ALPINE HTS. M.W.D. DISINCORPORATED

DISSOLUTION OF DISTRICT WINS BY ALMOST UNANIMOUS VOTE

In the special election held last Tuesday in the Alpine Heights M.W.D., the voters approved the dissolution of the District by an overwhelming vote.

The unofficial tabulations of vote was, 144 voted for the dissolution of the District and only two votes were cast against dissolution.

The election had been called as a result of petitions requesting an election on the proposition of dissolving the District being signed by a sufficient number of requested voters to require the calling of the election.

The Board of Directors of the District had prior to the circulation of petitions passed a resolution stating that in their opinion the District had accomplished the purpose for which it had been formed which was to bring water to the Alpine District at the earliest possible date and at the least possible cost and that the continued maintenance of the District would be an unnecessary tax bur-

Teachers Criticize School Board Action

Last Monday night at their regular monthly meeting, the Board of Trustees of the Alpine Union School District held a discussion on the incident caused by Mrs. Ann Hume's visit to the classroom during classroom hours. Chairman John Reynolds stated that Mr. William K. Brown, attorney for Mrs. Hume, was present and desired to be heard. Mr. Brown stated that as attorney for Mrs. Hume he believed that the publicity had been brought about in regard to Mrs. Hume's visit to Patricia Isom's classroom was detrimental to the best interest of the District and everyone concerned and that he recommended that the entire matter be dropped.

Chairman Reynolds who had stated at a previous School Board meeting that he thought the publicity had accomplished the purpose of informing the residents of the District that it was a violation of the State Educational Code for any person to visit a classroom during class hours and cause a disturbance and that no further action was necessary, stated that he was still of the same opinion and recommended to the other members of the Board that the matter be dropped.

Mr. Henry Schaeffer, spokesman for the Alpine school teachers, then reminded the members of the Board that they had previously stated that they were behind the teachers 100% and that the teachers were still of the opinion that the Board should request an apology from Mrs. Hume.

Trustee Stuart Day advised the Board that he had conferred with the County Council regarding the holding of secret sessions, what matters could be discussed in secret sessions and what actions

RESERVE OFFICER TO SPEAK

The speaker for the week at the Kiwanis Club of Alpine will be Lt. Col. Karl Tuttle who will speak on his recent official tour of NATO installation. Lt. Col. Tuttle will show slides and although some information is considered classified he will give a more intimate view and description. Lt. Col. Tuttle, if you are not aware, was formerly mayor of the City of El Cajon.

At last week's meeting of the Kiwanians, Warren Strohte with his CAP team and cadets gave a detailed picture of the organization, purpose and general nature of the Civil Air Patrol.

The interclub at the Catamaran was reportedly a great success. Members from the following clubs were in attendance, Alpine, Old San Diego, Pacific Beach and San Diego. There were more than 100 members of these clubs present. Those making the jaunt from Alpine were Al Alder, Ellis and Roy Crane, Frank Bornowski, Jo Lyman, Woody Mitchell, Vernon Rood and Bob Wilson. The next interclub will be with the El Cajon Club, May 16 at noon, meeting at the Foothills Club, in El Cajon.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

How the word "cocktail" came to mean a drink has always puzzled me. In talking with other people about it I discovered that no one seems to know the answer. Being country raised I naturally associate the word with the boss of the hen-yard, the old red rooster. So "cocktail" brings to me the image of a rooster's plumage instead of a drink in spite of the considerable time I've been aware of its other usage. So I went to the dictionary hoping to get closer to the answer to this riddle.

The first definition reads "a horse with its tail-docked in a stump like a cock's tail." The second said, "A person posing as a gentleman, but under-bred." The word also means a nasty little beetle, and finally comes the definition "an alcoholic drink iced and flavored with bitters." And it places the entire responsibility for the concoction on the United States. Still determined to get further knowledge of it and rid my-

NEW ALPINE SECURITY BANK PRESENTS GALA OPENING

The opening of the Alpine Branch of the Security First National Bank last Friday, May 10th, was an event that delighted the many visitors. Local residents crowded the scene which began a new era in our town's history. "It doesn't seem real!" said one long time resident as she gazed around the handsome interior of the new building.

"We've needed a bank for such a long time!" said several others as they waited in line to open accounts. As of recent mergers the Security First National is one of the largest banks in the world. It is the only bank serving the entire east mountain area from El Cajon to Jacumba. Judging from the enthusiasm evidenced by the crowd at the opening it will do a large business.

Beginning with the ribbon cutting ceremony at 10 a.m. with the scissors wielded by Supervisor David Bird, while bank manager M. Ross Mallette, and Alpine Chamber of Commerce President, Dick Harris stood beside him, the doors were open to the public all day with business and pleasure mingled as the crowd was treated to hot coffee, iced punch and donuts. Guests were invited to register for the drawing which was held at 7 p.m. when more coffee, punch and

A blazing fire on the Huey farm turned out to be the controled burning of an old shed in an open field on the farm.

Malcolm Huey had requested to burn this old shed, and Jack Blankenship took this opportunity to give the volunteer firemen of the Alpine Fire District a chance to practice with the new spray nozzles on the fire hoses. These nozzles have been in use for some time, but many of the men had not had the opportunity to actually find out how they work. The fine, wide spray from the nozzle is very effective in putting out a blaze, and the protection of the cooling water forms a screen which protects the fire fighter and allows him to approach within a few feet of the fire.

Jack Blankenship states that there are other old buildings in the area that the Fire Department would like to burn under a controlled burning program in order to eliminate the fire hazard which they cause. However, a number of them are situated among trees, and the problems of even a controlled burn are hazardous.

Installation Of Area VFW Officers

There will be an area installation of the newly elected officers of four Veterans of Foreign Wars posts and auxiliaries on May 19 at the Lakeside Veterans Memorial Building, Lindo Lake at 1 p.m.

The posts and auxiliaries taking part in this will be Alpine 5233, Carter Smith 5867, Sable 2275 and Santee 9327.

The Posts will have County Council Commander, Gilbert Castorena, Jr., as installing officer and the installing team will be County Council. Bernie Burnett will be the Master of Ceremonies.

