MEXICAN CHURCH SCHOOL MEMBERS VISIT HERE

Last week-end the Alpine Community Congregational church was host to a group of pupils and teachers from the admirable Casa de Todos in Tijuana, Mexico. A Protestant organization, Casa de Todos means "house of all" where all in need may come for help and counsel. None are turned away, according to Senor Rafel Meza, assistant director of the institution who spoke at the Alpine church Sunday morning, June 30th.

Begun 15 years ago to answer a desperate need of Mexican families stranded in the border town due to emergencies of wet-back immigration from the inland of Mexico, Casa de Todos has grown steadily. Opened by Senora Maria Meza, mother of the assistant director, Casa de Todos' first home was a one-room building given to them by the La Jolla Women's Club. It has grown to a substantial establishment where 250 children are taught and fed daily. In addition to the school there is now a church, and a hospital where 1000 patients a month are cared for, according to Sr. Meza. These are housed in two large barrack buildings donated by the U. S. Navy and moved to the site and prepared for use by the Congregational church of La Mesa.

The management gives all available help to expectant mothers, to the sick and injured, and the homeless. Many babies are born each month in the maternity section of the hospital, Sr. Meza said.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

Summer time is called many lovely things and many lovely things it is indeed. It is long bright days when our gardens and flowers are fine and flourishing, when the fruit trees are heavy with the season's yield, when the strawberry patch proves its name as Everbearing. When we can wear our most comfortable clothes and the least of them, and leave all the doors and windows wide open to the fresh breezes, and eat and drink the delicious warm weather fare. Summer views of the mountains are softened with a delicate bluish haze, and the valleys seem to shimmer in the sunlight. Summer time has inspired many songs and poems, and countless artists have painted her enchantments. Summer is romance time, the favorite season for weddings, and vacations.

One of the most fascinating things summer brings and in abundance offers us, is an endless display of magnificent shadows. With the sun at its brightest and hottest, the shade beneath the trees is deepest and most intriguing. Pepper trees make shadows of soft grey lace which moves lazily in every little wind. Eucalyptus trees cast shadows of long slender fingers with pointed nails which move as if writing words in the dust, and the umbrella tree makes a round bowl-shaped shadow without a hole in it, and with a dainty fringe at its edge which moves hardly at all. Each shrub and flower throws its own image which changes as the sun moves in its arc.

The reflection of a tall spike of wild grey sage looks like a delicate Chinese drawing on the ground. An Ivy tendril could be

Wedding Anniversary On July 4th

On July 4th, 55 years ago Byron and Letta Smith of Willowside Terrace Road, Alpine, were married in Alpena, Michigan.

The Smiths have lived here for 17 years. They moved here from Kansas City where Mr. Smith was senior engineer for the Travelers Insurance Company. Their two children, Byron N. Smith and Mrs. Lawrence Conrad, still reside in Kansas City.

Mrs. Smith says they plan a quiet day at home and will go out for dinner in the evening in celebration of their 55 years together.

KILDGORE ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BOARD FOR 1963-64

The Board of Trustees of the Alpine Union School District held their annual organization meeting last Monday evening and elected and appointed officials for the next school year.

There were present at the meeting, Trustees Charles

Rio Reports On Use Of Water

The Rio San Diego Municipal Water District is now preparing a report on the first fiscal year of operating the water distribution system that was installed last year in Rio's Municipal District No. 1, which includes the Alpine area.

The report being prepared will include the cost of maintaining the water system, the cost of pumping the water to the reservoirs within the District, the cost of installing water meters, the administrative cost of supervising the District and reading the meters and the other costs incurred in furnishing water service to the residents of the area.

Mr. Ed Houser, General Manager of the Improvement District No. 1, states that the report will be prepared as soon as possible in order that the Rio Board of Directors may establish policies for furnishing water, construction of new service lines and the cost at the different elevations which will be based on the cost to the District as determined by the first year's operation.

In a preliminary report, Mr. Houser states that there are now in operation in the District, 635 meters, 42 of which were installed during April, May and June of this year. Mr. Houser said that a preliminary report indicates that the average use per meter throughout the District was 1,000 cubic feet

Alpine Scouts In County Fair

Alpine Cub Scout Troop 350 is going "great guns" at the County Fair these days.

Out of all San Diego Scout troops which number quite a few, ten Scout troops were invited to participate in the San Diego County Fair. Alpine was one of the troops so honored.

Their project is building birdhouses which they do right at the Fair. Four boys and two adults are present each day at the exhibit and are changed alternately.

The clever birdhouses are a huge success and are being sold to interested customers. Several people inquired whether the boy went along with the birdhouse and even laughingly inquired whether or not the hammer was included.

Plan to attend the Fair this year. From all reports, it is really worthwhile.

Alpine Gardener Wins At Del Mar

Mrs. Jean McCullough, the Echo's Alpine Gardener, who was chairman for the committee preparing the exhibit for the San Diego Cacti and Succulent Society, is pleased with two first prizes awarded her booth at the San Diego County Fair.

The prizes were awarded for excellence in their display of cacti and succulents, one each, including a cash award of $150 each.

Mrs. McCullough designed the layout for the booth, and helped set it up. Donating plants for the display was another Alpine garden enthusiast, Fern (Mrs. H. H.) Latham, who sent down some choice specimens from her lath house.

Other local women on Jean's committee were Mrs. Helen Steger, and Mrs. Dorothy Michaels.

Chamber Receives County Check

The Alpine Chamber of Commerce received a check last week from the Board of Supervisors of the county amounting to $350.00.

This money is from a County fund which is used for the promotion and advertising of County resources. The Alpine Chamber was given this money for their efforts in advertising the County and Alpine in particular.

