Alpine School Enrollment Up

The total enrollment for the three Alpine schools has increased slightly since the opening day. A number of new students have enrolled, and some have transferred out of the area, to bring the present enrollment to 550 according to Supt. Paul Clay.

Mrs. Dora Fletcher has been hired to teach the third grade in the place of Miss Kilariski whose resignation was accepted at the last School Board meeting. Mrs. Fletcher lives in El Cajon. She is a graduate of the University of St. Thomas in the Philippines, and took graduate work at Texas Western and San Diego State. She has taught in El Paso.

On September 24, the Student Council will hold a reorganization meeting at which new student officers will be elected. Activities will be planned for the coming year at this meeting.

Alpine Woman's Club To Start New Season

The Alpine Woman's Club will hold its first meeting of this season on Tuesday, September 24.

The speaker at this first meeting will be Mrs. Rodney D. Talcott, Garden and Beautification Chairman for the California Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Mrs. Talcott lives in Glendora, but has been honored with the first life membership in the West Covina Woman's Club. She was garden chairman for two years in the Glendora Woman's Club, and for three and a half years with the San Gabriel Valley District club. Music was her profession and she has sung in concert, was a church soloist and organist for the Eastern Star. She is a past president of the biggest garden club, the Inter Counties Garden Club. This is her fourth year as State Garden Chairman. At the present time she is the district music chairman for the San Gabriel Valley District.

Mrs. Talcott has 27 grandchildren and has just become a great-grandmother.

Hostess for this meeting will be Mrs. Jean McCullough, and Mrs. H. W. Johnson, president of the Alpine club, will preside.

Kiwanians Guests At Tecate

On Saturday, September 14, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boronowski, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cerveny, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. Rennie Hollett of Alpine, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Douglas of Pine Valley represented the Alpine Kiwanis Club as guests of the City of Tecate to attend their annual fair and Independence Day Celebration.

It was a gala affair with highlights of the evening the crowning of the queen of the fair, Miss Yolanda Carrillo, who is a student at El Capitan High School. A fashion show followed which was an ultra extravaganza of Mexican costumes and the fascinating Mexican hat dance.

At the special invitation of Senor Ignacius Garcia Batista, head of the public relations department of Cerneceria Cuanhtemoc (beer brewery) all guests were invited to the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brownell of Tecate who were hosts to an open house where an abundance of food and beverages were served.

An added attraction was the introduction of the elected queen of National City accompanied by the mayor and vice-mayor of that city.

The local Kiwanians report a wonderful time, and consider this party a very nice gesture of good neighborliness on the part of the Tecate hosts.

Alpine Scouts Enjoy Campout

If you happened to pass the Youth Center at 5 last Friday evening and wondered at all the excitement, it was Boy Scout Troop 105 of Alpine with their leaders preparing for a trip to Fallbrook for their monthly campout.

The Scouts cooked out-of-doors, many of the boys earning their various merits while on the trip, setup their camp, swam, studied Scouting in general in their spare time and all in all reported a wonderful time.

Those Scouts making the trip were Robert Clinton, James Ingalls, Tim Kramer, Wayne Hayward, Steve Foster, Kenny Flinn, George Kochel, Douglas Payne, Forrest Kochel, Billy Sansoucie, George Brandt and their leaders, Scoutmaster Partridge, Assistant Scoutmaster Al Ogden, Jr. Scout Ray Partridge and Assistant William Sousoucie.

The Scouts have their weekly meeting at 7 at the Youth Center every Monday evening. Any boy interested in becoming a Scout is cordially invited to attend.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

Tuesday, this week, September 17, was Constitution Day, anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States, still universally regarded as the finest expression of a free people determined to govern themselves and protect their freedoms. The delegates to the Convention called to draft it, had met the preceeding May, 1787, and had deliberated in secret four months before agreeing on the final draft of the document. They must have had some brilliant discussions and arguments, during those four months, and one can imagine the strain that went into the drafting of this great work.

We tend to think of the Constitution as having always been kept, either in Philadelphia, where it was signed, or in the present capitol. But it has been moved five times. First, after signing, it was taken to New York City, then the seat of the government. Later, when Philadelphia became the capital, it was moved back there, then when Washington, D. C. was settled upon as the permanent capital, it was moved there.

On September 18, 1793, seven years after the signing of the Constitution, the corner stone of the new Capitol was laid by President Washington with Masonic ceremonies. Two bands, Virginia Artillery, and the Masonic lodges marched from the President's square to the site of the Capitol. No streets had been opened and when they came to a brook at the foot of Capitol Hill the paraders had to break ranks and cross the stream on a log. Washington, playing the dual roles of President and Mason, tapped the stone with a gavel, which is still preserved, and declared the stone properly laid. It contained a silver plate upon which was engraved the statement that the stone was laid in the 13th year of the new nation, in the first year of the second term of President Washington, and in the year 5793 of Masonry.

The building erected at this time was only a small part of the present Capitol, with neither the present Senate or House wings and without the dome. After it was burned by the British (war of 1812) it was rebuilt and another corner stone was laid by President Madison, on August 24, 1818. When it was enlarged in 1851, President Fillmore laid still a third corner stone on July 4 of that year and Daniel Webster made the dedicatory speech.

