Serving a Growing Area of Homes and Ranches

LOCAL ALPINE BUSINESSMAN TO RETIRE AND MOVE EAST

Albert E. Alder, local Agent for the Western Greyhound Lines, will close his office in Alpine effective November 1st.

For the past few months Mr. Alder has been in ill health due to a heart attack brought about by the excitement of the big fire at the Willows which came close to burning his trailer. After spending some time in the hospital he returned to his agency office in Alpine, but has found that the strain of keeping up all the accounts involved has been more than he can manage at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Alder are the only members of their family living on the West Coast, as their daughters and their families are all living in the East. To be nearer to their family, Mrs. Alder is giving up her teaching in La Jolla, also, and they plan to travel East in their house trailer to settle there. At the present time they plan to stay in Fort Meyers, Florida, for the winter, and probably visit in Chicago, New York and Massachusetts during the summer months to be with their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alder will be missed in Alpine, but all their friends agree that they will enjoy

AUTO ACCIDENT IN ALPINE

An accident which occurred at 5 p.m. last Friday in Alpine sent four persons to El Cajon Valley Hospital for emergency care. A car heading west on Highway 80, driven by Katie Juanita Chaille, 49, of El Cajon, was attempting to turn left onto Arnold Way and collided head-on with an automobile being driven by Joe A. Gage, 21, of Santee who was travelling east on Highway 80.

There were two passengers in the Gage car, James W. Edwards, 22, and Luther Gage, 59. All persons involved in the accident received lacerations and minor injuries and Luther Gage remained in the hospital until Tuesday morning.

LA FORCES HOME FROM EXCITING VACATION

Our vacation began with a trip to New York City. From there we extended the itinerary to Ireland which I've always longed to see and which is only five and a half Jet hours from New York across the Atlantic. If taken in one jump, it's barely a day's flying time from San Diego to Dublin.

I'd always wondered if the Emerald Isle was as green as they said. Well, it's green is the greenest you can imagine, but from the air you can see brown fields as well. This part is Connermara, the dramatic bog-land in the West. Lakes and rivers are everywhere, and they're clear and beautiful, blue as the sky, with grass to their edges and trees on the banks. It's a neat clean land with tidy, small fields each enclosed in its own hedges or stone wall.

It was magic to step from warm

Interim Zoning For Pine Valley

The County Board of Supervisors at their regular meeting on Tuesday, October 22nd, had a hearing on zoning for Pine Valley. After listening to Albert W. Daniels and Jerry Bilyea, President and Vice-President of the Pine Valley Improvement Club, and Mrs. William A. Page, a member, who all spoke in favor of the zoning, the Board of Supervisors approved interim zoning by a unanimous vote of the Board.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

If you asked me which event made the warmest impression on me during my visit to Ireland, I wouldn't have to search my memory for the answer. It comes to mind at once — the blessing of the animals. This event took place on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 6, when the rain was sifting down in a grey gentle silence.

I had seen a small white placard in a store window announcing "a blessing of the animals to take place in Kinds Inn Green at 3 p.m. It invited, "all those who love animals and who make their living from animals or their products," to bring these creatures to be blessed.

Kinds Inn is a big grey stone building, solid and solemn looking. It houses some of the government offices. The green is a 3-acre lawn before it spotted with big trees. At one end of this lawn a double line of small wire cages had been placed on supports for the small animals. But not one cage was used. The pets, mostly dogs and cats, were held by the owners in their arms or on leash.

I arrived a little early and found only one woman with a grey French poodle waiting on the green. The poodle was on leash looking trimly tailored in his Continental cut. He shook a fastidious paw from the wet grass and turned a haughty nose up to the grey sky, but he was quiet and poised, a real canine sophisticate.

By 3 o'clock the people came walking in beneath the huge

Kiwanis Club Given Mexican Flag

The Kiwanis Club of Alpine was presented with a Mexican flag last Thursday evening in an impressive ceremony conducted by members of the Kiwanis Club of Tijuana, Mexico.

As part of the presentation ceremony, Sr. Jorge Penalosa, a member of the Men's Club of Sembradores de Armstad of Tecate, prepared and delivered an address on the history and origin of the Mexican flag. (His address is published elsewhere in this issue.)

Sr. Penalosa was accompanied by Sr. Martinez and Sr. Federico Esquer from Tecate.

It is the custom at Kiwanis meetings to display the flag of neighboring countries that have Kiwanis clubs which include Canada and Mexico.

Now that Kiwanis is organized in Mexico City as well as in the border cities of Tijuana, Ensenada, and Mexicali, it is hoped that in the near future a Kiwanis Club will be sponsored in Tecate.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hoistad and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hall attended the charter ceremony at the Mexicali Club last Friday night. There were about 400 persons in attendance from various Kiwanis clubs in California and Mexico.

At its meeting this week the Kiwanis Club of Alpine will present their charter to the local Civil Air Patrol, which group is sponsored by the local club.

Grossmont Election Tuesday, Oct. 29

All but ten of 64 polling places for the Grossmont High School District special election October 29 will be in elementary and secondary schools throughout the Grossmont District, which enrolls students from ten elementary districts. Voters of those districts — Alpine, Barrett, Cajon Valley, Dehesa, Jamul — Las Flores, Japatul, Lakeside, La Mesa, — Spring Valley, Lemon Grove, and Santee will decide on a bond issue for a new school in Santee and renewal of the present $1.50 tax limit. Cajon Valley Elementary District has two similar measures on the special ballot.

Notice of the election has been mailed to each District voter by the San Diego County Registrar of Voters, and the notice also tells each voter where his polling place is. Two community halls, one church, three residences, and four garages have been designated as polling places in this election.

Folders on election issues will also be mailed to each voter by the citizens' committees of the two school districts. Additional information will be delivered to homes by 2,000 members of the precinct contact teams. "We want everyone to know what the issues are," said Jack Mayer, co-chairman of the Grossmont Committee for Good Schools.

Alpine-Japatul 4-H To Get Awards

The Alpine-Japatul 4-H Club will have their Award Night on Friday, October 25th. A representative from the Farm Advisor's Office will present awards to those who have earned their achievement awards this past year and to those who have earned their one-year pins. The Banker's Award will be presented by local banker, Mr. Ross Malette.

A potluck dinner to be held before the meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the School auditorium. All those attending are asked to bring their own table service. Rolls and coffee will be furnished.

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR DESCANSO

Monday, (October 21st) afternoon around 3:00 p.m. there was a two-car, head-on side-swipe collision about six-tenths of a mile East of Descanso in which two people were injured. A Renault, driven by Judith Ann Murphy of Encinitas, went out of control and side-swiped a truck pulling a house-trailer. The Resident Deputy Sheriff of Borrego, De Wiess, had stopped and was administering first aid and oxygen to Georgina Baldrige of Vista, when CHP Dean Elson arrived at the scene. Georgina Baldrige, who was a passenger in the Renault, was suffering from a concussion. Both she and Judith Murphy, who had received bruises, were taken to El Cajon Valley Hospital where Miss Murphy was soon released. There were no injuries to the passengers of the truck, and only minor damage was reported on the trailer.

