ALPINE STORE CLOSES DOORS

As of Saturday, February 29th, the operation of the Alpine Store, will be discontinued. This news will be a shock and a disappointment to the many long-time customers who have looked upon the Alpine Store as their grocery and the Wilsons, father and son, its long time manager-owners, as their friends.

People liked to go into the store, not just to buy, but to visit, too, with the people behind the counter, to pass the time of day with whoever manned the cash register, where it was Jack or his wife, Mimi, or Jack's father or mother, Gordon and Mava. As one old-timer ably put it, "The whole Wilson family have a real talent for meeting the public."

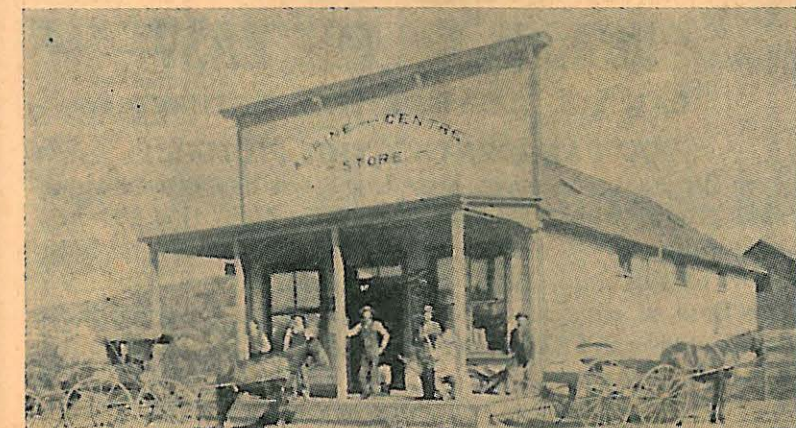

The Alpine Store has been the Wilson's place of business for the past 27 years. In 1937, Gordon and Mava Wilson arrived in Alpine with their four young children, Jack, Stanley, Jean and Gail, from Spirit River, Alberta, Canada, where the whole family was born. They came here seeking a warmer climate. The children all grew up in Alpine attending the local schools, including Grossmont and San Diego State. Both Jack and Stanley did their stint in the armed services. All four Wilson children are married and have children of their own now.

The Alpine Store, as we know it, and as the Wilsons found it, was built in 1932 following a fire which razed the former building which had been built in 1890 by B. J. Arnold on the exact site of the present building. For 74 years a grocery store has stood there on the corner of Victoria Drive and Highway 80.

In 1951 Gordon Wilson retired and Jack took over the operation of the Alpine Store and has run it ever since, with the help of his wife, Mimi, and with Gordon and Mava pinch-hitting at vacation time. Jack and Mimi have two children, Kirk and Karen, who attend the Alpine Union School.

The stock remaining on the

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

Last night, while waiting for a long hysterical TV commercial to end, I wandered over to the book shelves and picked up a book at random, determined to block out the impassioned plea to buy and use instant food. The superstitious might say fate guided my hand for the book I picked up was a cook book, one of my treasures, and, the recipe it opened to made me a bit more tolerant about instant products. LITCHFIELD CRACKERS, it was, and I think it's worth quoting in full. "To one pint of cold milk put a piece of butter the size of an egg, a small teaspoon of salt, and one egg. Rub the butter into a quart of flour, then add the milk and egg. Knead in more flour until it is as stiff as it can possibly be made, then pound the dough with an iron pestle, or the broad end of a flat iron for at least an hour. Roll thin, cut in rounds, prick and bake in a quick oven, 12 to 15 minutes." Makes your arm ache just to read it, doesn't it?