The Auxiliaries will have First District President Kay Munson as the installing officer and the installing team will be District. Thelma Price will be the Mistress of Ceremonies.

Fire Hazard Is Extremely High

Because of the late rains, grass and weeds are of unusual lush growth this spring. The drying weather now being experienced is fast creating an extremely serious fire hazard. The Board of Fire Commissioners of the Alpine Fire District urges everyone to burn trash material with utmost caution, whether in incinerators or on special permit.

Looking ahead to the probability of this dangerous condition last March, the Alpine Fire District Commissioners enacted a burning ordinance for 1963 that especially regulates burning in incinerators. The ordinance defines the type of incinerator and spark arrester approved for use in the district.

A program providing for inspection of all incinerators in the district has been instigated and is proceeding as rapidly as possible. To keep the cost of this program at a minimum, inspections are to be made at the convenience of the district. When the inspection is made and an incinerator is found that does not meet the minimum requirement of the ordinance, a notice will be attached to the incinerator indicating its deficiencies and stating that burning therein is prohibited until indicated corrections are made and approved by the Fire Marshal.

A copy of the new fire ordinance was mailed by the Fire Commissioners to all post office box and route box holders in the district. However, anyone desiring an additional copy of this ordinance can obtain one at the Alpine Post Office.

Descanso Property Recently Sold

Mr. Elgin Bailey of Brown and Bailey in Descanso reports the sale of six lovely view lots on Elm Drive. The lots were purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart from the estate of Alice Fisher.

Mr. Stewart is retiring from his position as a security policeman. The Stewarts plan to start the construction of a large new A-frame home on one of the lots this July.

Sales Continue Of Alpine Property

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Barslund of Rosemar Ave., San Jose, have just purchased the income property consisting of two rentals and owner's home and rock shop with 137 feet highway frontage from Mr. Verb Echols of 1853 Highway 80, Alpine. Mr. and Mrs. Barslund plan to move here and eventually go into business. Mr. Echols plans to buy a new jeep and pursue his hobby of rock collecting and making jewelry, at which he is very expert. This sale was negotiated by Mrs. Charlene V. Brown of Pierce Realty Co. here.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane V. Strong of 8912 La Jolla Scenic Dr., La Jolla have just purchased the new four-bedroom home now under construction in Palo Verdes Estates from Mr. Melvin G. Matzner, contractor. Mr. and Mrs. Strong have two daughters, Janice, who is eight years old and is quite expert at riding. She just won second place in class competition at Rancho Riding Club Del Mar. Suzanne is 16 and attends high school in La Jolla. Mr. Strong has his own insurance business in La Jolla. The whole family returned to La Jolla after three and a half years in Hawaii. They have purchased this beautiful $52,000 home which overlooks the lake because of our fine climate and country living. They will build a barn and corrals for their horses. The sale was negotiated by Charlene V. Brown of Pierce Realty Co. here.

Due to the many fine homes built and under construction in Palo Verdes there is considerable interest being shown in both new homes and homesites.

LOCAL SCHOOL STAFF VISITS TIJUANA SCHOOLS

On Friday, May 3rd, the Alpine Union School's teaching staff along with their Superintendent Clyde Gilley and Mrs. Gilley, and both superintendents Mark W. Kerlay of Harbison School and Leo Regan of Alpine, and school board member John Reynolds, visited three schools in Tijuana, Mexico. Two bus drivers and the cafeteria manager, Mrs. Helene Allen and school secretary, Mrs. Margie Cooper also were in the group. Accompanying them as interpreters were Mrs. Carmen Hoistad and Mrs. Ricks.

The group made the trip from the local school to the border in one of the school busses. At the Mexican border they were met by a Tijuana school bus which transported them about the border city. Official host to the visiting Alpiners was Professor Rodolfo Delgado Pedrin, Federal Supervisor of Education in Tijuana who met the crowd at the border and escorted them on their entire visit. Dr. Richard Bannister of the San Diego County Department of Education was also a member of the visiting delegation.

Mr. Gilley stated that at each school visited, the Alpine school left a gift of a nice new basketball which gifts were donated by a sporting goods house which wished to remain anonymous.

Teachers stated that the trip was very enlightening to them since some of the methods employed in the Mexican system are amazing in their apparent efficiency. They said that most classes contained 45 to 50 pupils. The visitors were impressed with the warmth and enthusiasm with which they were received by students and teachers alike. A great deal of learning is by rote. Most arithmetic is done "in the head" not on paper.

Children are required to attend school in Mexico from the ages of 6 to 14. The age range in one first grade class was from 6 to 10, and in a sixth grade class from 11 to 17.

There is very little in the way of spelling, reading and writing taught at the intermediate level.

Descanso Town Hall

VANISHING LANDMARKS

By BEA LA FORCE

The Town Hall once the main focal point of the small town, like the central hut or tepee of the primitive tribe, seems to be disappearing from the local scene. At least it is no longer the one big gathering place for the people. Perhaps this is because we are divided now into many small cliques, and sects, and factions which meet privately each in its own place intent upon desperate destinies.

In Descanso, the Town Hall still stands where and as it was built in 1898. But its windows are boarded up and it is no longer the proud attraction it was for many years and for miles around. Built by local subscription and with the donated labor of local men, the Descanso Town Hall was the busiest place in that whole area in its early years and right on through the 30's and into the 40's.

It was used as a school and as a church, as a social hall for the community and as a reception hall for private affairs like big weddings and for political rallies. One of the groups to make most active use of its for many years was the Catholic Youth Organization which regularly held dances on Saturday nights, especially in the summer, with bands hired from San Diego. This was during the time that the well loved priest, Father Leo Davis was there.

The big event of the year was the very popular Western Dance with prizes for the best costume and the best western dancing. One long time resident recalls a newspaper write-up which he says stated the event correctly, "everybody who is anybody will be at the western dance in Descanso at the Town Hall." He said the place was packed with people from all around the mountains as well as from San Diego and the other towns in between.

The community Halloween party was always held there and many a big Christmas party made the old

Cindy states that she is still waiting for delivery from New York of various items, including the long shirts now so popular, and that when her stock is complete she will hold a grand opening sometime in June.