Yakel To Speak On Road Naming

It is planned for Mr. Yakel to meet at Winnetka Ranch on Friday, November 1st, at 7:30 p.m. with those people interested in the problems of naming the new road, now designated by the County as F-21. Mr. Yakel, of the County Building Inspection Department, has agreed to answer whatever questions he can about the procedures for road naming and legally naming the east end of what is now commonly known as Honey Springs Road.

All those who did not hear him at the Deerhorn Civic Club meeting some weeks ago or who still have questions they feel might be answered are invited to attend.

Helix High Junior Cycling Champ

Doug Burnett, Helix High School junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Burnett, 7334 Princeton, La Mesa, holds the Jr. State Cycling Championship title. This he won at the El Toro Air Force Base on a 50-mile course this summer. About 100 other members of the American Bicycle League competed in this race.

In his three years of bicycle racing experience, Burnett has entered about 32 races and has placed in all of them, including 10 first places. Another of his recent victories includes the Grand Prix of Riverside, a 25-mile race. Doug has won 28 trophies and other prizes.

Burnett is the president of this year's Cycling Club at Helix. On Saturdays this club travels from 15 to 80 miles, to places including La Jolla, Lakeside and the Lagunas.

This club is affiliated with the American Youth Hostels, which sponsors races. The group competes with other AYH teams from Escondido, La Jolla, San Diego, Spring Valley, and Oceanside. On August 4 the team placed fourth in a 12-mile race over a course near Granite Hills High School.

"Cycling at Helix is much more popular now than it has ever been, and it continues to grow as a participant sport in the U.S. It is good for you as it develops leg muscles and lung power," Burnett said.

Burnett's bike is a 10-speed and weighs about 21 lbs., costing $225.

"There are about 600 AYH members in San Diego. Anyone who has a racer and enjoys riding is welcome to join this organization," Burnett said.

El Cap Scores Win

The El Capitan football team defeated Coronado High by a score of 21 to 12 last Friday.

Third Award Won By Grossmont Hi

A third first-place trophy has joined the two already won by the Grossmont High School Blue and Gold Marching Band and Caporette Corps at the Tournament of Bands Day at Chaffey High School in Ontario, October 12. Walter Barnett, principal, received notice on October 16 from the committee that the Grossmont flag corps under direction of Rosemary Redditt had also won first place but that it had been awarded to a Santa Monica unit by mistake.

The new trophy will be sent at once and be presented to the student body in a forthcoming assembly. The other two were so presented at the homecoming assembly, October 18.

The Grossmont flag corps was judged in competition with 29 other bands in the parade on the morning of October 12. The other specialty groups were judged by their performances in the half-time show in the evening.

Indoor Sports Benefit Bazaar

The annual Indoor Sports benefit bazaar and barbecue dinner will be held at the Indoor Sports clubhouse Sat., Nov. 2. Dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from club members. Door prizes given on adult tickets. Wellington Stewart, general chairman, announces there will be fourteen booths filled with useful articles and Christmas gifts for sale. This is the major fund raising event for the club. Come, have fun, and help the Indoor Sports maintain their lovely club house. Turn West at First and Palm to 3030 Front St.

SDS STUDENTS VOTE ON UNION

San Diego State students will go to the polls today to decide whether or not the college will build a $3 million Student Union.

The associated student council, with approval of the Trustees of the California State Colleges, called the election in which students will vote to assess themselves for the cost of the building. In order for the trustees to validate the election results a two-thirds majority of the students voting must cast their ballots in favor of the Student Union.

The assessment for the Student Union would at no time exceed $20 a year, or $10 per semester. The fee will be graduated and paid with other registration fees. The graduated fee for full time students would be $1.50 next year, $3 in 1965. It would reach a maximum of $7 in 1966 when the Union is expected to be completed. Part-time and summer session students will pay half the fee assessed full time students.

The Student Union has been a San Diego State dream for 20 years. Each year the associated student council has set aside part of the student body's annual income for a student union. This amount, coupled with contributions from Aztec Shops, Ltd., now totals nearly $500,000.

After a favorable student vote for the Student Union the trustees will be requested to apply for a federal loan. Construction can begin next year upon granting of the loan. The student fees will be used to operate the union and repay the loan. If this time schedule is met, the Student Union should be ready for use by the fall semester of 1966.

The union would be located on the parking lot south of the campus laboratory school. An architect's conception of the facility calls for two buildings connected by a large patio area.

One building would be a multipurpose room for dances, concerts, lectures and study area. The other building would house a lounge area, meeting rooms, a snack bar, bowling alley, barber shop, post office, and ticket booths. It would be a two-level building.

U.S. Coast Guard Seeks Cadets

The education of Coast Guard Cadets takes place at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut, through a four-year college level course of instruction. Once each year, the Coast Guard conducts a nationwide competitive examination for all qualified young men interested in appointment as Cadet, United States Coast Guard. The next annual examination will be the December, 1963, administration of the College Entrance Examination Board tests held on December 7, 1963, in over 2,000 cities in the United States and overseas. Applications are now being accepted. Application to take the College Board tests in the United States should be submitted by November 8, 1963.

The examination is open to any male citizen of the United States, serviceman or civilian, regardless of race, creed, or color, who is a high school senior or graduate, single, between the ages of 17 and 22, who is in good physical condition, and who is sincerely interested in a career as an officer in the oldest continuous seagoing service of the United States. There are no Congressional appointments or state quotas.

Upon completion of the competitive examination, approximately 1,000 participants who achieve the highest test scores are considered for appointment. Of these about 500 actually are tendered an appointment. The score obtained on the written test plus high school class standing makes up 75 percent of the final score. On the basis of a study of each candidate's record, the Cadet Candidate Evaluation Board assigns a mark constituting the remaining 25 percent of the final score. The record reviewed by the Board includes a transcript of high school marks, a list of extra-curricular activities, a reference questionnaire prepared by the high school, the report of a personal interview and the scores on one or more tests of emotional stability and personality characteristics.

Dehesa 4-H Club Award Meeting

The Dehesa Valley 4-H Club held its eighth annual achievement program Saturday night at the Dehesa School. The club received its eighth gold seal for outstanding club work for the past year. Eight years ago it started with eleven members and two leaders. This year it grew to thirty-three members with eight leaders. The club has now divided forming a new club, the Sycuan, which is a Harbison Canyon group with their main interest in horses. The Dehesa Club now has 20 members, eight of them being junior leaders and eight leaders.

Guest speaker on the program was Chief Wallace Dart of the El Cajon Police Department and a former 4-H member and leader, who spoke on "Careers and Opportunities in the Police Force." Cathy Hasbrouck and Harold Connell gave a report on their trip to the State Leadership Conference held at the University of California at Davis. Stephen Hasbrouck gave a report and showed slides on the 4-H All Star Conference. Herbert Weisheit, Farm Advisor, spoke on "Economy."