The writer of this book, who signs herself simply "Mrs. Cornelius, Andover, 1845," includes lengthy lectures having nothing to do with cooking. Any girl of 1845, chancing upon this neat volume, must have been in love for sure to go ahead with matrimony after reading the words of the earnest Mrs. C. Maintaining a rigid moral tone throughout, with nary a trace of humor anywhere, Mrs. C. begins: "A symmetrical education is extremely rare in this country. Nothing is more common than to see young ladies, whose intellectual attainments are of a high order, profoundly ignorant of the duties which all acknowledge to belong peculiarly to women. Consequently, many have to learn after marriage, how to take care of a family, resulting in mortification and discomfort in the parlor, and waste and ill temper in the kitchen." She refrains from mention of the bedroom. The only time she admits its existence is when she gives her awesome instructions on how to wash a featherbed.

Calling herself the "young housekeeper's friend" Mrs. C. continues: "The most elevated minds fulfill best the everyday duties of life. How often do we see the happiness of a husband abridged by the absence of skill, neatness and economy in a wife! The health of many a professional man is undermined and his usefulness curtailed, if not sacrificed, because he habitually eats bad bread." (The

He has announced that he will be a candidate to succeed himself.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S LIFE THEME AT WOMAN'S CLUB MEET

It was really a George Washington Day at the Woman's Club meeting last Tuesday afternoon from the decor to refreshments. Promptly at 2 o'clock the Club's gracious President, Connie Johnson, appeared looking lovely, attired from head to toe in a blue colonial costume, amid applause from all.

Voters Demand District Election

The Board of Fire Commissioners of the Alpine Local Fire District received a petition last Saturday signed by registered voters residing within the district demanding an election be held to fill two expiring Fire Commissioner's position.

The county counsel, who is the Board's legal advisor, states that the law governing local fire districts requires that an election be held each year on the first Tuesday in April to fill the positions on the Board of Commissioners which terms expire, except that, if nomination petitions have not been received from more candidates than the number of terms to expire, then no election is held and

Allen Dulles to Speak in San Diego

Allen Dulles, formerly chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, will speak at San Diego State, Monday, March 9.

Dulles will speak at 8 p.m., in the Peterson Gymnasium. His appearance is sponsored by the California State Colleges. The lecture is open to the public without charge. Tickets are not necessary.

Dulles will begin his speaking tour of four State Colleges at San Diego. He leaves San Diego to speak at California State College at Los Angeles, Sacramento State College, and Fresno State College.

He is a member of the Warren Commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

He became deputy director of the CIA in 1951, and its director in 1953, a post he held until 1962. He served during World War II with the Office of Strategic Services.

A noted author, his most recently published work is entitled "The Craft of Intelligence."

Program Chairman Lenore Lusk wore a black and red silk ball gown with a train like those worn by ladies in Washington's days. Opening the program with a prologue of George Washington's life, she described each sketch as she had written it, pausing after each sketch for the curtain to open and portray each sketch which depicted Washington's life from boyhood to his death.

The first sketch showed George Washington as a boy of 14, played by Marion Putnam. He was studying and copying from a notebook. Next was Johanna Peterson who was Washington at age 19 reading a portion of his diary. Mrs. Peterson was superb as Washington throughout the sketches. Mrs. Putnam again appeared in the next sketch as Col. John L. Peyton smoking a pipe. Following was Grace Palmer as Martha Curtiss shown reading a letter Washington had written her before their marriage. The next sketches depicted Martha, after their marriage, reading a list of supplies ordered by Washington from England, then reading a letter from Washington written when he accepted the Command of the Revolutionary Forces. The final sketch showed Martha as death overtook Washington, and Mrs. Lusk read of his death in December 14, 1799.

The finale of the program was the entire cast together with Alpinettes Judy Ellis and Florence Barrett gathered around Martha singing a song of the times, "Faith of our Fathers."

Mrs. Alice Liebert, who had been back stage in charge of the props and the curtain throughout the sketches, made her appearance on stage as one of the family servants for the death scene and also in the grand finale.

All the costumes worn by the ladies were replicas of the clothing worn at the time of George Washington, and were made by the individual actresses. Mrs. Peterson as Washington wore a copy of his famous hat which she made herself.

The hostesses were Mes. Daniel

Agham's Service In New Location

Agham's is a word you will not find listed in the dictionary. Agham's Appliance and Refrigeration Service is, however, listed in the phone book. It is one of Alpine's newest service establishments.