The funds received from the County last year were used by the Chamber in printing brochures. During the year these brochures have been distributed to all visitors at the Chamber office and included in all mailings in answer to inquiries about Alpine. Mr. Richard Harris, President of the Chamber, states that the $350 received this year will be used for a similar purpose.

July 4 Day Of Many Great Beginnings

Since the first Independence Day was celebrated on the Fourth of July, 1776, the day has been selected for starting many important undertakings in the United States.

The first sod for the digging of the Erie Canal was turned on July 4th, 1817, by Governor DeWitt Clinton of New York.

Charles Carrol, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, turned the first shovel of earth for the building of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the first railroad in the country, on July 4th, 1828. He said: "I consider this among the most important acts of my life, second only to that of signing the Declaration of Independence, if, indeed, second to that." To the Blacksmiths' Association, which presented to him the tools used, Carrol wrote:

"You observe that republics exist and that the people under that form of government can be happier than any other; that the republic created by the Declaration of Independence will continue to the end of time is my fervent prayer. That protracted existence, however, will depend on the morality, sobriety, and industry of the people, and on no part more than the mechanics, forming in our cities, the greatest number of their most useful citizens."

The corner stone of the Washington Monument in the National Capital was appropriately laid on July 4, 1850.

BIG DOINGS AT SHADY ROCK

Big doings at Shady Rock Picnic Area this past week and many plans in store for summer recreation.

Last Saturday, approximately 150 people from the Bank of America in National City used the facilities of Shady Rock from 10 in the morning until about 8 Saturday night. It was a typical family affair.

Sunday, members of the choir from the La Mesa Catholic Church enjoyed Alpine's lovely climate from noon until 6:30. There were approximately 65 to 70 in the group. The Choir brought their own amplifier and personal choral records and after the strenuous activities of the day, listened to restful choir music.

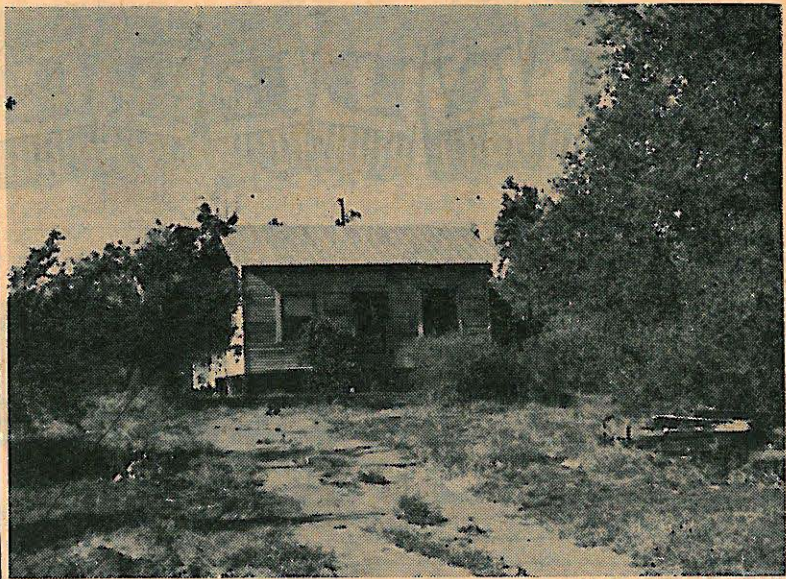

The Collards, owners of Shady Rock, expect the Corvette Club of San Diego out to enjoy a day in the mountains, Sunday, July 7th. This club is the largest in the United States with members owning 100 Corvettes from the San Diego area alone.

Would You Like A Mediterranean Cruise

If you like to make long range plans and look forward to events on next year's calendar, perhaps you'd be interested in a tour announced by the San Diego Museum of Man.

A Mediterranean archaeological tour is being planned for the spring of 1965. Only forty persons can go on this trip so the list is being readied way ahead. Preceding the tour and in preparation for it, the museum will give a seminar course of instruction in Mediterranean archaeology in the fall of 1964.

A cash deposit is requested of all persons wishing to plan the trip. Only members of the San Diego Museum of Man are eligible which memberships are open to everyone just by application at the Museum in Balboa Park.

THE OLD GALLOWAY HOME

VANISHING LANDMARKS THE GALLOWAY HOME

By BEA LA FORCE

Sometimes people live for many years on one piece of land and when they go away forever leave no mark upon the acres they once called home. This is not true of Galloway Valley where some of the Galloway family have lived continuously since 1909. Now, though, the valley which bears their name no longer is home to any of the family.

Summer Reading Program Continues

Don't forget the Summer Reading Program sponsored by the Alpine Library. It is a special program for all children in the Alpine area and surrounding cities to increase their reading pleasure.

Mrs. Elizabeth West, Librarian, has just a few bookworm charts remaining. Stop in today for yours.

The house in the picture was not the first Galloway Valley home of the family. The original homestead, which Neil purchased 54 years ago, stood on almost the same spot, a little closer to the road near the old well. It was a story and a half redwood frame building and at that time faced North for the road then ran along that curve of the valley. Many

Newcomers Continue To Come To Alpine

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Clary of Japatul Valley have sold their beautiful 16-acre ranch and home to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dunn of San Diego. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn plan to enlarge the present home and build a swimming pool. Mr. Clary is retired after 32 years with San Diego Gas and Electric Company. They are making plans to move to Grass Valley in Northern California to be near their relatives who live in Sacramento. The sale was negotiated by Bill Brown of Pierce Realty Company in Alpine.