Buddy Smith of the Security First National Bank of El Cajon presented first year pins to Tommy Sweet, David Connell, Kathy, Donna, and James Babcock, and Timothy Thompson; second year—Judy Howell, Mark Hasbrouck, and Howard Thompson; fourth year—Cathy Hasbrouck, Harold Connell; sixth year—Paul Hasbrouck; seventh year—John Ballinger; eighth year—Stephen Hasbrouck. Leadership stripes went to John Ballinger, Stephen and Paul Hasbrouck. Bronze stars were awarded to Kathy, James, and Donna Babcock, and Mark Hasbrouck. National awards were presented to Stephen Hasbrouck, county winner and alternate state winner in Citizenship; Medalists were: John Ballinger, James Babcock, and Mark Hasbrouck, Tractor; Paul Hasbrouck.

Helix Hi Teacher Given Recognition

Clarence Jasmagy, Helix High School photography and art teacher, has recently received national recognition for his California Teachers' Association sponsored-TV demonstration on July 27 and August 4. Mr. Jasmagy and a team of Helix students, Dennis Kidder, senior, and Michael Morgan, senior—showed how they had made giant photographs to hang in their school cafeteria. A picture of Mr. Jasmagy in the studio appears in the Camera Club Bulletin for October, 1963. He is on the advisory board of the Scholastic Photography Awards. The Bulletin is published by Scholastic Magazine, Inc. Mr. Jasmagy came to the Grossmont District in 1953. He teaches two classes in advance photography, one in beginning photography, and one in beginning art. He also teaches photography at Grossmont College.

Post Office Set For Holiday Rush

The volume of mail each year reaches its peak immediately before the Christmas holidays.

The Post Office Department is required to employ a large number of additional personnel in order to handle the increased mail resulting from the sending of Christmas gifts. The San Diego post office states that they will employ approximately 300 additional part-time helpers to keep up with the work.

In order to assist the post office in delivering the Christmas mail and to assure the gifts being delivered in time, the Post Office Department recommends that overseas gifts should be mailed no later than November 20 if sent by regular mail and not later than December 10 if sent by air mail.

The Post Office Department recommends that packages be insured and the address of destination should be placed inside of the parcel as well as plainly marked on the outside.

MISSOULA ARROW AT HOME

HORSES! HORSES! HORSES!

By MARGARET LOWTHIAN

Last Monday morning Missoula Arrow returned to Willow Glen Farm for the first time in four years. Now that he is a gelding, I planned to have him here at home to enjoy riding. However, gelding or no gelding, he is a big, powerful horse, and we found that he was so excited about being in his old corral and loose on his own for the first time in ages, that our corral fences were not adequate to hold him if he should decide that the grass was greener next door.

So back he went to Frank Evans and now we are working on arrangements for some pole corrals which will be strong enough to hold our young stallions as well as one for Arrow.

Last Saturday, Cynthia Irvine started a riding club for junior riders (up to 17 years of age) at her home on Tavern Road. The name adopted for the Club is the Pequeno Riders, which means "little riders." At this first organizational meeting 10 members joined the group, and many more are expected to join in the near future. Cynthia was named president as the idea for such a club originated with her, and she is busy working on the details of organizing a formal group.

The initiation fee to join is 25 cents, with a charge of 10 cents each Saturday that a member attends. The meetings are planned for each Saturday morning, to be followed by a trail ride. It is planned that breakfast rides, all-day and over-night rides, and horse shows will be held by this club. A yellow sweat shirt with a rearing horse drawn on the back was adopted as an insignia for the club members to wear on these rides. Margaret Radford and Cynthia are drawing the horses on these sweat-shirts. The charge for a shirt will be $2, and all members are required to get one.

Mrs. Alice Irvine and Mr. Mack (McClinton) have been named adult advisors for this club. I've offered to help in writing up their constitution and by-laws, and I know they would appreciate any assistance any other adult in the area is willing to give.

The original members of the Pequenos are: Cynthia, Celeste and Cecile Irvine, Margaret Radford, Susy Parsons, Pam Weisbach, Nancy Sockwell, Maxine Kinikin, and Tina and Ted Zeigler. The next meeting will be this coming Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Irvines on Tavern Road, and all Alpine kids interested in joining are invited to attend this meeting. A trail ride will follow, probably up to the cemetery on the Willow Glen Farm hill.

I don't know how you feel about these kids, but I think this is a great thing. If the adults in the area don't do anything about setting up a riding club for them and for everyone else, they do it for themselves. I wish them a lot of luck. Some day the Pequenos will be as large a riding club as the Tumbleweeds, which is also limited to junior riders.

Last Friday morning Frank Evans came out and taught Stanley Rios and myself how to lunge all these horses we have here at home. Stanley has been busy doing a fine job ever since, lunging a number of horses each day. Particularly, Baby Blue who we are getting in condition for riding. She is very soft after being busy raising her filly this year. But she is coming along fast, and I have ridden her every day after her bout on the lunge line. The problem with Blue is that it takes about an hour for her to calm down and get the hump out of her back, which makes riding her quite an experience.

While Frank was here, we all rode Leota's Hako for the first time. This is a nice mare that we were planning to sell, but after riding her, have decided to keep her and train her for a performance horse. She has the most wonderful trot I've ever sat—a real thrill.

The horses are home at the Winetka ranch which were purchased in Germany and brought over by Don and Olive Woolridge. I planned to get pictures of them last weekend, but the weather fouled me up. However, pictures and a story about these fine thoroughbred will be appearing here shortly.

The riding ring at Palo Verde ranch is now completed and being used by a number of riders. Jack Wilson plans to take Banjo over there to work out. Just riding around and around a ring may not be the fun way to ride your horse, but it is the only way to accomplish some serious training with your horse. The hours and

Governor Appoints New Library Board

The 1963 session of the legislature created a new State Library Board of nine members to make a recommendation regarding the library developments to be made in the state with a fund of $850,000 voted by the legislature.

Among those selected by the Governor are two San Diego County women, Mrs. Simon Cassidy of Grossmont, wife of the editor of the El Cajon Valley News, and Miss Clara E. Breed, Librarian for the City of San Diego.

The Board members do not receive a salary but are compensated for expenses incurred in performing their duties.

Origin Of The Mexican Flag

The following address was delivered by Sr. Jorge R. Penalosa at the Alpine Kiwanis Club meeting:

The fight for our independence, which began on September 15, 1810, came to an end in the year 1821.

General Vicente Guerrero and General Augustin de Iturbide at that time were fighting each other.

General Guerrero was in charge of the Insurgent Army and General Iturbide was commanding the government forces.

In order to free the country and accomplish Mexico's Independence these two patriots agreed to meet together and sign an agreement called Plan de Iguala (or Iguala Agreement) whereby the two armies were united and made the only army. This new army was called Ejercito Trigarante or Three Guarantee Army. This happened on February 24, 1821 and ever since Mexico's flag day is celebrated on February 24 every year.

According to the tradition, the first flag used by this army was made by a tailor in the town of Iguala, and his name was Jose Magdaleno Ocampo.

This flag had three colors, white, green and red, a diagonal form, with a golden star on each stripe, meaning the three Guarantees of Independence, Religion and Union.

