C OF C COMPLETES PROGRAM FOR INSTALLATION DINNER

The Board of Directors of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce, at their regular monthly meeting held last night, completed the arrangements for the installation dinner to be held on Saturday, January 18, in the Alpine School auditorium at 6:30 p.m.

Director Orville Palmer, one of the co-chairmen for the dinner, reported that all of the committees had been named and that the advance ticket sales indicated that there will be a large turnout for the dinner.

Committee chairmen present stated that the Honor Guard of the Alpine Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol would make the presentation of the flag and lead in the Pledge of Allegiance; that Mr. Rennie Hollett would be the master of ceremonies; that the installation of the new officers will be conducted by Mr. William Martin, President of the El Cajon Chamber of Commerce, and that following the dinner and installation ceremonies there will be entertainment.

Mr. Paul C. Clay was appointed by the Board of Directors to the office of Director to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of E. L. Freeland. Mr. Freeland had been secretary, and Director Palmer was appointed to fill this position.

New Subscribers As Drive Continues

On a recent visit in San Diego, Mrs. Corinne M. Foster was given a number of back issues of the Echo by a friend so that she could read about former friends in the area. Mrs. Foster was the owner of the La Posta Ranch on Highway 80 and now resides in Honolulu. She enjoyed the Echo so much that she wrote to her friend requesting a subscription. Her subscription was made through the drive now being conducted by the Alpine Woman's Club, and Mrs. Foster will receive the Echo in Honolulu and keep advised about her former friends and neighbors in the back country.

Other new subscribers in the Woman's Club drive during the past week are:

- Ball-Herrick Laboratory
- Frank G. Belcher
- Albert W. Daniels
- John A. Straub
- George E. Theimer

Children's Program Well Received

The Alpine Community Church was the scene of a children's program, Sunday evening at 7 which celebrated the epiphany, depicting the 12 days after the birth of the Christ child.

Beautiful music by the various grades of the church school accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Cathy Cost, with the audience participating, made it a most enjoyable evening.

Worship service was led by Raymond Partridge, Jr., narration was read by Donna Schwenk and scripture reading by Thomas Judd.

Yakel at Deerhorn Valley Meeting

Mr. Theo L. Yakel, in charge of road-naming and house-numbering with the San Diego County Building Inspection Department, was the guest at the Deerhorn Valley community meeting which was held at the Deerhorn Valley Lodge last Friday at 8:30 p.m. The meeting was sponsored by the Deerhorn Valley civic club with its president, Mr. W. L. Wolfe, acting as chairman, and attended by almost 50 property owners and residents of Deerhorn Valley.

The petitions for the naming of the un-named County road designated as F20A, which have been available at Mr. and Mrs. F. Meanea's residence for the past three weeks, were available for inspection and signatures at this meeting, prior to being submitted to Mr. Yakel.

Mr. Yakel answered questions presented to him by various community members concerning road-naming procedures and policies, in general, and specifically with regard to the un-named county roads presently designated as F20A from the Bratton Ranch to the Monte Robles area and F21 from the Bratton Ranch to Lyons Valley Rd.

He stated that he planned to attend one meeting in the local area on the same issue during this month. When all petitions are in

Ben H. Seymour Appointed to Board

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Mt. Empire Unified School District was held on Monday evening, Jan. 6 in the high school cafeteria at Campo.

On receiving letters of recommendation from citizens in the areas, Mr. Ben H. Seymour of Patrero was appointed by the Board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Leroy Copeland. This appointment will become effective in February, and Mr. Seymour will serve until the term expires on June 30, 1965.

The discussion on school district needs and financing continued from the last meeting, though nothing definite was decided. Several suggestions were made on how to cut expenses, including the possibility of dropping the kindergarten program and the high school cafeteria. The superintendent, Bruce Halladay emphasized his desire to improve the teaching staff in the district. These discussions will continue at the next meeting, when something more definite will be decided.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

So now the New Year is in its second week. We've put away the last gilt star and burned the last branch of the Yule tree in the fireplace. As we watched the flames consume the green branches we reflected that its bright flare is like our New Year's resolutions—they flash hot and bright for a few minutes, smolder awhile, then turn to ashes. So wasn't the fire nice while it lasted? I enjoy making New Year's resolutions. They give me a big lift, and, truly intending to keep them, I don't fret too much if circumstances force me to vary them a bit as the weeks pass. We must change with the time, you know!

Like a chant passing from one celebrant to another were the words, "I'm going on a diet right after the holidays!" This is one New Year's resolution which must be broken all to smash from time to time, for we are a celebrating people and many's the feast will come up between now and next Christmas. According to the United States Department of Commerce, the average American will, this coming year, eat 324 eggs, eight pounds of butter, 109 pounds of potatoes, 159 pounds of red meat, and will wash it down with 520 cups of coffee. This is only a small part of the entire amount of food this individual will consume. If you happen to be one of these average Americans of the best fed country in the world (and hooray for that country and its best food) you will eat some 1335 pounds of food and will spend 27.2 percent of your income feeding yourself and your family.

This is only your home grocery consumption. It does not take into account the many meals, hot dogs, hamburgers, cold drinks, coffee snacks, you and your kids will have in restaurants and snack bars away from home. The total American grocery bill now reaches 85 billion dollars a year to feed our 180,000,000 citizens. This, of course, does not include the billions we spend to feed other people in other lands, and even here at home. It does not consider the food consumed in prisons and other institutions. Add all this up and even the Department of Commerce would be bugged at the sum of American dollars spent on feeding people. If only this money were spent wisely on foods known to build good

The Board of Directors of the Youth Center Association unanimously passed a motion to name the baseball diamond on the Youth Center Otto Field in memory of Elmer C. Otto.

Mr. Otto lived in Alpine for 10 years before his death

Senior Citizens Plan Organization

Mrs. Myrtle Hoffelder, founder of the Sunnyside Club for senior citizens in Pacific Beach and now of Alpine, has made arrangements with the Board of Directors of the Youth Center for the use of the Youth Center facilities for a senior citizens group if such a group can be formed.