During the war that burned the first Capitol, the Constitution was taken to Virginia where it was safe, then returned later to the rebuilt Capitol. In 1921, President Harding had the Constitution moved from the State Department where it had been kept in a safe, to the Congressional Library where it is today. The Liberty Bell in the tower of Independence Hall was cracked while it tolled to announce

WEATHER BUREAU PREDICTS RAIN THROUGHOUT THURSDAY

A tropical storm, which was named Katherine, surprised the Weather Bureau by bringing in a rainfall starting last Monday night which measured 1.70 inches in The Echo rain gauge.

Due to the lack of weather recording stations to the Southwest of San Diego, the storm reached this area without any advance warning. The Weather Bureau had predicted clear weather.

Immediately following the tropical storm, a storm which had been forming in the North hit San Diego County on Wednesday afternoon and brought additional precipitation which measured 0.30 inches on the Echo gauge at 8 a.m. on Thursday.

The total for the two storms up to that hour was 2.10 inches. The Weather Bureau predicts that showers will continue throughout Thursday.

The Weather Bureau states that Katherine was the most severe tropical storm to reach Southern California since 1939 when 2.58 inches of rain was recorded at the Weather Bureau station in San Diego.

The tropical storm was the tail end of one of the storms which form in the Pacific off the coast

Alpine C of C Elects New Directors

The Alpine Chamber of Commerce held its annual membership meeting on Wednesday night and elected five members to the Board of Directors.

Those elected were: from the Southwest area, Tom Casey; from the Northwest area, Clyde Gilley, and directors at large, Auren Pierce, Jerry Funk and Ross Mallette.

Al Hinkle was instructed to repaint the Chamber of Commerce sign located near the chamber office on Highway 80 with wording that will advertise the Alpine area. The sign had previously been painted to advertise the Alpine Veijas Days Horse Show which was held on August 4 and 5 and sponsored by the chamber.

The membership instructed E. L. Freeland to investigate the report that telephone rates were to be increased in the Alpine area.

The members discussed the program of Christmas Decoration Contest which was sponsored last Christmas by the chamber, and agreed that such an event should be held this coming Christmas with possibly an additional feature of Christmas decorations to be erected in the business district by the chamber. The Board was instructed to appoint a committee to work on this project.

The membership also instructed the new Board to appoint a committee to make a review of the present By-Laws and submit a report and recommendations regarding changes or amendments to the Board.

The Board set Wednesday, October 2 as the date for the organization meeting for the new Board, at which meeting they will elect officers from the Board for the coming year. The next regular meeting of the Board will be on October 9.

Rio San Diego MWD Plans New Water Line

A contract has been prepared and signed by the Rio San Diego MWD for the installation of a water main to be installed from the intersection of West Victoria Drive and the Alpine school. This line will serve the school, the fire station and several residents and commercial establishments along Highway 80.

Mr. Edwin Houser, general manager for Rio, states that there is one easement to be settled before the work can begin, but he anticipates that this will be accomplished in the near future. The work will commence as soon as the easement has been acquired.

Mr. Houser states that there are now 675 meters installed and in operation in Improvement District No. 1 which includes Alpine, Harbison Canyon, Mountain Top and the Flinn Springs-Blossom Valley area. This is an increase of 40 meters since Mr. Houser's last report on June 30 of this year.

According to Mr. Houser, the average use of water per meter has increased since his last report from approximately 1000 cubic feet per meter per month to 1500 cubic feet per meter per month during the last two months.

There has been no storm damage to the water facilities during the last two storms. However, work on the installation of meters will be delayed for a few days on account of the rain and water conditions.

PTA Panel Discussion Huge Success

The panel discussion held at the regular meeting of the Alpine PTA last Tuesday evening was very successful with approximately 65 persons attending and taking an active part in the discussions.

The topic of the discussion was the new school handbook being compiled for the guidance and use of all school personnel, all students and their parents. According to Mrs. Mary Alice Griggs, president of the Alpine PTA, a very lively discussion period followed the panel discussion with the audience being divided into five groups, each of which discussed a different phase of school activity.

Many points were brought out for discussion by persons in the audience which will be studied and incorporated in the handbook, with another such meeting to be held at the regular meeting of the Alpine PTA on Tuesday, November 12.

Mrs. Griggs has announced her resignation as president of the Alpine PTA as she and her family are moving into a new home in

LOST LANDMARKS

The Kenilworth Inn, shown in this 1906 photograph, was a landmark in the community of Ramona for many years. This Inn was built by Milton Santee, a civil engineer who promoted the development of the region. He organized the Santa Maria Land and Water Company in 1886, and laid out the town of Ramona, which completely surrounded the original settlement called Nuevo.

Kenilworth Inn was built in 1888, and was taken over a few years later by Mrs. Kearney, under whom it became well-known for fine food and lodging. They used to have two forms of service, family style, in which guests sat with others at a big table, for a dozen or more persons, where everything was put on in big dishes and passed from person to person, farm style. Then there was the service which allowed guests to sit alone and be served privately. Those who remember the Inn, say it was much more fun to sit at the big tables and help themselves to the generous servings allowed by the heaped platters and brimming bowls of good food.

New Guests Move To 'The Alpine'

Mrs. Patricia Mitchell reports two new additions to her family in the lovely new Convalescent Center on the hill top. Mr. Edward Stevens, old-time Alpiner, who has been in El Cajon Valley Hospital, is now in residence at the Alpine. He will be 91 years old on October 2. Is doing fine, says Mrs. Mitchell.

