LIFES VICISSITUDES

By Bea LaForce

One sure way to gain immortality is to become a martyr in the eyes of the multitudes. This is true even of ordinary men, but when that man is a dynamic leader as was John Fitzgerald Kennedy, one who has gone out among the people and met many thousands of them face to face and won their hearts as few leaders have done before him, then, this man being struck down in his prime is exalted, raised on the highest pedestal to remain an object of adoration, and to be long mourned.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, whose tragic death the world has mourned this past week-end, was admired and liked by more people around the Globe than any other president of the United States, including Lincoln. Many who disagreed with his political views liked him when they met him face to face and, though he could not change their opinions, he won their goodwill. This was no less true of the foreign powers who oppose us so violently, than it was of his opponents in his own country. Perhaps he traded on this personal charm of his. His critics say he did. They say that if he had not trusted so much to its power, he might now be alive instead of the victim of an assassin's bullet. But we feel sure that his liking for people was sincere and that it was his trust in Americans that took him to that fatal meeting.

We have lost a great and good man, with a great potential as a world leader. As Sir Walter Scott's poem says of a slain Chieftain:

"He is gone from the mountain; he is lost to the forest.

Like a summer dried fountain when our need was the sorest."

But we are not left leaderless. Another good man has picked up the torch. Whether we are "fur" or "agin" his political party, let us remember he heads the best government on Earth!

Sights & Sounds Of Our Town

Sights:
Notice the steady increase in the number of flags being flown in our town since the tragic events of the past week. Two of the most beautiful and impressive flying half-mast at the Queen of Angels Catholic Church and the Alpine Cemetery. Not too many in the heart of town, but up and down our country streets and lanes there were, and still are, many to be seen, some new, some old. One obviously new to its present setting bravely flying attached to a TV antenna on the corner of East Victoria and Highway 80.

The great number of people attending our churches on Sunday, and the somber faces of those

Dehesa Valley 4H Makes Plans

The Dehesa Valley 4H Club held its November community meeting on Tuesday the 19th at the Dehesa School.

Jim Babcock, reporter for this 4H group states that plans were made for the annual clean-up and that various committee chairmen were named for the year.

Mrs. Mary DeNure, Home Economics teacher from Granite Hills High School and President of the San Diego Chapter of the California Home Economics Association, presented a talk and film on nutrition.

Jim also reported that on the 26th of last month the Club held its annual hayride and wienie roast at Ballinger's Realty Livin' Ranch. The evening was climaxed with the members singing songs around the campfire. A good time was had by all present.

To a woman goes the credit for the fact that our Thanksgiving day is celebrated on a fixed date as of the last Thursday in November 1863, just one hundred years ago. The woman was Mrs. Sarah J. Hale who began her crusade for the uniform observation of a day of Thanksgiving while she was editor of THE LADIES' MAGAZINE, in Boston. When that publication was consolidated with GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK in Philadelphia, Mrs. Hart went along as editor and continued her campaign writing editorial after editorial on the subject of a uniform Thanksgiving Day. She wrote to the President and to the Governors of all the states and was able to persuade many of them to fix the last Thursday in November as a day of thanksgiving. Her last editorial on the subject, printed in the September 1863 issue of God-ey's Lady's Book has been preserved outside the magazine's files as an example of her writing on the subject.

Titling her article "OUR NATIONAL THANKSGIVING" Mrs. Hale says in part: "Wise lawgivers and great patriots have acknowledged the salutary effect of appointed times for national reunions which combine religious sentiment with domestic and social enjoyment; thus feelings of benevolence are awakened and gratitude to the giver of all the blessings is seen to be the great duty of life." She goes on to say that her plan has nearly been accomplished since for the past 12 or 14 years the states have made approaches to this unity. In 1859 thirty states held their Thanksgiving Festival on the last Thursday in November. It was also observed she states "in the American fleet—ships in the Indian Ocean, the Mediterranean, and on the Brazil station; by the Americans in Berlin at our Prussian Em-

WATER MAIN BEING INSTALLED ON WEST VICTORIA DRIVE

Rio San Diego MWD has awarded a contract to Ham Brothers for the installation of a water main on West Victoria Drive.