Newcomers to Alpine are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cushing and son who have rented the B. V. Sturdivant house at 1470 Marshall Road. Their house has just been completely redecorated by Mr. Cushing. Also moving to Alpine are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Caputo of Vista. Mrs. Caputo came to Alpine for her health and already says she feels much better here. They rented the Verb Echols apartment on Highway 80. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emmett and daughters Ruth and Charlene of Oakland have rented the J. A. Rabouin four-bedroom home on Southgrade Road. These rentals were all made by Charlene Brown of Pierce Realty, Alpine.

S.D. State To Hold Public Discussions

"Man — Tensions, Technology, Peace," will be the subject of discussion by more than 30 diplomats, scientists, military leaders and political authorities during San Diego State's 21st annual Institute on World Affairs, August 5-23.

The three-week series of lectures and panel discussions will be open to the public without charge and may be taken for graduate and undergraduate credit.

Meetings will be held weekday mornings and some evenings on campus.

Under the leadership of Minos D. Generales, professor of political science, now serving his 12th year as director, the Institute on World Affairs has received national recognition.

The series will be broadcast throughout the country under the direction of KEBS (FM), San Diego State's non-commercial station.

Generales describes the series as dedicated to the use of free academic forum for presentation and discussion of current and continuing issues of international significance.

He said the Institute on World Affairs is for those who share a legitimate concern about the future of mankind, and believe that freedom can survive only in a climate which affirms the ancient Roman motto: "Audiatur et altera pars (Let the other side be heard)."

About this year's theme, Generales said: "Science and technology have made of man a bewildered adolescent. It is customary to speak of a population explosion; but the phenomenon is present in all phases of human activity and perception. Time itself has exploded into what is, in reality, a revolution in perspectives. The resulting threat to man's established values and institutions may well become a threat to his very existence as it leads to instability, tensions and war.

"With few guidelines from the past, man is presently engaged in desperate social improvisations. The future is for enquiry. Will man exhaust himself in a flash of glory or will he de-humanize himself into cold scientific sterility?"

"Since scientific advances are translated into policy . . . and policy reflects national goals, the

SKIN DIVING? TAKE CARE

The underwater mysteries unlocked by skin diving have made the sport an increasingly popular one. Those considering it for a hobby, however, should also consider the hazards of skin diving and some basic precautions.

The American Medical Association has pointed out that navigating under water is heavy exertion. Those with respiratory problems or heart disease should not attempt it. Diving is ruled out for those with perforated ear drums. Ear plugs are for surface swimming only and should not be used for diving because of the water pressure. Sinuses and ears must be in good condition to equalize pressure changes when diving. Asking your doctor to evaluate your fitness for diving is a precaution that will pay.

No matter how fit you are, safety rules should be followed. Never dive alone. Learn rescue breathing. Plan your dives. Know how deep you're going and how long you can stay under. Work out underwater signals for emergencies. Carry a knife to cut tangled lines or seaweed. Never dive when you are overly tired or not feeling well. Don't hold your breath while ascending. The air in your lungs will expand. Exhale slowly as you come up.

Gamma Gamma Western Party

A Western Steak Fry was held by the Gamma Gamma Sorority at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blankenship last Saturday evening.

There were approximately 34 guests. Several of the group joined in the fun by dressing old-time Western, with can-can dresses, high laced boots, red bloomers and all. One gentleman made a big hit in his dress as the friendly undertaker.

A feed trough was converted into a barbecue and each guest cooked his own steak according to his choosing accompanied by salad, baked potato, sour cream salad dressings of all kinds, coffee or mixed drinks from a rigged-up saloon.

The jovial crowd joined in swimming and dancing to records, and of course, the party ended in the "wee" small hours.

Good food, good company made the party a complete success.

Two Fires In Area Under Control

A 20-acre fire at the east side of El Cajon Valley and a 5-acre burn at Potrero on Monday were both brought under control by the Division of Forestry with no damage caused to buildings and homes.

The El Cajon fire was east of Greenfield and Madison, and the smoke was carried up through Dehesa Valley and Harbison by a steady breeze off the ocean. Without the quick action of the firemen and the tanker planes, this fire could have been a serious threat to a large area of homes east of El Cajon and to La Cresta and Suncrest.

Although the Potrero fire burned only five acres of brush, it caused concern to the Division of Forestry. If it stated again it could travel for an unforeseeably great distance with no natural barriers to stop it.

The U. S. Forest Service states that this year could be the worst fire danger season in the history of the county because of the seriously low rainfall during the 1962-63 season.

Celebrate Or Honor?

Many of us are apt to look upon a day set aside as a "holiday" as a day on which to celebrate in a way peculiar to the particular holiday, or on which to take a vacation without regard to the reason for which many of our holidays have been established.

The 4th of July holiday is used by many for the purpose of entering into the type of activities which have been developed to be entered into on this particular day without giving thought to the event that occurred 187 years ago on July 4th, 1776, or to the men who brought about this event. Men whose philosophy included the highest type of genuine patriotism exemplified by statements such as "give me liberty or give me death" and "millions for defense but not one cent for tribute."

a charcoal tracing decorating the adobe wall. The shadow of a crooked cross is cast against the house by the angle of the sun through branches of a tall poinsettia growing outside the kitchen wall. Nice designs in cubes and triangles slant down beside the barn and watertank, while the rail fence darns the light brown dust in big uneven black stitches sewing it to the cubist pattern in the barnyard. The patio porch is embroidered in a wheel design stamped by the wagon wheel at one end, and hanging baskets paint graceful black leaves on the log wall behind them.

Rocks can cast the most beguiling shadows of all if you look at them with imagination. Almost always they form some known thing, perhaps an animal, like the big lumpy rock on the mesa nearby which, with the sun lowering behind it, gives quite a remarkable shadow of a resting buffalo. A smaller one looks like a giant tortoise head thrust out ready to walk away. One big rock with smaller ones grouped on and around it casts an amusing reflection of a fat pouting man, and another gives a dark and rather sinister silhouette of an ancient Aztec idol at mid-morning.

