POSTION MADE VACANT BY DEATH OF DIRECTOR PUMPHREY

The Board of Directors of the Rio San Diego Municipal Water District at their meeting last Tuesday night appointed Al Adams to the position of Secretary of the Board to fill the vacancy created by the death of Director Jonas Pumphrey. Mr. Adams is the Director on the Board who represents District No. 5 which includes the Alpine area. He was first appointed to the Board two years ago to take the place of Charles Price who resigned from the board to take the position of Manager of the District at the start of the installation of the water facilities that have been installed to serve Improvement District No. 1 which includes Alpine. Mr. Adams was later elected to the position for a four year term.

Mr. Adams has been a resident in the Alpine area since 1955 and is the owner of a turkey ranch on Alpine Heights Road which specializes in producing turkey eggs from pedigreed turkey stock and sold throughout the United States.

At the time of his appointment to the Rio Board, Mr. Adams was a Director and President of the Political Science Prof. Raps Schrade

Dr. Melvin Crain, Assistant Professor of Political Science at San Diego State, Member of the Democratic County Central Committee, Member of the El Cajon Valley Open Housing Committee, and a citizen of the Alpine area, answers Senator Schrade's recent criticism of Governor Brown and other officials in connection with the real estate initiative.

Dr. Crain states that he takes exception to Senator Schrade's slander of Governor Brown charging him with an attempt to set up a dictatorship. According to Dr. Crain this is patently ridiculous and unbecoming the people's repre-

'Lively Oaks' Form New Club

A group of approximately 18 senior citizens of the Alpine area met last Monday at the Youth Center and organized a new club. They chose the name "Lively Oaks" for the organization.

Mrs. Myrtle Hoffelder was named temporary Chairman, and Mrs. Ben Barber is temporary Secretary-Treasurer. An election for officers is planned for a meeting in February at which time charter memberships in the new club will be accepted.

The "Lively Oaks" will meet every Monday at 11:00 a.m. at the Youth Center. Everyone attending should plan to bring a sack lunch and coffee will be served. All types of indoor games are available, and will be from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30. Horse shoe courts and shuffleboard are available at the Youth Center for those interested.

All men and women over 50 years of age residing in the Alpine area are invited to attend the meetings and participate in the activities of this club. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Fred Rohr, 445-2634, or Mrs. Erna Earle, 445-3808.

School Board Adopts Policy Handbook

The Trustees of the Alpine Union School District at their monthly meeting last Monday night adopted the Policy Handbook which had been developed by a committee headed by Leo Ryan, principal of the Alpine Elementary School and composed of board members, administrative staff members and teachers during the past year.

The Handbook outlines the Dis-

Hulburt Grove Group Meets

The Hulburt Grove Improvement Association held their annual meeting last Saturday evening at the Descanso Elementary School. A number of the property owners were present.

The association elected officers and directors. Mr. Noel Loomis was reelected president for the ensuing year.

Mr. Plumley, administrative representative of Supervisor David Bird was present at the meeting.

The subject of the zoning of the Descanso area was brought up for discussion. It was pointed out that there is no county ordinance at the present time governing feed lots such as the one new being maintained in the Descanso area. Mr. Plumley advised the association that a petition could be presented to the Board of Supervisors asking for such an ordinance.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

In sorting some papers the other day I found a diary I kept rather faithfully for a time. Its scribbled lines turned back the calendar as nothing else could do. Here I find an entry dated, November 24, 1952. "I was supposed to go to San Diego today, but I simply could not leave the ranch. The day is so beautiful I must stay with it every moment. After the rain there's a washed and shining look to everything. The sky is clearer blue, the mountains stand out sharper against it, and the red berries thick on the holly bushes out on the mesa are at their most perfect now. Yesterday they were dull in the rain. Tomorrow the

ALPINE RABIES CLINIC BRINGS OUT LOCAL DOGS

The rabies clinic held at the Alpine School auditorium on Wednesday, January 8th, was sponsored jointly by the Alpine PTA and the Harbison PTA. Members of these organizations assisted in filling out the forms required and collecting the small fee for the inoculation.

Dr. A. K. Samter, veterinarian from El Cajon, together with his three assistants inoculated 187 dogs of all ages, sizes and description.

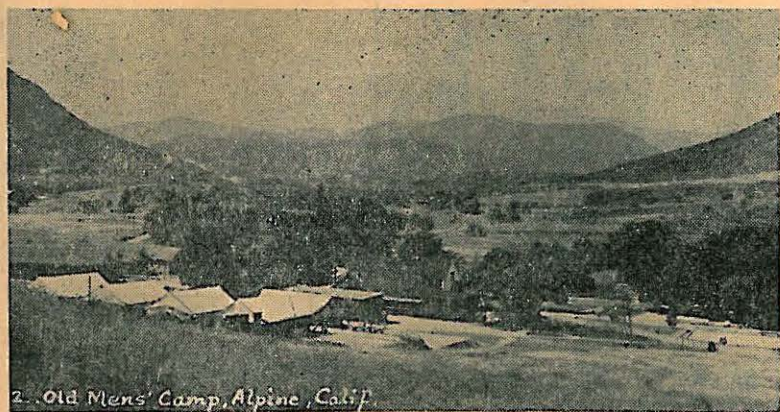

The clinic opened at 7 p.m., and by 6:30 a long line of owners with their dogs had formed standing in the cold. A surprisingly small number of arguments occurred among the dogs, who seemed to realize that they were lined up to see the "doctor." They were mostly on their very good behavior.

For the two and a half hours that the clinic was open there was almost no break in the lineup of

January Burning Rules Announced

Jack Blankenship, Alpine Fire Chief, has announced that open burning will be permitted throughout the month of January provided the regulations for such burning are followed. Instructions regarding clearances and other regulations were mailed to area residents last year which are still the governing rules. Be sure and notify the Fire Hall before you light any fires of any kind.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

WHAT PICTURE IS THIS?

A few people remember that this was OLD MEN'S CAMP, but no one has come up with the facts about this place. It is pictured here in the West edge of Galloway Valley. But who were the residents in this camp? How did it get started? When was it here? If you know this bit of local history, please write in and tell us, so that we may share the facts with Echo readers. Some called it the Wayfarer's Camp. But we want to know the answers to Who, What, When, and Why, since now all we know for certain is Where the camp was located.

Realtors Oppose Rumford Act

Some 1,000 California Real Estate Association directors, meeting January 11 at the El Cortez Hotel in San Diego, voted overwhelmingly to continue sponsorship of an initiative constitutional amendment aimed at nullifying the Rumford Housing Act and similar legislation.