The contract calls for the installation of 2500 feet of 8-inch main extending from the northerly boundary of the Alpine Cemetery, northerly and easterly to a connection with the existing main which had previously been installed on Victoria Drive and Anderson Truck Trail to a connection with the steel reservoir on the Truck Trail. The total cost for this installation is Hollett, Jr. of Storrie, California. The new owners purchased the property which consists of a three bedroom ranch home and 53 acres covered with live oaks for future development.

C of C Annual Dinner Postponed

President Ross Mallette of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce announced this week that the Annual Membership Dinner meeting previously set for December 7, will be postponed on account of the events that have transpired during the past week, and the coming holiday season.

Mr. Mallette states that the meeting will be set for sometime in January at a date to be announced in the near future.

First Thanksgiving For Foreign Pupils

Today will be the first Thanksgiving for nine American Field Service foreign students who live with local families and attend one of the seven schools of the Grossmont Union High School District. Activities for this American holiday, unfamiliar to the visitors from Europe, Asia, South America, and the Philippine Islands, center around traditional observance.

El Capitan High School's Rafael Palma from the Philippine Islands with his American family, the Melvin Crains of 835 Harbison Canyon Road, will visit friends of the Crains in Santa Ana, where they will have a traditional Thanksgiving dinner. On Friday, a trip to Disneyland and other sightseeing are in the plans. Saturday and Sunday will find a second celebration underway at the Crain's home when relatives and friends will be guests.

bassy; in Paris, and in Switzerland." She says, "would it not be a great advantage socially, nationally, religiously, to have the day of our American Thanksgiving positively settled? Putting aside sectional feelings and local incidents that might be urged by any single state or territory that desired to choose its own time would it not be more noble, more truly American to become national in unity when we offer our tribute of joy and gratitude for the blessings of the year?" She ends her remarks by stating that she thinks this proclamation should come from the President and take precedence over any State's wishes.

Mrs. Hale had written to President Lincoln as well as to his predecessors, urging her plan and she undoubtedly sent him a copy of her editorial. At that time her magazine had a circulation of 150,000, the largest of any periodical of any kind in the country. On October 3, 1863, President Lincoln issued the proclamation for which Mrs. Hale had so long campaigned. Though the Civil War was raging, Mr. Lincoln begins "The year that is drawing to a close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies..." He admits the "magnitude and severity" of the war, and in the next paragraph says, "Needful diversions of wealth and strength from the fields of peaceful industry to national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship; the axe has enlarged the borders of our settlements... Population has steadily approximately $13,000, $5500 of which is for the cost of the pipe and fittings which will be purchased by Rio and furnished to the contractor for the work.

The new installation will serve a new residential subdivision, Victoria Hills, on which one home has been constructed and another home is now being built.

Ed Houser, Engineer-Manager of Rio, states that four meters have been ordered for immediate installation, one for the Alpine Cemetery, another for the Queen of Angels Church, and the other two for the residences in the subdivision.

Mr. Houser also says that Ham Brothers are the low bidders for the installation of a water main on the Palo Verde Ranch subdivision, and that he anticipates that a contract will be awarded in the near future. This water main will be 1100 feet in length and installed on a new road lying immediately west of the lake and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Auren Pierce, owners of the subdivision. The road and new main will serve eight lots being developed by Mr. Pierce northerly from his residence. The total cost for his installation is borne by the owner of the property.

increased notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege, and the battlefield, and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect continuance of years with large increase of freedom?" He ends with a prayer for "full enjoyment of peace, harmony, tranquillity and union."