Juniors Hold Talent Show

The Junior Class of El Capitan High School have scheduled a Talent Show to be held on May 23, at 8 p.m. in the El Cap Foster Gym.

Anna Andrus, Junior Class president, states that so far 15 acts have been scheduled which include dancing, singing, piano solos, group singers and folk singers.

The recommendations for meal patterns for aging persons include one pint of milk or its protein equivalent in the form of cheese, buttermilk, or milk daily.

THE CHILDREN'S CHARTER

In 1929 President Hoover issued a proclamation making May 1st Child Health Day, and in February 1931 a White House Conference resulted in the adoption of the Children's Charter, which follows:

1. Spiritual and moral training for every child.
2. Understanding and guarding of the child's personality as his most precious right.
3. A home, with its love and security, for every child; for the foster child, the nearest possible substitute for his own home.
4. Full preparation for birth, with prenatal, natal, and post-natal care for every mother, and protective measures to make child bearing safer.
5. Health protection from birth through adolescence, including periodical health examinations with care of specialists and hospital treatment when necessary; regular dental examinations and care of the teeth; protection against communicable diseases; and pure food, milk, and water.
5. Promotion of health with health instruction and a health program, with physical and mental recreation under adequately trained teachers and leaders.
7. A safe, sanitary and wholesome dwelling place, with reasonable provisions for privacy.
8. Well equipped schools, with nursery and kindergarten to supplement home care for younger children.
9. For every child a community which plans for his needs, protects him from dangers and provides for play and recreation.

10. Education which develops the child for life through developing his individual abilities and vocationally prepares him for a livelihood yielding the maximum of satisfaction.

11. Training for children to prepare them for parenthood, homemaking and citizenship, with supplementary training for parents for parenthood.

12. Education for safety and against accidents.

13. For the physically and mentally handicapped child, measures to train him to become a social asset rather than a liability. Expenses involved should be met publicly when they cannot be met privately.

14. For every child in conflict with society, intelligent dealing as society's ward, not society's outcast, in the attempt to return him to the normal stream of life.

15. For every child the right to grow up in a family with an adequate standard of living and the security of a stable income.

16. Protection against physical or mental labor which retards physical or mental growth, limits education, or prevents play, comradeship and joy.

17. Schooling and health facilities for rural equal to those for the city child, with an extension of social, recreational and cultural facilities to rural families.

Publicity—Good or Bad?

We are rather confused by what transpired at last Monday night's School Board meeting in connection with the Mrs. Anna Hume incident.

Is everything on top of the table, or is there something behind the scenes that did not come out in the open?

Board Chairman John R. Reynolds, Trustee Charles Kildgore and William K. Brown, Attorney for Mrs. Hume, all state emphatically that the "publicity" has accomplished its purpose, whatever that might be, and that no further action should be taken. The "constitutional majority" went along with this philosophy, and as Chm. Reynolds puts it, "the matter is dropped."

It would appear to us from what we have heard that either Mrs. Anna Hume violated a state law or did not violate a state law. Also, that the school teacher involved, and at least a majority of the Alpine school teachers have reason to believe, after having heard from her, that a state law has been broken. Also, that no one to our knowledge has proposed that Mrs. Anna Hume did not violate the state law which she is accused of having violated.

If "publicity" is all that is needed to cure a law infringement, many of us might tend to become scoundrels.

Under our form of Government, a person is presumed to be innocent until proved guilty. However, if there be a charge of violation of a law, there should be an investigation by some agency to determine whether the law has been violated or not, which in our opinion should be done in a business-like way and not for publicity purposes. Chairman Reynolds and Trustee Kildgore have publicly stated that they would not vote on the "matter" without having heard both sides. We assume that they heard the teacher's side in their secret meeting two weeks ago, or at least they had the opportunity. If Trustee Stuart Day's motion made last Monday night which failed for want of a second had been passed, Mrs. Anna Hume would have had an opportunity of presenting her side of the story.

Is it that the "constitutional majority" does not want to hear the other side, or is it that they already know the other side, or what is the reason that they so strongly endorsed and supported the "drop the matter" attitude?

Climbing Up The Golden Stairs

We read in the daily press that Congress has before it a measure to raise the limit on the national debt to a record $309 billion. The measure was passed by the House of Representatives and now goes to the Senate.

Last year Congress passed a measure establishing the national debt limit at $305 billion, which was a compromise figure. The Democrats wanted more, and the Republicans less. However, this measure was passed with a sort of promise that the debt limit would revert to the previous high of $285 billion on July 1st of this year without Congressional action.

However, Congressional action is now taking place which will undoubtedly lead to a new high for the national debt.

We wish to reprint a portion of an editorial which we published in our July 5, 1962 issue under the same title while last year's debate on the national debt limit was in progress, which reads as follows:

The Congress of the United States of America has raised the legal debt limit despite all of the past campaign promises to reduce taxes and reduce the national debt

Of course, the financial wizards of our country say that this is only a temporary expediency, but we have noticed that each temporary expediency, or tax, or regulation, or restriction, or what not, is always permanent, never temporary, and we fully expect that there will be no reduction to look forward to in our national indebtedness.

Pine Valley Child Dies Of Meningitis

A child died last week of spinal meningitis, in Pine Valley, according to the county department of public health. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cromwell, had been ill with influenza when he contracted the illness which proved fatal.

It is advised that adults as well as children are susceptible to this disease and that protective measures are possible. If anxious, see your physician at once.

self of a barn-yard association so that I can attend one of these popular early evening functions without looking warily into the dainty little glass, I went on a further search for the origin of the word "cocktail" as applied to the social drink of the civilized world.

It seems that no true history of the words origin is known, but that an actual 56 fables have been uncovered by searchers and only one of them has anything to do with a rooster's tail feather. This story dates back to the early days of the Hudson Valley where stood an old Tavern whose owner was a hardy Dutchman who prized two things above all else, his pretty daughter, Peggy, and his fighting cock, Lightening. Peggy helped out in the tavern by handing out the grog with innocent cordiality to the brawny Colonials, and is said to have invented a fancy drink for special occasions whose formula was carefully guarded by the management. When Peggy fell in love with one young Master Appleton, a mate on the clipper ship, Ranger, it was necessary for him to ask her father for her hand in marriage. So Peggy stirred up a mug of her special drink for her sweetheart to give him courage to face the stern father. Just as she finished the drink, Lightening, out for his daily exercise, flew into the room and one of his royal tail feathers sailed into the drink.