In the month of November of the same year, 1821, by order of General Iturbide, the stripes were placed in a vertical way in the following order: Green, White and Red, and that is how the stripes stand now.

At the center of our flag appears the coat of arms, which was inspired on the Aztec Legend about the foundation of Tenoxitlan (now Mexico City) which took place on July 18, 1325. It is an eagle standing on its left foot on a nopal which arises from a rock on a lake. With its right she is holding and biting a snake.

Above the eagle you can see one laurel wreath and one evergreen oak wreath of honor or distinction, with a printing which says: Estados Unidos Mexicanos or

Sale Of Tavern Road Home

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Glor of Los Angeles have just purchased the nice home and acreage of Mr. B. O. Young of Tavern Road. Mr. and Mrs. Glor are planning to retire soon and picked Alpine because of our fine climate. Mr. Young has lived here for many years and at this time has not made any definite plans for the future.

Sale was negotiated by Mrs. Charlene Brown of Pierce Realty Company here.

Vocational Guidance Program At El Cap

Five schools in the Grossmont Union High School District, including El Capitan High, offer courses in merchandising and retail sales procedures. All seven of the high schools in the district have a work experience program. At El Capitan High one of the courses offered is on the proper manner of approaching prospective employers to obtain jobs. The students are taught the manner of making applications, the manner of dress to be worn, and the proper approach when being interviewed.

Mrs. Virginia Clapp, Work Experience Coordinator for the district, is now preparing plans for a 4-year vocational guidance program.

Grossmont Planner Gets Appointment

Gurdon Smith, Grossmont Union High School District school planning consultant, has been appointed chairman of a committee of the National Council on School House Construction. Smith has just returned from a national conference of the organization, in Princeton, New Jersey, where several speakers developed the theme that "school is a place to live."

The purpose of the committee of which Mr. Smith is chairman is to write a brochure on the subject of school building planning as related to maintenance and operation. "The National Council is a practical organization," says Mr. Smith. "Members are interested in problems related to the actual process of construction, not only the philosophy of school planning." One of the popular topics was modernization of school buildings. Another dealt with a new idea — the windowless school. The group reviewed studies on this subject and expressed as many opinions on the topic as there were members on the panel.

Mr. Smith also visited Trenton College. He attended a session on heating at which representatives from gas, oil, and electrical heating equipment manufacturers presented latest developments in the area of school heating.

SV Kiwanis Club Advised On Election

"As service club members and citizens interested in young people and education, Kiwanians recognize the need today for good high schools operated as economically as possible," Lewis F. Smith, Grossmont District superintendent told members of the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club at breakfast, yesterday. Mr. Smith, representative of the Grossmont Committee for Good Schools, presented information to the club about a two-measure special election called by Grossmont trustees for October 29.

Because of state regulations, one of the measures asks that voters renew for five years the present operating tax rate of $1.50. The District operates a sound program now, using only $1.23 of the $1.50. This measure which requires a simple majority for passage, asks for no increase, simply for renewal of the present rate.

The second issue on the ballot asks voters to approve bonds to enable the Grossmont District building program to meet the crisis of continuing growth. El Capitan High School is overcrowded now and by 1967 will be 1200 students over capacity. Other schools in the District—Mt. Miguel, Helix, and Granite Hills—are rapidly approaching an overload. Another feature of this issue is the attempt by trustees to lower the interest rate on an old state loan by repaying it at once and setting up a new bond issue at the going interest rate, which is less than the one being paid on the loan today. Mr. Smith pointed out that a no-vote on bonds would not lower taxes, that a yes-vote would not increase the rate, but would only continue the same rate for a longer period. "This one takes a two-thirds majority to pass," he said to the Spring Valley group.

Grossmont Election

Next Tuesday, October 29, is the date for the Grossmont Union School District bond and tax override election. The District includes the Alpine Union School District.

The election is on two propositions. First, to authorize the issuance of bonds in the amount of 4 million dollars to be used to repay a State loan to be able to reduce the interest rate, and to build a new high school at Santee to relieve overcrowded conditions in the District's present schools. The second is to authorize the continuation of the present $1.50 maximum tax rate for the next 5 years.

If the bond issue is defeated, all of the high school students in the District, including Alpine students, will suffer on account of overcrowded conditions. If the tax override is defeated, all of the high school students in the District, including Alpine students, will suffer on account of a curtailment in the educational program due to the reduction of funds.

We recommend a YES vote on each of the propositions.

grey stone arch that joined the two wings of the building and made the people passing under it look very small and temporary compared to its antiquity. Dogs outnumbered all other pets. There were many breeds represented—poodles, several shepherd breeds, bull dogs, terriers, some prize racing greyhounds, a few dachshunds, one great dane, some chows and beagles, several hunting bird dogs, and a number of the elegant grey Irish wolf hounds, and of course, a few mongrels whose owners fiercely declared to be superior to any of the pure breeds. The talk among these dog people was wonderful. Each would fight and die for his chosen breed.

The cat owners were no less devoted to their pets. Siamese seem to be the favorite breed. The biggest blue point I ever saw snuggled contentedly in his mistress' coat, only his handsome face showing. She said he was 12 years old and weighed 30 pounds and had a whole string of prizes to his credit. There were some Persians and Angoras, but most of the cats were tabbys. One goat stepped daintily along on a leash led by a very well-dressed lady who kept her pet in her garden right in town. Dogs on leash are allowed in all the best stores.

Excitement stirred in the town when the horses began to arrive. First came three riders on a trio of hot-blooded prancers who made the crowd scatter and the dogs bark. Then came about four hackney ponies pulling their romantic rigs with drivers in high silk hats. Following these came the lorries pulled by the heavy dray horses, and their hardy drivers dressed in their Sunday black. One patient-looking old brown mare came slowly in pulling an antique closed carriage with liveried driver and someone inside behind drawn curtains. And the rain kept spraying down while umbrellas blossomed all over the green as the crowd thickened.

bles, quickly quieted. People complained mildly about the weather and wondered what was delaying the priest. Out of the mist then three men came walking down the path from the grey building. A white robed priest in the middle, a black robed one on his right and a dark suited man wearing a heavy gold chain round his neck on the other side. This was the Lord Mayor of Dublin, who stood at the priest's side during the ceremonies. The altar was set up near the empty cages. The priest said a simple prayer for all animals, the friends and companions of man, from whom we obtain so much good, and to whom we owe kindness and consideration. Then the people filed past him carrying their pets in their arms and the priest blessed each in turn. Three unidentified small creatures received the Holy water through holes in the boxes in which they were hidden. Mice? Birds? We never found out.

When he had finished with the small animals the priest took his bowl and went to each horse in turn. The old mare stood with bowed head as if she understood and a face appeared briefly at the curtained window of the carriage. It was all over in a short time. Then the Lord Mayor led the way, with the priest, to the steps of the Kings Inn where he climbed to the top step and made a speech in praise of animals and of people who love and respect them. As the crowd dispersed, three fine looking big draft horses came prancing up each pulling a polished dray—too late to be blessed. Said the woman holding the big Siamese cat. "Those men stayed too long in the pub."

week including tilework, carpeting and the installation of new pews. All is expected to be completed in ample time for dedication.