A pre-organization meeting has been set for next Monday, January 13, at 1 p.m. at the Youth Center to determine whether the senior citizens of the Alpine area are interested in organizing a club. Mrs. Hoffelder stated that all senior citizens are invited to attend this meeting to assist in organizing a club. She states that a number of Alpine residents have indicated to her that a club for senior citizens in this area is needed. If you feel that such a club should be formed, you are welcome to attend this meeting, according to Mrs. Hoffelder.

Tentatively such a club would meet during the day each Monday, and the Youth Center facilities are available for such a purpose.

PTA Speaker to Talk On Summer Program

The regular meeting of the Alpine School PTA will be held Tuesday, January 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the Alpine School Auditorium. A representative from the County Department of Education will explain the Outdoor Summer Science Program for children.

Each summer boys and girls at the sixth grade level may attend one week camp sessions in various local mountain areas. They are instructed in all phases of nature life and learn of the trees, flora and fauna, molds, lichens and other forms of plant life. They also observe beavers working and study small animals found in the area.

A cordial invitation is extended to all parents and interested persons.

New Superintendent For Grossmont

The Board of Trustees of the Grossmont High School District appointed Dr. John T. Warburton, who has been Assistant Superintendent, to the position of District Superintendent to fill the position made vacant by the resignation of Lewis F. Smith who resigned effective June 30, 1964.

Mr. Smith had also previously been superintendent of the Junior College since its formation until he resigned last fall and the position filled by Harold Hughes who had been Associate Superintendent of the High School District.

Mr. Smith states that his resignation was brought about because of his health. He felt that the leadership in the district should be given to a person who was not handicapped with a health problem but that he was anxious to continue working for the district in whatever position the new superintendent might choose.

ECHOES OF THE PAST:

WHAT PICTURE IS THIS?

Croquet anyone? Here we have a serious game in progress at the Willows in 1910. The question is: Who are the players? So far no one we have asked can tell us. Dorothy Walker Markley says her father, who established the Willows, was a great croquet player and that he always had a cigar in his mouth while he played. So, she says, this isn't him.

Look closely, old timers, and see whether you recognize any of these players of half a century ago. If you know them, please write to the Echo and tell us all you can remember about the days of croquet under the old Alpine oak trees. Your letters will be published in the Echo as part of our new NAME THE PICTURES feature which we think will be fun for everyone.

GAS CO ASKS FOR REHEARING ON UTILITIES REFUND ORDER

San Diego Gas & Electric Company has petitioned the California Public Utilities Commission for a rehearing on the Commission's latest refund order which combined two separate refunds, one of which is being contested.

"The purpose of the requested rehearing," J. F. Sinnott, company president said, "is to keep the contested and the non-contested refunds separated and thus clear the way for the prompt payment of more than $4,600,000 to our gas and domestic electric customers. The company is scheduled to receive the above sum from its supplier, Southern Counties Gas Company, as a result of settlement of the last case in the long drawn battle over rate increases by the El Paso Natural Gas Company."

Outdoor Living Classes Scheduled

Fundamentals of mountain climbing and outdoor living will be taught in the Eighth Annual Basic Mountaineering course beginning January 14 at Birney School at 7:30 p.m.

The six-week course, meeting every Tuesday from 7:30-9:30 p.m., is sponsored by the San Diego Chapter of the Sierra Club in cooperation with the San Diego Park and Recreation Department. Registration will be conducted at the first two sessions.

Six lectures and four field trips will cover such subjects as mountain, snow and desert travel, selection of clothing and equipment, use of map and compass, ice and rock climbing, camping, Alpine cooking and first aid.

Anyone 16 years of age or older is eligible for the basic course after paying a minimal registration fee. A wallet-sized certificate will be given to those who complete the course.

Following the basic course an extended mountaineering class will be offered to a smaller group.

Want to See Salton Sea Bird Life?

A bus trip is offered by the Museum of Natural History for those who want to go visit the Salton Sea Wildlife refuge. John Sloan of the Museum staff will lead this excursion. The cost is $4.35 per person and includes a box lunch and coffee. Reservations must be paid in full when made. You may reserve your seat by mail or in person at the Museum.

The bus will leave from the west entrance of the Museum at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Jan. 25 and will leave Salton Sea around 3 p.m. to return.

The trip includes a short talk by the ranger followed by a walk into the refuge itself. This is a beautiful time of year on the desert and the best time for birds.

The El Paso rate increases which were in litigation for the past eight years were settled as of November 1, 1963, when the Federal Power Commission approved a compromise agreement offered by the natural gas company. Under the settlement agreement the company expects to receive an additional refund of about $4,600,000 from its gas supplier, the Southern Counties Gas Company of California.

However, the company is contesting a California Public Utilities Commission order issued without a hearing on August 13, 1963, directing the company to pass along to its customers this first refund totalling $1,472,000 on the ground that the company absorbed the higher rate charged by the supplier and did not increase rates to its customers during the earlier

Rev. Amundson Elected President

Following the community meeting last Friday evening at Deerhorn Valley, the January meeting of the Deerhorn Valley Civic Club was called to order at 9:45 p.m. by its president, Mr. W. L. Wolfe.

The election of officers for 1964 was held. On a nomination by Mrs. Jane Meanea, Rev. John Amundson of 9041 El Dorado Parkway in El Cajon, was unanimously elected the club's president. Rev. Amundson is president of the Alpine Cemetery Association, and his family plan to reside on their property in Deerhorn Valley in the very near future.

Mr. F. J. Vallee, of 622 Chula Vista Street, Chula Vista and Crow-Vallee Ranch, was elected vice-president. As secretary, the members nominated and elected Mrs. Laura Haughey, of 1651 Helix St., Spring Valley, and Barrett Lake Estates. Elected to the office of treasurer was Mrs. Rosemarie Wallin of Deerhorn Valley Ranch.