Mr. P. C. "Ham" Hamilton opened the doors for business on Highway 80 in October and moved to the center of Alpine in January. The new address is 2249 Highway 80.

The business is equipped to service all household electrical appliances as well as refrigeration units. The telephone number in the shop, 445-4161, is the same as the number at the Hamilton home on Eltin Drive in Alpine. This is a 24-hour service, for the benefit of emergency repair should a local grocery store, tavern, etc. have a refrigeration failure during the night.

Homeowners need not wait for such drastic occurrences before doing business with Mr. Hamilton, though. He will repair your toasters, mixers, electric irons, shavers, vacuum cleaners, coffee pots, heaters, etc., everything but electronic apparatus.

It is Hamilton's intention to build the confidence of his customers by doing "good work at reasonable prices." A member of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce, just last week "Ham" received two new franchises for warranties. They are with Thermador Heaters and Franklin Appliances of Studebaker. He expects to acquire additional warranties in the future.

Hamilton, a retired navy man, was a chief engineer aboard ship for many years. His vast experience in this field further guarantees qualified service. Before coming to Alpine, the Hamiltons lived in Spring Valley, where "Ham" was in the swimming pool

ECHOES OF THE PAST

CAN YOU IDENTIFY THIS PICTURE?

YOU CAN IDENTIFY THIS PICTURE!

But... this proves how the town has grown since this photograph was made in 1932. Note the absence of buildings, now established places of business, on both sides of the road. What we'd like to have filled in is: the time of construction of the present Alpine Department store, and the other places both north and south of the highway.

The Alpine Store was here just as it is now... until tomorrow. Write in and tell Echo readers what you can remember about the growth of your town.

HORSES! HORSES! HORSES!

By MARGARET LOWTHIAN

The Pequeno Riders had an all-day trail ride last Saturday. They gathered at the Youth Center and took the trail to El Capitan Lake. They skirted the dam and lake and rode to the lower end of the lake. A trail side lunch was enjoyed at noon, and a side trip to some old ruins in the hills.

A tired group returned home in the late afternoon, and somewhere along the trail the riders and horses picked up a large number of wood ticks. It was pretty rough country they traveled through, and no one could spot exactly where the ticks came from.

This newly formed group of junior riders are currently working on a constitution and by-laws for their organization. A meeting was held on Tuesday night for a preliminary study of constitutions of other clubs. This meeting was attended by the officers of the Pequeños, Cynthia Irvine, president; Maxine Kinikin, vice-president, and Patty Coffin secretary. Adult advisors present were Mrs. Alice Irvine, Mrs. Elaine Weisbach, Mr. Bill Ingles and your columnist. A rough draft of a proposed constitution will be drawn up by Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. Weisbach and Cynthia Irvine, and presented to this group later this week. The final draft will be presented to the club members for ratification at an early meeting.

Upon the adoption of a constitution and by-laws, this active group will then make application to join the California Horsemen's Association, and be in a position to hold horse shows. They are hoping to be able to have a fun show for club members only during the Easter school vacation the end of March.

The orphan colt at Willow Glen Farm is doing fine on his bottle. Stanley has named him Chapito, and claims that he is both father and mother to the little guy.

At the Appaloosa show in Pomona on February 9 conducted by the Chino Riders, R. H. Blue Bonnett took another Show Championship. This young mare now has about 14 such wins to her credit. Together with her full sister, Cahava's Hyu Skukum, she took a first for produce for her dam, Baby Blue. These two sisters have been undefeated in Produce of Dam classes. This year Baby Blue has the first colt she has produced. He is quite a fellow, light brown with a white rump, a wide blaze, and white stockings. After having had relatively well-behaved daughters, Blue is very concerned about the different temperament of her son who is very independent.