The new addition to the church was designed by Mr. Paul Davis, husband of the co-Pastor, Rev. Cynthia Davis. Mr. Davis also supervised the construction which was done by the general contractor, Luke Robert Durnell of San Diego. The construction was completed in the record time of less than three months. The addition includes a new wing containing the sanctuary, the foyer and a nursery. The former portion of the building has been remodeled, and includes school rooms, an office and other administrative facilities.

The new addition has a wide porch on two sides, and wide steps leading to the main entrance. The porch is enhanced with attractive grill work which has been painted a lovely shade of blue, and the ornamental glass window over the main door carries out the blue color scheme. Enlarging and paving of the parking area was also part of the refurbishing of this local church.

Bids To Be Asked For Grossmont College

Harold Hughes, Superintendent of the Grossmont Junior College District, announces that bids for the construction of the Junior College buildings will probably be called for next Friday.

Mr. Hughes states that the District hopes that a contract can be awarded and the work completed and ready for classes in September of 1964. The present development of the campus contemplates the construction of eleven buildings on the 135-acre site, recently purchased by the District, north of Fletcher Hills.

The Jr. College classes are now being held at the Monte Vista High School in Spring Valley.

Dent Elected Board Chairman

Robert C. Dent was elected Chairman of the Board of Supervisors for 1964. He will succeed Robert C. Cozens who has been serving in that capacity during the past year. The Board also elected Frank Gibson Vice-Chairman for the next year. Mr. Gibson will act in the capacity of Chairman in the absence of Mr. Dent.

Supervisor Dent who represents the eastern portion of the City of San Diego was a member of the City of San Diego Board of Education prior to being elected to the Board of Supervisors in 1956. He is the owner of a clothing store in the North Park section which he founded in 1926.

sunny weather to cold misty rain, but the sincere warmth of the Irish welcome more than compensated for the weather. They like and respect the U. S. and its citizens, which is very gratifying after encountering the rude, stupid attitudes of many other nations towards U. S. One and all they were courteous, considerate, eager to make us comfortable and please us.

We attended the Dublin Theater Festival, saw 14 wonderful full length plays, met stimulating people of the theater, writers and actors, people from the Press, from business and agriculture. They entertained us at a reception, many teas, in pubs, at dinner, in their homes. All this, added to their shivery old castles, their thatched cottages, an art show, the fine horses, magnificent waterways, Irish music and dancing, and the best food we've had anywhere in the world, gave us three weeks to remember with the deepest pleasure.

The fourth week we spent in Cuernavaca, Morelia, Mexico, about five Jet hours from New York City, where we visited our daughter, Alice and her family. They have a beautiful home behind a 10-foot stone wall in a fabulous garden, and right outside the wall are Mexican huts where the pigs live with the family. It's a vital teeming city; its natives healthy and gregarious, and very prolific. The lack of zoning in the city make for a kind of fascination at every turn. This lovely tropical place was the most startling contrast to beautiful cool Ireland. Its dark skinned people, can be courteous, or not as the mood strikes them, and not all of them like Americans. We received many hostile stares. And one and all they think we are to be exploited to the limit. But some were gracious and we felt that we made friends here too.

The tropical fruit is unexcelled, all kinds of it, and the most beautiful vegetables in the world. There is a bakery in that town which is as clean and modern as any here, and where the bakers are surpassing artists. Paris never turned out more gorgeous or delicious pasteries, cookies, cakes, breads, rolls. The market is so crowded you have to push through sideways. We saw churches, climbed a pyramid, and in the theater saw Manuel Cordova and his troupe of Spanish dancers in a dazzling performance.

Then home from Mexico City in four hours, completing a 10,000 mile plus trip in exactly four weeks to the day. This was two weeks longer than we meant to be away, but once air-bourne we couldn't resist the temptation to keep going. But how good Alpine's brown hills looked as we flew over them coming home.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Isola Hook

Funeral services were held last Monday for Mrs. Isola Hook, 84, of Buckman Springs Road, Campo, who died October 16th, in a San Diego hospital.

Mrs. Hook was a member of a cattle-ranching family who pioneered in farm activities in the Campo area. She had lived 60 years at Campo and had been a San Diego county resident for 75 years. In 1895 she married Charles Hook, a cattleman whose parents had homesteaded at Campo. He died 20 years ago.

Mrs. Hook was a past chairman of the Campo Group of the County Farm Bureau, a member of the Cow Belles, the San Diego County Pioneers Society, and the Ramona Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Survivors include Lester, of the Hook Ranch at Campo; another son, four daughters, one brother, six grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted by Merkley Mortuary followed by interment in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Square Dance Fiesta Planned

The 13th Annual Fiesta de la Cuadrille sponsored by the San Diego Square Dance Association and the San Diego Park and Recreation Department will be held in Balboa Park, November 1, 2 and 3.

Anticipated attendance will be between 5000 and 6000 square dancers who come from all over California and the far Western States to attend this annual three-day event. Five-hundred teen and pre-teen dancers are expected to attend the Junior Fiesta which is conducted by the San Diego Teen Square Dance Assn.

There will be workshops for the dancers and clinics for callers and dancers. There will be round dance workshops and clinics conducted by many of the finest instructors available.

An adult exhibition and fashion show is planned for Saturday evening in the Balboa Park Bowl from 7 p.m. until 8:15 p.m. This is free to the general public and everyone is invited to attend. The junior exhibition will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:45 to 3:15 p.m. in the Balboa Park Bowl. This is also free to the public.

Square dancing will be held in the Balboa Park Club, Conference Building and the Recital Hall according to a planned program which is available to anyone who attends the fiesta and live music will be provided at some of the dances.

The public is cordially invited to attend this fiesta to watch or participate in this three-day affair.

The Gamma Gamma toy party was held Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Marian Wickens with approximately 30 guests. Many gift items were displayed for pre-Christmas ordering. The party was sponsored by the sorority to aid their philanthropic projects. Refreshments were served.

The Alpine Cub Scout Pack 350 will present a comedy entitled "The Emperor's New Clothes" at their regular meeting in Fuller Hall on Friday, October 25, at 7 p.m. Ten Cubs will take part in the presentation of the play.

Three Alpine couples, Mr. and Mrs. Pike Meade, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Kramer and Mr. and Mrs. John Payne, plan to attend the performance of the Kingston Trio at the Russ Auditorium Saturday night. Nicky Reynolds of the trio is the brother of Jane Meade. Several other Alpiners who remember Nicky are also planning to attend the performance.

Tommy Judd became a teenager last Tuesday when he celebrated his 13th birthday with a party of friends and relatives at his home on Victoria Drive.

Steve Kramer who joined the Navy this past week will be taking his basic training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

The first baby to be born to residents of Palo Verde Ranch last Saturday, a new daughter was born to Ruth and Ken Lejman at Grossmont Hospital on October 19, at 9:45 p.m. She has been named Michelle Theresa, and weighed 5 pounds 3 ounces at birth. She is the first girl for the Lejmans. Jeanne and Auren Pierce have been chosen the godparents of the young lady.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Kramer expect their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. David Kramer, to visit them here the first week of November. They are coming from the mid-west.