Upon a request by the president-elect, the officers-elect, accepted their nominations on a three-month provisional basis, at the end of which time they could elect to serve their full year term or terminate their service.

Mr. Roy Wallin moved that the Club's Constitution be amended to read four rather than two directors be elected from the floor, and further that one of the directors represent each section of the community of Deerhorn Valley, namely, the Monte Robles section, the Barrett Lakes Estates section, the Mother Grundy T. T. section, and the Deerhorn Valley section. The motion was seconded and passed.

The election of the directors for 1964 was postponed until the Club's February meeting to enable nominees to be contacted and their acceptance or rejection made known. On a suggestion by Mr. Paul Haughey Jr., the Club decided to provide copies of its Constitution to each member.

A vote of thanks was given to the retiring officers and directors, namely, Mr. W. L. Wolfe, president.

DEERHORN VALLEY

By ROY WALLIN

This past weekend was highlighted by the community and civic club meetings, held at the Lodge last Friday night. The excellent attendance, community spirit, and active participation marked both meetings as a milestone in our progress—a truly proper way to start off the New Year. A sincere thanks from all of us to Jim, Jane, Win, and Connie for all their efforts of the past year for our Civic Club, and a pledge of support to Rev. John, Joe, Laura, and Rory for the coming year. Remember unity is part of the word, community.

That it's a small world was pointed out again last weekend when Herb Evans of Monte Robles Acres ran into Bob Stephanovich, who was a weekend guest of Connie Crowley. Bob didn't recognize Herb until Herb mentioned his nickname of grammar school days, "six toes." The two were classmates 32 years ago at Central in San Diego. Herb is a cabinet-maker and property owner on the "hill" while Bob was taking a little time off from his duties as chief engineer, visiting friends.

Talking about Herb Evans, he was the M. C. at a chicken pluckin' party over at Bill McBurney and Tom Wiggins' ranch. He was ably assisted by Annie Erickson, Roy Meyers, and Tom Wiggins, with Jim Hicks "sidewalk supervising."

From the realm of the little people's world, a story to illustrate what parents are faced with. A mother and daughter, aged 5, were shopping when the little one lost one of her front teeth. Acquainted with the "good fairy" who leaves a monetary token in the morning if the lost tooth is placed under the pillow, the little one dutifully gave the tooth to her mommy for safe-keeping until the evening when the ritual would be observed. In the hustle and bustle of modern life, the tooth was lost, but mommy left a note to the Good Fairy which she was certain would suffice. Due to a busy evening, both mom and dad

CHRISTMAS IN MEIXCO

By ALICE CORDTZ

Christmas in Mexico was so different and really quite wonderful. Our living room has a dear skinny little tree which we decorated with home-made things plus a string of handwoven balls in Mexican colors. In back of the tree, which is in front of one of the three large picture windows, the children put down cotton and built a little town with cute tiny houses we bought in the market for 8c.

On the long library table next to the tree in front of another big window we have our nativity scene. Marie Teresa, the cook, and Feliz, the maid fixed it for us. First they got grey moss, the dry kind which hangs from the trees. Second they got some bright green fresh moss growing next to a stream. This they dried out and to my surprise it kept its green color when dry. They say this is to resemble the inside floor of a cave. On this they assembled the traditional scene with small figures they bought in the market, including a golden turtle and a dear little green parrot. Since the moss was thicker in some places than in others it gave the "floor" of the scene a very realistic look. The girls even made a tiny waterfall coming from the cave by arranging a piece of tinsel from the tree. They placed two small plants about 10 inches high in the scene. It was very effective and looked different from every side.

Over the fireplace we hung a huge donkey pinata. The traditional filling for this is sugar cane, peanuts in the shell, tangerines, wrapped hard candy and a small orange fruit which grows wild here. We added balloons to be blown up and sparklers, the wonderful old-fashioned kind which are now used only on birthday cakes for children at restaurants and at home. Of course, we hung up our stockings below the pinata and put our traditional wreath in a large brown Mexican platter which had been wrapped with the purple ribbon of the season.

Downstairs we have a most delightful pinata, a huge carousel three and one half feet long and two and one half wide, it's green and black like a watermelon.

On the 23rd we went caroling with the young people from the church, visiting 10 homes of sick, old, or unhappy people. Afterwards we went to a friend's home, all 60 of us, for refreshments.

SCHRADE RAPS GOV. BROWN

Senator Jack Schrade (R-San Diego County) speaking at a press conference in the New State Building in Los Angeles, said that Brown and his Administration have resorted to misuses of public funds, vilification, and caloused threats against those who are circulating petitions in favor of an initiative amendment which would protect the right of individual citizens to sell or rent their property to people of the owner's own choice.

The San Diego Senator displayed a copy of the December issue of the "Real Estate Bulletin," an official publication of the California Division of Real Estate mailed to all Real Estate Licensees in California. Most of the publication is devoted to an attack on the initiative. In the bulletin Governor Brown is quoted as saying that the initiative "will leave a lasting scar on our communities and on your (real estate) profession."

The Bulletin is published with tax money collected in the form of license fees from California real estate brokers and salesmen.

"This misuse of tax dollars is typical of the methods being employed by Brown and his gang in an effort to deny Californians the right to express themselves at the polls," Schrade said. "How can individual citizens, with only their own incomes and resources, be expected to compete with Brown's vast slush fund which he has extorted from the citizens of this State through taxes?" he asked.

Schrade said that the Constitution of California clearly specifies that the people have a right to initiate constitution amendments. Article IV of the State Constitution says, "The first power reserved to the people shall be known as the initiative."

"How can we have government of, by, and for the people," Schrade asked, "when the Govern-

Second San Diego Symphony Concert

The San Diego Symphony Orchestra presents its second concert of the Winter Series in Russ Auditorium on January 14 at 8:30 p.m. Soloist for the evening is the celebrated organist, Richard Ellsasser. He and Conductor Earl Bernard Murray play the Poulenc Organ Concerto for Organ, Strings and Timpani and later join forces in the Third (Organ) Symphony of Saint-Saens. Mr. Murray has selected music of Rossini and Ravel to complete the orchestral portion of the program.