We tell the time by shadows more often than we know. Country folk, we observe the shadows and feel in our bones the measurement of the hours. We see the broadening block of shade under the patio porch; we watch the darkening of the hollows in the mountains. On the mesa long strips of sunlight alternate with runners of shadow pointing out from each bush, and we look forward to the hours of evening, the sunless shadows of the dusk. Loveliest of all shadows are those of the twilight tinted with pinks and gold of sunset. This is the hour when the wind dies down and every tree and bush is motionless and their shadows look like bottomless pits when the sun fades away and night is just behind the western hills. Then we sit in the deep, deep shade of our porches and patios and become shadows ourselves, reveling in the quiet darkness when all the sweet smells of the summer night rise up to bless us.

Mexicans Visit

Of these infants, five have been dedicated to the church. He said some are unwed mothers, but many are mothers of large families. One woman came to bear her 13th child. Senora Maria Meza, is an active force in the group. She leads a Mother's Club which meets once each week, during which time she talks to the women about health and child welfare, advising them not to have large families when they cannot properly care for them. Medicines prescribed by the hospital's two resident doctors are given free to the patients. These medicines are donated by San Diego pharmacies. Sr. Meza said that other Tijuana and San Diego area doctors help at the hospital.

The school begins with kindergarten and goes through the fourth grade. They have only five teachers for the 250 children. There are 66 pupils in the first grade. Senor Isaac Tochijera Sonchajez is pastor of the church and his wife Eloina P. Tochijera teaches kindergarten. Sr. Tochijera, who has a fine baritone voice, sang two solos for the Alpine Church Sunday morning. The children sang two groups of songs, all in their native language and showing very good training.

Saturday evening the Mexicans were guests of the church members at a pot-luck supper in Fuller Hall which overflowed with the crowd. After the meal the crowd adjourned to the patio at Jane Dunn Hall where the Mexican guests entertained with native songs and dances. The border folk spent the night in several Alpine homes as guests of church members.

Casa de Todos extends a cordial invitation to all to visit them, and they welcome any help we can give. This dedicated group relies entirely upon donations for support. At present they are aided substantially by Protestant churches from the San Diego area.

Water Report

Mr. Houser commented on the fact that there have been no failures in any of the lines or of the other water facilities since the system was accepted from the contractor after minor adjustments had been made which indicates the quality of work that was maintained in installing the system. He stated that the only disturbance of service was when it became necessary in a few localities to temporarily cut off the supply during the installations of meters or other equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon K. Rood have been enjoying a visit from their son, Dr. R. L. Shapard, his wife and son Paul, from Auburn, Washington. The Shapards spent about a week in Alpine, before starting on the drive back north.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schiek have just returned from a vacation trip North where they visited Mr. Schiek's daughter and seven grandchildren in Fallon, Nevada, thence on to Portland, Oregon, where they visited his brother and sister-in-law. Mrs. Schiek was especially impressed with the Oregon city's show place, the Grotto, an area of several acres of trees, roses, and other flowers within the city limits.

Mrs. Schiek is expecting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Shallenbarger from Tulsa, Oklahoma for a week's visit beginning this week.

The Scripteasers met at the home of Bea La Force Saturday night where they read a new three act play by Los Angeles writer Bernard Zavidowsky, and San Diego writer John Berganti. Several actors to appear in La Jolla Playhouse next attraction were present including John Ellsworth, Jack Aaronson, and Jerry Young.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Trail of Alpine Terrace have been on a wonderful nine-day trip to Ajo, Arizona where they visited their good friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rains, nee Jean Kern.

Although the weather was a little on the warmish side, the Trails enjoyed their out-of-town vacation.

Mrs. Lenore Lusk, Mrs. Ed Orhom and Mrs. Elizabeth West enjoyed an evening in San Diego last week when they drove in to have dinner at Manuel's Mexican restaurant in Old Town and then on to a program of Mexican songs and dances at the Fremont School. This was a benefit for the Historical Foundation in Old Town.

CAMPO

By FAY FARRIS

George Capatanos, Superintendent of Mountain Empire Unified School District since 1956, has resigned, and will be principal of a Junior High School in Corona Unified School District in Riverside County next school term. Mr. Capatanos has lived in Campo since 1948, and until he became Superintendent in 1956 he was a teacher and principal at the Mt. Empire High School.

Judy Rolland of Buckman Springs Road, Campo, played several piano numbers at a recital in the Lounge at the House of Hospitality, Balboa Park in San Diego. She received praise for her playing. The recital was presented by students of Mr. George Lee of San Diego. Judy graduated from Mt. Empire High School last month, and expects to go to college this Fall to continue her music studies.

Marie Lindemann of Morena Village spent a few days in the El Cajon Hospital last week, and had to spend about a week in bed after she came home on Thursday. She had a stomach upset and is on a strict diet.

Announcement is made of the arrival of another girl to Raymond and Betty Rinks Conde on Saturday, June 22. She weighed 6 1/2 pounds.

Charles Clark is on leave from the U. S. Army, and is visiting his parents Fayette and Freda Clark of Buckman Springs Road, Campo.

Helen Pate of West Highway 94, Campo, hosted for the Altar Society of the Campo Catholic Church on Monday of last week. Fourteen were present, and cards were played. This was a fund raising affair.

The Homemakers enjoyed a patio pot-luck luncheon and meeting at the home of Peggy Fisher on Thursday of last week. Twenty members and guests attended. The next meeting will be at the Pine Valley Park, when everyone will bring his own sack lunch. This will be July 11th.