Viewing our National and International affairs today, we seem to be standing in the same spot as we were 100 years ago. The same words apply now as then and certainly the same fervent wish for "peace, harmony, tranquillity and union." Only now it must embrace the Globe, not just our United States. Perhaps someday we'll see an International Thanksgiving Day when reverence for life beats a louder drum than does thirst for power.

The Alpine Woman's Club can be proud of two of its artists who have been awarded prizes for paintings at the meeting of the Southern District of the San Diego County Federation of Women's Clubs last week. Mrs. Jean McCullough took second place for an oil painting, a landscape, while Mrs. Mary Katherine Smith took third place for a portrait.

The Alpine Community Church announces preparations are under way again for its annual Christmas pageant, the Pageant of the Shepherds and the Kings. The first rehearsal was held Sunday evening in the church. This will be the 11th consecutive year for the pageant and some of its players. It will be presented at the church on Sunday evening, Dec. 22. Mary will be played by Helen Cost who was in the first presentation 11 years ago as one of the little angels. Her sister, Carol, will also play a part, as will Don Cost, their father. Mrs. Cost will again direct the music.

Mr. Warren Young and wife, Toni, attended a birthday dinner held in Mr. Young's honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boyd of Lakeside last Saturday evening. This was a joint birthday celebration for Mr. Young and Jim Wright, their daughter Joan's fiancé.

Lucky winners at the drawing held at George Brant's Flying A Service last Saturday were Mrs. Cushing, Mrs. Olga Zuelke, H. T. Magnussen, Mrs. Virginia Spires, and Mr. Carroll T. Dun. Each winner went home with a fresh 10-pound turkey from Vowle's Poultry Farm.

The Alpine Woman's Club members enjoyed an outstanding program at the meeting last Tuesday. Ladonna Mulhauser and Mary Baldwin presented a short skit written by club member, Bea La Force, which was extremely well done and well received. The Alpinettes, a singing group composed of Jerry Lou Webb, Elna Bratt, Judy Ellis and Florence Barrett under the direction of Leonore Lusk, sang a number of songs including one composed by Mrs. Lusk. This group is very professional and clever and show much talent.

Mr. and Mrs. James Little (Sandy Jones) announce the birth of their first child, a 7 pound 4 ounce boy named James Rolland Little, at the Navy Hospital in San Diego. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jones (Casey and Connie) of Potrero, and paternal grandmother is Mrs. Mary Little of Jacumba.

Mrs. Harold Hershey (Ruth) of East Highway 94 fell at the Unimart in El Cajon a week ago last Saturday and injured her left ankle and right knee. She was happy there were no broken bones.

Guests at the Hershey home recently were her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Barker of Antioch, California. They were also their guests three years ago when they were on their honeymoon. She is 75 and he is 85. They have known each other all their lives, and their families were friends.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lindemann and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Martin drove to Yuma, Arizona last week to visit friends and celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Martin. Understand Mrs. Lindemann made a cake to take along which was supposed to be a strawberry icebox cake, and she used cranberries instead, and it was delicious. They had rain, wind, sleet, and snow on the trip, but had a wonderful time.

Connie Jones of Potrero was installed as one of the hostess of San Diego Chapter No. 264, Order of the Eastern Star at their installation ceremonies held at Silver Gate Temple in San Diego on Tuesday evening of last week. Congratulations.