The Rumford Act denies Californians the right to refuse to sell, lease or rent their property for reasons of race, creed, color, religion or national origin.

CREA has been one of the principal opponents of the Act on the grounds that it abridges the freedom of choice property owners have traditionally had.

JAMUL

By THERESA EGAN

The Jamul Community Club started the new year with a change of officers: Bill Brink, president; Jim Hatherill, vice president; Ella Parnell, secretary; Helen Van Norman, treasurer; Alice Evans, historian; members of the Board of Directors, Laurence Van Norman and Cliff Mangels.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Metivier, well-known winter residents of Jamul, arrived recently from their home in the East for a visit with daughter, Tracy Schreiber and family, in Chula Vista. Mrs. Metivier, in past weeks, had suffered two heart attacks but was sufficiently recovered to make the trip to Sunny California to recuperate more fully.

Mrs. Helen Van Norman recently received her license to sell insurance. She will be associated with husband, Laurence in the Van Norman Insurance Agency on Highway 94 in Jamul. Congratulations, Helen.

The Ladies' Guild of Pius X Catholic Church seated its new officers at a meeting Wednesday evening, Jan. 8. Evelyn Finnerty turned the gavel over to Lee Mobbs, new president. Other new officers are, Madelyn Colombo, vice president; Margaret Connors, secretary, and Connie Wache, treasurer. Highlight of the meeting was discussion of a potluck dinner to be held Saturday, Jan. 25, at 6:30, in the church hall, at which time plans for the second Annual Fiesta will get underway. All members of the parish are urged to attend the dinner. There is no admission.

Christmas was a quiet day for the Ben Matthews family on Lyons Valley Road. Ben, or Mattie, as he's also known to neighbors and friends, was one of those affected by the closing of San Diego's Naval Shipyard. Two days after Christmas, however, he was offered, and accepted a position at Port Hueneme, to begin Jan. 13. In his 23 years with the San Diego Naval Shipyard he attended numerous schools, his business trips included a week in Japan in March, 1962, and on earlier one to Hawaii. The Matthews intend to sell their larger home, built little over a year ago. Home will be their smaller place next door until June, and until then Matthews will

HORSES! HORSES! HORSES!

By MARGARET LOWTHIAN

The picture of the horses in pasture was sent in by Olive Woolbridge with the note that she did not know any particular story for the photo, but that she felt it was such a nice picture of grazing horses that I might like to use it for Horses. I, too, think it is a lovely picture, and the story is that these are thoroughbreds grazing on the farm in Germany which Olive recently visited. Wish we had such lush grazing here in Southern California.

At the horse show held in Lakeside last Sunday, Cynthia Irvine took a fourth in Horsemanship, and a ninth in Western Pleasure, riding her good horse Smokey. These were excellent placements for Cynthia and Smokey as these were very large classes. We hope that this is just the beginning for this pair in the horse shows this year.

At the same show, Frank Evans estimated that kids under his training accounted for 16 percent of the entries and went home with 50 percent of the ribbons. They won seven out of the 13 trophies awarded, and Steve Derrick from El Centro was the highpoint rider for the show. This is getting to be pretty much the story at the San Diego County shows for the Evan's students and their horses. Frank states that he is becoming quite a statistician figuring out these percentages.

I'm especially pleased with the showing of Donna Statler and Cahava's Pawnee. Donna showed this young gelding for the first time to a second in a Western Pleasure class. Pawnee is one of the colts raised by Willow Glen Farm, and we are happy that he is doing such a fine job for the Statlers.

Another of our colts, Cahava's Cochise, was recently purchased from Paul Boardman by the Irvine family. Cynthia reports that in two lessons she taught him how to neck rein, and commented upon his intelligence. Naturally, I pointed out to her that all Appaloosas are intelligent and that this was one of their outstanding traits. Cochise is now a three-year-old and a gelding. At the moment it has not been decided which of the Irvines will claim him for her horse, but Cynthia says that her mother kinda likes him. He'd make a wonderful trail horse for you, Alice.

I read in one of the local papers this week that Gregg's Pancho Villa owned by Ken Johnson of Johnstown was the champion two-year-old stallion Appaloosa in San Diego County. Inasmuch as Pancho was the only two-year-old stallion shown by a San Diego County resident during 1963, it seems to me

CAMPO

By FAY FARRIS

The social whirl after the holidays has started again. The first was the meeting of the Lake Morena Woman's Club on Tuesday evening of last week at the home of Gwen Leach at Cameron Corners, with Marie Martin acting as co-hostess. 16 were present and all enjoyed playing cards after the meeting. Prizes for high scores were won by Helen Pate, Helen Smyth, Fay Barrish and Sallie Middleton. Also present were Phoebe Thompson, Dell Nielsen, Gertrude Haskell, Ruth Lawrence, Margaret Rolland, Flora Skonburg, Bee Boyd, Mary Lou Murphy, Bobbie Hasenmaier and Fay Farris.

Mt. Empire Woman's Club started the year off by meeting at the home of Ladonna Muhlhauser on Wednesday of last week. 29 were present. As Ladonna was not feeling up to par she was assisted in the serving of the luncheon by Catherine Hadley, and Pete Geisbrecht. The new officers as follows were installed by Mary Kerns: Ladonna Muhlhauser, President; Phoebe Thompson, Vice President; Gertrude Haskell, Treasurer; Orletta Coppage, Recording Secretary; Margaret Rolland, Corresponding Secretary.

Appointed by the President were Lois Roe, Chaplain; Pearl Glick, Alternate Chaplain; Bertha Zinn, Historian; Program Chairmen—Catherine Hadley, Cecile Herring and Pete Geisbrecht; Welfare Chairmen, Ethel Hawkins, Muriel Utt and Fay Farris. It was

SCHOOL TALK

HARBISON CANYON

By Sandi Crain

The Harbison Canyon first graders of the combination class are learning about our President and his family, our flag and the country for which it stands. They are studying the statue of liberty also. The second graders are learning to put words in alphabetical order. Soon they will be using a dictionary.

The sixth grade girls set up a mock organization of American states. Each of the girls represented at least three countries. During the meeting they discussed typical problems between the countries. Dr. Bannister from the County Department of Education came to see us. The participating girls found this an interesting project. There are two new committees in the sixth grade class. They are: Transportation in Mexico, Chuck Jines, Chairman; and Earning a Living in Mexico, Sandi Crain, Chairman. The research work is quite interesting.

Soon the band will start using basic instruments. Most students passed the test and are looking forward to lots of fun with Mr. Ades, the director.