Melva and Ron Riley have joined the group of horse owners who are anxiously awaiting foals from their mares. One of their mares is due the 1st of March, one about the 17th and one in April. Renie and Al Adams can tell them that nothing is certain about these things, as their Chiquita has not yet had her baby, and according to the calendar it was due on February 7. It's really tough when they go overtime, the waiting is long enough during the usual 11 months, and the last weeks are spent checking early in the morning, the last thing at night, and often hourly throughout the night. Only the mare themselves seem unconcerned about the whole procedure.

CREST

By ROSEMARIE RAIFSNIDER

A crime report has been filed by the Sheriffs Department in the recent poisoning of a dog. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams of Crest Blvd. were justifiably dismayed, doubly so because they have never had a complaint about their pet, a four year old boxer, Lance. The dog received a massive dose of strychnine. It may take several months before the seriousness of damage will be known, since some paralysis did occur. The dog was saved only because of immediate emergency care. Since then, there has been one other report, this time a pet cat.

The position of President of the Crest PTA is still open as nominations at the Feb. 20 meeting failed to resolve the office. Winning the gold ball for parent attendance at this meeting was Mrs. Julie Procopio's first grade class. As mentioned elsewhere in this issue, Mr. George Behrens, chairman of the board of commissioners of the Crest Fire Department, was presented with the Honorary PTA Life Membership for 1964, and Mr. Phillip Sanford gave an appeal for fathers who will aid in the Crest Boy Scout program.

Next Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Chapel of the Hills on Lento Lane, Rev. John Amundson, president of the Alpine Cemetery, will present a talk on the Bible. Visitors are welcome.

Mrs. Jenny Stephens returned to the mountain region last week.

For Mothers of Children Only

RoseMarie Raifsnider

Isn't it about time someone removed the hood from motherhood? Pulled it back and let some light shine of the real face of the state? The dictionary says it is a state. The state of being a mother.

But this tells us no more than idle blather printed in other media. Magazines, "how to" books, great literary works, PTA bulletins, and even newspaper editorials consistently keep us mothers informed about our statehood.

They all shed much responsibility but little actual light on the "hand that rocks the cradle."

Just last week I picked up a newspaper and read a statement that said in essence what this country needs is more motherhood and there would subsequently be less need for talk about brotherhood.

I ponder the meaning of this abstract statement.

For, if it is true that more emphasis on motherhood might erase a plea for brotherhood, someone has been missing the boat.

And a boat, manned by motherhood alone would be like a ship without a captain and crew. The ship of life should also include fatherhood and childhood. Else, it will toss about in the storm of confusion with no home port to dock in.

Just how much influence do we mothers have on world affairs? Are we really the backbone of the nation? Is it possible that the sociological failures in mankind are

WWI Vets to Meet Next Monday

Mountain Barracks and Auxiliary No. 2716 Veterans of WWI will hold their next regular meeting on Monday, March 2 at 1:30 p.m., Fuller Hall. Newly installed officers will take their stations with Commander William W. Gamble presiding over the Barracks, and Esther Francisco will conduct her first meeting as president of the Auxiliary.

Thinking draws blood from the feet to the head. That's why thinking twice about a proposition often gives people cold feet.

THE TAX SITUATION

President Johnson, last Wednesday, signed a bill passed by the Congress which will reduce the amount of Federal Income Taxes paid by the taxpayers in the United States an estimated 11.5 billion dollars per year.

The tax reduction is one phase of the Administration's plan for stabilizing the financial status of the United States. The Administration is predicting that on account of this reduction, business, industry and commerce will be stimulated within the United States and between this country and foreign countries, which in turn, they believe, will create more business for American workers, and in turn, they believe, will create more business for American workers, and in turn will increase national production and national profit. This will have the effect of generating more income tax at lower rates, the Administration believes.

Another step in the Administration's plan is the development of a budget designed to maintain more business in the United States, establish economy in Government operations, and stop the flow of gold from this country to foreign countries.

The Administration advances the theory that even though the budget is out of balance and will result in a deficit that the combination of lower tax rates and spending where spending does most for the economy of the country, that deficit is only a temporary expediency, and that eventually the country will operate on a balanced budget.