From Bakersfield comes 94-year-old Mrs. Anna L. Bartgis, who made the trip by car and stood it very well. She is very able bodied, cheerful and bright, and enjoys a good game of canasta.

Mrs. Bertha Foss is still in the Alpine and is reported much improved.

Grossmont College Invites Public

The Grossmont College Orchestra, meeting Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 under the direction of James Glazebrook, is looking for more string and wind players.

Players need not be students, although a course can be taken for credit if desired. Those interested should attend the next Monday or Wednesday evening session in Room 701 on the campus at Monte Vista High School, Spring Valley.

Free Eye Clinics To Be Held

If you're over 40 you may be a victim of a serious eye disease without knowing it, according to Dr. George L. Tabor, M.D.

Tabor is president of the Ophthalmology Section of the San Diego County Medical Society which will offer a free test for the disease—glaucoma—on Sunday, Oct. 6 in six clinics throughout the county.

From two to four percent of all persons over 40 have glaucoma and, if not detected early, it may lead to blindness, Tabor said.

"The disease is insidious because it begins its attack on the vision without pain or discomfort to the victim," he said.

Tabor explained that glaucoma is caused by blockage of the flow of fluid from inside the eye, resulting in pressure against the optic nerve, and eventually blindness.

Glaucoma first affects side vision and this frequently is not noticed. Another symptom is the appearance of halos around lights, he said.

The test for glaucoma is simple and painless and requires only a minute or two, he said.

Tests will be given by ophthalmologists in six clinics on Oct. 6 from 10 a.m to 4 p.m. The closest to the Alpine area will be at the La Mesa Elementary School, 8100 Orange Ave., in La Mesa.

HORSES! HORSES! HORSES!

By MARGARET LOWTHIAN

Clayburn and Bea La Force have taught their "old horse new tricks." Bella, their 12-year-old mare, has been used all her life as a saddle horse, but a few weeks ago it was decided to teach her to pull one of Clayburn's old buggies from his large collection. At first Bella rebelled, but Bea reports that she is now doing a fine job. Bea would like to drive her to town some Sunday morning to go to church now that there is a nice hitching post on the Women's Club parking lot.

At a special meeting last week the Chamber of Commerce directors met with the Horse Show Committee and discussed plans for next year's Alpine Viejas Days Horse Show. The possibility of having classes open to Alpine children only was discussed at length. The lack of such classes seems to have been the only objection to the last show. In my opinion, such classes would be a very good thing, but if such classes are put into a show next year, I also think that the Alpine kids should be taught some "horse show manners." At the last show they rode their horses all over the show area, in the exercise area when contestants were working out for their next class, all over the area on the hill where spectators were sitting to watch the show, and in most everyone's way. If the Chamber works to have classes for the benefit of these kids, then the least the kids can do is to cooperate with the committee and not cause so much confusion.

A columnist of a horse column in a local paper seems to be taking a dim view of the recent ruling made by the San Diego County Professional Trainers Association about gymkhana classes. The ruling is that no show will get the approval of the trainers group if gymkhana classes are included. This ruling in no way stops a show from being held with gymkhana classes, but if it is it will not be eligible for points with the trainers association. One way that this ruling could be changed would be for the gymkhana people to join the State Gymkhana Association.

Merchants Set 'Open House' For Festival

La Jolla merchants, originators of the Fall Festival program, have set Tuesday, October 1, as "Merchants' Art Walk" according to the general chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Forester.

More than 30 local businessmen will open their doors between 6 and 9 p.m. for the presentation of art by San Diego County artists. The work will include all media.

According to Rene Gentry and Arnold Hjelm, co-chairmen of the event, "All participating stores will remain open for the sole purpose of displaying art. No store merchandise will be sold."

This year, two prominent jurors of international reknown, have agreed to select the purchase-award winning art. Prize money has been donated by the merchants. The work selected will become part of a growing, permanent collection.

Miss Anna Mahler, sculptress, will join Paul Rivas, painter and Los Angeles Gallery entrepreneur, to jury the Merchants' Art Walk. Miss Mahler is the daughter of composer-conductor Gustav Mahler.

Library Records Who's Who In Alpine

Mrs. Elizabeth West, librarian at the Alpine branch has a very interesting file of newspaper clippings of people who have been in the news and who reside in the Alpine or surrounding areas. It is alphabetized for easy use and will be kept up to date for use in the library.

The file is well worth a trip to the library to enjoy. By the way, why not take home a good book to read now that our weather has returned to normal?

LAW IN ACTION

TAXING TRADE

Our founding fathers feared that the separate states might erect trade barriers between each other. Seaboard states might tax imports and hurt inland states, or all states might tax trade passing through and thus slow down business.

So the U.S. Constitution curbs some kinds of state taxes. For example, "No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state (to another state). And, no preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of any state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another."

But states need money. People in interstate or foreign business should pay some of the state tax burden. How does this work out?

A recent case shows how: To escape state taxes, one Iowa firm contracted, sold, and delivered cement through salesmen who worked in Minnesota.

Could Iowa tax the income from these interstate sales?