"Ah!" cried Peggy, "A good omen! 'Lightening has named the drink. A cocktail!" And they drank a toast to their future happiness.

Another tale credits a New Orleans bartender with its invention, while still another gives the bow to a Kentucky Colonel. One more fable relates that an Aztec noble sent his daughter, Xochitl, with a drink of cactus juice to the Emperor, who was so charmed by both that he married the girl and named the drink for her. There are many others, but whatever the legend, the blame (or credit) for the cocktail's creation is always given to the Americas. Seems impossible that the older countries, with their long history of alcohol usage could be innocent of ever mixing their drinks, but so the best authorities piously declare.

Did you know that Vermouth is quite a complicated potion? I was surprised to learn that some 40 different spices, herbs and flowers are used in its making. They include Camomile, quinine bark, hyssop, nutmeg, rose leaves, and in the imported brands a small amount of the drug worm-wood. Its name comes from an adaptation of a word which means worm-wood. Maybe it's just as well we don't know too much about origins, including some of our own and our neighbors.

'AND THERE IT GOES'

Baseball in Alpine is in full swing. Mrs. Lucille Woolridge is the new Concession manager, ably assisted by Mrs. Melvin Bell. To date, four Alpine mothers assist at the concession when necessary but as is most always the case much more help is needed. Any mother wishing to lend a helping hand will be more than welcome.

The baseball standings as of May 14th are as follows: Majors—Alpine Merchants, won 2, lost 0; Kiwanis, won 1, lost 0; Youth Center, won 0, lost 2. In the Minors, standings are as follows: Dairy Mart, won 2, lost 0; Fleet Reserve, won 1, lost 0; Casino Inn, won 1, lost 2.

See you at the ballgame.

Horses! Horses! Horses!

By MARGARET LOWTHIAN

Dinosaur Park is sponsoring an All-Western Horse Show and Gymkhana on Sunday, May 26, in the ring at Dinosaur Park, according to Norman Foster, Director of Horse Activities. The show will start at 9 a.m. There will be trophies and ribbons in each class. Mrs. Jackie Dalzell will judge this show, and it will be open to everyone.

The other day Paul Boardman, riding Pal, and Les Green, riding Carmen, visited Willow Glen Farm to see our Appaloosas which Paul had not yet seen. I was very sorry that I was not home to show them around, but Les knows all the horses and was able to give Paul all the introductions.

Paul, like most everyone else, succumbed to the charms of Hyu Skukum, our lovely yearling filly who doesn't know that she is a horse. She is firmly convinced that she is people.

Mrs. Armour of Bright Valley Riding Stables in Galloway Valley (Arnold Way) tells me that they now have a class of eight ladies for riding lessons each Friday at 9:30 a.m. After the lessons, the ladies enjoy coffee and conversation about horses and what they have learned that day. However, not one of the women in this class is from Alpine. Make a note of this ladies. This would be a wonderful opportunity to brush up on that riding you haven't done for years, and also have a good time without having the youngsters to show you up. Think this would be a good place for me.

A number of local people have been talking lately about the possibility of re-organizing, or organizing, a riding club for Alpine. They have dug out the by-laws of past clubs in the area, and are now arranging for an open meeting to discuss the idea. The meeting will be on Thursday night, May 23, at the Youth Center. Everyone interested in having a riding club in Alpine should attend this meeting and contribute their ideas for such a venture.

Certainly there are enough horse owners and riders in this area to support the activities of a riding club. The persons now behind this project are Les Green, Alice Irvine, Norman Foster, all the kids who want instruction and more horse activities, and many others.

So, all you horse people make a note of the date—May 23—and attend this organizational meeting and help get a riding club active in Alpine.

Tomorrow, Friday, after school is out, Alice Irvine is taking 20 children on a ride to Spur Valley Ranch. They will camp out overnight using the facilities that are available at this ranch for camping. On Saturday they will ride through Sloan Valley and up over the riding trail back to Alpine. This sounds like a lot of fun, and the kids of Alpine are fortunate in having Mrs. Irvine here to take care of arranging these rides. Have fun!

Dairy farmers reported that their cows produced milk at the highest rate in history in 1962.

Alpine Woman's Club Honors New Members

At its regular meeting on Tuesday, May 14, in the Clubhouse the Alpine Woman's Club had a long business session which included several important features.

Mrs. E. Sachse, new member chairman welcomed the new members and presented each with a gift, a lovely silk screen print of the club made by Mr. Justine Greulle. New members thus honored were, Mesdames Lois Rood, Lillian Lyman, Marian Putnam, R. S. Fagan, Claudia Beard, Judy Ellis, Brabazon, J. D. Stieger, Frazier, Schiek, Koppack, and the Misses Margaret Lowthian and Marjorie Breeden.

Mrs. Orville Palmer read the nominating committee's selection of new officers and since there were no nominations from the floor the slate was unanimously elected. They are, Mrs. Harold Johnson, president; Mrs. Lenore Lusk, first vice-president; Mrs. Pete Vancil, second vice-president; Mrs. Katherine Black, third vice-president; Mrs. Fern Latham, recording secretary; Mrs. Ed Orbon, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. Simms, treasurer.

The matter of supplying each member with a copy of the club constitution was discussed and disposed of when Margaret Lowthian offered to make multilith copies for the club as a donation. Her offer was accepted with thanks and she will bring the copies to the next meeting.

Among other matters of business was the invitation from Grossmont Junior College to the club to be named as donor of a perpetual trophy to be awarded each year for the Best Achievement in Drama. The club voted to give the trophy which will last for 30 years, thus perpetuating the name of the Alpine Woman's Club in the College.

Following the long business session a delicious tea was served by hostess, Mrs. Vancil and her committee, Mrs. Mary Ansell and Mrs. Simms.