The local trio, the Alpinettes, who were guests of the Spring Valley Woman's Club Wednesday were pleasantly surprised to see four of the Alpine Club members in the audience. According to one of the trio members, the reception they received was lovely and the compliments very gratifying.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Jane Miller and Steven "Doc" Hamilton of Lake Morena. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest V. Miller, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton also of Lake Morena. They both attended Mt. Empire High School, and Jane is presently employed in the office there. Steven is employed in San Diego by San Diego Co-operative (Vita-Gold Feed and Egg Company). No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haskell made their annual trip to Los Angeles last week to attend the football game between Syracuse University and University of California, and the alumni reception after the game in the Venetian Room of the Ambassador Hotel. They report a wonderful time, and were happy Syracuse won the game.

Tuesday of last week was a big day for a few of the local people who went to a salad luncheon, card party, ham dinner, and entertainment given by San Diego Chapter, No. 264, Order of the Eastern Star. They were Pearl Seymour and Connie Jones of Potrero, Bee Boyd and Fay Farris of Campo and Lake Morena. They were joined by two friends of Connie's, Joyce Baker and Gloria Smith, and by two friends of Fay Farris, Margaret Barber and Betty Bolte, all of the San Diego area. They had a most enjoyable time. The entertainment by a Pacific Beach group, was a musical — with music from "Tin Pan Alley." They were excellent, and understand they are booked up until after Christmas.

Marie Martin entertained the Lake Morena Combo club on Wednesday of last week at the home of Ardelle Craft in Morena Village. Margaret Rolland and Gertrude Haskell were honored for their birthdays, and were presented with gifts of silver. A lovely birthday cake and ice cream and coffee were served for refreshments. Dell Nielsen and Gertrude Haskell had high scores. Also present were Gwen Leach, Helen Smyth, Marie Lindemann, and Fay Farris.

One of the oldest residents of the Campo area passed away on Wednesday of last week. It was Isola Hook, who lived at the Hook Cattle Ranch on Buckman Springs Road for 60 years. She was in a rest home in San Diego under observation, and was preparing to leave for home, when she died of a heart attack. For many years she was active in the Homemakers Club and the Cow Belles. She is survived by 2 sons, 4 daughters, a brother, 6 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren. Her son, Lester, lived with her at the ranch. Services were at Merkley Mortuary in San Diego last Monday, and burial was in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Well, the rain's came and our Valley is looking green again . . . let's all hope there's a lot more coming this year to fill the ponds, lakes, and creeks to bring our community to its zenith of beauty.

The Nominating Committee of the Civic Club met at the Sellers home last Friday to choose a slate of nominees for next year's officers. They'll be contacting the nominees for their acceptance or rejection of the nomination so they can present their slate of nominations for the next monthly meeting which will be election night. These, plus the nominations from the floor, should give a representative selection from the community.

There's been several mix-ups in our area now on mail being sent to San Quentin rather than to the addressee . . . to avoid this, don't forget to acquaint your correspondents with your ZIP number . . . use it on your return address as follows:

George Buell is still home recuperating from a leg injury suffered five week ago. Unfortunately he developed an infection which has given him a bit of unexpected trouble.

The newly organized teenage club, under the sponsorship of Judy and Sonny McCann, have planned their first activity which will be a Halloween dance to be held Saturday night, the 26th, in the Fire Hall. The Pharoahs are scheduled to provide the dance tunes which should make this a "jumpin'" affair. Popcorn and soft drinks will be on sale. All teenagers are invited to attend.

One of our local deer hunters came home with a good haul. Zane Dana bagged a big buck, right after the season opened, at Fish Lake in Utah. It rained and sleeted the whole time he was camped and the weather was pretty sloppy. He moved on down to Boulder South to Birch Creek near the Mud Lake area and three minutes after finishing breakfast and striking out again, just before heading home, he got a spike buck.

Dick McCoy, scout committee chairman, will make the presentations at the Boy Scout Court of Honor of Troop 375. The meeting which was scheduled for last Sunday was postponed until Monday, October 28. Nineteen merit badges will be awarded and four one year perfect attendance awards have been earned. Being promoted to First Class will be Fred Manning, Bob Wagner and Fred Wagner; Second Class, Ned Voorhies, Bob Dixon and Bob Matthews; Tenderfoot, Mike Manning and Robbie Zimmerman. The Court of Honor will be held in the Fire Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Lynn and Cathy Spiry will be packing their bags and leaving very shortly. Lynn will be discharged from the Navy in about two weeks and these nice young people are leaving the canyon to return to New York.

Boy Scout Troop 375 is planning a trip to Grand Canyon over the weekend of November 11, according to Bill Dessert, scoutmaster. Anyone planning to join this group must register with Mr. Dessert by Saturday in order to make the trip.

Once again the young people of the canyon are invited to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Draeger, 519 Harbison Canyon Road, to play a few games and enjoy refreshments before attending the Youth for Christ meetings in San Diego. Miss Ethel Waters will be the guest at the Nov. 2 meeting and this should be an inspiring and enjoyable evening for all attending. The two canyon churches have joined together to provide transportation for those wishing to attend the Youth for Christ rallies and have arranged these get-togethers which are held at 5:45 each Saturday.

COKE'S KITCHEN

Ghosts and goblins are about to appear and whether or not you have children, "trick or treat" night is just about here.

Some suggestions this week for your Halloween plans. In the way of cookies, roll dough for "Gingies", below, ½-inch thick, cut into 2½ rounds, bake, cool. Cover with orange-tinted creamy icing. Make faces with melted chocolate or better still, pick up a cake decorator in your favorite color for easy decorating.

If your plans call for a cake with a Halloween twist for your evening meal, try a "hallo witch" with any box-cake recipe. Her hat is made of chocolate butter cream frosting with candies for her eyes and mouth. Her scraggly hair is made from white frosting sprinkled with cocoanut. And of course, the way you place her mouth she's a glad or a mad witch. The witch is basically a 9-inch square cake. When cool, measure 4½ down from left corner and cut diagonally across to opposite corner. The large piece is the witch's face, the other her hat. Now from the shortest side of face piece, cut off a wedge 2 by 3½ inches to use for nose. The witch cake consists of her hat-face and nose and is easily assembled if I have not confused you.

Old-fashioned Ginger Cookie
 Mix thoroughly—1-3 cup soft shortening
 1 cup brown sugar (packed)
 1½ cups dark molasses
 Stir in—¾ cup cold water
 6 cups sifted flour
 2 tsp. soda
 1 tsp. salt
 Sift together and stir in—1 tsp. allspice
 1 tsp. ginger
 1 tsp. cloves
 1 tsp. cinnamon

Chill dough. Roll out very thick (½ in.). Cut with 2½-in. round cutter. Place far apart on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake until, when touched lightly with finger, no imprint remains. Temperature 350 degrees, about 16 minutes.