Sights & Sounds Of Our Town

Since the recent scary report issued by the government regarding smoking, have heard of several persons giving up this habit. But one couple, Jeanne and Auren Pierce beat them all by doing it the hard way—quitting during the holiday season, which seems to me would be the roughest time of the year (it's hard enough any time). As Auren said, it's not hard when you know and believe you will never again in your life smoke another cigarette. Takes a lot of strong will power thought, and these two sure have it.

Almost everyone has some sort of a cold these days, dry coughs, sinus trouble, etc., however, the strangest thing happened to Coyla Brown as a result of a lingering cold—she lost the hearing in one ear and now the other is leaving. It's a temporary condition according to her doctor. Can't help but believe we are spoiled about 10 or 11 months out of the year what with our ideal climate and when we do finally get some of Mr. Winter's cold wind and wet weather, we just can't take it.

Not long ago I heard someone say they had heard there was some discontent among some Alpiners concerning the representation we are receiving from the District Supervisor. I wondered at the time just what this discontent could possibly be. Our main roads are in very good condition, Japatul, Alpine, Harbison Canyon, zoning has been accomplished to most everyone's satisfaction, and above all else, most everyone is satisfied with the progress we have made both business and population-wise.

I wondered also if David Bird, our District Supervisor had had any indication of discontent from our area and he was kind enough to spend some time talking with me about the needs of Alpine. It

L.A. Philharmonic 2nd Concert Jan. 26

The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, under the baton of guest conductor Andre Vandernoot, will present the second in its series of four San Diego concerts Jan. 26 in Russ Auditorium.

Joining the 100-member symphony as soloist will be American-born pianist Eugene Istomin, who will perform Chopin's Concerto No. 2, Opus 21, for Piano and Orchestra.

In announcing the forthcoming program, San Diego Philharmonic Committee chairman Mrs. I. Norman Lawson said concert-goers are promised a musically-complete evening with the selections chosen to be performed by the orchestra.

Vandernoot, a 36-year-old native of Brussels, will first lead the Philharmonic in its interpretation of the familiar "Water Music Suite" by Handel-Harty.

Bartok's lively Music for Strings, Percussion and Celeste will follow Istomin's solo performance of Chopin, with the Philharmonic concluding on Excerpts from the Ballet, "Romeo and Juliet" by Prokofiev.

New Road Built By Forest Service

Supervisor Stanley Stevenson of the Cleveland National Forest has announced the completion of 5.1 miles of road on the Cleveland National Forest near Elsinore.

Construction was completed in December by Einer Bros., Inc. of Escondido for $204,718. The new section of road will provide better fire control access in that area.

Daughter of Alpine Couple in Panama

The Canal Zone crisis strikes close to home with Mr. and Mrs. Basil Spear of Olivewood Lane, Alpine. Their only daughter, Crystal, with her husband, Lowell K. Marcus and their three children, Lowell K. 2nd, Crystal jr., and Kim, have lived in Panama City for the past several years where Mr. Marcus is manager of the Goodyear Company's holdings.

When the trouble broke out, Friday, Jan. 10, Mrs. Spear said the Goodyear Corp. wired her and her husband from their Detroit office to assure them that their family was safe. They reported that the Goodyear warehouse in Panama had been burned and other damage sustained, but that none of the personnel had been injured.

On Saturday, Jan. 11, Mrs. Spear stated that her children wired to say they were alright, but had had to leave their home in Panama City and were staying in the Canal Zone where most of the other Americans had gone for safety from the violence.

Mrs. Marcus teaches eighth grade English in the American school in the Canal Zone where her two younger children attend. The son, Lowell 2nd, attends the high school. The latest word from the Marcus family said that things were quieting down now and that they hoped the worst was over.

Barnes Opposes Rumford Act

Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes (R-San Diego) today told the Board of Directors of the California Real Estate Association that his "long experience in the ministry establishes that it is impossible to legislate good will and human understanding."

"Harmonious human relations," Barnes said, "are based on mutual appreciation and voluntary associations. I believe that the Rumford Forced Housing Act will tend to increase racial tensions rather than diminishing them."

Barnes, a retired Navy chaplain with almost twenty years of active duty service, entered the Navy prior to World War II after several years as a Methodist circuit minister.

The California Real Estate Association's Board meeting being conducted at the El Cortez Hotel in San Diego. Over 1,000 members from all parts of the State attended.

Barnes, who voted against the Rumford Forced Housing Act in the 1963 session of the Legislature, strongly endorsed the Initiative Constitutional Amendment, which would protect the right of propertyowners to dispose of their own property as they see fit.

"Human rights and property rights are not severable. They go hand-in-hand," the Assemblyman said. "The Bible contains strong declarations in support of property rights," Barnes told the realtors. "The Commandment, 'Thou shalt not steal,' is such a pronouncement."

Referring to certain church support of the Rumford Act, Barnes said: "If these ministers were sincerely interested in solving this problem, they could do so on a voluntary basis by encouraging the members of their congregation to sell their homes to no one but members of minority groups. These churches have enough members in the State of California to solve the entire problem of housing integration without intervention by the Government."

The Assemblyman expressed his approval of the stand of the Amer-

Ryan Landing Radar Design Selected

The Radio Corporation of America has announced it had selected the design of the Ryan Aeronautical Company of San Diego for the landing radar to be used on the Lunar Excursion Module (LEM) being built to land two men on the moon.

RCA, which is responsible for major electronic subsystems for LEM, said the selection had been approved by the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corporation, Bethpage, L. I., prime contractor for the LEM vehicle, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The cost of the Ryan equipment is subject to negotiations.

RCA said its Aerospace Systems Division, Burlington, Mass., had thoroughly evaluated all landing radar proposals and decided that the Ryan design, as a result of previous experience in a comparable project, would meet the LEM requirements with minimum technical, schedule and cost risks. The radar will provide data on altitude and velocity with relation to the moon's surface for the LEM vehicle.

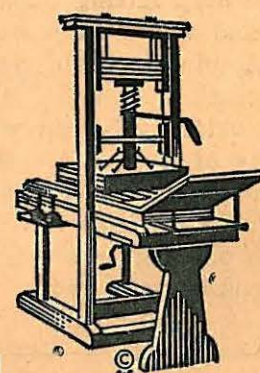

RCA will integrate the landing radar with the overall sensor subsystem, which will include the rendezvous radar being designed and built by RCA to enable the astronauts to rejoin the parent Apollo spacecraft after take-off from the moon.

LET'S STOP ACCEPTING INSULTS

Foreign visitors are a commonplace in our country now. Especially the kind of foreign visitor whom we are bringing over and keeping as honored "guests" in our colleges, universities, and laboratories. Some of these people possess one trait in common — a penchant for criticizing the United States — our Government, our economy, our schools, our morals, everything we are and have. They enjoy doing this to our faces and especially in our homes at social affairs.