ALPINE

By DEBBIE MARSHALL

Marie Kramer would like to thank all of her friends who donated blood recently to the Blood Bank of San Diego for her father who was visiting from Pennsylvania recently and needed this all-important service at the time of his surgery.

Mrs. Josephine Sturdivant spent her Mother's Day with Mrs. Lucille Gates of Lakeside attending church and later enjoying dinner at the Gates' Ranch, in addition to having a pleasant visit with her granddaughter, Mrs. Douglas Gates.

Such a pleasant surprise birthday party this week. Mrs. Joseph P. Wallan of South Grade Road was royally tricked by her friends and surprised at a get-together dinner party prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Ring and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Place, Thursday evening. After a number of pre-planned tricks the honoree arrived at the home of the Places and was honored for the evening. A delicious dinner was served and a corsage of tiny red rose and orange blossoms presented to Cleo. The traditional birthday cake climaxed the surprise party.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Banks of Poway and their son, Tom were guests at Sky Mesa Ranch this weekend for a celebration of Mr. Bank's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morris of the Log Cabin Trailer court have been away most of last week visiting their daughter in San Diego. The occasion was a sad one marking the death of their son-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Stevens of Portland, Oregon, were visitors last weekend in Alpine as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnson of Victoria Drive. Mr. Stevens is also a long-time friend from Oregon days of E. L. Freeland, and he and Mr. Johnson spent Saturday afternoon reminiscing with Mr. Freeland of past mutual experiences.

CAMPO

Archie and Gwen Leach of Campo announce the birth of a grandson on Saturday, May 4th in Tempe, Arizona. The parents are Larry and Arvilla Johnson, and they also have a small daughter. Mrs. Leach flew down to Tempe to be with her daughter for a while.

Peter Hite, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lewis of Tecate passed away on Sunday, May 5. He was only 24 years of age, and had a small daughter two months old. Mr. Hite was manager of the Tecate Ranch in association with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hite. He was born in Whittier, and attended Mt. Empire High School, San Diego City College, University of California at Davis and California Polytechnic College, at Pomona. The Tecate Ranch is a cattle and general farming enterprise, and Mr. Hite was a member of the American Hereford Association and California Farm Bureau. His widow Letitia, daughter Paula Ann, his sister and parents all of Tecate Ranch survive. Graveside services were held in Potrero Cemetery on Tuesday of last week, which were in charge of Erickson-Anderson Mortuary.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Camp of Idyllwild were house guests of Helen and Bill Pate of West Highway 94 one night last week.

Dell Nielsen of Lake Morena spent several days in San Diego week before last with her daughter Freida and family.

Phoebe Thompson returned the first part of this week from a trip to Pasadena visiting her daughter Natalie, and in San Luis Obispo visiting her other daughter Sylvia and family. She was honored on her birthday on May 11 and Mother's Day on the 12th. She reports a pleasant journey and happy times with her children.

Tuesday night of last week was enjoyed very much by the Lake Morena Woman's Club, when their Birthday Party for all members was held at the home of Norma Molchan in Morena Village. Norma Molchan and Marie Martin were hostesses, assisted by Ardelle Craft. Gifts were exchanged, and card and door prizes were furnished by Norma Molchan. A gift of silver was given Norma in appreciation of her hospitality on many occasions, and for her birthday which was May 4th. Thirteen attended the party, and in addition to the above, they were Helen Pate, Margaret Rolland, Flora Skonberg, Dell Nielsen, Gertrude Haskell, Ruth Lawrence, Betty Brown, Bobbie Hasenmaier, Bee Boyd and Fay Farris.

Mt. Empire Woman's Club met at the home of Gertrude Haskell in Lake Morena on Wednesday of last week, and 23 members and guests were present. Phoebe Thompson was co-hostess, but Fay Barrish assisted in her place. Muriel Ut won the mystery prize. There will be no meeting on May 22, as that is the date the group will take a bus trip to Hollywood to Farmer's Market, Truth or Consequences TV show, the Wax Museum, and to Knott's Berry Farm for dinner. There are a few reservations left, and anyone interested should contact Mrs. John Pingley in Pine Valley.

DESCANSO

By ETHEL WHITE

The first Little League game of the season was played at Pine Valley, Sunday, May 12. The A and B teams played the Little League mothers. The A team played the first three innings and the B team played the last three. The final score was 20-13 in favor of the boys. The mothers enjoyed the game in spite of minor aches and pains. Tickets were sold and the money will be used to buy equipment, uniforms, and the insurance that is required before the boys can play. This year the B team will have full uniforms. There are three teams in the Mountain Empire League this year, Campo, Jacumba and Descanso. A schedule of all the games may be gotten at Perkins' Store.

The older boys in Descanso would like to institute a Pony League this summer. They are looking for a sponsor so they can be fully uniformed, otherwise they will be playing in their regular clothes.

May 5, Gary Dorman and Pat Bentencourt were married in the bride's home in Gilroy, Calif. Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Bentencourt. Those attending from Descanso were Bob McManus, best man; Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Donahue, grandparents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dorman, Cindy, Bryan and Susan. Gary is employed at a ranch near Hollister, Calif.

For Mother's Day the Methodist Church presented planters to Mrs. John Van Oort for having the most children present, to Mrs. Bertha Dyer for being the oldest mother and Mrs. Wayne Tilley for being the youngest mother. Mrs. Ralph Mullins received a special bouquet in honor of being chosen Mother of the Year in the mountain area.

The WSCS of the Methodist Church is asking for donations of clothing, furniture and miscellaneous articles for their June 1 rummage sale. Contact Kay Baker if you have any large articles to be picked up.

Mrs. Tony White has gone to Blencoe, Iowa to attend the 60th anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Maxwell. She also plans to visit her son, Don and family and her brothers and sisters in western Iowa.

HARBISON

By BETTYE CARPENTER

On Saturday, the 11th of May, 15 friends helped Randy Wharff celebrate his eighth birthday. There was lots of fun and food for everyone.

Skip MacKenzie and John Camacho have reported to the State Forest Service now that the fire season has started. Needless to say we hope these fellows have a very dull summer.