The East Wind

We were asked a while back about street cars in Little Old San Diego. Did we have them in olden days?

Sorta slays a fellow to come up against a question like such. Street cars we had. In great gobs.

First off that we remember was them there outside side sitters. You know, where the conductor swings along on the steps, collecting his fares one handed. Hanging on with the other. Two men on the street cars then.

In a rain a body sure could get a wet bottom. Iffn he sat on the side where rain would beat in. 'Course there was some seats inside. For sissies.

When the rush hour comes along that conductor only got about half his money due. Couldn't get around to all soon enough. Sure was tough on old man Spreckels.

For Spreckels, he owned the street cars. Then comes the 1915 Exposition. And one-man street cars. Pay as you enter. Automation was among us, boys. Even back then.

The cars were shining brand new. Credit to the town. Exposition line took you right to the grounds. Up Broadway, to 12th, through Balboa Park, to the Park end of the Laurel Street Bridge.

Real brisk business they did, too. Not too many automobiles then. Fast schedules made them unnecessary. So we had good street car service. So what?

After 1916 the Exposition folded. Street cars darn near did the same thing. Service was nil. The jitney buses came along. Did right well. Bill Clayton, manager of the Electric Railway, humped himself. Improved service. And City Council said nix on the jitneys.

Then comes the 1935 Exposition. More new one-man street cars. All the latest gadgets. Increase in fares, too. But by this time we could care less about street cars. We bought our first Ford.

So did a passle of other guys. No more did the fare boxes jingle as in the good old days.

Now let's get to the yarn of the war-time street cars. In 1941 things were hectic here in San Diego. Street cars were scarce, too. So was gasoline. Everybody wanted to ride the electric street cars. So our San Diego Electric Railway bought more cars. Second hand. From most anywhere. We remember some on the No. 2 line that came from Wilkes-Barre,

NEW INDUSTRIES IN S.D. COUNTY

Forty-four new industrial firms were established in San Diego County during 1963 and nearly 100 of San Diego's 800 established manufacturing firms either added employees or expand facilities, or both, the past year.

These statistics highlighted a survey made by the Industrial Department of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce.

"Underlying these figures is the evidence that San Diego's industry continued a diversification trend the past year," John Harter, manager of the Chamber's Industrial Department, pointed out.

"Diversification has helped significantly in taking up the slack resulting from readjustments in the aircraft-space industry. A broadened base of products resulting from diversification will serve to strengthen this area industrially in the future," Harter declared.

The 44 new industries added 495 employees to local payrolls, according to the survey. The firms spent $1.2 million in new equipment and plant investment.

The nearly 100 established plants that expanded or added employees, or both, actually added 300 jobs and made a plant-equipment investment of $2,118,662, the survey showed.

Harter said that all manufacturing and research firms of the area were contacted to complete the survey.

MURDER AT THE OLD GLOBE

Comedy and romance mix with murder to produce a highly entertaining play which opened this week at the Old Globe Theater in Balboa Park. "A Shot in the Dark" by Harry Kurnitz, which had a successful run on Broadway, is well cast and directed by William Roesch.

The leading role is played by Janice Fuller who gave a fine performance as the tragic Gwendolyn in "Beckett" last year. She plays a French maid, Josefa, who is accused of shooting the chauffeur of a wealthy Parisian family. Other roles are played by Keith Richard, Phil Mathews, Martin Sheratte, Ellen Drexler, and George McCormick.

If you want a relaxing evening, with many laughs, see this delightful play at the Old Globe. It will play for four weeks, nightly except Monday.

IT'S WHALE SEASON AGAIN

If you want to see the famous California Gray Whales, January is the best month to view them as they pass close to our shores in their annual migration to Baja California lagoons.

Daily excursions are offered by several Sportsfisher companies starting at San Diego waterfront piers.

STATE OF THE UNION

President Johnson, in his "State of the Union" message to Congress, outlined a multi-point program which he stated would result in a budget requirement of 96.9 billion dollars for the next fiscal year.

Among the points outlined by the President are a 25% reduction in the output of atomic explosive; unconditional war on poverty in the United States; a study to determine whether excessive overtime causes increased unemployment and whether a higher overtime rate would lead to more jobs; also he urged the passage during this session of Congress of the Civil Rights bill; the lifting of the bars of discrimination against those who seek entry from foreign lands into our country; and an 11 billion dollar tax cut bill.

Immediately after his message was delivered, there was a flood of comments from many members of Congress and other persons on the President's proposals. Many members of Congress, including prominent Democrats, expressed the opinion that the President's goals could not possibly be accomplished under his proposed budget. Others praised some of his points and criticized others. The charge was made by some that it was strictly an election year political gesture.

In reading reports on the President's message, we find no mention of what happens to the national debt. However, taking the President's statements regarding his proposed tax reduction, and his statement that the deficit would be only 4.9 billion dollars; simple arithmetic would seem to indicate that his program would call for an increase of 4.9 billion dollars in the national debt during the next fiscal year.

The Federal Government has operated almost every year since the beginning of the Second World War on an unbalanced budget, which has been unbalanced on the deficit side, and has created to date a federal debt of over 300 billion dollars. This condition does not seem to worry those in authority whose responsibility it is to plan for the welfare of this country in all ways, including financial stability. Those in authority are: first, the Congress of the United States whose duty it is to outline the program under which our Federal Government operates; and second, the executive branch headed by the President whose duty it is to execute the instructions issued by the Congress. If this continues much longer, we will have to draw the conclusion that deficit spending by the Federal Government has become the "American political way of life." But we doubt that it can continue forever.

STATE OF THE WORLD

Congress has authorized the sale of some of our so-called surplus wheat to Russia and other communistic countries.