In any of our own people this rude, crude behavior would be promptly and properly dealt with. But because the insulter is a foreign visitor, we stand around with sickish smiles and let him or her insult us and our country. In our considered opinion this is a very mistaken attitude for any American to take. These visitors know they are rude. They know we'd be asked to go home fast if we dared say half as much under similar circumstances in their country. But as more and more of these self-styled foreign critics come here, as their numbers and their contacts with our average citizens multiply, we must think more of our personal and National dignity, and act upon these insults accordingly.

We are bemeaning ourselves and our nation when we take this rude talk from these visitors. A few well aimed words in defense of our country and our way of life are in order. Common politeness is not too much to expect of our guests, even foreign ones.

While stuffing themselves at our abundant tables, these guests lecture us about how little the average person in their country has to eat, and how many people could live how long on the table the hostess has prepared for this one meal. This is not our fault, nor is it our sole responsibility as the guest's attitude implies. It is high time that these students and others enjoying our hospitality, be made to understand that there is a custom in this country that expects, nay demands now, due respect for both the country and the home he is visiting.

We must stop letting these people insult us and all that is ours and which they would just love to have for their own. Listening to their expressions of jealous hatred is not democratic tolerance, it is despoiling our image around the world. Each time we hear these people run down our way of life, we are figuratively allowing them to dishonor our flag. Would we stand by and let these guests dishonor Old Glory? No. Then let's speak up and make such foreign "guests" mend their manners. Just as we would the kids next door.

County Population Over One Million

S. J. Arnold, Executive Director of the California Taxpayers Association has issued a statement that their estimate of the population of San Diego County as of January 1, 1964, is 1,158,000. Based on their estimate of the population a year ago, there has been a gain of 18,000, or 1.6 percent.

The Association's estimate does not break down the population by cities, but the City of San Diego Planning Department estimates that the population in the City of San Diego is 633,925.

In the past no agency has made a semi-official estimate of the County by cities and rural areas. However, the County of San Diego, through the County Planning Department, is now making an estimate of the population of the County by areas which will be available in about six months.

Board of Directors of the Alpine Heights Municipal Water District. He had been active in the formation of the Alpine Heights District and elected first President of the Board and served in that capacity until the dissolution of the District. The Alpine Heights District immediately after its formation petitioned the Rio District for annexation which was accomplished making the continuation of the Alpine Heights District unnecessary. The District was therefore dissolved by an election held for that purpose.

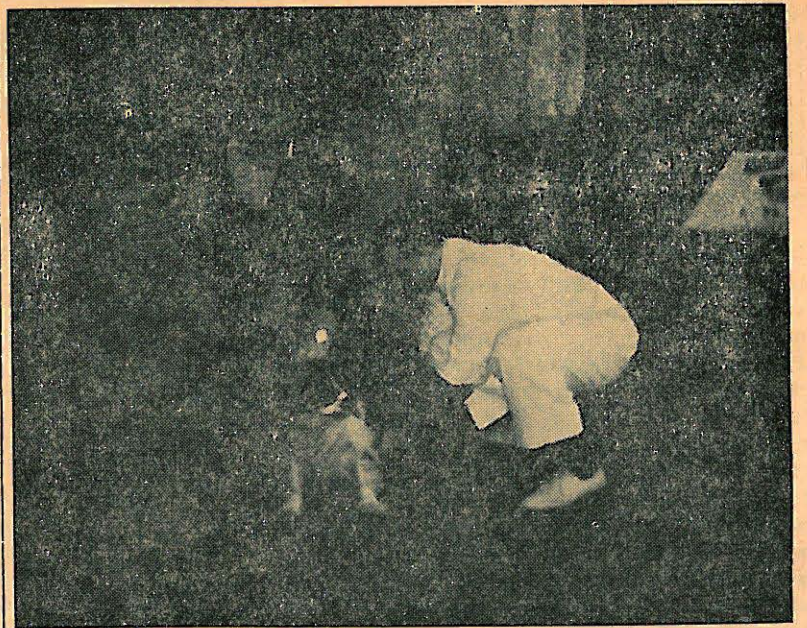

The Rio Board appointed Kit C. McKee of Lakeside to the position of Director to fill the position in Division No. 1 made vacant by the death of Mr. Pumphrey. Mr. McKee had previously been a Director of the Santee County Water District which is one of the units within the Rio San Diego Municipal Water District.

Local Men Address Kiwanis Meetings

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Alpine, held January 16th, the group was shown films of Mr. Hollis Mancil's recent travels in Alaska. The meeting was presided over by Ben Cerveny with Bud Cooper serving as Chairman.

The meeting last week featured Mr. Paul Clay, Superintendent of the Alpine Union School District, who spoke on "Education in the '60's." He pointed out the complexities which arise in education due to the rapid world changes.

Scheduled for next week's meeting is Rev. Roger Larson who will show pictures of his trip through Scandinavia.

robins will have eaten many of them diminishing the splashes of red they toss against the clean blue sky. The robins came yesterday. Big plump red-vested pirates they moved in, took a look at the vegetable garden and decided the holly berries were tastier. I went for a walk with the dogs to get closer to the holly and the sky. Out on the mesa the sky is bigger and nearer. It fits like a blue bowl over the mesa. The robins lift when I pass nearby. Their red breasts look like bibs soiled from their greedy feasting on the berries."

Now in December 10 years later the scene is almost the same. But where are the robins? Last year they were few and we had holly for Christmas for the first time. It's nice to have the wild red berries, but I hope the birds are not destroyed. Here's another entry on January 4, 1953. "It's raining and the sun is shining now at a quarter to three in the afternoon. There is a perfect rainbow over to the east and a little north. One end reaches down just past the Wallen's place and the other touches our own front gate. It is a wide delicate band of exquisite colors—red, blending to orange, to yellow, to green, blue and violet curving up in a splendid arch; it is vividly bright. I stand in the rain to watch it and as I move closer a small flock of perhaps 12 or 15 robins fly up from a bush and are for a moment directly under the rainbow's zenith, and big shining rain drops looking like fabulous jewels fall on the birds. It is almost unbearably beautiful. I wish everyone in town could see this brief matinee. The perfect arch lasted only about 10 minutes, then began to fade in the middle leaving the ends bright. It gradually moved over the hill. The west end remained clear for over an hour." You don't often see rainbows like that one. It deserved a poem or a song. I remember regretting at the time that I couldn't compose either one.