SCHRADE REPORTS ON LEGISLATION

The last echoes of the partisan battle at last summer's special session over exclusive control of Assembly committees by the majority party have now lost themselves in the distance. A new shake-up of that house's committee structure has just been completed which will have a great influence on interim and other future work on subjects which have important state-wide implications.

It will be recalled that the final action on this committee matter was a change in the rules to remove Republican Assemblymen from chairmanships or vice-chairmanships which they held. The effect of this change was to leave open the chairmanships of four major committees, those on Agriculture, Government Organization, Legislative Representation, and Livestock and Dairies. Without heads, it was impossible for these groups to schedule interim activities, even though bills and other measures had been referred to them for study.

This temporary delay has now been at least partially ended by a new realignment of committees. Acting under the new rule, the Speaker has consolidated into one the committees on Agriculture and Livestock and Dairies. In a move surprising to many, he at the same time combined the committees on Manufacturing, Oil and Mining Industries, and Public Utilities and Corporations, into one.

Chairmen of both these latter groups are Democrats. The head of the Public Utilities Committee was given chairmanship of the new agricultural body. The chairman of the Manufacturing and Oil Committee was assigned the top spot in the combined business groups.

The work of the Committee on Legislative Representation was turned over to the Assembly Rules Committee. The only matter not finally decided was the fate of the Committee on Government Organization.

Membership on the combined committees was left unchanged, which means that for the time being at least, the agricultural group will have twenty members, and the business, twenty-four. The overall effect was to reduce the number of Assembly committees by three, and perhaps eventually, four.

A number of bills, a constitutional amendment, and many resolutions had previously been assigned to the four original groups for interim study. Investigation of the matters involved will be taken up by the new committees. Two public hearings already scheduled, one on state control of natural gas prices, the other on zoning of sand and gravel pits, will be held by the new business committee at the times and places previously set.

Several major subjects are on the agendas of the new committees. The agricultural group has before it the knotty problem of assessment of agricultural land, on which a proposed constitutional amendment was lost in the 1962 election by a small margin. Also before it are a study of agricultural chemicals and controls on them, a proposal for creation of an agricultural development commission, and an investigation of food packaging practices.

The business committee, in addition to the natural gas problem, will take up the operations of the Public Utilities Commission, pay TV, charter bus operations by local governments, and petroleum marketing practices, including "gas price wars."

To stimulate a jaded appetite, men and women of Yembn, Arabia chew a native herb KNAT. Public chewing dens are provided in many places where the populace chews the knat to the rhythm of music.

ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

Now is the time the experts tell us to plant most ornamental trees and shrubs so they will get the benefit of the winter rains and hence, establish good root systems before springtime brings out the top growth and blossoms.

One of the best ways is to start looking for a lot of our natives which seem to be fast disappearing from the landscape. They not only help preserve our botanical heritage but they are obviously well suited to our soil and climate conditions. Once established and with not too much competition from our other cultivated specimens, they take little or no care. Give these natives good drainage, a little water occasionally, and they will repay you with long life and dainty blooms.

The most important among these wildlings are the Ceanothus (wild lilac). There are the varieties such as small trees, smaller shrubby size, Mountain haze, Sierra blue, and Blue skies, and others. There is a prostrate one, Point Reyes, which takes a little cooler climate than Alpine, making a good ground cover. I have seen this one up around Julian. Any and all of these Ceanothus should be guarded from the bulldozer's blade.

Another native beauty when in bloom is the Fremontia, rather a stiff shrub, and when in bloom with its yellow flowers with coppery overtones is quite beautiful. It is well worth a spot in the yard, not too near plants which need much water. All it needs is good drainage and to be left alone or watered very sparingly.

There is still another native we ought to try to preserve and that is the Tree Anemone (Carpenteria Californica) medium sized shrub, narrow dense leaves and white flowers with prominent yellow stamens and delightfully fragrant, not too demanding in its wants and can take a little more moisture than some of the natives. There is the Toyon, the lovely berry shrub which should be in every yard, if only for the sake of attracting birds and to feed migrating birds as they pass our way.

The Matilja poppy is a tall-growing plant which produces the huge white crepe-like blooms with the prominent yellow centers, beautiful enough to grace any garden. There are just ever so many lovely flowers to be found over the hills and valleys which are being ruthlessly plowed under and lost to everyone. Let's try to save some of them.

Mexico City To Have 1968 Olympics

The International Olympic Committee who have jurisdiction over the conducting of the Olympic Games have announced the selection of Mexico City as the location of the 1968 Olympic Games.

Other cities had made application to the committee for consideration including Detroit, Michigan; Buenos Aires, Argentina; and Lyon, France; but the committee by a large vote approved Mexico City's application.

The Olympics have been held twice in the United States, in St. Louis in 1904 and in Los Angeles in 1932.

Mexican Flag

Mexican United States. This coat of arms and flag was ordered by Congress on April 14, 1823.

Our flag and what it means:
Our flag stands for something. Green stands for Independence, green is also the color for our mountains, for our meadows, for our gardens, the bright green of our wheat fields, the beautiful green color you can find and admire in an emerald.

White stands for purity of Religion, while as a pearl, like a white lily, as white as snow on our volcanos, white as the morning all dressed like a beautiful bride.

Red stands for Union, it also stands for courage, for fight, red as blood, red as dawn, red like flames from a forge, red as a beautiful ruby.

As for the coat of arms, the eagle means Power and Union, the snake is the discord, hate or disagreement imprisoned forever by the eagle.

able Schio Asukata, Mayor of Yokohama which is the sister city of San Diego.

Evelyn and Edward Schmidt took a week vacation in their camper. They visited Lake Havasu and Big Bear and returned October 15. Evelyn returned to work Monday, 21st, as clerk in Jamul Post Office.

Jacqueline Thompson returned to work the 14th at the Jamul Grocery after being home for several weeks from an automobile accident. We are glad to see her back.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Mangels entertained Mrs. Maude Harford, Mrs. Mangels mother. They really had a nice visit before Mrs. Harford left last Friday.

Billie Miller is home at last after spending three weeks in the hospital. She is getting along very well and hopes her friends will drop in to see her as she is looking forward to company.

MOTHER GRUNDY

By OLIVE WOOLRIDGE
MEMORIES OF GERMANY and trip home —

From Frankfurt, I remember the faded pink roses by the Main River that looked as old the day after they bloomed as the ancient cathedrals and the old red sandstone walls that line its banks.

And shopping in Frankfurt for "Lederhosen" (leather pants) for the children, where, displayed in the windows was a giant pair, three feet across the middle, at least. It made you laugh to see them, because the comedy of a man actually wearing them was a vivid picture of the mind.

After leaving the ranch, where life was so primitive, our new found friends put us on a fast train to Hamburg, the port from which we were to sail. The train was called the TEE (Trans Europe Express) and nicknamed the "rich man's catapult." And there in the lounge car, separated slightly from the diner where we were having coffee, a group of men, their beer and wine making their expedition suddenly very enjoyable, burst into song. Yes, there it was, the German hunting song that my father used to sing to us, for his own enjoyment. Only his version used to be complete with the scratchy screech sound that the cracked record made at one point in the tune when played on the old hand-cranked Victrola.