Yes, said the U.S. Supreme Court, at least in part.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

California has one formula. Other states have others, for dividing the taxed income on interstate trade. The U.S. Supreme Court, as a rule, upholds these formulas if they are fair.

States can't put an unfair tax burden on interstate commerce since our policy from the beginning has been to let trade flow freely across state lines. Recently, Congress set some limits on state taxation of interstate business.

Thus, if you ship goods from one state to another, or to a foreign land, California can't tax these goods in transit now, even if they are delayed a bit enroute.

As a rule, the Supreme Court stops states from taxing people unless they have an opportunity to get some benefit or service from that state; just living or working in California with its services and protections at hand is enough to warrant an income tax.

In Interest Of Good Citizenship

The editor of a country weekly or smaller city daily newspaper is in a unique position in his community. He knows personally a large proportion of his subscribers and a subscriber can find him in his office and cross verbal swords with him.

A conscientious country editor is clothed with a heavy responsibility. He not only records the local news, social events and political happenings of his community, but he should discuss national and international issues which have a direct bearing on the lives and livelihood of his readers. This is often a discouraging and unappreciated job but if his paper is worth reading he has to accept the burden. He is in the position of a teacher. How well each translates his ideas to his audience determines his standing in his profession.

It is certainly true that the smaller paper must place emphasis on local happenings. But it is unfortunate for a community if an editor feels obliged to move entirely in that direction.

Local editors and school teachers are largely responsible for the thinking that will protect the United States from domestic and foreign influences that would destroy the freedom we enjoy.

Editor's Note: The above is an excerpt from an editorial which appeared in the East San Diego Press. The Editor of the Echo agrees with the thoughts expressed, and will state his opinion newswise and editorially of events that take place in the world which could have a direct influence on the residents of Alpine.

Did you know that, although California was admitted to the Union, on September 9, 1850, news of it did not reach the Pacific Coast until late in October? When the news finally arrived a big robust celebration was arranged in San Francisco on October 26. Jubilant crowds cheered and a military and civic parade marched through the streets of the city. Earnest Haskell, manager of the Adams Express Company, of San Francisco, ordered assembled, the first American Flag made on the Pacific Coast. It was composed of silk and satin scraps and carried in that first joyful Admission Day parade. Wonder whose rag bag the scraps came from and who sewed it?

of Southern Mexico and travel North, but very seldom reach California. The second storm was one formed in the North Pacific ocean and traveled South, and of the type of storm that normally brings rainfall to San Diego County during the winter months.

The Echo rain gauge is located at Willow Glen Farm on Alpine Heights road, and statistics from other rain gauges located around Alpine indicate that the rainfall is not always uniform throughout the Alpine area. Heavier precipitation has been recorded for these two storms by other residents near Alpine.

No storm damage has been reported to date in the Alpine community.

The Forest Service, which has been on an emergency alert on account of the extremely high temperatures which had prevailed for several days prior to the two storms, reports that the alert is no longer in effect and are hoping that high temperatures will not follow these storms to bring about a hazardous fire condition.

as their guests. The astronomers will talk star talk with you, too.

Howard McCalla, president of the Astronomy Associates, which has over 30 active members, says that right now is a very good time for seeing Jupiter and Saturn. It is also a fine time for what they call "deep sky seeing" which means viewing in the dark of the moon. At this time the astronomers will look for nebula and star clusters which cannot be seen except in a black sky.

The Astronomy Associates hold monthly meetings in the Aero Space Museum in Balboa Park at which lectures are given by leading scientists in the field of astronomy including men from Palomar Observatory, San Diego State College and elsewhere. The next meeting will be on September 27 at 8 p.m. and the public is invited as always.

Remember if you are interested in the stars come out to the school Saturday night and meet the Astronomers, weather permitting. Of course if we have another unexpected rain, the star party is off.

Dear Editor:

This is written at Poker Flats in Descanso, near the end of our vacation. About a month ago we were fortunate enough to see this summer rental advertisement in the San Diego paper. We were looking for a quiet little hide-away, not too far from Chula Vista, just to be able to relax for a few weeks. When Mrs. Sullivan showed us their little place, we fell in love with it, more so because we knew it would also be an ideal place for my wife's parents. All of us love tall trees, and this house is set back from the road and completely surrounded by them. Mother and Dad didn't believe our superlative descriptions of Descanso, but agreed to come up for a few days. They stayed with us the whole two weeks and we hope to be able to come again.

During this short time we met many very gracious people who comprise this area. Mrs. C. Howell, whose lovely home is directly above us, invited us over the first day we were here. The Postmistress and her aid were very helpful and happy to receive our General Delivery mail. Mrs. Rogers, her sisters Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. Lawrence, and Mr. Goodwin and Mr. Dunn, all parishioners at Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church, along with Father Prince, the pastor, also welcomed us warmly and extended invitations to visit them.

While here our activities included daily walks in the beautiful area and trips to Perkins' Market and the Post Office. This was just what we were looking for. Mr. C. Whitlock up the road at Paradise Lodge has two beautiful horses, Capri and Alsar, whom we habitually visited to pet every day. The Young Von Oort girls, between their chores of baby sitting and corral cleaning, always had a hearty greeting for us. A covey of quail, the blue jays, wrens and woodpeckers kept us amused every day of our stay, especially around dinner time which was always eaten on the front porch. On many of our nightly walks we heard the strains of Beethoven played on a piano. Two weeks of such a leisurely and peaceful life should be advocated for all who all year round are held tightly in the reins of business and club activities.