Few people keep diaries any more. Used to be every young girl and boy had a little secret book for special records. And many sober-minded adults kept personal journals. In this way saving some valid history. Of course, you say, records are kept nowadays of everything going on between here and outer space. And including outer space. But these professional records are not the same. Written for posterity, they are accurate and scientific, not personal and human. The best ones are always those not intended for publication. The most illustrious of the world diaries, that of Samuel Pepys was begun on January 1, 1660 and carried on until May 29, 1669. Another famous diary, that of John Evelyn, who was born in 1620, professes to be the record of 70 years. Apart from their literary value, these writings are priceless human records.

A diary I saw recently, written some 70 years ago in these mountains, is a very monotonous account, a record of rising and eating breakfast, washing the dishes, sweeping the house, and repeating the same the next day. It is stated in a terse matter-of-fact manner.

Any change of routine, such as going to church, or cooking a Sunday dinner for company, or driving the team to a funeral are entered in the same unemotional tone. Yet the very drabness tells us about the people and the days that built their history. For in this kind of writing you do indeed read between the lines. I wonder why the keeping of diaries has gone out of fashion? Let's hope a few people are now carefully recording the simple day by day happenings of ordinary living. There's something about a personal account, however unexpertly written, that is not matched elsewhere for a true picture of a people and their era.

Senator Schrade, according to Dr. Crain, is critical of the Governor and State officials, including the real estate commission, for informing the real estate industry of the significance of proposed developments in the state; such as, this effort to repeal anti-discriminatory legislation. Whereas, it is the duty of our officials to keep our people informed. This petition being circulated by the California Real Estate Association, if successful, would set back racial relations in the State of California 100 years. Moreover, it is quite clear that it would produce chaos in the real estate industry and perhaps destroy it.

This proposed initiative constitutional amendment is so all-embracing that it would eliminate virtually all laws and regulations by which our local communities and state government manage our affairs respecting private property. Such things as Building Codes and zoning could be eliminated and virtual anarchy established in the State of California.

"I think," states Dr. Crain, "that this petition proposal is one of the most fantastic and dangerous propositions we have ever seen. Governor Brown and our other state officials would be derelict in their duty if they did not point out the problems posed by it. I wish that Mr. Schrade were as much concerned over the welfare of our people and our private property.

dogs and owners. While Dr. Samter inoculated each individual dog, his assistants prepared the hypodermics for the following ones. Each hypodermic was disposable after one using and a number of large cartons of serum and hypodermics were used to take care of this large number of animals.

The dogs were mostly from Alpine, but a few came from El Cajon, Campo, and other surrounding areas.

Last year a brave person brought a cat to the rabies clinic among all the dogs. But this year no one took such a chance, so the dogs had the evening to themselves. Some owners came with as many as five dogs, with every member of the family helping. Mostly the dogs were from one dog families.

Economy Reports By Security Bank

Southern California's business activity, which moved to new highs throughout most of 1963, ended the year by equaling the previous record level set in November, Mr. Ross Mallette, manager of Security First National Bank's Alpine branch, reported today.

As of December 27, the bank's business index was reported at 136.6 (preliminary), more than seven percent over the corresponding period of 1962, Mallette said.

In reviewing the Southland's economic progress during the past year, Security Bank's report said the highlight of 1963 was the increase in building activity, particularly residential construction. Total construction valuation approximately $4.5 billion, a 15 percent gain over 1962.

Residential building, which represents 60 percent of all construction activity, reached $2.6 billion, for a 27 percent increase over 1962. The sharp rise was attributed to the increased volume of apartment unit construction. Multiple unit activity accounted for 60 percent of the 200,000 new dwelling units authorized in the 14-county area during 1963, and 75 percent of the total in Los Angeles County, Mallette stated.

Non-residential building, represented by the dollar valuation of commercial and industrial building permits and other buildings not subject to permit requirements, were estimated at $1.4 billion up slightly over 1962, Mallette continued. Commercial building, estimated at $530 million, and industrial building, at $130 million, showed only minor changes from 1962.

Population growth continued to be a prime stimulant to the Southland economy. With more than 11.5 million resident at year-end, the area added roughly 400,000 persons to its population during

MISS AASE MADSEN

Pine Valley Girl to Return to Denmark

Miss Aase Madsen will return to her home in Copenhagen, Denmark, on Saturday, Jan. 18.

Miss Madsen has been a resident of Pine Valley for the past year where she was employed in the office at the Hobart Lodge. She came to San Diego County in June 1962, and attended San Diego City College for a business course to learn American ways and to brush up on language. She spoke English having studied it in Denmark, but felt that she needed practice to be able to speak fluently.

In 1961, Miss Madsen's aunt, Miss Anina Madsen, of San Diego visited in Denmark for a year following her retirement from the San Diego County Hospital where she had been employed for 30 years. While in Denmark, Miss Madsen convince Aase to come to America.

Aase will leave Saturday via SAS and fly non-stop over the North Pole to Copenhagen. The many friends she has made in Pine Valley, Alpine, and the surrounding communities hope that she will get homesick for Southern California and come back here after a visit to her family and friends in Denmark.

Newcomers Move To Alpine

Newcomers to Alpine include Mr. and Mrs. Wade and sons of Arizona, formerly of Lakeside where Mr. Wade has a cabinet shop. They rented the Wallace Kent home on Homeward Way.

Also new to Alpine are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Helems of Virginia. Mr. Helems is in the Navy and wanted to rent in the country so the children could have a horse. They rented the Rabouin property on South Grade Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sheets, who come from El Cajon where Mr. Sheets works for Straza Industries, are also newcomers. Mr. and Mrs. Sheets have two children and have rented the Rollie Gerdes house on Highway 80. These rentals were made by Charlene V. Brown of Pierce Realty Co. here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moore, of Marshall Road, had as weekend guests her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Thayer of Scottsdale, Arizona, and also her other nephew, Ben Thayer and his wife, Vera, and daughters Sue and Kerry, of Tarzana.

Mr. Roy Setser and Clark Haney are keeping each other company during their stay in El Cajon Valley Hospital. Clark is recuperating from surgery and Mr. Setser is there for observation.

Mr. John Reynolds is now residing in Sunny View Lodge near Fairview on Highway 80. He is recuperating nicely and able to be up and around. He would welcome visits from his friends.

Mrs. Jean Moore of Viejas View Lane, the Willows, is in El Cajon Valley Hospital following a stroke suffered last Saturday. Her daughter, Betty Isaacs, reports she is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Alice Perry, formerly of Alpine, and who now resides with her father in Washington state, is visiting friends in Alpine. She drove through much snow and cold weather to get to our more moderate climate and is enjoying it greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rabouin and their family visited their former neighbors in Alpine last weekend. The Rabouins moved last year from their home at the corner of South Grade Road and Alpine Heights Road to Santa Ana. They visited the Joe Wallins and the Byrom Viets while here.