Recent newcomers, the Jim Grill family, will be leaving soon to report in Long Beach due to Navy orders. We wish them much luck and happiness in their new home and wish they could have enjoyed the canyon a bit longer.

Once again we would like to urge all parents to instruct their little ones to stay on the cleared paths in the canyon and even then be ever watchful for snakes. A rattlesnake was killed in the brush very close to the Harbison Canyon School grounds last Sunday.

The Harbison Canyon PTA is sponsoring movies every few weeks and from all reports they are enjoyed by all who attend. They are usually shown on Friday evenings and sometimes during the day on Saturday. Watch the bulletin boards in the canyon and read the fliers sent home with your children. These movies are a real treat for the kids and the proceeds are put to good use by our PTA group.

Friends of Jack and Dorothy Kendall will be pleased to hear that they have returned from Peru and will be at the Harbison Canyon Community Church on Friday evening, May 24, at 7:30 and then again on Sunday morning, May 26. They will tell of their interesting experiences in the Mission field and will show film as they narrate. They serve under the auspices of the Wycliffe Bible Translators and will be returning to Peru very soon. Refreshments will be served in the Fellowship Hall after the services on Friday evening and everyone will have the opportunity to renew acquaintances with these lovely people.

Corinne Jennings, Patricia Magers, Julie Carlin, Robin Bettingfield, B. J. Slack, Billy San Souci, Michael San Souci and Michael Voght received their First Holy Communion in Queen of Angels Church in Alpine May 5. Taking part in the special ceremony of the crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary were Carolyn McCoy, Claudia Jennings, and Kathleen Slack. At this same service little Cara Renee Jennings, four months, was baptized formally.

Mr. Grayson spent several days in El Cajon Valley Hospital a short time back and we are happy to report he is slowly but surely recuperating.

About the proudest mother I've run into in a long time is Georgie Michael whose children gifted her with yard furniture on Mother's Day. Naturally, all collee and tea served at the Michael home is served outdoors on this lovely new furniture.

MT. LAGUNA

By COLLEEN INGALLS

It's that time again—the Forrest Olson family christened the approaching summer season by a barbecue Sunday, May 5th, in their backyard. The menu was barbecued ham with all the trimmings. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Christensen and Linda, Pat and Barney Taylor and their three children, Barney, Bret and Sherrie (Pat is the former Pat LaDou) and of course the host and hostess and their four kiddoes. Later "dripper-in-ers" were the McElvoy's and Mr. Durland. Good time was had by all.

Pioneer Days was held by the Mt. Empire School in Campo which included several Mt. Laguna students. The event was climaxed by games, horseback riding and dance. Most of the students turned out in Western dress.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Woods are back vacationing in their mountain cabin after a lovely winter in the desert.

Good to see Jean Christensen's smiling face back at the Lodge working these days.

Mrs. Jack Holmes will be hostess Wednesday morning to the ladies of the Mt. Laguna Community Church. After a short business meeting, refreshments will be served.

Mr. Addison Moore motored to a Presbyterian meeting held in Los Angeles this week and will meet his wife there who is returning from San Francisco.

Alpine Woman Named Director

Mrs. Auren Pierce of Palo Verde Ranch was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the East County Chapter of Angels Unaware, San Diego Association for the Mentally Retarded.

As a director, Mrs. Pierce is in charge of the committee on Center Planning.

Installation of the newly elected officers and board members will be made at the Fifth Annual Dinner of the San Diego Association for Retarded Children to be held late in June.

Film Night At Baptist Church

At the monthly film night at the First Baptist Church of the Willows the newest of the Moody Science films entitled "City of the Bees" will be shown.

The film investigates air conditioning police and sanitation squads among the many other amazing phenomena in this fabulous city.

The movie will be shown on Sunday, May 19th at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend. Admission is free, but an offering will be received to help defray the cost of renting the film.

PTA Bake Contest A Success

The Alpine PTA held a cake baking contest at their meeting last Tuesday which was open to the students of the school.

The first prize of $5 was won by Dale Bates. Jody Sutton won the $2.50 second prize, and David Weisbach the third prize of $1.50. The prize for the best boxed-mix cake was awarded to Forrest Brant.

Honorable mention ribbons were awarded to Ellen Phelps, Donna Schwenck, Celeste Irvine, Marion Bell, Patty Perkins, Barbara Stinson, Cecile Irvine, Diane Whitman and Renne Harris.

The cakes entered in the contest were served following the regular PTA meeting.

Club Women Off To Convention

Mrs. Harry Colby, president of the southern district of the San Diego County Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Ed. Orbon, drama chairman of the district, left Sunday to attend the California State Federation meeting in San Francisco. The ladies are driving and plan to be away a week.

Family Dinner

The Alpine Community Church will have its regular family dinner next Friday evening in Fuller Hall. The Guild ladies are preparing the meat dish and guests are requested to bring a salad or desert to pass and their own table service.

The speaker for the evening will be Rev. Charles Richmond of St. Andrews Episcopal Church in La Mesa who will speak on his experience in Africa.

Band Concert

The El Capitan Black and Gold Band, under the direction of Carl Thompson, will present a free public concert on Friday evening, May 17, at 8:15 p.m. in Foster Gym on the El Capitan High School campus.

The band will honor the memory of Arthur C. Schwuchow, former band director, by playing "If Thou Be Near" by Bach. Many other selections are on the program.

The El Capitan dance band will also play a number of selections.

Schrade Reports On Legislation

One area in which freedom of speech, efficient distribution of goods, and fierce competition for markets seem to tangle frequently is in advertising. Perhaps that is why we Legislators are often called upon to consider legislation which would affect one or more kinds of advertising. Some of our more ticklish and demanding problems pop up in this area, and are not easy to deal with.

Our current session is similar to its predecessors in this respect. A total of some 25 or 30 bills have been introduced in both houses which relate, directly or indirectly, to advertising. Most of them seek to restrict its use in one form or another. Some of them have already bitten the dust, either through committee action, or at the author's request. Enough remain alive as of now, however, to assure several committees some interesting meetings.

