District. Recall petitions require a minimum of 20% of the registered voters, which, based on the registration at that time, would be a minimum of 298 signatures. Since the petitions have been circulated, a number of unregistered residents of the District have become registered in order to be able to sign the petitions which would increase the number of signatures required. Co-Chairmen Dana and Wickens, however, state that in their opinion the petitions with approximately 400 signatures contain a sufficient number to require the calling of the recall elections.

The final portion of Mr. Bowden's talk will be devoted to an analysis of current market trends, and will analyze the information included in a Business and Securities bulletin which his company will mail to each club member prior to the meeting. A question answer period will conclude the program.

Mr. Bowden is an honor graduate in Economics from Stanford University and has been associated with Shearson, Hammill for two and one half years. ### Service Station Thieves Have Night

Mr. Clark Haney, of the Chevron Station reported that a cigarette machine and soft drink machine were broken into sometime during the night on November 19. Approximately $20 was taken from the cigarette machine and very little from the soft drink machine.

On the same date, Mr. Denver Wheeler, of the Alpine Motor Service reported that tires and other various automotive accessories were taken from that station. In all, approximately $55 worth of equipment was stolen from the Motor Service station.

Sheriff authorities are holding two men as suspects in the two robberies, however, at this time no arrest has been made.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

Of all the holidays we observe in the United States, none is so truly our own as is Thanksgiving. This one day borrows practically nothing from any other country, but holds fairly true to the pattern and meaning of the day as celebrated by the Pilgrims and the Indians. These latter natives had observed the ritual of an autumn festival of thanks for harvest from field and forest long, long before the Pilgrims arrived and they added some significant food items to the feast.

The wild turkey whose domesticated cousin is now the number one symbol of the holiday, is said to have been provided at the first banquet by the natives. This bird was so named because of the mistaken idea that it came from Turkey. All American, it was introduced into Europe about 1530 by early Spanish explorers. Recently I heard a school teacher remark that she often found children in the eighth grade and older who thought the turkey our National bird.

Other items on our Thanksgiving bill of fare that carry over from the first celebration and are native foods are, pumpkin, cranberries, squash, corn, nuts, maple sugar, to name a few. That first mincemeat was made with venison as some still is.

Holiday, originally "holy day" is, according to Webster a "festival set apart for religious observances of some sacred event." The religious influence of all our holidays has almost vanished and few of the symbols are vaguely religious. But somehow the beautiful bird we all think of as crowning the

Alpine Historical Meeting

The Alpine Historical Society will meet Sunday, November 25 at 2 p.m. at the Woman's Club according to President Ralph Walker. There will be a business meeting and entertainment provided by the Madrigal Singers of El Capitan High School.

Local Accident

Mrs. Hazel C. Snider, 67, of 66 Montebello St., Chula Vista was killed Sunday, November 18, when she was thrown from a car after it collided with another vehicle on U.S. 80 about one and a half miles east of Alpine. The woman's husband was thrown from the car and three other persons were injured.

California Highway Patrolman W. T. Owen said a car driven east of U.S. 80 by the woman's husband, John Stephen Snider, 61, made a left turn off the highway and collided with a westbound car driven by Ronald Alan Baird, 25 of 4260 Pepper Drive.

COUNTY PLANNING DEPARTMENT STAFF PRESENT PROPOSED ZONING

At a public hearing held last Tuesday night in the Alpine School Auditorium, the technical staff of the County Planning Department, headed by Dr. Willis Miller, County Director of Planning, presented maps on which were indicated the preliminary zoning proposed

Alpine C. of C. Elects Officers

Richard M. Harris, a building inspector with the city of El Cajon's Planning Department, was elected to the presidency of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce at the regular monthly meeting held Wednesday, November 14, at the Alpine Youth Center.

Also elected to serve for 1963 were Auren Pierce, vice-president; Clyde Gilley, secretary, and Harold Lutz, treasurer. Board of Directors for the coming year will be Al Hinkle, Auren Pierce, Doug Fordyce, Jack Hoistad, Clyde Gilley, Mrs. Katherine Black, Orville Palmer, Harold Lutz, Dick Harris and William "Corky" Jones.