We hope the Administration in power, whoever they may be, will in the future develop a plan which will permit still further reductions in taxes and reductions in spending to the point where the budget will be balanced in the direction that will permit the reduction of our national debt.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

bold face type is hers!) "There are numerous instances of worthy merchants and mechanics whose efforts are paralyzed and their hopes chilled by the total failure of the wife in her sphere of duty, and who seek solace under their disappointment, in the wine-party and the late convivial supper. Many a day laborer, on his return at evening from his hard toil, is repelled by the sight of a disorderly house and a comfortless supper, and he makes his escape to the grog-shop or the underground gambling room."

Several pages and many grim warnings, and stern admonitions later, Mrs. C. declares "Energy, industry, economy, order, skill, vigilance, cheerfulness, kindness, charity, discretion and the fear of God are essential to the character of a good wife." Thus ends the first twenty pages and the shivering reader is justified in believing that the sermon is over and the recipes about to begin, but Mrs. Cornelius goes on: "Consider in the outset what mode of living best befits your station, resources, and obligations to others, and so adjust your plan so that consistency and appropriateness shall appear throughout. Prodigality is as fruitful of mischief as Pandora's box. Habits of wasteful expenditure are always accompanied by selfishness and a cold heart towards the poor." At last she begins a paragraph on bread making. This, also, is headed by two pages of lecture on the value of good bread to a virtuous household. It includes sorrowful warnings that most ovens are unreliable, that much flour is inferior, many grocers downright dishonest, and also remember to keep an eye on the hired girl or she'll steal the bacon drippings!

Perhaps the world is getting worse in some respects, but I can assure, you, cookbooks are much less frightening now than they were in 1845!

Dutton particularly stressed the threat imposed, when such an unwarranted false alarm ties up the only resuscitator on the hill.

Dutton also emphasized that the Crest Fire Department will prosecute those drivers of cars failing to heed the flashing red lights of fire trucks parked at the site of a fire or accident, cars who run through road blocks, and drivers who follow too closely behind an emergency unit.

The fire chief requests families of bedridden or otherwise incapacitated persons, to contact him now. Don't wait for an emergency. Call Dutton at 442-4906. The department keeps a record on all persons with specific health or mobility impairments, and such beforehand information may prove vital in an emergency situation.

shelves of the Alpine Store will be purchased by Jack Blankenship of the Empire Market next door to the post office. The two Jacks are long-time friends, having attended school together and shared many interests. During the years they have both been in the grocery business here, they have often cooperated in serving the public, sending customers to one another's stores for things their own could not supply at the moment.

When pressed for his plans for the future, Jack Wilson would not be pinned down. He admitted having several attractive possibilities under consideration and, we suspect that, whatever he decides, horses will figure prominently in his horoscope for the years ahead.

Asked if he had any comment on closing the doors of the Alpine store, Jack said simply, sincerely, "The main thing I want to say is THANK YOU to all my friends for their loyal patronage during the many years past. I'll really miss seeing them all. I've enjoyed being in the store, seeing the people I just want to say thank you to everyone."

And to Jack we are sure his many friends will say thank you in return and, we'll miss you, and good luck!

the Board of Supervisors appoints the candidates who have filed nominations papers, or other qualified persons if no candidates petitions have been filed. However, the law further states that even though no nomination petitions have been received, voters may petition that an election be held.

The terms of office of two Commissioners, J. C. La Force and E. L. Freeland, expire this year. Both of these Commissioners had previously been appointed by the Board of Supervisors to fill vacancies on the Board of Commissioners, Mr. La Force to fill the unexpired term of office to John Saks who resigned from the Board last year, and Mr. Freeland to fill the vacancy created by the death of Dick Robinson early this year. Neither of these Commissioners filed nomination papers to be candidates to succeed themselves, and no other persons filed nomination papers.

The Board of Fire Commissioners will confer with the County Counsel, regarding the procedure to be followed where no candidates have filed nominations papers.