MOTHER GRUNDY

By OLIVE WOOLDRIDGE

A letter and pictures from Peter and Erika gives me the chance to show more of the town and the people of Karlsruhe. First of all the horse side of the story. Below is a picture of Erika leading her colt, Struwelpeter to the yearling sales.

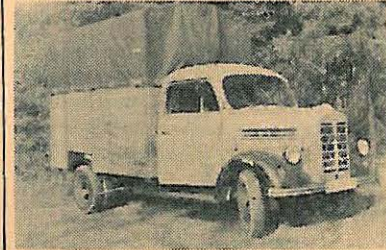

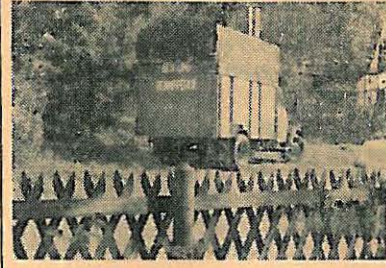

Since Erika lives in town she has to find a place to keep her horse and while we were there, Struwelpeter was boarded at Gestuet Langenberg. She told about how last year when the winter was especially cold she was "wrapped up like an onion" and riding her motor scooter on icy roads to go feed and care for her horses.

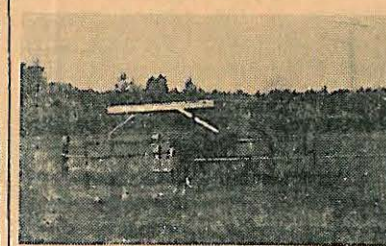

The ambition, courage and just plain drive of these people is something which should not be under estimated and which is a credit to their nation. Their long term ambition is something that people as impulsive as most Americans would have a hard time appreciating. The goal they set before themselves need not be an immediate one. Erika's job is in a laboratory, I think something like an isotope laboratory, quite specialized, and get each day she would motor some 12 miles to the ranch where the owner, Mr. Eversfield, let her have some pine poles to strip and use in building herself a corral at a place she had rented closer to town. Stripping the poles of their bark is a long and tedious job, I think she was doing well to do three or four a night, at least while we were interrupting her with conversation. In observing this consistent application of time and talent, no matter how menial the job, one can get a good idea for the reasons behind Germany's success today of a nation rebuilt.

Peter and Erika have a friend. His name is "Fridolin" and as mentioned on the back of one of the pictures they "hope he is still alive next year." This friend helps them to make a living, a horse van, for hire. Shown below with the caution printed on the back for other drivers, "Attention, running horses."

I am not sure of the make of the vehicle but here he is shown head on and maybe someone who knows should write and tell me. That's about it for today except for one more shop of Gestuet Langenberg showing the creep feeders that Don built while we were there. You can see that the foals are making use of them, although the gathering of friends and neighbors, while the construction was going on, chattering among themselves were disbelieving and said it would never work. He built two of these and we believe them to be the first in Germany.

Since arriving back here in the U. S. I am making full use of my dictionary. I think maybe I mentioned that when I first got to Germany I discovered by observation that whenever a word is spelled (a word containing an "i" and an "e" together) with the "i" second it is pronounced "i" and spelled with the "e" second it is pronounced "e." As you can see the word "believe" works out this way but the name "Keith" doesn't and there are many more in the English language that I used to know how to spell but I now can't because I can't think of which way it should be in English. And so it goes.

The El Cajon Farm Bureau Center meeting was held as usual at the Meridian School in El Cajon on Wednesday, Jan. 8. It was, as usual, and evening meeting and potluck supper. The conversation and socializing of potluck suppers is rewarding. There is something about the dinner table that brings out talk and reciprocation.

After the dinner the program consisted of a talk and slides by Ken Little and George Schwigel of the County Department of Agriculture. They explained the functions of the Department, its origin, and some of the sidelights of its existence. It made us proud to know that because of the high inspection standards required and carried out by the department, the reputation and profits available are higher in

Carpenter Plans to Run for Congress

Paul Carpenter today announced his intention to seek the office of Representative in the U. S. 35th Congressional District at a press conference in Santa Ana. The 35th district includes the eastern portion of Orange County and the northern and eastern portions of San Diego County.

In announcing his candidacy, Carpenter, 35, stressed his belief in moderation and in a responsible approach to government. He stated that the district has a number of important problems, including cut-backs in defense industry contracts, air-pollution, water, mass transportation, and a shortage of recreational areas.

Carpenter said that during the course of the coming campaign he expects to spell out effective, practical programs "to bring our district up to date." His prime reason for seeking office, Carpenter stated, "is that it is now time for this district to have a representative of the people in the Congress of the United States." He said our present representative shows little concern about finding solutions for our problems.

Carpenter indicated that he supports President Johnson's foreign and domestic policies and said he believes Johnson will be re-elected in 1964.

Carpenter, a Democrat, is a defense plant executive employed in Fullerton. He resides with his family at 2850 Virginia Avenue in Anaheim.

Carpenter indicated that much of his campaign will be centered about the following issues: "The President's foreign and domestic policies, U. S. participation in the United Nations, public ownership of the post office and the national parks, the Liberty Amendment, and the continued prosperity of this district."

He voiced his support of the President's foreign and domestic policies, U. S. participation in the United Nations, and continued public ownership and administration of the post office and the national parks. He also indicated opposition to the so-called Liberty Amendment (back by the Republican incumbent), "which would render this country vulnerable to a Communist takeover."

Carpenter said that he had developed "a three-part plan to maintain and increase the economic health of this district" which he will define during the coming months.

 decided to have a business meeting the second Wednesday and a fun meeting the fourth Wednesday of each month, with card parties at the fun meetings every quarter. Bertha Zinn won the mystery prize. Christine Rasmussen held the drawing for the Afghan she had made to help her cousin's grandson, who is paralyzed from a swimming accident. Pete Geisbrecht was the lucky winner.

 The Homemakers Club held its regular meeting on Thursday of last week at the Stone House. After the meeting visiting was enjoyed, and it was decided to meet in the homes hereafter. The next meeting will be a potluck at the home of Gertrude Haskell in Lake Morena.

 Friday night of last week, the Masonic Club met at the Stone House in Campo for a delicious potluck chicken dinner under the chairmanship of Bobbie Hasenmaier, with Gwen Leach and Mr. and Mrs. Hunt assisting. A film of Tahiti was shown by Norman Blair which was very interesting. About 50 were present.

 The day after New Years George Ullrich of Morena Village was taken to the U.S. Naval Hospital with an ulcer attack. He is on the road to recovery and did not have to have an operation.