Francis H. Cymans and family of Rancho del Campo are on a five-week trip to New York to visit his father who is in poor health. They left June 20. Bobby, Buddy and Roy Brown, Jr., of Morena Village are visiting their married sister in Brigham City, Utah, for the summer. Ralph McGuffie is home from the Army and is again operating the Service Station at Cameron Corners. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kemp and son Tommy are vacationing at their favorite spot in Mexico for two weeks. Betty LeMaire, Marguerite Ison and Earl Sutton, Campo teachers, are attending summer classes at San Diego State College.

Mt. Empire High School swimming pool was officially opened on June 16. The fees for swimming are 20c a day or $1.00 for a season ticket for children—50c or open Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday 12:00 noon to 6:00 p.m.—Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., and 6:00 to 8:00 p.m.—closed on Mondays.

The engagement of Melvin Angel and Alicia Garcia of Campo was recently announced. Melvin works with the Campo Forestry Service, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Okey. The wedding date has not been set.

DEERHORN VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eaton have their four grandchildren—Jeanette, Danny, Lucky, and Sheryl—spending a few weeks with them. Incidentally, the front door of their newly-built home is famous, having been featured in the pictorial "Home" section of the San Diego Union several Sundays ago.

Our entire community joins in wishing our "oldest-timer," Charlie Bratton, the very happiest of birthdays with many more to come. Charlie marked his 81st year last Friday. He is the owner, together with his sister, Rose Schiller of San Diego, of Bratton Valley Ranch, where he has spent his entire life. He's a familiar figure, afoot or horseback, waving to friends and strangers alike. Rose Schiller, and her daughter, Hazel, can be seen almost any day, feeding the chickens as well as the other animals at the San Diego Zoo.

Peter and Barbara Shopp are sampling the joys (and perhaps some of the problems) of their recently acquired status in the ranks of parenthood with their first-born, Peter Shopp, Jr., who weighed into this world at 7 lbs. 4 oz. Peter (senior, that is!), is the son of Otto and Marila Becker.

Mrs. Delta Hewitt is back at her cabin here in the Valley for the summer season (and longer, if possible).

Jim and Carolyn Carmody paid a surprise visit to Deerhorn last Friday and were in turn surprised by the changes and improvements in our community since they lived in the present "Crow-Valley Ranch." Their parents, Dewey and Jewel, are still up in Bend, Oregon, and doing very well with their boat Marina. We're all very sorry to hear that Jack Redmon is still suffering from complications caused by recent major surgery. On doctor's orders, he and May will be spending the greater part of the next three months at the Salton Sea spa to permit the healing effects of the mineral waters there to improve Jack's condition. We all wish you a speedy and permanent recovery.

Juvenile or perhaps adult delinquents shot up all the water drums and plant containers on Herb Evans and Annie Erickson's places up on Monte Robles Acres. On an adjoining parcel of land, a trailer was broken into, and a camera and other valuables taken. Let's all work together to halt this type of vandalism.

Did you know that Alfred Drive (the main access road through Hidden Valley Ranch) was named after Mr. Alfred Krause, the late husband of Marta Krause of Deerhorn Valley Ranch. He's fondly remembered as a friend and neighbor for over 30 years in our community.

We'd like to see all the familiar fances on the "Hill" here Monday, so don't become a traffic statistic over the Fourth.

DEHESA

By KATHRYN HEINZ

Latest victim of the Dehesa Valley gasoline thieves was Walter Thmpson of Harbison Canyon Road. Their timing was a little bad and Tommy is the new owner of a two and a half gallon can and a syphon hose. The get away vehicle was a bicycle belonging to Johnny Heinz who was visiting at the Thompsens. The bicycle was later recovered in a roadside ditch by Leroy Potter. Last week a two-gallon can and a syphon hose was left beside a truck parked at the John Heinz residence when the thieves were interrupted in their gasoline foray. Several residents were not as fortunate and lost tanks of gasoline.

Mr. Earle Baker of Wilson Road suffered minor injuries in an accident at the Dehesa school corner June 22. Extensive damage to his vehicle. This particular corner takes a heavy traffic toll each year and proceedings have been initiated to eliminate this hazardous corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McElrath of Sacramento, California spent last weekend at the Wayne Brown home. Davida Gale and John McElrath are spending the summer months with the Browns and will be joined in July by their sister, Sheri Lea who is visiting in Canada.

Carl Creleman of Dehesa Road had plastic surgery performed on his ear last week. Doctors have been forming a new ear to replace the one lost in an automobile accident in April of 1962.

David and Stephen Brown, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brown are entered in Cooking and Electric 4-H competition at the San Diego County Fair being held at Del Mar.

Carl Creelman of Dehesa Road has entered a hand-knitted sweater, smocked pillow and a nightgown in 4-H competition at the San Diego County Fair.

Stephen Hasbrouck, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hasbrouck of Dehesa Road, has been awarded a half tuition academic scholarship to Pepperdine College in Los Angeles. Stephen is a June graduate of El Cajon Valley High School.

Johnny Heinz attended the opening day of the Fair at Del Mar

Friday with George Budurin.

Mrs. James Creelman of Dehesa Road is on vacation this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson attended the Fair at Del Mar Friday.

Mr. George Budurin of Dehesa Road, now serving as Junior Board member of the San Diego County Fair announced the new Youth Building at the Fair grounds has a total of 295 entries. George is one of 15 Junior Fair Board members that have been busy the past six months assigning areas in the new building to youth groups for demonstrations and displays of the past year's work.

Wilma Thompson of Harbison Canyon Road celebrated her birthday Saturday, June 29.

Miss Judy Howell attended the Fair at Del Mar Friday.