DEERHORN VALLEY

By ROY WALLIN

This past weekend was darkened by the untimely passing of a friend and neighbor, John F. Kennedy, President of our United States. True, he didn't reside in our valley, but as an American he was our neighbor; as a man, he was our friend; and as our President, he was the leading citizen of our national community. Through the miracle of television, his smile, his sense of humor, his desire to be among the people, the courage of his convictions, his forthright manner of speaking, and even his bad back and Boston accent were brought into our homes; and, in effect, we felt we knew him, his wife, and children personally as we do our friends and neighbors, not just as a head of State. His assassination—a shameful waste, yes! A great loss to our nation and the brotherhood of man, yes! but even further, I believe each and everyone of us, regardless of political affiliation, religious belief, or what have you, felt his death as a very personal loss, much more so than the passing of other great men, past or present. We mourn, but how? By prayers? By heads bowed? By tears? By solemn religious services or State ceremonies? By the cessation of business activities? All these and more are indicative to civilized peoples throughout the world of our sincere and deep mourning, but perhaps we can best mourn the passing of this great man in a more active, rather than a passive manner, a manner he himself might well have chosen, that of reinstating within ourselves the beliefs, principles and traditions that he lived, fought, and ultimately died for. How, you ask? We are not in positions of leadership or political influence—we are not heads of State, Senators, Governors, Mayors, or even Supervisors! True, but as citizens of these United States and members of this community, each of us can and should uphold and practice our ideals of the dignity and equality of man as well as the principles for which our nation stands, and further embody these ideals and principles into our daily lives in our relations with our neighbors, our friends, our community and its civic organization. Although President Kennedy was the apex of our governmental pyramid of democracy, you and I represent and are part of the broad base of this pyramid, and our strength lies in the union of the minute quantities that each of us represent—the more active and homogenous in ideals, the foundation, the stronger the structure. Therefore, this, I believe, is a proper and fitting manner of mourning for our former President—to rededicate ourselves to actively live his and our country's principles for which he lived, fought and died.

In talking to John Khapik, he stated that he and his family now plan to remain in our community, and their plans to move to Chula Vista are cancelled.

An old landmark in Jamul has been destroyed by conflagration—a familiar site to all of us who traverse Highway 94, the ol' (formerly French and Doty's) Plenty Time Cafe reportedly burned to the ground Monday morning.

A heart-warming (and stomach filling) Thanksgiving to all on this Thursday.

DEHESA

By KATHRYN HEINZ

A severe electrical storm last Wednesday resulted in most Dehesa residents being without electric service for almost an hour. Many phone lines were also out of order for most of the day, and several lines were dead for two days. Lightning struck a transformer in the Crest area that services sections of the Dehesa Valley. An inch and one half of rain was registered in the rain gauge at Dehesa School for the early morning storm.

A beef meeting of the Sycuan 4-H Club was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Neumann. Ralph Vockrodt, president of the club discussed cuts of beef and their prices. The beef class will be in charge of the Christmas meeting and party to be held December 19 at Harbison Canyon Community Hall and chairmen of events were appointed. Decorations chairman, Kathy Vockrodt; games, John Heinz; clean up, David Heinz; cake and beverage, Wilma Thompson and Ralph Vockrodt.

Last week this column carried an account of a miniature poodle being struck and injured in Harbison Canyon, and that the owner could recover the dog by proper identification. Minutes after the Alpine Echo was delivered in the Canyon Community Mrs. William Hamilton received a caller that not only claimed the dog but also said that she almost had given up hope of recovering the animal, as it had been missing for three months. A Mrs. Shilling had gotten the dog from a friend that was moving to the Orient and that the dog had slipped out of the door and ran away within two hours after the friend had left the dog. This correspondent is glad to have been a part of the happy reunion of a pet and its owner.

This also shows that the Echo is being read by area residents.

The Sycuan 4-H Club has prepared a Thanksgiving basket for a needy area family, and will deliver it this week.

A School Board meeting will be held on Monday, Dec. 2 at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria at Campo. The Board extends an invitation to parents and everyone interested to attend and participate in this meeting, and to discuss the educational facilities and program that you feel your district should have.

The Mt. Empire Taxpayers Association met on Wednesday, Nov. 20 at the Pine Valley Clubhouse. They discussed zoning, the possibility of new schools and how to make the tax dollar do the most for the district, and also talked of helping the Citizens Forestry Group plan for better fire protection in the rural areas.