We wish again to thank Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and all their neighbors here in Descanso for a wonderful vacation among the mountains.

Very truly yours,

Raymond L. Burg
553 Second Avenue

Comment from the Capital —

RIGHTS FROM WRONGS

by Vant Neff

Mob violence, rioting in the streets and wide-spread defiance of law and order are no novelties, certainly, in today's topsy-turvy world. We almost accept them as routine in such places as the Far East, say, or Africa.

But now, suddenly, we're confronted with an ugly new rash of civil disorder that's disturbingly different. This time, it's not happening 10,000 miles away. It's happening right here. In our country—the good old U.S.A.

What we're talking about is the way things are going in the civil-rights crisis. The Negro, in his struggle for equality, has lost patience with the courts. Now he's taking his problems out into the streets and mob action is a dangerous substitute for peaceful appeal.

We're very much in sympathy with the Negro's cause. And so are most thoughtful people. But, we're terribly afraid that these new tactics might change much of this friendly support into resentment. And friendly support from the whites is something the Negro needs to achieve his goals.

It seems pretty obvious that the Negro has good reason to be dissatisfied. Simply because his skin happens to be black, he comes out a poor second in housing, jobs, and schools. And not just in the South, but all over the country.

Imagine for a few seconds that you are a Negro. If you're hungry, you'd better think twice about where you go for a sandwich. A lot of lunch counters won't serve you — no matter how many medals you won during the war.

Need a haircut? You run into trouble there, too.

And you can be sure that you'll get the same treatment from hotel desk clerks, employment agencies and transportation ticket salesmen.

The phrase "second-class citizen" isn't empty rhetoric. It's an accurate statement of what it's like to be a Negro.

Unquestionably, the Negro has a right to demand that these injustices be corrected.

After all, he's been kicked around ever since the Emancipation Proclamation, over a hundred years ago, and it's high time something was done about it promptly.

But there are right ways and wrong ways to fight racial discrimination. Contempt for law and order can lead only to new trouble — both for the Negro and the country.

Abuse of the right to picket is an example. When pickets block roadways and building entrances, they violate the rights of others to free passage. Moreover, they violate the law. Lawlessness breeds lawlessness, and the eventual result is violence and anarchy.

Responsible Negro leaders are aware of these dangers. Roy Wilkins, Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of

The statement has ominous implications. What it adds up to is this: "To get what you want, you're going to have to walk over other people. What really matters is your rights, not theirs. In other words, anything goes."

The viewpoint expressed is clearly irresponsible. But many Negroes feel that it's the only way. Their faith in the courts is fading. And they're tired of waiting.

Many white sympathizers aren't quite so sure. A recent poll among them shows that disenchantment has already set in. Typical comment was "Breaking the law is no way to win respect." Significantly enough, many of the ones who felt that way were the very ones who marched alongside Negro pickets and helped out the most.

Another development — and one that has many whites and Negroes out-and-out scared — is the growing strength of a lunatic fringe—the Black Muslim hate cult. What they preach is not Negro equality, but Negro dominance, and they're both anti-white and anti-Semitic. So far, they haven't been very active in the civil-rights struggle, but it's rumored that they're only waiting for the strategic moment. If they gain in numbers — watch out!

It's deplorable that peaceful and legitimate means have largely been abandoned. In the federal courts, for example, Negroes have won rights repeatedly. The growing power of the Negro vote offers other possibilities. And, persistent appeal to decency and fair-mindedness is undoubtedly still the best weapon of all.

Let's face the cold hard facts. There's no quick, easy solution. The problem is far too touchy and far too complicated.

And it's going to take a lot of patience, understanding and enlightenment on both sides.

But won't it be wonderful when every man can stand on his own two feet and face the world squarely, without being slapped down because of his race or color.

WHICH ONE WOULD WIN YOUR SUPPORT ?

Colored People, had this to say to a southern Negro audience: "We are not fighting white people. We are fighting for an idea ... the idea of freedom. You don't have to be discourteous, or rude, or militant, or even stubborn. When we have won the fight for freedom, we must be prepared to live with white people."

Other leaders, however, are less wise and more impatient. They want results — and right now! How? By "direct action." That includes mass sit-down demonstrations, a nation-wide campaign of civil disobedience, and even threats of violence.

One direct action advocate put it this way: "Until now the Negro has been discriminated against. The time has come for discrimination in favor of the Negro."

Judy Rolland of Buckman Springs Road took her first airplane ride on September 2, when she flew to Mankato, Minn. to attend Betheny Lutheran College. She is majoring in music. Judy graduated from Mt. Empire High School this year.

Mr. Empire Woman's Club enjoyed a delicious fried chicken luncheon and a card party at the home of Elizabeth Johnson in Descanso on Wednesday of last week. Co-hostesses were Helen Smyth and Flora Skonberg of Lake Morena. The luncheon was served in the lovely patio. There were many door prizes, 28 were present.

The Homemakers Club enjoyed another lovely sack luncheon and meeting in the Pine Valley Park on Thursday of last week, 18 were present. Plans were made for a bazaar, to be held in the near future.