New Art Group Growing

The East County Art Association has recently held its second monthly meeting according to Rodger Cryer, leader. The new club of artists and art students is drawn from La Mesa, Grossmont, Fletcher Hills, El Cajon, Lakeside and Alpine and is dedicated to the idea of "Art with an open mind," to quote its present agent.

Presently, the membership numbers about 50, and programs of life drawing classes, Grossmont Shopping Center Exhibits, Lakeside and El Cajon Library Exhibits, an Art Patron's Service and an Art Barn have been established.

The group has acquired a gallery at 2364 Fletcher Parkway and soon hopes to offer private and group art lessons at its Art Barn workshop area located at the corner of Prescott and Washington Streets in El Cajon.

All residents of east county areas who might be interested in membership are urged to call Mrs. Eva Moody at HO 3-3959 or write to Mrs. Moody at 6311 de Camp Drive, La Mesa.

Dangerous Condition

Due to extreme dry weather, Chief Jack Blankenship of the Alpine Volunteer Fire Department has requested the Echo to ask the public to please be careful with their incinerator fires and that burning rules are from 6 p.m. until 6 a.m.

All ashes from fireplaces should be completely out before they are dumped in canyons. NO BURNING PERMITS will be issued until after a substantial rainfall.

NO TRASH OR PILED RUBBLE IS PERMITTED TO BE BURNED AT THIS TIME.

If a violation of this rule occurs, there is a possibility of a fine to be levied on property owners.

for all of the area lying within the boundaries of the Alpine Union School District.

The public meeting was called to order by Mrs. Orville Palmer who acted as chairman of the Alpine Planning Advisory Committee, and who explained the preliminary steps which had taken place for the determination of the zoning to be proposed for each area in the District.

Dr. Miller stated that the public meeting was being held for the purpose of giving the property owners in the District an opportunity to review the types of zoning proposed for their property, and to ask questions or make suggestions regarding changes in the zone classification of their property. He said that the proper way for property owners to make requests for a change in the zoning of their property was for them to write a letter to the Planning Commission of the County of San Diego giving their names and addresses, the description of their property and the zone which they desired for their property and why they wished such a zoning.

Mr. Roger Cortney, one of Dr. Miller's staff members, described the zoning shown on the maps for each of the areas within the District and explained the uses permitted in each of the zonings. Mr. Palmer then asked for comments from the audience which numbered approximately 200.

Many of the property owners present voiced opposition to any zoning in the District at this time.

Where Does The Voter Stand?

In the recent general election held last November 6th, one of the offices voted on was that of State Senator for the 40th District of California, which includes San Diego County.

The contest for this office was between Hugo Fisher, Democratic incumbent, and Jack Schrade, Republican candidate. Mr. Schrade won the election by a rather substantial majority considering the fact that the majority of the registered voters in the County are registered Democrats.

A defeated incumbent is commonly called a "lame duck" while he is still holding the office after having been defeated and until his term expires. Mr. Fisher is, therefore, a "lame duck" State Senator.

While it is always the privilege of any American to be a candidate for any public office for which he is qualified, it is our opinion that it should be up to the voters to determine whether a person who had been repudiated at the polls, when seeking re-election, should be shortly thereafter elevated to high public office and that it should not be by political appointment. However, our opinion must be wrong since this quite frequently happens.

We read in the daily press that the defeated Senator is being considered for appointment to high places despite the fact that the voters refused to return him to the State Senate.

We hope this proves to be only unfounded rumor. Otherwise it would appear that not only is he a "lame duck," but that the open appointive positions are "sitting ducks," and the voters are "dead ducks."

Dear Editor,

I would like to express a few words on "Committeeville, Calif."