A dinner and bazaar will be held by the Altar Society of the Blessed Sacrament Church, on Saturday evening, Dec. 7, at Camp Oliver. Dinner will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. After the dinner, there will be a Christmas tree, with candy and gifts for the children. Everyone is invited to come and have a good time.

Mrs. Florence Barrett was honored at a baby shower, held at the home of Mrs. Judy Ellis of Japatul Road last week. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received, and everyone had a good time.

The Martha Circle of the WSCS met at the home of Mrs. Orleta Coppage on Nov. 20. In the absence of Chairman Evelyn Howell, the meeting was conducted by Ruth Mullins. The devotions were given by Mary Henriksen, and also a very interesting account of hers and Mildred Van Oort's recent stay at Cedar Glen Retreat. All enjoyed a delicious potluck luncheon and in spite of the continuous rain, 16 ladies attended.

Evelyn Howell's health is slowly improving. She plans to fly to Colorado to visit her seriously ill mother soon.

Kenny and Katie Tyrrel left last Friday morning to go to Colorado after receiving word that Katie's grandfather had passed away. We extend our sympathy to Katie and her family.

Mrs. Ella Beale lost a tool shed and wash house on her ranch on the Japatul road last week, when they caught fire and burned to the ground. We are sorry to hear that none of the tools, which were stored in the shed, were retrieved.

Neighborhood gossip and chit-chat are the furthest things from my mind right now. Though many eloquent and noble speeches have been made about our late President John F. Kennedy, I, in my own way, would like to pay tribute to this man who died so needlessly and tragically. One only has to look into the face of his gentle wife to feel part of the burden of responsibility of events that led to his murder. I wonder if even a part of our population, with all our own little prejudices and hates, can raise our heads together after having bowed them together. If only a few of us can do it, John F. Kennedy did not die in vain.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Humerickhouse will entertain her brother, Rev. Lee Hoge and his family who will drive down from Lawndale for Thanksgiving. Mrs. Martha Decker, Gary Decker and one of his friends will also be guests for dinner.

Fortunately the sadness of the nation was not reflected in the small children and their happy days went on in a normal way. Such was the case last Saturday when Cory Carpenter celebrated his seventh birthday with a party. His guests were Patty, Terry, Dawn and Janet Magers, Richard Blaylock, Edwin Sherwood, Cheryl Bailey, Janelle Brown, Wayne Green and Jumper Dyke. The children enjoyed balloons, blow-outs and games and then feasted on ice cream, cake and punch. They spent the rest of the afternoon enjoying the gifts opened by the young host.

Have you ever heard or read the 4-H motto or pledge? Let's take time here to do just that and give a thought to what is behind the children's 4-H work. Their motto to make the best better. The pledge, I pledge my head to clear thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service and my health to better living for my club, my community and my country. It's a thrill to stand in the midst of girls and boys ages 10 through 19 and listen to them make this pledge using gesture, touching their heads, hearts, and holding their hands out palms up.

The Jamul 4-H Club had a busy evening Monday, Nov. 18, which began with Paul Kistrup Jr. leading in a song called Sip-n Cidar. Then he told a tall story that had a very good moral. The story is too long to relate here but I'd like you to have some food for thought from his closing, remember no matter how good or big you think you are there is always someone bigger and better right behind you.

There were also demonstrations given at the meeting by Geraldine DeFrate who entitled her demonstration equipment used in sheep program. Geraldine had as her model her ewe Trixie. Kay Bennington showed how to make an apple pie. As there was no may to cut an eight-inch pie in 65 pieces we had to forego a taste. Paul Kistrup Jr. spoke on how eggs are graded for market. He was accused of robbing his dad for the demonstration.

ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

Since everyone is preparing in advance for Christmas these days, or long before this for that matter, why not solve some of those problems by sending some of those friends subscriptions to gardening magazines of which there are any number to choose from. For instance, Horticulture is interesting and informative and one with beautiful illustrations as well.