Jack and Betty Isaacs of Viejas View Lane, the Willows, spent three days last weekend at San Felipe, Mexico. Betty reports that they had a wonderfully restful vacation enjoying the sun and the leisurely life. Jack spent some time fishing with moderate luck, but came home with 6 pounds of Tortava which he purchased when the commercial fishers came in with their catch.

Attending were Jackie Ralston, Wanda Naylor, Martha Green and Patty Perkins. Also, Danny Sullivan, Steve Wilcox, Jerry Mosier, Tim Rowan, Clint Putnam and Richard Harris. The move was made on Sunday the 23rd, and they were open for business as usual in their new location on Monday.

DEERHORN VALLEY

By ROY WALLIN

Even under the label of "Progress and Development," it saddens us to see the road crew cutting down the old and mighty trees in front of Charlie Bratton's ranch-house, for the reconstruction and realignment of the road.

Well, the "Black Puma's" back again! George (Wes) West of Monte Robles Acres spotted him last Friday morning down near the Young Christian Workers Camp. The jet black cat was originally discovered by Lucille Barber and the late Alfred Krause some seven years ago down at the "Honey Springs Ranch" when it was still a cub, and has been sighted periodically by various inhabitants of our community since then.

Talking about the "Honey Springs Ranch," Walt Barber Sr. and Jr. sold the ranch last week to a syndicate comprised of Silberberger Bros., a partnership, 45 per cent; Taylor and Sloan Investment Company, 25 per cent; R. B. Holmes, Inc., 20 per cent; and Jerome V. Stapp, 10 per cent. Reportedly, the syndicate will continue the ranch's present operation. In talking to Walt Barber Jr., early this week, the purchase price was in the vicinity of a half a million dollars.

Hugh Arledge of "Happy Day Ranch," and owner of "Modern Home Supply" in the downtown section of the metropolis to the West, has broken ground on the construction of his new two-story, 5000 sq. ft. building which will house his home building specialties supply business at 3592 Main Street. Incorporated in the plans for the building is an apartment to house Sami and Hugh in case they decide to spend a night away from their ranch.

It was good to see Betty and Ralph Okey, and Vickie, of "Hidden Valley Ranch" back on the "Hill" last Sunday.

Also visiting last Sunday was a real "old-timer" of our community, Mrs. Lena Capatola (Cappy) Howard, 83, eldest sister of Leo Walker of Deerhorn Valley Ranch Lodge. Accompanying Mrs. Howard on her trip from her present home in Colton, California, was her oldest daughter, Ona Wells, who, incidentally, was born in the latter 1890s in our community when their home was located a short distance across the creek (they had 'em then), southeast of the present building on the Young Christian Workers Camp. Leo took his sister and his niece to visit Charlie Bratton, to see the old Hagenbuck house, the ghost house of Deerhorn Valley Ranch, the Dennison house (Tom Reed's house that burned recently while the Knapiks were renting it) and ranch now known as Monte Robles Acres, and the old Bee Valley Ranch now known as Barrett Lake Estates. Progress and development have wrought many changes, but the spirit of the community remains the same, and extends a "welcome back, Cappy" to one of our senior citizens.

Now, from the senior to the younger set in our valley. Karen, Lisa, and Rick Wallin of Deerhorn Valley Ranch" and their cousins, Lori and Scott Freeman of Spring Valley, were guests on Miss Suzy Mallory's "Sing-along" television show at the Channel 6 studios in Tijuana, Mexico last Friday evening. As the show was taped, the children were able to watch themselves at 10:30 last Saturday morning. Of interest to the children as well as to their mothers, Elly Freeman and Rory Wallin, was the layout and operation of a TV studio, as well as the gorgeous view, at night, from atop the hill where the studio is located.

Mike and Janet Wiman drove by the Lodge last Monday evening at about 6:42 on their way home to the Eaton ranch, when Janet spied a take me to your leader-type of phenomenon in the skies above Lyon's Peak. Doubting their senses, they aroused Rory and Roy Wallin outside to confirm the optical display, which might be described initially as a vivid blue-green streak in a whitish field, which slowly mushroomed into a soft aqua, seemingly luminous, cloud-like area. After watching with mouth agape, and agreeing that none had ever witnessed a similar sight or had any idea of what it might be, the night sky-watchers returned home. Later in the evening, Mike called radio station KDEO, and they informed us that we had witnessed a missile-launching at Vandenberg Air Force Base. Shortly thereafter, while watching "Outer Limits" on TV, you wonder, was it?