It seems that Mrs. Newton (Mr. Kildgore's mother-in-law) has the idea that committees are something new and possibly relative only to Alpine. She seems to resent committees that worked on the water district, however, can she deny that through this group, water was brought to Alpine with a minimum of cost, and without personal benefit to any one person?

Now back to Committeeville, very little can be accomplished by one person dedicated to an idea (such as a recall of a school board). This was determined in our country as far back as 1754 by Benjamin Franklin, then we get to the first real committees in our struggle against tyranny. The committees of Correspondence, 1772, and Committees of Safety, 1774, were two agencies that united the colonies in a common effort, and indeed armed and informed the public for their mutual benefit. This was years before our existence as a nation, you might even say we owe our very existence to a couple of committees.

I for one am proud that this spirit thrives in Alpine, because even though it is 190 years later, the people demand to be heard and oppression in any form will never nurture in this town of Committeeville, U.S.A.

Intimate Glimpses

Thanksgiving feast has not clouded the real meaning of the day for most Americans, but rather heightens it due to that early connection.

When I was a child another bird, a live one, helped us celebrate the holidays. His breed is now sacred to anything that I know of, but this particular parrot loved a religious service. A large green bird with wise yellow eyes and a solemn voice, he was given to us by our Baptist aunt because he sang Methodist hymns and refused to give them up for the ones she tried to teach him. His cage was kept in our dining room and when the big holiday crowds gathered round the table the parrot would try to hold a meeting. "Friends, we will now turn to page . . ." he would say, then break into a hymn. He amen-ed the Grace and sometimes repeated it during a meal. One Thanksgiving, aunt arrived in a startling new hat. Before anyone else could comment, the parrot, staring at her, said gravely, "let us pray."

It was not until 1863, barely a 100 years ago that Presidential proclamation set apart the fourth Thursday in November, making Thanksgiving an annual legal holiday throughout the United States and its possessions. It was 1621 when the Pilgrims celebrated the first one. That's a long time to keep a tradition alive, to hold to the essential meaning of the first settler's holy day, a day of thanks for a free land, for escape from religious and political tyranny to a land where we can all eat turkey with our friends and kin and can come and go freely about the country wearing as crazy hats as we please. As the parrot said: let us pray. And give thanks.

Days off were cancelled and airplane and helicopter pilots were alerted Sunday as high winds and low humidity—plus lack of recent rains—caused an extreme fire hazard in the Cleveland National Forest.

We hope everyone will be extremely careful—said Lynn Biddison fire control officer for the forest. Potentially this is our most disastrous time of year. Timber, brush and grass are dry. Humidity is low. Remember, Smoky says, "Only you can prevent forest fires."

Local Residents Ill

Mr. Floyd Crawford, member of the Mt. Empire Masonic Club, who owns a home in Pine Valley, and lives in San Diego is seriously ill. Floyd and his wife, Frances are well known to the writer having been friends for many years. Hope Floyd will not have to suffer too long.

Archie Leach of Campo underwent surgery on Monday, Nov. 12 and is in the El Cajon Valley Hospital. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Food For Thought

By PATRICIA RICE

The wish that came true! The Market Cross in Devizes, Wiltshire, England, commemorates the death of a woman who, when asked to pay her share of the price of a sack of wheat bought in partnership with three others, protested she had, and said "I wish I may drop dead if I have not."

After repeating this she did drop dead—with the money concealed in her hand.

Zoning Plan

At one point Mr. Palmer requested that all present who desired no zoning rise. A large number present started rising, but when approximately one half of those present had risen, and others were preparing to rise, Dr. Miller called for order and stated that those present who did not want any zoning should make their desires known to the County Planning Commission in writing. A number of other property owners voiced their opinion regarding proposed zoning for their property and also regarding zoning in general. Most of those who spoke were opposed to the zoning proposed for their property.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Dr. Miller stated that the planning staff would analyze the information obtained at the meeting, and would confer again with the Advisory Committee in approximately one month to determine whether any changes should be made in the zoning proposed on the preliminary zoning map before presenting a zoning recommendation for the District to the County Planning Commission. He further stated that any property owner who desired a change in the zoning of his property should write their request to the County Planning Commission.