Popular Gardening is a good one, Organic Gardening, Cactus and Succulent, and Sunset is especially interesting for western gardeners. Sunset Gardening Book surely ought to be in the hands of every gardener in the west. Of course, plants and shrubs make ideal Christmas gifts and it's a good idea to visit the nurseries early to get choice plants. Camellias and azaleas rank high as gifts, but berry shrubs of different kinds should always be included on your gift list or for your homes. As I have mentioned before, plant as many ornamental trees and shrubs now, and especially after this wonderful rain we have had, and they will get away to a good start and bloom in the spring.

You will see any number of beautiful and interesting things in the nurseries to choose from and no doubt there will be lots of bulbs to buy yet they'll be a little later in coming along, but will be just as nice as the early ones.

Try the trick of planting alyssum, violas or pansies or any small annuals to grow up in the bed and will add interesting color while the bulbs are getting started and will also make the space look better when the bulb foliage begins to fade. Don't cut bulb foliage till it dies down.

COKE'S KITCHEN

It is almost too late to actually "talk turkey" and by this time you have your favorite way of preparing "Ole Tom," whether it is in aluminum foil cooked in 450 degrees heat or by greasing the turkey well and cooking breast down in a 350 degree oven, which Mary Morgan, Home Economist claims gives the most tender, juiciest meat, or even by popping him in a paper bag which is particular favorite of my own family. I imagine the bag gives the same effect as foil except that it is less expensive and, of course, a method used long before aluminum foil became popular.

In case you have not decided definitely on your salads to accompany your turkey, the two recipes listed below are easily prepared ahead of time. They are delicious and picturesque to make your dinner complete. I hope you and yours have a happy day.

CRANBERRY SALAD

- 1 lb. cranberries
1 cup water
2 cups sugar
1 pkg. lemon jello
15 large marshmallows (cup up)
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup apples
1 cup nuts

Cook cranberries, water and sugar together until berries stop popping. Add and dissolve the jello to this mixture, then marshmallows. Cool. Add celery, apples and walnuts. Jell overnight.

Pineapple & Tomato Aspic

For tomato aspic, dissolve 3-oz. pkg. lemon gelatine in boiling syrup from No. 2 can of pineapple chunks. Stir in 1 cup tomato sauce and 2 tsp. lemon juice. Chill in shallow pan or ice cube tray. Unmold, cut in cubes with knife. Team with the bright flavor of chunks. Serves 5 to 6. Note: Don't insert ice divider as it does not work in unmolding your salad.

MOTHER GRUNDY

By OLIVE WOOLDRIDGE

I was impressed by the elegance, majesty and grace with which Mrs. Kennedy carried on. It was something unique for Americans and they can justly be proud. Her selection of meaningful symbols and her simple execution of action can well be an example for all of us in gleaning the important from even the most terrible of tragedies.

MT. LAGUNA

By KATHY McMANUS

The weather on Mt. Laguna was rainy and very cold. All week up until Nov. 20, that Wednesday night it began to snow, and kept on snowing until late Thursday morning. Mt. Laguna High School students, who attend Mt. Empire, did not attend school that day as it was impossible for the driver of the school bus to come up the mountain grade.

Mrs. Addison Moore left Sunday afternoon to travel by plane to Oakland, Calif., to attend her sister's funeral.