 On the sick list also is Bee Boyd with a bad cold and Ardelle Craft, who has had to stay off her feet for awhile.

 Guests at the home of Mack and Daisy McCoys in Lake Morena has been their daughter Marilyn, her husband "Choppo" Looney and three sons, from Utah. They are moving back to California, and will live in El Cajon.

TUBERCULIN TESTS FOR 8TH GRADERS

Arrangements for administration of tuberculin skin tests to 3,928 eighth graders in El Cajon Valley and nearby public, parochial, and private schools will be made at a meeting of school principals, nurses, and representatives of parents' organizations at Ballantyne School, El Cajon, at 2 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 21.

John S. Rhoades, president of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of San Diego, said the program, financed by local Christmas Seal contributions, will be conducted throughout the county for the second time and probably will start next month.

The recently developed procedure, called the TINE test, produces a reaction if tuberculous germs have entered the body at some time. Volunteer physician-nurse teams will administer it.

"A positive reaction does not necessarily mean there is a case of active tuberculosis," Rhodes said, "But it does mean the person has been exposed and should be given medical study, including a chest x-ray."

Last year 14,497 students were examined and 658 had positive reactions.

"That this kind of testing is important," Rhoades said, "is indicated by the fact that in many places TB is on the increase. For example, by the end of October last year San Francisco experienced a 16 percent increase over the previous year."

Paul Clay, principal; Mrs. Geneva Ablet, nurse, and John Reynolds, PTA president, will represent Alpine Elementary School.

 was his opinion that everything we have asked for in Alpine has been delivered as far as could be done. He also said that to his knowledge, Alpine has been treated the same as any other area.

The Chamber of Commerce has invited Mr. Bird to a meeting to be held some time in March and at that time there will be a discussion of our needs and just what can be done regarding them. This I think would be a very good opportunity for all of us who are interested in our town to meet with our supervisor. Perhaps we would come away from such a meeting with the feeling that we are much more fortunate in our community than are other areas with rather major problems that are hard to solve such as the rain and flood problem, not to mention sewage, etc.

SD State Sponsors Study Tour

Highlights of San Diego State's 1964 summer sight-seeing study tour to Mexico, the Caribbean and Europe will be explained to tour members and interested persons at an orientation meeting, Friday, Jan. 31.

The open meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Automobile Club of Southern California, 815 Date Street, San Diego. A color film of Europe will be shown and health, travel and wardrobe information will be discussed.

A total of 40 persons have made reservation-deposits for the tour. Reservations are being accepted for the remaining vacancies for the 58-day tour extending from June 22 through August 18.

The 1964 tour will feature admission to a bull fight in Madrid, theaters in London, Paris, and Stratford, an evening in a German night club, a trip to the Alps in Switzerland, an all-day trip down the Rhine River in Germany, visits to palaces, galleries, museums, and castles, boating on the canals of Amsterdam and Venice, the opera in Rome, and an excursion to the World's Fair in New York.

Total cost of the tour round-trip from San Diego to San Diego is $1,855. Tourists may arrange for a tour extension to Scandinavian countries and the Soviet Union, or they may take part of the tour at a reduction in cost.

The tour will cover the 13 countries of Mexico, Jamaica, Puerto Rico, Portugal, Spain, France, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany, Belgium, and England.

A course in international economics and European history may be taken for up to six units of college credit. Tourists must enroll in San Diego State's 1964 summer session and be high school graduates or have reached the age of 21 years.

Eugene P. Brown, professor of accounting at San Diego State, will direct the tour with Dr. Nelson Norman, associate professor of history at San Diego State.

Full information is available from the school of business administration, San Diego State, San Diego 15.

ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

Now is the time for all good gardeners to put those good New Year's resolutions into action. The nurseries are crying out for you to come and inspect their supplies. The bare-root season is on in full swing. Plant: fruit trees, grapes and berries.

If you have a yen for a tree that gives ample shade with attractive and showy yellow-orange flowers in the spring, the Tulip Tree pictured above is for you. It grows up to 50 feet with a 25-foot spread. The leaves turn a golden yellow in the fall before they drop.

Another fine tree is the Maidenhair Tree (Ginkgo biloba) which is true to its name. The foliage looks like enlarged maidenhair fern foliage. Of course, I am partial to the Grevillea Rebuta or Silk Oak. It has lovely lacy foliage and orange comb-like blossoms along the branches. It is practically an evergreen as the old leaves stay on till the new ones push them out of the way.

Ask your nurseryman for the correct spray for your fruit trees as this is the time for dormant spraying. It is also pruning time for most trees and shrubs, etc. This is also the time to buy and plant grape vines which can double for shade and fruit. The Muscat, both black and golden, are a delicious grape, as are the Perlette, Malaga, Thompson seedless, Delight and others. Be sure to ask for the ones which do well in zones 7 to 13 which is our zone. Why not plant grape vines so they will climb up over your patio, provided they get ample sunshine. Good growing for 1964.

Gov. Brown Makes Appointments

Governor Brown has announced that he has made appointments to the Board of Directors of the 22nd District Agricultural Association which is the governing body of the Del Mar Fairgrounds.

There were three positions on the Board to be filled. The Governor reappointed R. R. Richardson of La Mesa and John Straza of El Cajon, present incumbents on the Board whose terms had expired, to succeed themselves for another term.

The Governor also appointed Dr. Jack Kimbrough, a dentist in San Diego, to fill the position previously held by William Goetze, formerly of La Jolla, but who had resigned on account of leaving San Diego County to enter business in San Francisco.

COKE'S KITCHEN

There is new taste enjoyment in that classic main dish favorite, macaroni and cheese, when made according to the easy-do recipe here. The proof is in the eating, of course, and this version is guaranteed to please.

This hearty main dish is very simple to prepare—no separate cheese sauce to make. Cooked macaroni is layered with seasonings and shredded cheese, then undiluted evaporated milk poured over. When the casserole comes from the oven, the cheese and evaporated milk are blended into a smooth and rich sauce throughout.