DESCANSO

By PATRICIA RICE

The Perkins Store is loaded with Thanksgiving food. Seems as if all the part-time residents will spend this holiday in Descanso, bringing family and friends.

Along Viejas Boulevard picked up some lovely pine cones. The cold frosty nights have sent them dropping to the ground. Yesterday, two youngsters were picking up cones, inspecting each carefully to see if they were perfect enough to make turkeys. Offered to make one for me for 50c and so I will have a cone-turkey for Thanksgiving.

Beatrice Reynolds is home after surgery and coming along nicely. She is happy to be released sooner than anticipated.

Last Friday was family night at the Chapel of the Hills and a good crowd enjoyed the turkey dinner and movie.

PINE VALLEY

By JANE ORBOM

Our blessing are many as we approach this Thanksgiving. It will be a day of ingathering of family and friends here in our valley. The good food, plenty of turkey, cranberries, pumpkin and mince pies. Happy Thanksgiving to all.

Edward (Timmy, as we all know him) Brady brought his bride, the former Estalle Latta of Jacumba, to live in Pine Valley in an apartment at Rita Brownes. They were married November 7 in Winterhaven, California. Congratulations and best wishes to this young couple.

Tuesday, November 20 at 11 a.m. a large number of interested residents of Pine Valley attended the hearing before the Board of Supervisors in San Diego on zoning of the area.

There will be the monthly meeting of the Improvement Club, December 1, at 8 p.m. at the Clubhouse. The New Year's eve party plans will be completed at that time. After the meeting there will be entertainment and fun as the group plays musical chairs for Christmas gifts and a surprise.

Our fire department is busy this holiday season. They have received several requests for a Standard First Aid Class and if enough are interested Chief Pingley will set the time to start. At the present time, Chief Pingley and Captain Parna are conducting a class at Camp Cuyamaca one evening a week. These busy men are finding time to sponsor a Junior Fire Patrol one day a week from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. There is no cost involved and the group will consist of boys in the 10-15-year bracket who are urged to join. The course will include chemistry of fire, fire tools and equipment, junior first aid.

Word that Edith George is well on the road to recovery since her stay in the hospital. We all wish her a speedy recovery.

Harry Utt celebrated his birthday Tuesday and shared his lovely chocolate cake with friends and neighbors. Happy birthday, Harry.

The Pine Valley County Dump caught fire the other evening during the high winds. Please be careful in dumping hot ashes, now that all the fireplaces are being used. If you dump hot ashes and then go off and leave them to smolder, causing other inflammable material to catch fire, we would have a serious fire due to flying paper during windy days. This could get a real good start before discovered.

The Mountain Empire Woman's Club is busy with plans for their Christmas party next month. Date to be announced later.

El Capitan's Black and Gold Marching Band leaves for Long Beach tomorrow morning where they will compete in a parade against 80 bands from Southern California for Sweepstakes as the top band.

Last year Grossmont High took the honors while El Capitan fell short of it by 100th of a point. The winning band receives top honors as the best band in Southern California and also receives superior rating.

Homemaking classes at school are assisting the Lakeside Welfare Council with their Christmas-Aid program, by making stuffed toys. The toys will be distributed over this area in Christmas baskets.

Square And Round Dances

Mt. Whirlers Square Dance Club had three squares at its first dance held on Saturday evening, November 10 at the Mt. Empire High School auditorium, and everyone liked the caller, Mr. Art Riding. It was decided to hold a square dance at the same place on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month and the next dance will be on November 24, even though it follows Thanksgiving Day.

Instructions are also given for round dances, which makes a very interesting evening. Mrs. Riding also attends the dance.

Victory Rally

The Jackson Barn on Fairmount Avenue in San Diego was the scene of a Victory Rally and buffet luncheon for Mr. Jack Schrade on Sunday, November 11, and several members of the Mt. Empire Republican Women were present.