Connie and Casey Jones of Potrero recently returned from a 10-day trip to Lodi, Calif.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Margaret Van Oort of Descanso to Terry Schmutz of Cameron Corners. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Oort. He is employed at the Archie Leach Ranch, where the young couple will live. The ceremony was performed at the Community Methodist Chapel of the Hills in Descanso on August 19. A reception was held in the church hall.

Mt. Empire Masonic Club held its first fall dinner and meeting at the Al Bahr Shrine Camp on Mt. Laguna on Friday evening of last week. The club furnished the meat dish, which was Swiss steak, and the rest of the dinner was pot-luck. A magician entertained the group after dinner. Guests of Hugh and Helen Smyth of Lake Morena were Williard and Leona Hafeman, Dell Nielsen, and Phoebe Thompson, 45 members and guests attended.

Fay Barrish of Lake Morena returned last week from her trip to Pennsylvania to be with her mother while she was seriously ill. Fay reports that her mother is alright now.

It is hard to believe that there was a cloudburst last Thursday between Laguna Junction and Buckman Springs Road of Highway 80. The rain drops were as big as dollars. Not a drop fell in Lake Morena.

DEERHORN VALLEY

By ROY WALLIN

Makes you feel kinda good to see the Stars and Stripes flying in front of Charley Bratton's ranch house every day. Charley said his neighbor, John Clark, made a present of them to him. As we pass Charley's on the way up or down the hill, the principles and ideals that flag represents might be worth a thought or two, as well as how each one of us can further embody these principles into our own personal life as well as our community's civic life.

A comment made by a "week-end" last Sunday might well be worth repeating. He said something to the effect that oft-times in small communities, an issue or problem was judged by its proponents or opponents rather than on the merits of the problem or issue itself.

Last Saturday afternoon, John Knapik passed an eagle lying on the side of the road about a mile from Highway 94 with its wing apparently hurt. It was reported to Bob Snyder, retired keeper at the San Diego Zoo and one of our local animal and bird experts, who immediately drove down to assist and cage the eagle preparatory to bringing it to the Zoo, but the bird was gone. Bob mentioned that the fine for killing an eagle was in the neighborhood of $500, so let's hope our eagle's recuperating at the zoo.

Shades of Mother Grundy. Who'd have believed we'd hear the tinkling, bell-like song of some enterprising Good Humor ice cream man echoing through our valley Saturday morning? The "little people" are all for it, and for us older folk, it's just another sign of civilization and progress invading our community.

Old Timer Corner. Do you know the origin of Honey Springs? Well, it seems that back in the late 1870s the present Honey Springs Ranch (not known by that name then, however), was owned by two partners, Mr. Dowling and Mr. Harbison. Mr. Harbison was a bee man and reputedly was one of the first to bring bees into the county. At this time there was a swamp, about a half acre in area in the draw just East of Barber's present ranch house, which was spring-fed. It was used as a water hole by many of the local cattlemen. When the cattle walked and stood in the swamp, it turned a honey color, possibly caused by the iron in the water or mud—so the local ranchers starting calling it the Honey Springs. Again, thanks to Charlie Bratton for recounting one of the memories of his youth to all of us.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson and family attended the Eagle Sports Prevue at Granite Hills High School Friday night.

Interesting reading for horse lovers: The first saddle proper, that is, one constructed on a framework to fit over the horse's back, as the modern saddles are made was devised by the Romans in the Fourth Century of the Christian era. The column dedicated to the Roman emperor Theodosius in Constantinople shows such a saddle, but it is stirrupless. It is obvious that a Roman rider had to mount at a vault or from a mounting block, or pole vault on the horse's back with his spear. Three centuries passed before anyone thought of adding stirrups.

Mrs. Luoiella Reid had lunch and a long visit with her sister, Mrs. Gladys Reid of Spring Valley.

The Dulzura Mother's Club had its first meeting since school began. During the meeting insurance for the school child and the date set for a rummage sale was discussed. There are also plans to sell tacos and dessert during the sale. The rummage sale is a good place to get together your Halloween costume. There will also be some furniture, drapes, and a few antiques.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Pittman of Barrett had their niece, Mrs. George Pinell and family of Burbank as guests, and treated them to a day at the zoo. Mr. Pittman has just come home from 11 days at the Naval Hospital.

Mrs. Dorothy Schmid of Dulzura was guest of honor at a San Diego County Cowbelle meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Jean Immenshuh's ranch, "The Ivanhoe." Mrs. Schmid's book "Pioneering in Dulzura" was the topic of conversation. It was a most interesting talk, for Mrs. Schmid told us all about the old families and their problems with agriculture which were very similar to ours today. Mrs. Immenshuh's grandfather built the house which Mrs. Schmid calls "home" today on the Clark Ranch. It's the kind of house that you would want to go through, with all its trees around the old two-story farm house. "That's what a ranch house should look like" you tell yourself. Mrs. Schmid passed her book around, and it was enjoyable to look at the pictures of the old pioneers, and some of the old familiar landmarks were quickly recognized. The introduction to the book was read, written with clear and vivid understanding of the times she remembered so well as a child. This most interesting and enjoyable book will be on sale soon.

The Dulzura Community Building was ringing with music last Saturday night as a western band that plays "for their own enjoyment" entertained the large group of people that turned out to hear them. A real good potluck was served.

