LOCAL APPALOOSAS TAKE TOP SAN DIEGO COUNTY HONORS

Two of the Appaloosa horses owned by Willow Glen Farm, Alpine Heights Road, won top honors for 1962 in the shows approved by the San Diego County Professional Horse Trainers Association.

Missoula Arrow, many times winner at halter and pleasure classes, was named Champion Appaloosa at the High Point Award Dinner held by the Trainers Association last Saturday night. His stablemate, R. H. Marvel II, a two-year-old filly, was awarded the trophy for Reserve Champion Appaloosa.

Both horses, together with other horses owned by Willow Glen Farm, are trained by Frank Evans of the Buckeye Ranch in El Cajon. Mr. Evans and his sons, John and Jerry, rode Missoula Arrow and R. H. Marvel in the shows which won

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

Did you ever suddenly notice a commonplace object which you've been taking for granted for years and years? It's always there and you seldom give it a thought, then something happens to it, and you pause to reflect. Take the typewriter for instance, this useful tool of daily life now accepted as standard equipment in most homes and the humblest offices. Nowadays boys and girls begin early to use the typewriter in their school work. By high school age practically everyone can type with more or less proficiency. Thus the family typewriter becomes another necessary appliance.

Women especially should burn a little incense or do a ritual dance in recognition of the machine which, more than any other thing, gave them a place in the world outside the domestic circle. For it is historically established that in all Western countries, beginning with America, that it was the typewriter which opened the doors of the hitherto closed world of business and commerce to women. The vast majority of all typists, the world over, except in oriental countries, are women. In its early days, distribution of the typewriter was handicapped by the lack of competent operators. Men considered the task beneath their dignity and talents, yet, at first, balked at the idea of women in places of business. Finally, necessity forced them to give the "female typographers" a chance. With this machine, which she easily mastered, as her magic carpet, woman sailed forth into the inner sanctums of industry, commerce, and wherever speedy transition of thought from

PLANNING COMMISSION TO REVIEW REQUESTS FOR ZONE CHANGES

A public hearing on the proposed establishment of an Alpine Zoning District will be held by the County Planning Commission at 2:00 p.m. on Friday, February 8, 1963 in Room 310 Civic Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego. The proposed Zoning District comprises some 100 square miles, and its boundaries coincide with the Alpine Elementary School District.

Historical Society Enjoys Speaker

The Alpine Historical Society was especially fortunate in the speaker who entertained them at their meeting Sunday, Jan. 27 in the Woman's Club at 2 p.m. Mr. Everett Campbell, formerly of Mason Valley, where he was in the cattle business since 1912, gave an absorbing talk on the early days in this part of the county. Mr. Campbell, speaking from the viewpoint of a very active participant in the rugged life of those days, made the audience see the incidents he described in colorful language. He drove the four-horse stage from Lakeside to the mines in Cuyamaca mountains, in 1904. Though he was more of a rider than a driver of horses, he says, he took on the job for a time when

Vandals Active In Dinosaur Land

Considerable damage was done to some of the improvements in Dinosaur Land, including damage to a statue of a prehistoric man, replica of dinosaurs, fencing, benches and broken windows in one of the buildings. This vandalism has been reported to the Sheriff's Office who are now conducting an investigation.

The proposed zoning plan, as shown on accompanying maps is an edited version of a preliminary plan prepared jointly by the Planning Department and the Alpine Planning Advisory Committee which is composed of the following 14 community leaders: Alexander L. Adams, Mrs. Katherine Black, Paul C. Davis, Stuart W. Day, James L. Dyer, Norman T. Foster, W. H. Jones, Louis Landt, Mrs. Howard Latham, Frank W. O'Neill, Orville C. Palmer, Auren Pierce, Fred D. Rushing and Paul Thorpe. The preliminary plan was widely distributed in the Alpine area, and was presented at a well-attended public meeting held locally. Some 23 requests for changes subsequently were received by the Advisory Committee and the Planning Department of which nine were accommodated in the plan to be considered at the Planning Commission's public hearing.

Also to be considered at the hearing are proposed building setback lines along certain major arterial roads to protect future highway rights of way.

Heavy agricultural zoning, A-3 and A-4, is proposed for the southeast area as indicated on the accompanying map. Light agricultural zoning, A-1, is proposed for the north area, and around the more intensive urban developments.

The group numbered 11 persons and was composed of all the officers and representatives of the Boards in the Baptist Church of the Willows.

This meeting was the first of its kind but it is hoped to make it an annual function. Hosts for the day were Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hyder, directors of the camp grounds. The group adjourned to Major's Coffee Shop in Pine Valley for lunch.