Dulzura - Barrett Junction

By OLIVE WOOLDRIDGE

The Dulzura Home Club won a second prize in the Home Management departmen at the County Fair at Del Mar. Their display was a patio featuring patio furniture made by Mary Fouquette, a lazy susan and flower pots made by the ladies from Purex plastic bottles. A unique touch was the use of dog burgers on the barbeque grill.

A number of Dulzura residents are enjoying the dances given by the Mountain Star Twirlers held at the Deerhorn Valley Lodge each Saturday evening. This square dance club was started about a year and a half ago by Ed Leonard, Jennie Walker, and Manuel, Louella Reed and Chuck, and Irene Board and Hazel and Keith are among the regulars at the dances.

Lee Cantwell has sold the Country Store to John Lewis. The Cantwells will move into their new home in Campo by July 10. The Cantwells opened their store when they came to Dulzura in 1959.

Don and I are taking the children on a camping trip tris week. We plan to go to the Colorado River to try our luck at some fishing. Hope it's not too hot.

HARBISON

By BETTYE CARPENTER

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wallace and family of Silverbrook Drive have had Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wallace of St. Petersburg, Florida, as houseguests. They arrived June 23rd and then on the 28th, Bill's sister, Mrs. George Lazar, arrived with her husband and family from Youngstown, Ohio, to spend a few days in the Wallace home. A trip to Mexico, Disneyland, and the San Diego Zoo were planned for the visitors' enjoyment. Bill's sister had never visited San Diego before and it has been five years since the elder Wallaces have visited Bill and Jean. As always, though, good things must end and on Tuesday the visitors were on their way to northern California and then to their respective homes.

Henry Wharff had a pleasant surprise recently when his daughter whom he had not seen in 12 years arrived from Los Angeles with her new husband, Mr. Jerry Hickman, to visit a few days before leaving for Japan. Mr. Hickman is a commercial deep sea diver and he and his bride will live on a Chinese junk while he is in business overseas. Telling of someone going off on this sort of adventure sure doesn't calm my springtime wanderlust.

The Scout mothers have been working on plans to have some sort of fund raising gimmick at each of their regular meetings which should help create interest and also fatten their piggy bank. A recent plant sale was quite successful and on Tuesday night a white elephant sale was featured. Anything you can do to help these busy mothers achieve their goal will be greatly appreciated by them and the young boys who will benefit by their efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Camacho are looking forward this week to the arrival of John's nephew, Fred Camacho, from Guam. He plans to make his home with the Camacho family and attend high school here next semester.

Jackie Hettinger wasn't home from their fishing trip to Mexico for more than a couple of days before he left to spend a week in Imperial with his pal, Goober Ross. Adding to the excitement of this second vacation was the flight over to the valley with Mr. Ross piloting the plane.

Sheryl Carpenter Gibson, now of San Luis Obispo, is visiting this week in the canyon and Alpine. She has a list of school chums and friends she wants to visit here and it will take some doing to get around to them all in one short week. Her husband, Don, will arrive Friday evening to spend the holiday weekend and they will return home Sunday night. Sister, Lynne Crissman, will arrive Friday evening also and Kenneth is expected home from the mountains for a few days so this will be sort of a family reunion for the Carpenters.

Newcomers to the canyon are Mr. and Mrs. Basil Malone with their two small children who reside in the McClure home. Their oldest child will attend Harbison Canyon School next year. Mr. Malone serves with the U. S. Navy.

George and Bea Walsh plan to motor up the coast over the holiday weekend and just enjoy the scenery. This lovely weather should add to the pleasure of their short trip.

Gary Decker has taken a summer job in the Engineering Department of the City of El Cajon. He plans to resume his studies at State College in the fall.

Welcome home to Capt. and Mrs. William New who are occupying their home on Hudson Lane in the canyon once again. They have

HORSES! HORSES! HORSES!

By MARGARET LOWTHIAN

Three local men, Al Adams, Paul Boardman and Pete Viviano, are considering making application to join the Sheriff's Mounted Rangers.

The Mounted Rangers consists of two groups. One is the Search and Rescue group which participates in

Schrade Reports

The tumult of our 1963 session is over. It is still too early, however, to appraise the full results of our labors. The bill-signing period has another month to go, and not until we know the fate of every bill will the full record be complete.

Under the law the Governor has until July 26 to sign any bills passed by both houses and submitted to him. Any not signed by that date are pocket-vetoed, and automatically dead. The last day for filing a referendum petition against any measure with the Secretary of State is September 19th. Unless specified in a particular bill, every one signed, and not subjected to a referendum, goes into effect September 20th.

So far the Governor has signed more than 1,000 bills, and has vetoed very few. Another 1,500 or so are before him for action within the legal time limit. If past history may be taken as a guide, the record at our recent session will be about average. Slightly more than half the bills introduced passed both houses, and most of them can be expected to become law.

As usual, most of us have returned to our districts and our regular pursuits with mixed feelings. A considerable sensation of relief at the end of the terrific pressure of the closing weeks, some regret because of the interruption of companionships, and some because of the drop-off of excitement, are typical. But all of us have bills before the Governor, so we can't really relax until we learn the outcome on them.

We know, too, that we will quickly be caught up in the rounds of interim committee activity. The Senate fact-finding committees and the Assembly interim groups will promptly begin planning their heavy schedules of hearings in various parts of the state. As I have written in this column before, these hearings will develop the facts and recommendations which will shape much of the legislation to come before the 1965 Legislature. They are an important means of bringing the law-making process closer to the public, so that more people may directly voice their needs and their opinions.