Up until just a few minutes before the deadline for my copy it looked like there might be a note under the heading, No news—no column, but at the last minute a few shortie items came in so here goes. Alice Doering and Ruth Scott are home after spending a few days visiting with friends at one of the local beaches. At the moment with rain pouring down outside, the beach doesn't sound too inviting to me, but I knew the gals had a nice time.

Schrade Reports On Legislation

More than a quarter century has elapsed since our California unemployment insurance law went into full operation. The years have demonstrated its importance to the state's economy, but they have also revealed many perplexing problems which still demand study and solution. The interests of the millions of employees covered by the law, and of the hundreds of thousands of employers who pay taxes to support the system, must be well guarded if the act is to fulfill its purpose.

Once again there are signs of difficulty for the system on the horizon. For the first seven months of this year, unemployment benefit payments totaled $311 million, about $37 million more than taxes and interest paid by employers during the same time. At this rate, the total reserve of $591 million could melt quickly if there were even a minor recession. Conscious of this possibility, the Assembly passed a resolution calling for a detailed study of unemployment financing. The Finance and Insurance Committee will carry out the work.

Unemployment insurance has always been a stormy petrel, legislatively speaking. Practically every regular session since the statute first went on the books has had its flood of bills to change the benefits, the eligibility conditions, or the supporting tax structure. Such bills traditionally have aroused controversy. However, over the years the benefits have been increased until now the maximum regular weekly benefit of $55 is equaled by only one other state, and the higher weekly minimum of $25 which goes into effect this fall is the highest in the nation.

An extended benefit duration has also been provided, which goes into effect whenever the jobless rate goes over six percent of the labor force. When this happens, an extra 13 weeks of benefits are made available to eligible persons still unemployed.

Employers now pay the full cost of the program, though prior to 1946, employees paid a one percent tax toward cost of the benefits. This latter tax now goes entirely for disability insurance. California employers now pay at rates varying from 2.2 to 3.5 percent of payroll for the regular benefit program, and more for administration and extended benefits.

The Assembly resolution calls attention to the fact that these high rates of payroll taxation for unemployment insurance create problems for California employers who compete with those of other states. It cites the fact that present tests of eligibility for benefits may be unrealistic, inadequate and impractical, so that persons not really attached to the labor markets are receiving benefits. It directs the Department of Employment to make a detailed study of the work records and characteristics of benefit claimants, and to estimate the fiscal effects of changes in eligibility rules.

In the announcement of the Committee program for its investigation, it was indicated that questions to be reviewed would include 1) should employees pay part of the benefit costs; 2) should the state general fund absorb some of the costs; and 3) should employers be given special tax offsets if they provide retraining for displaced employees, or severance or early retirement pay for them. It was said that pressure work in regular sessions permits no time to give detailed attention to unemployment insurance, but that the interim study would enable thorough examination of its financing, "including the kind of unemployment the program is called upon to alleviate."

COKE'S KITCHEN

Have you ever had a neighbor or friend refuse to give you the secret of a good recipe? I had a neighbor years ago who made the most delicious cheesecake and everytime I inquired about the exact recipe she would say, "Sorry, I'll make you one but can't give you the recipe." After we had lived side by side for almost a year, at Christmas time, she presented our house with a beautiful cheesecake and at the bottom was her favorite recipe. With a chuckle she remarked, "You're a pretty good neighbor," and we still are friends even though miles apart.

Coke's Kitchen" whipped one up this past week and received many nice compliments. In case you don't happen to have this particular recipe for cheesecake, we are delighted to share it with you. The other cake recipe was brought from the East Coast recently:

CHEESE CAKE
 Cream 2 packages (8 oz.) cream cheese thoroughly, add 3 beaten eggs, 3/4 cup sugar, 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla, combine until creamy—pour into graham cracker crust, bake 325 to 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes. Allow to cool 5 minutes—pour topping and place in ice box. Topping consists of 1 carton of sour cream, 2 tablespoons of sugar and 1 tsp. vanilla. Chill 6 hours or less—keeps fine in refrigerator.

LEMON TEA CAKE
 One package of yellow cake mix
 1 package of lemon jello
 4 eggs
 3/4 cups water

Beat four minutes, add 3/4 cup oil, beat one minute. Greased 13x9 in. pan, bake 350 degrees, 30-35 minutes. While cake is still warm, poke holes in cake using fork and pour frosting on top. Frosting consists of rind of two lemons, juice of two lemons and 2 cups powdered sugar. This is an excellent cake for an afternoon tea. It is light and quite tasty.

Grossmont College Completion Date Set

Approval to advertise for bids for the construction of the new $7.5 million Grossmont College campus was granted by the Grossmont Junior College District Board of Trustees at the regular meeting held this week. Complete plans for the new campus, presently in the State Fire Marshall's Office, have already been approved by the California State Division of Architecture, according to Superintendent Harold G. Hughes.

"Receipt of the plans with final approval by all state regulatory agencies is expected within a week at which time bid advertising may be started," Hughes said.

A report presented by Richard George Wheeler, campus architect, indicated that building construction is expected to start by November 1, 1963, and that completion of the administration, fine arts, academic, and technology-science centers is scheduled for August 1, 1964; the physical education locker building and library for September 1, 1964, and the gymnasium and student center for October 1, 1964.

ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

Here where our rains are few and far between, succulents are the answer to many of our problems and especially if our yards are not level. There are succulent plants for every possible spot, ones four or five feet high for the background graduated down to very small ones for edging walkways.