The selling of wheat, or of any commodity, to communistic countries has been praised by many and denounced by many. Some persons disapprove of any trade relations with communistic countries and other persons feel that trade should go where it will.

Now Cuba is in the market for busses, and has made a deal with an English manufacturer for the immediate purchase of 400 busses and the possible future purchase of many more. Immediately a loud clamor of disapproval of the English for doing such a thing is raised all over the country. The English, however, through their Board of Trade, which is their government department of commerce, bluntly state that the English manufacturers are at liberty to sell as, and when, they find the opportunity. The English manufacturers, therefore, have the blessing of their Government to trade with whomever they please.

Looking beyond the point of the ethics of trading with other nations, there is another phase of our dealings with the communistic countries in the wheat deal. That is, that credit is extended to these countries backed by the United States Government whereby the communistic countries can purchase the wheat at least partially paid for by loans guaranteed by the American taxpayers.

From past performances by other countries, it appears that loans made by the United States from taxpayers' money to other countries are never paid. So in effect the wheat deal may result in grants, or partial grants, of the wheat to these communistic countries.

Considering that our Government has sanctioned the sale of commodities to communistic countries, it seems rather strange that we should be criticizing the English for trading with nations communistic or otherwise, especially when the bus deal seems to be on a cash basis or an equal exchange of commodities, and our deal is on the shaky credit side. Why not our Government give the green light to going out after world trade wherever it might be but on the basis of cash on the barrel head? Or place an embargo on any trade with the so-called communistic nations?

COMMUNISM AND THE FBI

Comes now a statement from J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigations, that the communistic party of America plans a camouflaged national youth organization. Mr. Hoover gives names, dates and places where communist party members met to lay the groundwork for such an organization.

Generally speaking the FBI has been a rather efficient organization. Through this agency most of the persons who have violated federal laws have been apprehended and convicted. Also, we are informed, through the activities of this agency most of the subversive persons in our country are under constant surveillance in an endeavor to either prevent danger to our country or to apprehend such persons if they become security risks.

Most persons, because of the past record of the FBI, take them for granted as the watchdogs for our national security and the protectors of the public against our domestic criminal element. However, criticism has been raised in some places against the FBI as for instance because of their secrecy in searching out and apprehending violators of federal laws; such as, the Sinatra kidnapping. And now because of Mr. Hoover's statements regarding the communists planned national youth organization.

We have read one editorial which intimated that Mr. Hoover should worry as much about the youth of America who might drift to the "right" as he appears to be worried about those who might drift to the "left."

Being still a democratic country, each of us can take our choice and by our majority vote establish the political philosophy of our Government.

health, well, that would be nice, too.

* * *

Diet, not just food, is a flaming issue with many people. What to eat to be healthy and not too fat is the question. Most of us are human enough to try some diet fad at least once or twice. A neighbor and I once made our own alfalfa tea which was going to do for us all we needed done for our health. But somehow we forgot to drink it after a few days. There's the vinegar and honey cult, the yogurt and wheat germ cult, the fruit juice and correct breathing crowd, and I've heard whispers of a secret order of raw beef and whiskey regime. One woman I know, who carries a few extra pounds and a fine sense of humor, says she is planning a lettuce leaf and toothpick diet order. It'll be a Gourmet's anonymous group, which she plans to call simply GAG Members may phone each other when chocolates and ice cream begin to haunt their dreams.

But not all diet groups are fad-dists. One fine one is the vegetarian, many of them Seventh Day Adventists who believe that good health is part of good religion. Some of our best uses of natural foods have been given to us by this group. Peanut butter, which is as American as pumpkin pie, was introduced by the Adventists from Battle Creek where experiments with cereals started the vast cereals industries here and elsewhere. There must be some good reason for the restless search for the perfect diet or it would not interest so many people. Anyhow, it's good to live where we can eat what we please, when we please and say what we please about it, or anything else.

OBITUARIES

DICK ROBINSON

One of Our Finest Citizens Passes

When people heard that Dick Robinson was dead, their reaction was all the same; shock and dismay, and then some statement that showed how they counted on Dick as a helping friend. "He fixed my watch only last week!" "He repaired my vacuum and wouldn't take a cent for it!" "He was the finest man I ever knew." This last remark is the most frequent expression of the evaluation of Dick Robinson who died suddenly late Sunday afternoon, Jan. 5 from a heart attack.

Dick had been afflicted with heart trouble for some time and was hospitalized for it several times during the past year. Still, Jo, his wife, says it came as a stunning shock. They had been enjoying a very pleasant weekend. Dick complained of gas pains after dinner and went to lie down for awhile. He got up presently and was cheerful and feeling better, then went in again to rest on the bed. Jo, says she went to check how he was a few minutes later and found him dead. Still, not quite sure he was gone, and hoping desperately, she phoned the Alpine Fire Department and they had the resuscitator there in a matter of minutes. She speaks highly of the effort the men made to revive her husband.

Born in Seattle, Washington, Jan. 9, 1918, Dick would have been 46 this week. He joined the navy in his late teens and stayed in for 21 years, retiring to build a home and settle down in Lemon Grove. After his first heart attack there, he and Jo sold out and moved to Alpine for its greater quiet and better climate. They were married in Broadus, Montana in 1942. The Robinsons have lived in Alpine four years and have many friends in the vicinity. Jo will remain here in their home.

Dick's mother, Mrs. Hilda Robinson and his sister, Mrs. Neva Brooks of Seattle are here now and Mrs. Robinson plans to remain until March.

Cremation followed services at Johnson - Saum in San Diego Wednesday. There will be a full military funeral service conducted at Fort Rosecrans Friday morning, Jan. 10, at 11 o'clock.

ALPINE

By DEBBIE MARSHALL

Mr. and Mrs. William Sansoucie, Billy and Michael of Alpine Terrace had a most interesting weekend. They, together with Mr. Sansoucie's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith of San Diego and Mr. and Mrs. John Tries of San Diego were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Norris of Escondido. Mr. and Mrs. Norris have a lovely home overlooking a valley covered with avocados, tangerines and various kinds of fruit. Another guests included was Mrs. Ada Rose who owns a ranch of 75 acres in Ramona and although she is 70 years old maintains the ranch with one helper even doing her own tractor work. An interesting weekend, enjoyed by all.