Though the final tabulations will not be available for a few days yet, it is already obvious that the work-load on the interim committees will be heavier than ever before. The Senate groups have been assigned a couple of hundred bills to study, plus many investigations ordered by resolutions. Those of the Assembly have before them about five hundred bills, together with more than one hundred resolutions which will call for studies of particular subjects.

The range of matters to be reviewed covers the whole gamut of legislative activity. From agriculture through marriage counseling to youth conservation the topics sweep, and from social welfare through licensing of professions back to fish and game. Every Californian will be affected by at least one of the subjects to be studied.

Some of the problems up for interim action are technical in nature, will arouse little controversy, and so will require detailed examination of facts rather than compromise of issues. Others will be highly argumentative, and will arouse hot debate. One kind or the other, our interim committees will be busy for months to come.

searches in the back country throughout the County for lost persons, etc. The other group is called Civic Representation and is composed of men who for one reason or another cannot help in the rough country riding. This group takes part in parades and other civic activities as a mounted troop.

Al, Paul and Pete are primarily interested in the Search and Rescue operations. There are a number of qualifications necessary for acceptance to this group. Primarily, you must be able to take care of yourself and your horse in rough country riding, have your own horse and trailer, and be reasonably available when needed.

Pete Dalzell, formerly of Alpine, has been one of the Sheriff's Deputies to help with the training of Rangers. Barney Barnett is a member from Descanso. Lt. Clements is in charge of the Sheriff's Mounted Rangers, and anyone interested in making application should contact him at the County Sheriff's department in San Diego for information.

Rich Zuelke and the boys are enjoying their new mare. She is a lovely dark bay half-Arabian that they acquired recently from the Nyle Nations.

Kathy Casey is very happy with her young gelding. She is already riding him a little although he is not quite two, and she feels he is going to be even better than Dawn. Kathy hopes to be able to take Dawn to Frank Evans this summer for some brush up training.

Mr. Mack has sold his nice riding horse, Mr. Blue. It seems that G. W. Sider of National City, a horse shoer who used to come to Alpine regularly, stopped by to visit Mr. Mack, and bought Blue. Mr. and Mrs. Mack are planning a short vacation soon, so decided to get along without a horse for awhile. He never lacks for a horse to ride as he is helping a lot of local folks train their young horses.

Billie Gault is one person who is happy to have Mr. Mack helping him. Billie's new Quarter mare, Poppy, has been giving him a hard time. Every once in awhile she bucked Billie off. Mr. Mack snubbed Poppy to Mr. Blue and Billie and Mr. Mack worked her out in McCall's ring. Now they are getting along fine.

RULES FOR BIKE RIDERS

The traditional summer upsurge in bicycle usage brought a reminder for youngsters from California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden this week.

"Remember that a bicycle is a vehicle, and is subject to applicable vehicle laws. Bicycle riders must use the proper hand signals when turning, they must obey all traffic control signs and signals, and they must ride on the right-hand side of the road.

"The latter provision is one of the most frequently violated requirements," the commissioner pointed out.

"For night-time riding, bikes must be equipped with a white light in the front, visible at least 300 feet, and a red reflector or red light on the rear, also visible 300 feet."

The commissioner also cautioned motorists to be particularly watchful for youthful bike riders.

"With school out, bicycle riders may appear at unusual times and at locations where you ordinarily would not expect to see them."

ALPINE GARDENER

The seasons—as much as we enjoy each minute of them keep rolling along and each day brings some surprise such as a choice flower cropping up in an unexpected place, or the seed pods of another suggesting a new addition to use in that dried bouquet we are trying to collect. Love-in-a-mist is the new one I came across the other day, the pods of which look something like poppy seed pods.

The static flowers are at their best now and should be picked and hung heads down from a line in a dark place until they are thoroughly dry, as should acrodinium (straw daisy-like flowers), which come in different colors. Colasia (crested cockscomb) is another showy subject for the dried collection. Queen-ann's lace after it has gone to seed would give an airy dainty quality to the dried bouquet.

It may be a little early for some of these flowers to be picked but keep watching them. The time to gather the flowers for this purpose is when they first come into bloom. To accompany any of these flowers for future bouquets, you can often see some fairy-like grasses and weeds with unusual pods, etc. The old pest dock can be used to give accent, it being dark brown.

Wild buckwheat and pearly everlasting and no doubt you will find other things. Choose your own combination and I'm sure you will derive pleasure and satisfaction from your efforts. Good hunting.

COKE'S KITCHEN

Our nice warm weather has finally arrived. Thought you might enjoy two truly delicious and coolish type salad recipes this week. If you have children and desire to disguise vegetables in any shape or form, this first recipe which hails from Ramona is very tasty and nutritious. Our second recipe comes from friends up the Coast. Don't let the ingredients scare you—we agree it is a rather unusual mixture but you won't be disappointed in the outcome.

CARROT FRUIT SALAD

1 cup boiling water
1 package orange jello
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup orange juice
1½ cup grated raw carrots
½ cup orange sections
¼ teaspoon salt

Pour boiling water over jello, stir until jello is dissolved. Add lemon juice and orange juice and chill until mixture begins to get thick. Fold in the carrots and orange sections, salt. Chill until firm.

LEMON-LIME SALAD

1 package lemon jello
1 package lime jello
Dissolve in two cups boiling water—let set until firm—then add

2 large stalks celery (diced)
1 cup cottage cheese
1 small can crushed pineapple
1 cup walnuts
1 can evaporated milk (large)
1 cup mayonnaise
1 tsp. horseradish

Beat by hand. Add ingredients to jello—sets at once.

VANISHING LANDMARKS

travelers stopped at the house for a drink of water for themselves and horses, and for a chat with one of the Galloways. Their house was a well-known landmark for miles around.