At 11:15 a student walked into a Spanish class at Mt. Empire High School, taught by Mr. Martin. The student walked up to Mr. Martin and asked, "Have you heard, President Kennedy has been shot in the head?" Mr. Martin looked up from his desk, utter astonishment filled his face. "Are you telling the truth?" The student, "yes." Mr. Martin pointed to two boys, "Go turn on the radio in my car." A moment later the entire class ran out of the room and crowded around the car and the radio was turned up. The first words they heard was, "The President John F. Kennedy has been shot while traveling in a motorcade in Dallas, Texas." Silence fell over the crowd. They listened quietly to the details of the crime. Approximately 15 minutes later it was unofficially announced that President Kennedy had received the last rites of the Catholic Church. A moment later they heard the words that none of them wanted to hear. "The President of the United States of America, John F. Kennedy is dead." The girls looked at each other as tears filled their eyes, boys turned and bowed their heads with disbelief. Mr. Martin walked back into the room without a word. Many of the weeping girls walked over to the Home Economics room and sat down, others walked to the locker room where they could cry privately. About 20 minutes later students began to stray back to class. The girls with tear stained cheeks, the boys with drawn faces, they began to talk quickly among themselves trying not to disturb Mr. Martin who was still in a moderate state of shock. At last the bell rang and the students were excused for lunch. The day wore on as the students listened to radios. At last the final bell rang and the students piled onto the busses to travel to the quiet and sanctity of their homes.

PINE VALLEY

By JUDY MULLINS

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mayhorn are moving to Long Beach. Dick is the son of Mrs. Frank Loehrl of Pine Valley and his wife Nita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis of Campo.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Beynon are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on November 30th at their home in El Centro with an Open House. Happy anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Beynon!

Mr. Cliff O'Marr went into the hospital last Wednesday for surgery. Mrs. O'Marr said that he is home now, and on the way to recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder and their children came up to visit the O'Marr's while Cliff was in the hospital. Mrs. Snyder is their daughter.

Mrs. Buddie Hill and sons left Guatay last Sunday afternoon to go to Wilcox, Arizona to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Tex Jones.

Mr. John Pingley is in the Navy Hospital undergoing a series of tests. He has been in the hospital since last Friday, but it is not known what is the cause of his illness. He is in Ward A, on the sixth floor. Mrs. Pingley has also been feeling under the weather. She is recovering from a week's illness, but she said that she's feeling much better now.

One evening last week a Cadillac with ten occupants, seven children and three adults, stopped at the Pine Valley Fire Station. One of the children, a boy, had become very sick and the people were seeking a doctor. There were two families in the car. There was a man and his wife and their five children, and another man and his two children.

The Pine Valley Fire Department used their resuscitator to give oxygen to the young boy. When they found out that the families had only a few dollars between them, the people of our community rallied to help them. Mr. Cammett, the owner of Major's Coffee Shop, fed the families and the Mountain Empire Woman's Club donated ten dollars to these needy people. While the two families were eating in their car, with the windows rolled up and the motor running, several of them became violently ill. It was soon discovered that they were suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning. John Pingley, R. T. Hadley, Louis Perna, Bob Pharr and Paul Hatter, all members of the Pine Valley Fire Department, administered first aid to the father of the larger family and three of his children.

Buddy Hill came down to the Fire Station from his service station at Guatay when he heard about the trouble and he and Paul Blackburn, from the Pine Valley service station, did some repair work on the car. The repairs done on the car included replacing the damaged muffler.

hundreds attending masses throughout the week. The Kiwanis Club, as a whole, participating in the Memorial Services for our late President, held Monday at the Community Church.

And, on the other side of the street, the noticeable decrease of patrons normally seen enjoying themselves in the relaxing surroundings of the Log Cabin Cafe. As Paul Brock put it, "this is usually the happiest time of the year, what with snow in the mountains and approaching holidays, however, the atmosphere here has been somber, tense and anything but normal."

Sounds: Even though this is Thanksgiving Day, I think passing on to you the following statements made by Alpiners on the subject of the past week's events, would be quite fitting and we all might like to remember their words in days to come. Rennie Hollett, President of the Alpine Kiwanis Club: "I feel keenly sorrowful and upset. With two senseless assassinations, wonder where it will all end. My fervent prayer is that we will all reaffirm our belief and faith in what America truly stands for, and in so doing, bring us all to our senses." Jack Hoistad, Alpine businessman: "This has been wholly Un-American and we just cannot accept it. In times of crisis and tragedy, the American people tend to draw together, and I've personally felt this happening already here in Alpine."