The only catch with getting succulents is that you will never know when or where to stop, there are so many beautiful ones. The familiar mesembryanthem is the answer for those steep banks which are apt to wash and they come in so many colors and shades, also 80 to Mr. Taylor's place and he will have everything to supply your needs in the cactus and succulent line.

There are other plants to claim your attention now as well. Keep on spraying your roses, prune last year's berry bush canes, start setting out calla lily bulbs as well as other early blooming ones. Don't wait too long to set out all bulbs. There are snaps and stocks in the market and they should go in early too as well as other early flowering plants. Winter vegetables should go in now while the ground is warm to start them growing.

Andy and Sue Neumann recently acquired a new Pinto mare. She came from the Riverside area, is six years old, and a black and white. The 4H Clubs kids named her for the Neumanns—Sycuan War Bonnett. Sue says she is beautifully trained and ready for parade or show. War Bonnett makes the fourth horse for the Neumanns, the others being two Pinto mares and a bay gelding.

The first annual Pinto Horse Show to be held in this area will be held this coming Sunday, September 22, at the Flying Hills Ring in Fletcher Hills. Mr. Mack Clark will be the judge, and the show is being managed for the Pinto Horse Club Association of America, Southern California Chapter, by Curtis Lee. There will be halter classes for Pintos only, and the equitation and gymkhana classes will be open to horses of any breed.

Del Swoveland was the honored guest at a personal bridal shower recently where friends presented her with many lovely gifts. Mrs. Nancy Sawyer of La Cresta served as hostess in the home of Mrs. Esther May of the canyon.

More "Tommy and Del" wedding news. Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell, Del's parents, will entertain the wedding party with dinner at the Steak House in El Cajon after the wedding rehearsal on the 27th. John Camacho, an experienced Navy cook, will prepare the food for the wedding reception. All in all, it sounds like this will be a lovely wedding and something for this nice young couple to remember all their lives.

Timmy Wallace, 12, is once again recovering from a dislocated elbow which is now splinted. Seems he has a tricky socket and the least little thing can cause a dislocation. Hope he doesn't have more trouble with it as we know it must be quite painful and a real nuisance.

There will be a dedication of babies and a welcome to new members during the morning services at the Harbison Canyon Community Church next Sunday. Rev. French has announced that Wednesday evening Prayer Meetings will be resumed and will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. each Wednesday evening. An invitation is extended to all.

Ida Wise, two of her children, and her mother, have just returned from a one week vacation trip to Globe, Arizona, where they visited relatives. A side trip to the Grand Canyon was cancelled due to bad weather which made hazardous driving conditions. Understand the storms they ran into were really quite something.

Bob and Verna Farrankop and Don and Vonnice Moore went ocean fishing at DeAnza Cove over the weekend.

Cliff and Mike Sponsler, formerly of the canyon, were the last guests at the Rio Hardy river camp of Virginia Hettinger before school started. From the report I got, Cliff proved to be quite a fisherman.

PINE VALLEY

By AMY N. HARVEY

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Landvogt stopped at the Hobart House last week, guests of Mary Kerns. The Landvogts and Mary have been close friends for over 40 years and share lots of wonderful memories of past events. In a letter received since they reached home, they commented on the wonderful dinners that were served to them at the Hobart House.

Mrs. Ed Giesbrecht flew to Beaumont, Texas on the 14th to attend the 81st birthday of her mother, Mrs. L. L. Flowers on the 18th. Meeting her at the plane was her mother and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vanderzyl from Santee, California who drove to Beaumont to attend the affair after stopping along the way to visit with mutual friends. Before returning home Mrs. Geisbrecht will visit several of her brothers and sisters who are living in Texas.

Bill and Fern Clark have moved to San Diego, we will miss them both. Bill was the morning chef at the Hobart House, Fern was a reporter for the Mountain Empire News, also representative for Studio Girl cosmetics.

Those who missed the Improvements Club's cookout and dancing party last Saturday really missed a good time. The evening was warm and clear, perfect for the occasion. Over 75 members and friends gathered at the park at 6 o'clock for an old-fashioned cook-out which lasted until 8 p.m. That's when the music started at the pavilion and was continuous until 11 p.m. It was a happy crowd that listened and danced to the tape recordings of the Larence Welk's band and hits from the roaring

20s and even a few numbers for the square dancing folks, the caller for that particular dance was Ralph Mullins. The music was furnished by Mr. Charles Gonday who offered the use of his very elaborate and expensive equipment to the club for the affair. He has some of the finest tape recording equipment including tape recordings, loud speakers microphones, etc., I have ever seen aside from a professional. Mr. Harry Darsney helped him set up the equipment on the stage. Everyone is still talking about the wonderful time we had and all of us are hoping for similar undertakings throughout the year. Others who deserve credit for the success of the evening are Betty Hatter, Bob Kemp, Sam Jones who donated his services as park ranger to stay on duty until 11 p.m. Not forgetting the men and women who made the coffee, served refreshments and cooked the steaks.

David and Jeannie Peterson are the proud parents of a baby girl, Sherry Lynn who entered this world at the Grossmont Hospital weighing 7 pounds and 7 ounces on September 14. The equally proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles George and Mrs. Edna Maleski.