Advertisers, the advertising business, and news media which depend on advertising for revenue, all have long fought vigorously for truth and good taste in advertising. As a matter of fact, California for many years has had a law prohibiting false or misleading ads, or those wilfully designed to hurt a competitor, and these groups have been active in support of its enforcement.

The purposes of the current measures fall into several categories. Some would prohibit certain kinds of advertising, as for instance, telephone solicitation. Others would further limit advertising of certain products, such as alcoholic beverages or tobacco. Another class would restrict expenditures by local government for advertising. Still another group relate to outdoor advertising.

One measure would have prohibited the advertising of cigarettes or other tobacco products in school and college newspapers and magazines. When the bill was heard in committee, the editor of a state college newspaper pointed out that 34 percent of the advertising revenue of his paper comes from tobacco products. The bill went to its final rest without further ceremony.

One bill would prohibit boards of county supervisors from financing chambers of commerce or boards of trade from tax funds. An even broader measure would eliminate any allocations of funds by a county or city to a chamber of commerce or similar organization to be spent for advertising. These two would seem to contrast somewhat with another which would set up a new state tourist agency, with responsibility to advertise our California attractions.

A third group of bills would apply to real estate advertising, especially to that of real estate located outside the state. There has been much official complaint about the difficulty of controlling out-of-state subdividers who advertise their holdings with incomplete or misleading descriptions. These bills would give the state real estate commissioner broader powers in this area, but present law is regarded as sufficient by their opponents, if it is used.

A hotly controversial group of bills would further restrict outdoor advertising along state highways. The state administration is sponsoring bills for this purpose which industry spokesmen say would put it out of business.

Advertising is too important a factor in our system of production and distribution to be treated lightly. Our committees considering these bills will certainly keep this in mind in dealing with them.

WHAT DOES YOUR DREAM MEAN? To dream of tomatoes is good. To dream of eating them; splendid health. To gather them; happiness in marriage. For the unmarried to dream of tomatoes, augurs a smooth sailing into the sea of matrimony.

Idaho's Buckaroo Beans

If you aren't acquainted with Idaho's dappled beans known as "Pintos," a pot of Buckaroo Beans made with this Western favorite will provide a perfect introduction and lead you into meeting another of the famous Idaho Bean family—the Red Bean. Either can be used in this hearty low-cost all-in-the-pot meal, obligingly slow-simmered either on the newest of thermostatically-controlled range surface units or over the glowing coals of a camp fire, with practically no watching and few dishes to wash. And what a meal it is! This recipe makes 6 substantial servings.

- 2 cups Idaho dry Pinto Beans
- 6 cups cold water
- 1 large or 2 medium onions, thick-sliced or chopped
- 2 fat cloves garlic, minced
- 1 small bayleaf, left whole
- 1/2 pound smoked ham, slab bacon or salt pork

Add washed beans to the water, allow to soak overnight in a heavy kettle. Or, in the morning, boil beans 2 minutes in the water. Remove from heat, cover, soak 1 hour. Add other ingredients. Smoked ham should be cut in 1/2 inch cubes. Slab bacon or salt pork (salt washed off) should be sliced twice each way not quite to rind. Bring to boiling point rapidly. Reduce heat to slow simmer. Cover tightly. Cook 1 1/2 hours. Then add

- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano OR
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin salt if needed

Rapidly bring to boiling point. Reduce to slow-simmer. Taste for salt. Cover. Simmer about 2 hours.

There should be enough liquid left on the beans to resemble a medium-thick gravy. If cooked at this slow-simmer stage, the beans will not stick to the pot. Serve in large heated soup dishes or over-size coffee cups, with piping-hot buttered corn bread and cool crisp relishes; dessert—lemon, orange or pineapple sherbet or simple pudding with butter cookies.

This was explained by one of the Mexican teachers who has lived in the United States. He said that their alphabet is very phonetic, while our vowel letters have many sounds and there are many ways of spelling the sounds heard in English. Therefore, the Mexican children are able to learn to read, write and spell words of their language in the primary grades, while American children must work on their language skills for many, many years.

One teacher remarked that it was interesting to note that, despite the phonetic regularity of their language, the beginning reader in the Mexican school was taught by phrase reading with the refinement of phonics added at a later level much as it is in the United States.

Grossmont College Hires Educator

Charles A. Paul, who has been associated with General Dynamics Astronautics since 1955 will shift to Grossmont Junior College as director of technical-vocational education June 1.

Mr. Paul received his bachelor of arts degree in 1957 from San Diego State College where he is currently enrolled in graduate work. A native of Pauline, Kansas, he majored in industrial education at San Diego State specializing in electricity and electronics.

During 10 years in the U. S. Navy, Paul held communications and structural posts on half a dozen bases or on shipboard. He joined Convair in 1955 as a laboratory electronic technician. He was in charge of technical support and assistance to all General Dynamics Astronautics design laboratories. In this position he participated in the development of the Atlas missile system and was in charge of five supervisors and 130 employees. Named general foreman of the electronic development program in 1960, Paul moved up to manager of manufacturing operations for electronic programs in 1962.

State Reports On Property Taxes

Property taxes levied by all California counties, cities, school districts, and other special-purpose districts for the 1962-63 fiscal year reached $2,606,131,000, a tax burden of $150 for every man, woman, and child in the state, according to figures released by Richard Nevins, Southern California Member of the State Board of Equalization. This amount represents a rise of eight percent over the previous year's total of $2.4 billion or of $3 in the per capita tax.

The $200 million increase in levies was achieved by a five and a half percent rise in assessed values and a two percent hike in the average tax rate from $7.65 per $100 of assessed value in 1961-62, to $7.82 this year. Except for special districts, all classes of local governments experienced approximately the same percentage increase in tax levies.

One-half of all property taxes levied this year were for the support of public schools. To raise this sum required an average rate of $3.90 per $100 of assessed value.

County government property taxes (including the combined city and county of San Francisco) represented almost one-third of all the levies and amount to $820 million. An average tax rate of $2.46, an increase of four cents over the preceding year, was required to produce this amount.

Cities other than San Francisco raised $343 million of property taxes. An average rate of $1.54 per $100 assessed value at the levels actually used for city tax purposes was required to produce that sum.