Sessions included planning for special dates and a detailed planning of the entire year's activities.

Mothers March Successful

Approximately 18 marching mothers toured Alpine for contributions to the Polio Foundation on Tuesday, January 29, 1963. Mrs. Connie Johnson, Captain; Mrs. Renne Hollett, leader, and Mrs. Allen J. Brotherton, leader, volunteered their services along with the many mothers in consolidating this worthwhile endeavor. Approximately $217.40 was contributed by residents of Alpine. Mrs. Johnson stated she believed the campaign was "very successful."

School Budget

The Board of Trustees of the Alpine Union School District will conduct their next public meeting for the discussion of the procedure required to establish a budget next Monday night, February 4th, at 8:00 p.m. in the School auditorium.

This is the third of a series of meetings being held in order that the public may become advised of the different educational functions and activities which are either required or desired and the cost thereof, and the sources of revenue available to a school district including the local tax.

One of the items involved is the teachers' salaries. The teachers maintain and the School Board and administration admit that the Alpine teachers' salaries are below those paid in comparable districts in California. We note that other districts in the County feel that their teachers are not being paid on a parity with other districts and are studying means of obtaining additional income to provide their teachers with higher salaries.

There are two organizations in the Alpine area who claim to be interested in having a proper educational program. We hope that the members of both of these organizations are working diligently with the School Board and School administration in order to determine what funds should be made available, including whether the teachers' salaries should be raised and be prepared to support whatever tax rate is deemed necessary to provide the facilities to properly educate the pupils of the Alpine schools.

mind to paper was needed and desired. Since then woman and her writing machine have done more to accelerate modern business than all the other inventions put together.

Though the typewriter as we know it is a 20th Century development, it had many earlier models to build upon. The idea of a writing machine was first recorded in 1714 when an English Queen Anne, issued a patent to one Henry Mills, an English engineer. The machine which was never manufactured, was listed as "an artificial machine for the impressing and transcribing of letters, singly or progressively, one after another as in writing, whereby all writing whatsoever may be embossed on paper or parchment so neat and exact as not to be distinguished from print." Only one other writing machine was patented in the 18th Century. Through the 19th a number were invented and built until one resembling our present typewriter was patented in 1873. Christopher Latham Sholes, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin was the creator of this great invention. He and two friends spent seven years perfecting the model which they sold to the Remington Company, the first and still one of the leading manufacturers of the practical typewriter.

Mark Twain was the first American writer to turn out a novel on the typewriter; this was his book Life on the Mississippi. At that time the machine had no shift key, but wrote in capital letters only. In a letter to his brother, Mark Twain says, "I am trying to get the hang of this new fangled machine, but am not making a shining success of it . . . ; yet I shall soon easily acquire a fine facility in its use." He goes on to say that it will write much faster than he can with pen, that it saves paper and "don't muss things and scatter ink blots around."

There's the story of the Kentucky mountaineer who, in the early days of the typewriter, returned a typewritten letter with the indignant reply, "You don't need to print no letter to me. I kin read writin." Perhaps the day will come when no one will be required to "read writin." When the writing machine will replace pen and pencil altogether. There seems to be no limit to creative genius and to the ability of ordinary people that adapt to the inventions of genius.

Each year the San Diego County Professional Horse Trainers Association approves various shows throughout the county. The points won at these shows are tabulated during the year and the awards are presented in January of each year at an Awards Dinner attended by most of the horsemen of the county. In 1962 a total of 40 categories were given awards for both Champion and Reserve Champion. All the winners were presented with beautiful silver tea services to the Champions and ice buckets to the Reserve Champions.

In 1962 the Alpine Viejas Days Horse Show was one of the shows approved for points by the Trainers Association, and this show in 1963 will also be a point show in the county.

A new court ruling makes it clear that you may be held responsible for all charges made on your credit cards if you fail to notify the issuing company promptly of their loss. So keep credit cards in a safe place, check them frequently and if one should turn up missing, report the loss to the issuing company immediately.

Proposed zoning for the Alpine business district

PLANNING COMMISSION TO REVIEW

acre single-family residential zoning are indicated south of Viejas Indian Reservation, and in the vicinity of the intersection of Eltinge Drive and South Grade Road, respectively.

Small lot, single family residential zones, R-1 and R-1-A, are shown for The Willows, for Harbison Canyon and for appropriate parts of the Alpine town area. R-3, multi-family residential zoning, is suggested for three locations adjacent to the Alpine business. R-4, a multi-family residential zone which also includes trailer parks, is indicated along Highway 80 east of town, west of town, and at The Willows.