Newcomers to Alpine Terrace are Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley Ablett and daughter, Stanlea who is at present attending college at Westmont in Santa Barbara, who have recently moved in to the home owned by Mrs. Cooke. Mrs. Ablett is the nurse at the Alpine School. They formerly resided in Descanso.

Louise Wooldridge and Ronald Tyrell who were married just before last Christmas, have purchased the Crow's Nest and one acre on Alpine Heights Road. This property recently belonged to Mrs. Katherine Black, but has been purchased and subdivided by the new owner, with the home and one acre being one of the lots in the subdivision.

Johnathan Lee Isaacs was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Isaacs of Viejas View Lane, the Willows, on Thursday, January 2, at Grossmont Hospital. He weighed 5 pounds, 9 ounces at birth, and is the third child for this couple. Mrs. Isaacs is the former Betty Jean Moore, a native Alpiner, who with her husband and two older children returned to live in Alpine a little over a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moxey of Sante Fe, New Mexico, made a surprise visit to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Moxey of Alpine Heights Road over the Christmas holidays. They arrived unexpectedly on Christmas Eve and stayed until New Year's Day. A highlight of their visit was a trip to Tijuana to buy Mr. Fred Moxey a guitar, as he enjoyed Hank's guitar playing so much, he decided to have one for himself.

A New Year's Eve party was held at the home of Al and Renee Adams. A number of Alpine couples decided just a few days before that they did not want to drive any distance for a party so took advantage of the big rumpus room in the Adams home to have a bang-up party. As it often the case with impromptu parties, it was one of the best parties of the year.

Last Sunday Rev. Roger Larson was ill with the flu and unable to conduct the usual services at the Alpine Community Church. Rev. Edgar Welty took his place in the pulpit to help out.

The other day Tommy Judd and Bryant Pierce went on a banty hunt at Willow Glen Farm to try to catch one rooster and one hen apiece. This takes on all the aspects of big-game hunting as the bantys are semi-wild and do not have their wings clipped. After chasing birds all over about five acres, the boys succeeded in catching just the right colored rooster for Bryant, with the right hen to go with him, and Tommy caught a rooster and a hen which were predominantly Jungle fowl which was what he wanted.

or and Administration are using their public offices to propagandize the people, intimidate persons licensed by the State, and expend public money to thwart the popular will?"

In addition to the Real Estate
 Bulletin which he displayed, Schrade cited the following additional evidence of improper political activity by the administration:

1. A November publication of the American Civil Liberties Union which quoted Governor Brown as urging "state department heads to use any influence they had to stop the proper amendment before it can qualify for the ballot."

2. An action by the California Real Estate Commission opposing the initiative. The commission also decided to convey its opposition to the state's 144,000 real estate licensees. "I wonder how much that project will cost?"
 Schrade asked.

3. A speech by Attorney General Stanley Mosk attacking the California Real Estate Association.

4. So-called "educational programs" of the tax supported Fair Employment Practices Commission in support of the forced housing law which the initiative would repeal.

5. An attack on Realtors by Ernest E. Webb, director of the state department of industrial relations. The Webb statement was mailed from San Francisco with state-paid postage and on state-paid paper.

6. A plea by Governor Brown to "boycott" the initiative petitions.

7. The suggestion by Brown that a bi-partisan group be formed to "shame these people" into dropping the initiative campaign.

8. A threat by Real Estate Commissioner Milton Gordon that if the forced housing law is repealed "legislation will be introduced to provide for the revocation or suspension of the license of any real estate broker or salesman who engages in discriminatory practices."
 Gordon was quoted as saying,
 "There is nothing in the proposed amendment which would preclude this type of legislation."

9. A threat by Governor Brown that the initiative "might very well abolish the real estate profession."

"The right of the people to have the final say on legislation is God-given and must not be violated," Schrade said. "It is not so important whether you are for or against a given measure as it is that the will of the people prevail.

"In America, the people are supposed to tell the government what to do. It is not up to the government to tell the people.

"When the power and tax resources of government are used to suppress popular opinion and to deny the right of free election, then we have a dictatorship," Schrade said. "This is what Governor Brown is seeking to impose on the people of California, and I will fight him as long as I have breath in my body," the Senator concluded.

Penn.

When you went inside one of them babies, man you had it. They must of been built for cold weather. Hermetically sealed, they were.

Every time we went to work it was an adventure. During war times, that is.

Once we remember coming up Broadway hill. Along about 20th Street the street car motors sorta groaned, slowed. The motorman then called out for help: "If you folks wanta get home tonight, get out and push," he'd yell. That we did. Great exercise.

Disremember most of the hassles, we do. One other sticks out. There were lots of women jockeying the street cars back then. Wartime and all. Man shortage.

Lots of strangers in town, too.
 Consolidated Aircraft and all. They did right well on the street cars.
 So this time we grabbed a No. 2 along 30th Street. Car was labeled a No. 1.

We asked how come the "No. 1" sign. But the little lady insisted that her car was a No. 1. So it was explained to her she was on a No. 2 line. Flabbergasted, she was. Claimed all she did was start and stop the car. Tracks did the rest. Iffn she was on the wrongs tracks, it was their fault.
 Not hers.

There was lots of stories like this. Seems a shame people forget about the street cars so soon. Why, we believe that the steel tracks are still in our streets. Covered with asphalt now.

For the buses are here. Doing a good job, too. Not that there's not room for improvement. One thing, though.

Automation has gone the limit on the buses. Have to think of something else to cut expenses.

of the Clothing and Cooking projects. The girls wore gay Christmas aprons made at their clothing project meetings.

On the 23rd of December the members met at the Really Livin' Ranch at 7 p.m. to go caroling, ending a cold ride at the Hasbrouck's Acres for hot chocolate and donuts.