Camping is very popular in Europe. All along the river on our trip down the Main were campgrounds, with brightly colored tents and camp trailers. We understand that during this summer, tourist season of 1963, there were more German tourists all over Europe than there were people of any other one nation. In our own limited travels this seemed very true, for often we would be in a group of people who were obviously tourists but the majority would be German speaking people. We met very few Americans on the whole trip.

One of the finest acquaintances of the trip was a young woman named Gabriela. Her name, pronounced correctly with a soft "a," has a lovely delicate angel sound. We were talking one day about the ravages of the war, both of us had been quite young and almost untouched by its fierceness, she because she was from the country area. We wondered why people got into these things when it seemed that as individuals we were so compatible. I said I couldn't understand it but wondered what the average every day person could do about it. Her answer was "I think we just have to think international." She may not have been aware that this touched me so much but I know that of all the words I heard, these will stand out in my mind.

MOTHER GRUNDY

Since arriving home, I have been scanning the book, "Pioneering In Dulzura," by Dorothy Clark Schmid, and find much pleasure in her style, the coverage she gives our area and its history. In the book she gives me the answer to my quest for the origin of the name of the peak, Mother Grundy. "Louis Harvey was homesteading a valley north of a mountain which had once been called "Madre Grande" because its great rocks looked like a woman's face. He thought pert Claire Hagenbuck was mighty cute when she tossed off "Madre Grande looks more like Mother Grundy to me," thereby renaming the venerable mountain. To even things up her own name got changed to Mrs. Louis Harvey."

Jeannie notices in her new Thesaurus that a synonym for "opinion" is Mrs. Grundy. Also under the word "convention," Mrs. Grundy is synonymous with propriety, decorum, correctness, Gundyism, and "conventional" is "according to the dictates of society or Mrs. Grundy." Thus her name has come down through literary history to portray in person, with her wagging tongue, her criteria for neighborhood behavior.

I also find that our rugged west entrance to the ranch was "called 'Chilkoot' for the pass over which the Klondike adventurers struggled. None of the Harveys died on their 'Chilkoot' but remember the strain and struggle all gave in proportion to their strength. . . . the combined efforts of the entire family and seventeen months of concentrated labor were needed for the improvement of the steepest and rockiest portion of the grade to permit automobile traffic." This work was started in 1890 and was to replace for Winnetka dwellers "the first wagon road by way of Bratton Valley and through Lyons and Lee Valleys to Jamul." The latter being the long way around. The lower part of this road to the west, as I understand it, is part of what is now known as Honey Springs road. And so history plays its part and lends character to current names and places.

About the first settlers, she has this to say, "Many states were 'back home' to these people growing new roots. They had a common delight in the genial climate which they longed to share with kith and kin but to each his valley was his alone and the surrounding hills were God-given battlements against intrusion. Each neither asked nor expected help in building a home or hewing out a road. All worked cheerfully together where interests converged in schools or other enterprises but they enjoyed the freedom of mountaineers." I would like to suggest that modern day inhabitants represent a similar spirit. The mountain men of today are also attracted by the natural barriers against intrusion and interference from urban societies.

And as later settlers came, "The new residents could be likened to the "dude" ranchers of today. They rushed in, set up a store, demanded a post office which they named of their own choice, sweeping aside old names and they went on to rally the others 'round for a school and social improvements." Here again I find striking similarities in today's movement of settlers to this area.

MT. LAGUNA

By KATHY McMANUS

Tuesday, October 15, Mt. Empire High School's Journalism class traveled to San Diego to visit the San Diego Union and Tribune. The class toured the whole building starting where the news comes in on teletype or by reporters to the mammoth presses. The class enjoyed themselves thoroughly, mostly because the class is all girls and the newspaper is a man's world, but the class hopes to change that.

Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 11:00 a.m. the Mt. Laguna Presbyterian Women's Organization met in the Mt. Laguna Community Church's Manse. The program was led by Mrs. Ruth Stuart.

Friday, Oct. 18, a car caravan carried students and parents of Mt. Empire High School to Calipatria for the football game there. Although it was raining very hard nothing stopped the caravan.

The Junior Varsity game started at 6:00 p.m. Bob Stuart, Captain of the team, of Mt. Laguna pulled his clavical during the game and will not be able to play for the rest of the season. The J.V. lost 30-0.

The Varsity game started at 8:00 p.m. They lost to Calipat. 18-6. Bill "Mousie" Prince making the touchdown for M.E.

On the way home the Car Caravan was stopped. There was a "river" of rain water crossing Highway 80 in Jacumba. Traffic was stopped both ways until the rain subsided and the water went down. Everyone enjoyed the team's hard fight.

PINE VALLEY

By JUDY MULLINS

Our Post-mistress, Honey Wellband has flown back to Milwaukee for a week. She went there to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Storedeour, for their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Frank Fortune is working with Bert Kendricks at the Pine

The new slab for the tennis court is completed and the screens for the court will be up and ready for use very soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford O'Marr are the proud grandparents of twin boys born on October 4th. The boys, weighing in at 7 pounds apiece, have been named Timothy James and Michael Clifford. The proud parents are Jack and Edna O'Marr, who are living in San Jose, Costa Rica at the present time. Congratulations to the O'Marr family.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Marr had out-of-town guests last Sunday. They were Mrs. O'Marr's brother and sister-in law, Mr. and Mrs. Sidford from Palos Verdes Estates.

Ruth and Ralph Mullins had guests for a very enjoyable waffle breakfast on the 18th. The breakfast was given for the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the donations went to this organization. There were guests present from Japatul Valley, Descanso, and Pine Valley.

This is just a short reminder about the Square Dance at the Pine Valley Clubhouse at 8:00 p.m., Oct. 25th. Y'ALL COME! AND JOIN IN ON ALL THE FUN.

The card party held at the Pine Valley Improvement Club last Friday was greatly enjoyed by all who went. Gloria Pharr and her committee did a wonderful job decorating and gathering together many little free gifts. Everyone who attended had the opportunity of taking one of everything from the assorted items in the delightfully decorated boxes in the center of each table. Besides these free gifts, everyone had a chance at winning one of the five lovely door prizes. Gloria and Betty Hatter did a fine job on the refreshments, too. Congratulations to Gloria and her committee. Keep up the good work.

Last Sunday the Mullins clan, Ruth and Ralph, Bert, our two daughters, and I, took a short jaunt up the coast to Oceanside. Although we go to Oceanside quite often to visit my folks, John and Evelyn Parr, and the rest of the family, this was a very special occasion. My sister Janice (who used to go to Mt. Empire) and her husband, Jack Ewers, are the proud parents of a 6-pound, 6-ounce boy, who was born October 16th. They are going to call the baby, whose full name is John Patrick Ewers, little Jack. Congratulations to you, Jack and Jan.

Immediately following the next Improvement Club meeting, which will be held on November 2nd at 8:00 p.m., there will be a Halloween Party. Be sure to wear a tacky outfit so that you can compete for a prize. See You There!