To accommodate existing shopping facilities and to provide space for their expansion, C commercial zoning is proposed for most of the territory now used for business in the Alpine town and Harbison Canyon areas. A C-2 zone is shown west of the C zone in Alpine business district to provide space for commercial and light manufacturing uses. A small R-P, residential professional, zone is provided near the intersection of West Victoria Drive and Highway 80.

It is believed that this zoning plan reasonably fits both the present and relatively short-term future requirements of the Alpine area. However, future development programs may result in a legitimate need for changes in the plan. Such changes can be made as necessary through the orderly process of zone reclassifications.

The following is a summary description of the zone classifications shown on the accompanying map of the tentative zoning plan.

A-1. One single-family dwelling on a minimum building site of (1), (2), (4) or (8) acres. Crops of all kinds, plus a limited number of poultry, small animals, horses, cows, sheep, goats and swine. Horses for personal use may be kept in any zone.

A-2. Same as A-1, plus unlimited poultry and small animals.

A-3. Same as A-2, plus dairies, stock feeding and hog ranches on parcels over four acres in size on issuance of a special use permit.

A-4. Same as A-3, except that dairies, stock feeding and hog ranches are permitted without limitation on parcels over four acres in size.

E-1. One single-family dwelling on a minimum building site of one acre. Crops of all kinds, and a family supply of poultry and animals. "Family supply" means not more than 25 poultry and/or small animals, and not to exceed two bovine animals, sheep and/or swine.

E-1-A. Same as E-1, except that the minimum building site is one-half acre.

R-1. One single-family dwelling on a building site at least 10,000 square feet in area. Crops of all kinds, and a family supply of poultry and animals.

R-1-A. Same as R-1, except that the minimum building site is 6,000 square feet.

R-3. A one-family, two-family, or multiple dwelling or dwelling group on a minimum building site of 6,000 square feet, provided there is at least 1,000 square feet of land area for each dwelling unit.

R-4. Same as R-3, plus hotels, institutions and hospitals, and on the issuance of a special use permit, motels and trailer parks.

C. All uses, except trailer courts, permitted in the R-4 Zone, plus stores, offices, and retail businesses conducted inside buildings. No minimum lot or building site area requirement.

C-2. Same as C, plus motels, kennels, second-hand shops, warehouses, wholesale businesses, some light manufacturing and commercial outdoor advertising, etc., without requirement that all operations be within a building. Trailer parks allowed with a special use permit.

R-P. Multiple dwellings, apartment hotels, hospitals, rest homes and sanitariums, professional offices for the medical arts and limited related drug store, restaurant and service operations.

At its public hearing on February 8, the Planning Commission will review all requests for changes which have not been accommodated by the proposed plan, and will consider all testimony presented. Following its hearing, the Commission can recommend a zoning plan to the Board of Supervisors. The Board then will hold a public hearing on the zoning plan recommended to it by the Planning Commission before taking final action to adopt a regular zoning ordinance.

Rare Operation Performed On Child

Kenneth James Baum (Kennie Jim), age two and one half, now has a rosy pink skin instead of the blue-toned complexion that has been his all his life until the past few weeks. Though not a "blue baby" Kennie was born with a defective heart which failed to pump sufficient oxygen into his blood giving him the appearance of an RH factor child.

Kennie Jim's improvement is due to a rare operation performed about six weeks ago at Scripps Hospital in La Jolla, by the famous heart surgeon, Dr. Ivan Baronofsky formerly of New York. This operation, known as the Glenn Procedure, so named for its originator, Dr. Glenn of Yale, is only about two years old. As it was explained to Mrs. Alan Baum, of Guatay, the child's grandmother, "The operation consists of re-routing of an artery from the arm to go through the lungs in order to pick up oxygen which the baby lacked. It has increased the oxygen in his veins some 35 percent."

Since Kennie Jim was six weeks old his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Baum lately of Descanso, now of El Cajon, have been taking him to Scripps Clinic in La Jolla where he is under the care of heart specialist, Dr. Grey Diamond of that institution.

"When the doctors saw Kennie for his six weeks' check up after Delicious refreshments were served. The gathering was held in the home of Mrs. Vernon Rood of South Grade Road and enjoyed by all.

Cub Scout News

Are you an elder resident of Alpine with a little extra time on your hands? The Alpine Cub Scout could certainly use some helpers to accompany the scouts on various field trips and in general lend their support. They are boys from ages 8-10 years of age—full of vim and vinegar and are all enthused of the idea of Cub Scouting. You might ask—how about the fathers of the boys? Some of the various fathers work in town and have long hours and although they help in any way—many just do not have the time to do a good job.