Bringing the year 1963 to a close, on the 30th of December, the members cleaned up the roads of Dehesa Valley. They picked up all the trash and cans along the roads. The main item picked up were beer cans. The members stated that each year there seems to be more cans than the year before.

When their job was finished the group enjoyed a hot lunch prepared by members of the Cooking projects. This yearly project brought a very active year to a close for the Dehesa Valley 4-H Club.

Profile. Goldie Spring first saw the light of day in the last century in Lincoln, Nebraska, but moved with her family, at an early age, to Clayton, New Mexico where she attended school until 12. Her high school was completed in Albuquerque, N. M., and upon graduation she won a painting scholarship in Cincinnati O. Prior to coming out to San Diego in 1920, Goldie taught grade school for six years. Cupid's arrow, in the guise of a city fireman, Frank Gute, struck Goldie the same year, and the couple were wed and settled in North Park.
 Goldie and Frank bought their ranch in Deerhorn Valley in the 40s from Mr. Mueller, whereupon Frank built a cabin. The cabin was destroyed in the fire of '46 that swept through the area. Their second and permanent cabin was completed in 1947 at which time Goldie and Frank moved up on the hill. Their daughter, Betty Jane Bryson, now resides in Spring Valley and has presented the Gutes with two grand-daughters.
 Frank retired as a fire captain with the City of San Diego in the early 40s. They now spend their summers at their cabin at Pend-o-Reille, which they acquired in 1960, so Frank can pursue his hobbies of hunting and fishing. Both Frank and Goldie Gute have been and are assets to our community, both as neighbors, as friends, as well as being instrumental in assisting our community progress and develop. Goldie was elected the first secretary of our Civic Club when it was formed. Frank has been chairman of many committees, notably head of the fire-fighting group, and he headed virtually a one-man committee to have our area surveyed by the government. Frank also served as the third president of our Civic Club. Your community is proud to have you both as neighbors, Frank and Goldie Gute.

ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

With all the new and improved tools, etc., which Santa undoubtedly brought to help us in our gardening efforts, we ought to be off to a good start for the new year.

An important thing to keep in mind and attend to is to keep those tools in good shape and rust free and they will last for years. Now is a good time to get a can of tree seal for pruning work will be coming on very soon and it is important to seal the cut ends of branches, both large and small. If everyone kept the living trees and shrubs he or she received for Christmas, whether they were conifers or broadleaved ones, it would enhance the gardens and grounds around Alpine just that much more.

In case anyone is thinking of putting his or her place up for sale, real estate men say attractive planting around house and grounds helps greatly in the sale of the property. On the other hand, why not plant nice trees and shrubs just to stay put.

Here is a plant to buy and enjoy right now; the Christmas Rose, which is not really a rose but belongs to the Helleborus group. The Lenten Rose is also of this group and both are winter bloomers. The flowers and foliage of both are decorative, they like a rather shady location and go well with ferns and other shade loving plants.

The Bird-of-Paradise is also a winter bloomer but requires full sun and fairly rich soil with commercial fertilizer added after blooming time and fertilized again later in the summer. These are just starters, so gardeners, keep going and good growing.

Food For Thought

By PATRICIA RICE

The sale of cakes and white breads to Indians was strictly forbidden in 17th Century New York. Because the Indians bought all the cakes and sweet from bakery at any price, leaving nothing but bran for the Colonists, Peter Stuyvesent, director general, issued an edict in 1653 forbidding the sale of sweet bread and cake to the Red Man.

Asparagus grows as much as six inches in a single day. Because it grows so fast in warm weather, it must be picked every day—and fast. Stalks a few inches above the ground at daybreak must be picked by noon or they become too tough and coarse to make number one quality.

Though you can buy a large package of salt at your grocers for only a few cents, this commodity is an expensive luxury to half the people in the world. (Is one of the earth's most abundant products, yet one that is so taxed that it is a luxury to 50 percent of the world's population).

The second refund approved by the Federal Power Commission December 4, 1963, covered the period January 1, 1958 to October 31, 1963.

"San Diego Gas and Electric Company is scheduled to receive an estimated $4,600,000 as a result of this second refund," Sinnott said. "The company stands ready to pass this latest refund on to its customers as soon as it can obtain the necessary authorization from the California Public Utilities Commission. Detailed plans for this refund are being prepared for submission to the Commission in the immediate future.

"In its latest order, however, the Commission combined the two refunds, despite the fact that a public hearing on the issues involved in the first refund has been scheduled to begin April 29, 1964.

"By keeping these two refunds separate, the company can immediately make the second refund which amounts to $4,600,000 or three times the amount of money involved in the first refund, provided the Commission approves. Thus we will urge immediate approval by the Commission of our petition to separate the two refunds so that our customers can get this money as soon as possible."

Lemon Grove Incorporation

The group of citizens proposing the incorporation of Lemon Grove has been granted an additional 30 days to obtain signatures on the petitions requesting a special election on the proposal of incorporation.

The petitions circulated state that they now have approximately 60 percent of the signatures necessary to call the election. They state that they are confident that the required number can be obtained within the extension of time which has been granted.

COKE'S KITCHEN

Date Bread for Snacks and Meals

Next month in Indio, California (where 90 percent of the country's dates are packed), the only National Date Festival in the world will be held. The date (and I say that literally) will be February 14-23 with hundreds of varieties of dates and their uses on exhibit in the giant Taj Mahal, which sparkles like a Maharajah's crown.

Dates offer variety in your menu and add sparkling additions to old favorites. Mother stuffed them with walnuts, rolled in powdered sugar—always a favorite at Christmastime. They are prepared for stuffing by snipping up one side with scissors, lift out pit (or buy potted dates). Stuff them with crunchy peanut butter, cream cheese, bacon cheese spread, pineapple tidbit, mandarin orange wedge. Serve as is or roll in colored granulated sugar, sweetened powdered cocoa, toasted sesame seeds or finely chopped nuts.