A tomato cut in wedges makes a colorful and flavorful accent under the toasty crisp crumbs.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

- 2 3/4 cups uncooked elbow macaroni
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/8 tsp. oregano or rubbed sage
- 1 small onion, sliced thin
- 1/2 pound American cheese, shredded (2 cups)
- 1 tall can evaporated milk
- 1 tomato, cut in wedges
- 1 slice bread
- 1 T butter, melted

Drop macaroni gradually into 3 qts. boiling water to which 1 T salt has been added, and cook until tender, about 7-8 minutes. Drain and rinse with hot water, then drain again. Place half the macaroni in a well-buttered 2 qt. casserole. Blend salt, pepper and oregano or sage; sprinkle half over macaroni. Separate onion into rings and scatter half over macaroni. Layer half the cheese over, then pour about half the evaporated milk over all. Repeat. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 F) 30 minutes. Place tomato wedges on top. Pull bread into small crumbs (or better yet use bread crumbs already prepared), mix with butter then sprinkle on top. Bake 10 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

FRANCINE'S MACARONI

- 1/2 pound macaroni, approximately 2 cups
 - 1/2 cube oleo
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 1 can undiluted cream of chicken soup
 - 1 cup milk
 - 6 oz. American cheese, 1 cup
 - 1 package peas and carrots (thawed or partially cooked)
- Cook macaroni and drain. Melt butter, flour, soup, milk—cook until thickened. Add rest of ingredients with exception of 1/4 of cheese which is sprinkled over the top. Really delicious. 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Mrs. Homer MacNutt, who used to live on Proctor Valley Rd., has passed away. She had been a resident of the county for 31 years. Burial services were scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 14, at St. Martin's Catholic Church in La Mesa.

Our home was the scene of a final family reunion before my uncle, Mr. John MacFarlane, returns home to Cheshire, England. He met more members of the family, and snapshots of the group were taken. He commented on the beauty of the L. A. to S. D. trip, and the peacefulness of our valley, and marveled at the operation of Paul and Mary Egan's Mountain Dale Rabbitry. A buffet was laid for 36, and afterwards, it being Mary Egan's birthday, she was surprised with the traditional "happy birthday" song and a huge pink-iced cake, presented by the Frank Jorgensens of Fletcher Hills. Out-of-Town guests were the Gordon Champion family of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Joe Ross, whose late husband operated a chicken ranch on Lyons Valley Rd. for a number of years, is in the hospital for a 10-day rest, after having suffered a heart attack.

SD State Glee Club Public Concert

San Diego State's 65-voice men's glee club, The Aztec Ambassadors, will present a free, public concert on Monday, Jan. 20. The concert, under the direction of David Loomis, assistant professor of music, will be given at 8:15 p.m., in the music auditorium.

Special arrangements have been written for the glee club by Dr. David Ward-Steinman, assistant professor of music, and Ted Lucas, graduate student in composition.

The program will include, "Tenebrae factae sunt," by Palestrina; "Great is Jehovah, the Lord," by Schubert; "The Last Words of David," by Randall Thompson; spirituals such as "The Creation," and "When the Saints Come Marching In," and such show tunes as Kern's "All the Things You Are," Rogers and Hart's "My Funny Valentine" and "Politics and Poker," from "Fiorello."

Soloists for the glee club are Judith Taylor, John Duitsman and a quartet. The Four Ambassadors, composed of Earl Alexander, John Peeling, Morris Crisci and Maurice Woods. Salvatore Ferrantelli is student conductor.

For the first time in its history, dating back to the mid-twenties, the glee club will appear in a uniform—red blazers, with a crest designed by glee club alumnus, Roger Roppee. The blazers were acquired with the help of the associated student body.

DEERHORN VALLEY

By ROY WALLIN

The "Hill" was honored by a visit from one of the old-timers of the original community here. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harvey dropped by the lodge on the way to visiting friends, and while there, recalled memories of the old school house, childhood friends, and old landmarks—comparing the present community to the pictures and writings of the old Deerhorn in Dorothy Clark Schmid's book, "Pioneering in Dulzura."

Baa, baa, lost sheep—reports, late last week, filtered in of a strange looking goat with large curved horns from Mexico wandering in the Monte Robles section of our community. He was friendly, rope-shy, and liked chewing cigarettes. He was first sighted by Van, Charlie, and George West and later on the weekend, by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook. Mike Wiman and several others were tracking the ram to return him to Dr. and Mrs. Ball's Winnetka Ranch before some great white hunter from the city claimed his head for their trophy room or some other misadventure befell our horned friend. Let's hope he's home safe and sound now, however, if he isn't and you spot him, give them a call at the Winnetka Ranch.

Talked to the road foreman, working on the bridge down at Walt and Lucille Barber's Honey Spring Ranch." He figured his crew would be finished with their part of the bridge work in three or four weeks, after which the county road department would complete the bridge. When asked about paving the new Honey Springs Road from Highway 94 to Meanea's place, his opinion was that it was too cold to black-top now, and that it would probably be done in the spring, but, in any case, before July of this year.

Gang, gang, the hail's all here—twisted but true. With small ice cubes pelleting our community last Tuesday, there's no doubt that old man winter is back in Deerhorn.

Old-Timer's Corner. Our thanks again to Charlie Bratton, our community's oldest-timer for sharing his memories on local lore with us, Charlie is the source of information for this item. I think most of use have heard or seen what, in our valley, is now referred to as "the ghost house." It's a house in the valley southwest of the Lodge on Deerhorn Valley Ranch, still standing and structurally sound, but the ghost part is in the realm of fable. In the 1890s, Henry Hagenbuck filed a homestead in the area of the present ranch and in 1892 or 93 built the original house which burned down in '95. About a year later, the present structure was built, two-story, with two partitioned bedrooms upstairs, an outside stairway, and the kitchen and sitting room downstairs. Later, a barn was built a short distance from the house. Although, Henry and Isadore Hagenbuck's permanent residence was in Dulzura, where he was postmaster and operated the general store, the Hagenbucks with their children, Claire and Harry, did spend some time at their house in Deerhorn.

1963. Personal income in Southern California approximated $33.1 billion, representing a gain of 6.5 percent from 1962. Per capita personal income rose by 2.6 percent, it was reported by Security First National Bank's Research Department.

Total civilian employment averaged three percent above the previous year, and at year's end, the Southland had a record 4.1 million jobs. Based on average employment during the year, the largest increases were recorded in the trade, services, and government sectors.

Unemployment, reflecting the record gains in population, was slightly up in 1963. The ratio of unemployment to the total Southland labor force averaged 5.9 percent. This rate appeared to be declining toward year-end. Business failures were eight percent below 1962. Dollar volume of failure liabilities also was lower than last year, Mallette concluded.

strict policies and the responsibilities and relationships of the board members, administrators, teachers, other staff members, students, parents and the general public.

The Board established the dates for the next school year to coincide with the school calendar which will be adopted by the Grossmont High School District. The calendar establishes the opening date of school on September 14, 1964 and the closing date on June 18, 1965.

The Board also considered the acquiring of a 120-acre parcel of land in Japatul Valley which is being offered by the state. No action was taken at last Monday's meeting but the Board will take the matter under consideration.

The Board also employed William Bowler as custodian to replace Frances Waldon who retired last month.