When Neil brought the family to Alpine, they were four; his widowed mother, a younger brother, Frank, and sister Clarissa. They lived in the redwood house until 1926 when it was torn down and a new one built along with a gasoline station on the southwest corner across from the original home. Here the family lived for another ten years or so. Frank married and left. The mother died.

In 1937 Neil moved a stout granary, no longer in use as such, from the field on the south side of the road to the present, and original site, built an addition on the back of it, and fixed it up as a dwelling.

In 1938 he sold some acreage, with the gas station and house beside it, to Reginald Small who moved there with his family while Neil and Clarissa moved to the white house in the picture, back of their first homesite.

For nearly 25 years Neil and Clarissa lived in the white house behind its cluster of trees, lilac bushes and roses, and backed by the finest garden plot in the community. Many people, some of them notable in the field of agricultural research, knew Neil Galloway as an expert on soil and grasses, and his home continued to be a landmark. Neil died January 21, 1963. His sister had gone into a rest home some weeks before where she now remains.

Now deserted, standing silent in its shadows, the fate of the old house is undecided. Will it ever be lived in again? Will others till the good soil which lays 'round it? No one can say yet. But Galloway valley is a place now, a name on the map, because one man and his family chose to make it a life-time home.

been traveling this past year and spring and say it's good to be back home. They visited relatives on the East Coast and in March they visited the cities of Mazatlan, Guadalajara and Guaymas in Mexico. JAMUL

By BOBBI GILBERT

Editor's Note: Mrs. Bobbi Gilbert was unable to write her column this week. She is spending every day at the County Fair at Del Mar where her sons, Gary and Terry are exhibiting their Black Angus cattle. Gary won a fourth place in Showmanship at this writing.

PINE VALLEY

By AMY N. HARVEY

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tyson are spending part of the summer at their lovely rock home on Oak Lane. Their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Hess and family are visiting them for two or three weeks from Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Hess spent her girlhood days in our lovely valley. The Tysons have rented a horse from the Pine Valley Stables and are keeping it at their corral so that their grandchildren can have the thrill of riding it at their leisure.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodbury spent three wonderful days at Disneyland and report the very latest in super-thrills is the Tiki Room where more than 200 exotic birds, flowers and tropical tikis are brought to animated life through audio-animatronics. Even the flowers sing. They were fortunate enough to have a sneak preview before it was open to the general public. Sharing those three fun-packed days were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hendreks from El Centro. Mr. Woodbury recently returned from a 10 weeks' trip to Central America. While there, he visited Mr. Lee Cresmer a former coach at the Mt. Empire School who is now the New York insecticide representative for El Salvador with headquarters in San Salvador. Harry spoke to the Southeast San Diego Club two weeks ago and will be the guest speaker on July 11 at the East San Diego Kiwanis Club. His topic will concern the highlights of his trip to Central America.

John Cresbrecht and Lee Gilbert must be playing hide and seek. This week it is John's turn to be layed low with the mumps. We are glad to be able to report it seems ot be only a light case.

The Tom Murphys are now living at the Park Manor Hotel in San Diego. Their home in Pine Valley was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Standard. More about our new neighbors in a later edition.

Virginia Walker and her daughter, Brooke had a "crushing" good time at the County Fair last Saturday along with Rita Brown. They did it the less wearing way by staying overnight at the Ocean Villa.

Mario Trenti and his lovely wife were hosts at a real old-fashioned barbecue a week ago Sunday. About 50 guests, mostly co-workers of Mario's enjoyed the tasty and juicy beef that was slowly barbecued underground for 12 hours. Along with all the other goodies that literally made the table groan under the weight.

Teenage Party Wednesday Eve

Many parents in the Alpine area have asked the owners of Shady Rock Picnic area to do something extra special for the teenagers in the area. To facilitate these requests, Mr. and Mrs. Don Collard have established Wednesday evening for teenage parties. All teenagers from all over the County are invited to attend.

Shady Rock Picnic area will furnish the record player and records in addition to the use of the pool and will charge the nominal fee of 50c per person to cover various expenses. A billiard table is expected soon so the teenagers will have in addition to ping-pong, dancing and swimming the fun game of billiards.

The party begins at 7:00 p.m. It is well chaperoned by three or four personnel from the Picnic Area in addition to various parents who come to swim and just relax. The snackbar will remain open.

A good turnout is expected in order to have future parties successful.

HC Scouts Sell Over 100 Flags

Five Scouts in Harbison Canyon did a most outstanding job this past week selling American flags to residents of the canyon. The boys are Mike McCoy, Fred and Bob Wagner, Mike Dessert and Danny Stultz.

In cooperation with the Fleet Reserve Association, members of the Harbison Canyon scout troops applied for the flags to be sold for display on July 4th. The Fleet Reserve issued two dozen flags as an ample number to cover so small a community.

However, due to the salesmanship of the boys, two dozen flags were sold in one hour. An additional five dozen were sold on Saturday, and another two dozen sold as of Tuesday evening.

On July 4th better than 50% of the Harbison Canyon residents will display their flags honorably due to the initiative of these loyal Americans.

School Board

8:00 p.m., on the second Monday of each month at the School Auditorium as it has been during the past year.

The Board also established the rate of pay of $20.00 per day for substitute teachers and established the rate for reimbursement for the use of privately owned automobiles used on school business to be 8c per mile traveled.

After the business meeting had been adjourned, Superintendent Clay called upon Mr. Mark W. Kerby, who is in charge of the summer school for the District, to explain to those present the program and curriculum adopted for this year's summer school.

Following Mr. Kerby's presentation of the summer school program, refreshments were served to Board members, the new Dist. Superintendent and to those who had been in attendance at the meeting by a committee of members of the Parents Union for Better Schools.