Profile—A sporadic series of articles to acquaint us with our neighbors. Last time we delved into the life and times of Charlie Bratton so this time we'll move from the western to the eastern end of our community, from one of our old-timers to one of our newest-timers, and from the masculine to the feminine gender, namely, Zona Hicks, mistress of the recently-built A-frame home that we've all admired in the Barrett Lake Estates section of our community. Zona Horswill, the youngest of four daughters, was born on Bastille Day, July 14, 1933 in Black River Falls, Wis., a town of about 3000. As the daughter of a dairy farming family she was active in 4-H work. High school graduation came in '51, after which she spent two years at Kendall College in Evanston, Ill. prior to coming out to San Diego in '54 to live with a girl friend. While attending first San Diego City College and then San Diego State, Zona worked part-time as an avocado picker on a local grove. Following graduation from State in '57 with a B.A. degree in Recreation, she became assistant director to teenagers and later, young adults at the downtown YWCA, where, lo and behold, she ran into Elloy James (Jim) Hicks, then a second class petty officer at the U. S. Naval Hospital. The couple were wed in March of '61, and settled in the Kensington area, and in April of the following year, Michelle Zona, their daughter, was born. Zona, and her family moved into their home in our community exactly 30 years after her birth date. Our community of Deerhorn Valley welcomes Zona, Michelle, and Jim Hicks as the forerunners of perhaps many, many new and younger friends and neighbors that will move up on the hill as further development takes place.

I would like to say some words concerning the Dulzura School Board's fight to keep our little country school and its courage to stand up to overwhelming odds, to take away our school board's jurisdiction. This is actually a very small instance, while it is very important to our own little community, our liberties are being taken away one by one. Too many of us grumble, but won't take the time to back and support what we feel is our birthright. I sincerely urge we as individuals examine and re-examine the candidates running for any office regardless how un-important the position may seem. All of us have a tendency to blame the other party for the rapid decay of our country, but in truth we ourselves are the ones who are guilty. The time has come when we must "stand up and be counted." Our Dulzura School Board has done just that. We've lost the last round, but we're coming back for more, and look out, we're growing stronger all the time.

The Dulzura Home Department would like to announce they are sponsoring a "Ma's Country Store," Feb. 29, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Baked goods, good used clothing, and grocery items will be featured. See you there.

The accident was caused when he swerved to avoid hitting a car filled with children and ran into a large pepper grove. His truck was completely demolished. George is in Room 126 and loves to receive cards, particularly the kooky ones, and is very glad to receive visitors, too.

They cook, serve, and eat their culinary creations. Maxine's interest in food extends to the outdoors. She recently planted fifty cabbage plants, and also raises tomatoes, beets, carrots, lettuce, etc. Birds, rabbits, gophers, and capricious weather take no toll, because she is the lucky owner of a glassed-in greenhouse.

Her trip to the hospital was a rather sudden one, with no time to make plans about the beauty salon's immediate future. Her many customers and friends wish her a speedy recovery.

HONEY and some more ways to use it. Honey may be used, measure for measure, in place of the sugar in preparing puddings, custards, pie fillings, baked apples, candied and "sweet-sour" vegetables, salad dressings, and cinnamon toast. Mrs. Jack Bessey, a former Mt. Laguna resident used honey instead of sugar in her sweet-sour dressing for cole slaw
 and it was delicious.

Brushed or drizzled on ham during the last half hour of baking, honey adds flavor and gives a golden glaze. Use mild-flavored honey for bland dishes. Honeys with stronger flavor may be used in spice cake, gingerbread, brownies and in other highly flavored baked goods.