The amount of property taxes levied in San Diego County during this period was $137,421,000, which would require an average rate of $7.95 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Arkansas Club To Hold Picnic

The Arkansas Club of Southern California will hold its fourth annual picnic and reunion Thursday, May 30 (Memorial Day) at Felcita Park, two miles south of Escondido. San Diego City Councilman, Honorable Allen Hitch, will give a talk on Parks and Recreation.

Last year more than 300 attended, coming from all cities north to Los Angeles, from Imperial Valley and as far east as Phoenix, Ariz. The tables were loaded with typical Arkansas picnic dinners. There was a ball game and other activities for the younger set while the parents enjoyed themselves relaxing in the shade of the huge oaks and talking of the "good old times" back in Arkansas.

All former Arkansans and their friends are invited to attend and get acquainted. For further information write to Tom L. Glass, 1834, 29th Street, San Diego 2.

Symphonic Chorale Hold Concerts

The San Diego Symphonic Chorale has scheduled two identical Spring Concerts this month. The first one on May 21 at Sherwood Hall in La Jolla, and the second one a week later, on May 28 at Crawford High School.

The 90-voice Chorale, now in its second year, will perform Johannes Brahms' "Liebeslieder Walzer" (Love Song Waltzes) and Vaughn Williams' Mass in G Minor.

The San Diego Symphonic Chorale is under the direction of Dr. Robert Emile, the concertmaster of the San Diego Symphony and one of the foremost violinists living in San Diego.

Both concerts will take place at 8:30 p.m. and the unreserved tickets are available through Thearle's Box Office and from members of the Chorale. Any additional information may be obtained by calling the San Diego Symphony Office at BE 2-3078.

Alpine Gardener

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

This is certainly the time of year to tempt one into becoming a cactus or succulent fancier, as we see the great banks of blazing color in the distance covering steep hillsides and even on the gentler slopes closer at hand.

I doubt if there is any other flower family that puts on such an intense show of color as does this succulent one. These plants really should be given a place in any garden, as they take such a small amount of care and their soil requirements are very modest. Just prepare the section you intend to plant them in by loosening the soil and adding some coarse gravelly sand and some peatmoss or leafmold, then plant the little cuttings six or eight inches apart, sprinkle them lightly then and also later, as the soil begins to dry out. Do not drench them at any time as they are more or less dry weather plants.

The above mentioned succulents are the small leaved ones suitable for bank and ground cover. They come in beautiful colors from shades of pale pink through to deep reds, yellow, and white, too.

Then look around for succulents for other uses such as the Echeveria Glauca (hen and chicken) as these tuck in so beautifully around rocks, etc. There is the Agave Attenuata, a larger succulent such as you might want to plant in a special jardiniere on the patio or combine with smaller plants in a rocky corner. There are so many beautiful succulents one can find specimens suitable for any possible use in the house or garden. Of course, when you see some of the exotic looking Opuntia cacti with their six or eight-inch blooms in all the rainbow colors you will want one or a dozen of these. This is the part of the country to grow these beauties in and they are easily grown, only requiring a loose soil and partial shade.

Give these lovely plants a try and I know you'll enjoy having them.

dainty cakes were served to the crowd.

The three winners of the three transistor radios were Mrs. Helene Allen, Raymond Hem, and Ann Sauter. Winners of the two portable barbecue grills were Donna Schwenk and Sadie L. McClinton. The big prize, the nice umbrella table and four chairs, was won by Mr. and Mrs. Al Harrington.

The first savings account was secured by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swearingin of El Cajon. Mr. Swearingin has been first to open savings accounts in the branches of this bank for many years. He has been connected with the El Cajon branch for a long time and is a well-known valley resident. The first account to be opened by an organization was that secured by the Alpine Historical Society.

The staff of the new bank proved themselves to be very agreeable on the opening day and are winning friends each day since with their sincere and friendly will to help people who seek the bank's services. This branch offers all banking facilities, including loans and financing. With M. Ross Mallette as branch manager, the staff includes Operations Supervisor Don J. Gardner, and Eve Petersen, Ginger Spires, and Peggy Hughes.

Banking hours are from 10 to 3 Monday through Thursday and 10 until 5:30 on Friday.

School Board Action

could now be taken. Mr. Day made a motion that the School Board instruct Dist. Supt. Gilley to write Mrs. Hume a letter requesting complete clarification of the incident or if the clarification was not satisfactory an apology from Mrs. Hume. The Board has previously in a secret session intructed Supt. Gilley not to send the letter because the action had been taken during a secret session and might not be legal. Mr. Day's motion was not seconded and Chairman Reynolds stated that the Board was finished with the matter and that it would be dropped.

A number of the teachers were present who then retired from the meeting and held a conference in the teacher's lounge. After the conference had been concluded, Mr. Schaeffer advised the Board of the feeling of the Teachers' Association, regarding the action the Board had taken.

A statement prepared by the Teachers' Assn. is as follows: "The Association publicly wants to state that it objects to the political and biased action of the School Board this evening. For a Board that has boasted of being 100% behind the teachers, we feel they are many more percentage points behind the teachers than just that.

Perhaps as teachers we have no recourse, but we feel also that the Board has, TONIGHT, already abused a suggestion made by the den on the property owners.

After the Alpine Heights MWD had been formed, the Board of Directors made application for annexation to the Rio San Diego MWD which was approved by the Rio District and by a vote of the residents of the Alpine Heights District. The Rio Distrtict then formed an Improvement District which included the Alpine Heights District and held an election for the issuance of bonds for the purpose of bringing water to the Alpine area. The bond election carried by over 93 percent vote which provided the funds with which to install the facilities for furnishing Alpine with an assured domestic water supply. The water facilities installed were maintained and operated by the Rio District which eliminates the necessity of having a separate independent District in Alpine so that last Tuesday's election was a non-controversial issue.

CTA. That it make every effort to help harmonize the situation in this District.

Regardless of previous policies set by the Board, their action tonight takes the teeth out of any policies. Certain school visitors evidently may feel free to condemn teachers in front of their students.

Is the Board afraid of the possibility of legal action?"