My very favorite date cake is below—won't you send Coke's Kitchen one of your recipes using this nutritional food?

on the naming of the road, they will be analyzed, after which, he will make his recommendation to the Board of Supervisors. This, Mr. Yakel hoped to have done in approximately a month's time. Following this, he stated, a public hearing would be held by the Board of Supervisors to determine a suitable name for the road in question.

Mr. Yakel requested that the community suggest a name for the road from Bratton's to Lyons Valley Rd., F21 so that the two roads could be named simultaneously. Mr. Yakel mentioned that the road from Highway 94 to Bratton's Ranch, F20B had been named Honey Springs Road officially in 1951.

A motion made by Mr. Paul Haughey Jr. and seconded by Mr. Eaton, suggested that the road designated F21 be named Pringle Canyon Road. This was voted upon and passed. A second motion, made by Mrs. Annabelle Erickson and seconded by Mrs. Doris Fouts suggested that this same road be named Honey Springs Rd. As the naming of F21 is somewhat contingent upon the naming of F20A, these suggested names will be sent to Mr. Yakel for his and the Board's consideration for their final choice.

Supervisors Name New Chairman

The County Board of Supervisors have elected Supervisor Robert Dent to be their chairman for 1964. He succeeds Supervisor Robert Cozens who was chairman during 1963.

It has been the practice of the Board of Supervisors to rotate the chairmanship among its members each year giving each of the members an opportunity of performing the duties of the chairman which requires a greater amount of time than is required for the other members of the Board.

The terms of office of Supervisors Dent, Frank Gibson and David Bird expire at the end of 1964. The terms of office of Supervisors Cozens and DeGraff Austin have two more years to run.

Senator Engle Will Seek Re-Election

Senator Clair Engle, Democrat from California, has announced from Washington that he will be a candidate for reelection to his present position this year.

Senator Engle underwent brain surgery last fall for the removal of a tumor and states that he has been advised by his doctor that there is no reason that he should not be a candidate for reelection.

MOTHER GRUNDY

By OLIVE WOOLDRIDGE

The other day in the dentist's office in San Diego I overheard two teenage boys talking about Mother Grundy. With curiosity I turned and asked them how they knew about Mother Grundy. They were rather embarrassed since after all I didn't know them, and their answer was evasive and something about how she was a real cool character. They said they were from Chula Vista but that's all I got out of them. Now I'm wondering if there is another use of this name in the county or whether the rumor of Mother Grundy has spread with the use we have given her name.

The J. E. McNutts spent a pleasant Christmas trip visiting relatives. They saw Mr. McNutt's nieces in Mesa, Arizona, his sister and her husband in Campe Verde where they are building a retirement home and then in Prescott, also Arizona, they visited Mrs. McNutt's side of the family. A pleasant time was had by all and the trip was considered very rewarding.

MT. LAGUNA

By KATHY McMANUS

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Mallott of Lemington, Ontario, Canada have been the guests this past week of Pat and Millie McEvoy. The Mallotts have two boys, Michael age one month, and Jeff three years. Mrs. Mallott is Millie's sister and all are having a grand time visiting and talking about Canada, the McEvoy's native home land.

A fire started in Mt. Laguna at the forestry dump, Friday, Jan. 3. Fire fighters from all over the district and planes were called in. There was a great danger of a crown fire starting if the fire went out of control, because of the high winds. Luckily the fire was contained.

In addition to the vacation the Clay Stuart family had in San Felipe, they traveled to the Colorado river with their boat and trailer and stayed there for three days. The Stuarts left the trailer and boat at the river so they can vacation there again.

Three parties were held on Mt. Laguna to greet the New Year in. One was held at the 751 Radar Sqd. NCO Club, another at the Blue Jay and still another at the Al Bahr Shrine Camp. Mt. Laguna greeted the New Year in correctly, wouldn't you say?

Holy Communion will be observed at the Mt. Laguna Community Church at the 11 o'clock service on Jan. 12. Members will be received at this service. All who have openly confessed Jesus as Lord and Saviour in any church are invited to partake with us.

Mr. Owens indicated to the Board that he would be willing to act as the director for such a program to get it organized and active, but that he would be unable to continue indefinitely. Mr. Osana and Mr. C. L. Gibson, another Alpine teacher, would both be available to help with this program for the youth of Alpine.

The Board took action authorizing Mr. Owens to organize such a program, and that members of the board would help with minor improvements to the clubhouse which would be required. It is anticipated that the youth program as outlined would get underway in approximately two weeks.

facilities that are available at the Youth Center.

The Board indicated that they would have named the field after Mr. Otto during his lifetime, but that he had indicated that he did not wish such recognition at that time. Mrs. Otto advised a number of the members of the Board that she felt that Mr. Otto would be pleased to know that the field would be named after him after his death.

A large sign similar to the red-wood sign now at the Highway designating the Alpine Youth Center property is planned for the Ball Field. The sign will be erected on the grandstand in a prominent position.

LONGTIME ALPINE BUSINESS GETS NEW NAME AND NEW LOOK

The Adobe Hacienda Egg Ranch on Highway 80 east of Alpine acquired a new look last week with the erection of a newly painted windmill out in front where it catches the eye of every passerby. The big red and white windmill proclaims to all that eggs are available, with the tail of the windmill in the shape of a large white egg and the large red word egg painted on it.

The windmill calls attention to the recently opened Cackle Berry Barn drive-in where fresh eggs are available on a fast-service, drive-in basis every Friday, Saturday and Sunday from one o'clock in the afternoon till dark. The regular egg department is open every day of the week from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Scotty and Ed Zimmer who originally built the Adobe Hacienda Egg Ranch have operated it for a total of 17 years, with a break of three years when Ed was recovering from surgery, estimate that they have handled and sold approximately five billion eggs.

They invite you to stop at the sign of the red and white Windmill and avail yourself of their low, low prices for their fresh, fresh eggs.