Recent news of the Cub Scout troop of Alpine is a Committee meeting, held Tuesday evening, January 29, 1963 where the Blue and Gold Dinner to be held in February was discussed.

Mr. Frank Mindt of the Scout Council in San Diego stated that if Alpine gets more Cub Scouts and more potential den mothers interested, he will hold the training classes in Alpine instead of San Diego.

Numbers to call in case of interested boys are Mrs. Warren Young, 445-3301; Mrs. B. Venham, 445-3339 or Mrs. A. Hume, 445-2062. Mr. Bill Sansoucie is the Cubmaster of the unit in Alpine.

he was needed, transporting passengers and mail. Once he drove a heavy lumber wagon with about $20,000 worth of gold from the mines hidden under cow hides to camouflage the load from possible hold-up men.

He told also of the early cattle drives from mountain to desert ranges, of the meetings of men and cattle at the watering places, of the difficulties of navigating the rough roads in snow and rain. The interested audience asked questions which kept Mr. Campbell busy until the refreshments were ready and kept him talking during the social hour as well. Phil Hall, added a bit from his own memories of his experiences years ago in the mountain area familiar to Mr. Campbell, and Mr. Walker and Mr. Campbell compared notes on some of the historic sites and events. It was a most interesting meeting.

The next meeting will be held on the last Sunday in March and election of officers. All members are urged to circle the day on their calendars and plan to attend.

Hostesses for the tea hour were Mesdames Lusk, Straas and Hickey.

Rare Operation

the operation," said Mrs. Baum, "they were very well pleased with his recovery and progress." The doctor told the young mother that Kennie might not have lived much longer without the operation. Now they hope, that in time, the heart defect, which is considerable, may be further repaired. Meanwhile the little boy is much happier and more active than he has ever been.

"This makes us realize how difficult it must have been for him just to keep breathing," Mrs. Baum said.

Kennie's father, James, is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Baum, long-time residents of Guatay. James and his brother, Kenneth, were small boys when the family moved to the mountains where they grew up and attended school. Kennie Jim is named for his father and his uncle. The family have many friends in the area who rejoice with them over the miracle of modern surgery which has given them new hope for Kennie Jim.

Religious Census Begins Saturday

The Alpine churches, along with all other San Diego County churches, will begin their 1963 Religious Census this Saturday, February 2. Approximately 40 church workers will participate in this area, and there will be a meeting of these volunteers Friday evening, February 1, at 7:30 p.m. in Fuller Hall.

This is not merely to "count noses," but to place in the hands of the churches, names of people who have no church connection or are not members of a church. This will make it possible for each church with its own workers and in its own way to follow up with a great in gathering leading up to Easter time.

4-H Activities

As reported by Miss Cindy Byers, the Alpine Champions 4-H Club scored a clean sweep at the judging contest that was held at El Cajon Valley High School. The blue ribbon winners were Susan Parsons, Lin Kinikin, Judy Radford and Cindy Byers.

Red ribbon winners were Lyn Blankenship, Pam Weisback, Kathy Flinn, Jeanne Harris and Donna Schwenck.

Local Kiwanians Travel

Mr. Ben Cerveny and Mr. Rennie Hollett of the Alpine Kiwanis Club drove to Bakersfield with their wives to attend the mid-winter conference at the new Civic Auditorium with 5,000 other Kiwanis members in District 31 which includes California, Nevada and Hawaii.

The conference opened Saturday, January 26, 1963 at 9:20 presided over by Governor Audrey Stong and lasted most of the day concluding with dinner, entertainment and installation of 1963 officers.

This week's Kiwanis meeting will be on the subject of programming, to seek ways and means of increasing the effectiveness of youth work and value to the community in general as a service organization. Don't forget—Thursday, January 31, 1963 at 7 p.m. at Fuller Hall, Alpine.

NARCE To Meet

Saturday, February 2, 1963 at 12:45 in the Community Center in El Cajon, the National Association of Retired Civil Employees, Chapter 669, will have a Hobby Show. The members have been asked to bring in a few of their hobbies and many have agreed to do so.

The monthly meeting and refreshments will precede the hobby display. Call Nell E. Dean for additional information at HI 4-3993.

Mr. Noyes was a plumber by trade and is survived by his wife Estella, a brother in Sacramento and a sister in Bakersfield. Services were held in the Conrad Mortuary, Lemon Grove, Wednesday, January 30, 1963 with burial in Fort Rosecrans, Pt. Loma.