HONEY LACE COOKIES

½ cup shortening
 ½ cup sugar
 ½ cup liquid honey
 1 egg
 1 cup flour
 ½ tsp. soda
 ½ tsp. baking powder
 ¼ tsp. salt
 1 cup quick cooking rolled oats
 1 cup shredded coconut
 ½ cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening, sugar and honey together until light. Add egg and beat well. Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt together.
 Combine with the creamed mixture.
 Stir in the rolled oats, coconut and walnuts. Drop by tablespoonsfuls on a greased cooky sheet, 2" apart.

HONEY-NUT COOKIES

½ cup shortening
 ½ cup sugar
 1 egg, beaten
 ½ cup liquid honey
 2 cups flour
 2 tsp. baking powder
 1 tsp. salt
 1 cup finely chopped walnuts
 1 tsp. vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Mix egg and honey and add alternately with the combined flour, baking powder and salt to the creamed mixture. Stir until mixed. Add nuts and vanilla.
 Chill the dough until firm enough to handle. Form into roll about 1½" in diameter, wrap in waxed paper. Bake at 375°F for 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned.
 Makes about 3 doz. cookies.

HONEY SALAD DRESSING

1 tsp. paprika
 ½ tsp dry mustard, salt and celery salt
 ½ cup liquid honey
 3 T lemon juice
 ¼ cup vinegar
 1 cup salad oil

Mix dry ingredients. Add the honey, lemon juice and vinegar.
 Slowly add the salad oil, beating until well blended. Makes about 2 cups of dressing.

Mother's Only

 due directly to a breakdown in motherhood responsibility?

If it is true that mothers are all that important and it is our influence, alone that is forming the nature of man, perhaps we should get busy and organize a union of mothers devoted to doing a better job.

No one else can do our job.
 Even though they all talk and write as if they could.

The larger branch of our union could be called the A. F. of L.—
 "American Females of Laizze Faire." It would be composed of mothers of young families. They would stay at home, behind the scenes and mind their own business. Which is all they have time for anyhow.

The other group would be active in a different way. They would be the go-getters and defenders of the organization. It would be the C.I.O.—"Chamberladies In Opposition."

CIO would consist of mothers with spare time. Grandmothers, mothers with no children, mothers of children whose fathers are millionaires, and any other mother who can get out of the house to campaign.

They would not be campaigning for tangibles as other unions do.
 But rather for principles of the heart. Searching into the nature of motherhood itself, and how motherhood united, can erase the need of brotherhood.

We would need, no strikes for higher wages, as most mothers don't get a pay check. Shorter hours would be a futile cause, for love cannot be put on a time table.
 To seek better working conditions would be a fleeting purpose, for motherhood conditions are ever-changing anyhow. One year it's the kids crying when they can't go for a drive in the car, but soon enough it's the parents crying because they can't get the car to go for a drive. Equal rights is out of the campaign, because most mothers would just as soon not play poker with the fellas.

No, the campaign of the motherhood union would be simply for more understanding.

Understanding from those elements of society which seek to verbally undermine our dedication, and all the while never having been a mother.

One good place to start would be to set up a sounding court wherein all so-called experts on mothers might be tried and sentenced to five years of "pre-school age type child care." For every conviction, I could guarantee we would have one less expert on motherhood.

And, one more person manning
 the oars of teamwork on the ship of life. And, when, a generation from now, we had everyone rowing together in the same boat, working as a crew, we would not only have more brotherhood, but maybe even motherhood might be a more interesting ship-mate
 "state."

Old Globe Theatre Offers Comedy

Comedy again takes the stage at the Old Globe Theater, in Balboa Park, San Diego, with the presentation of "Take Her, She's Mine!"
 directed by William Roesch.

A very humorous story of teenagers growing up and their parents' struggle with the accompanying frustration and surprises, is the basis for the plot. Leading role of the harrassed father is played by popular local actor, Carnell Kirkeeng, while the daughter who upsets him is played by Candy Howerton, who played a college coed in "Night of the Iguana." Other family members are played by Dorothy Chase as the mother and Debby Hayden as the younger sister.

The cast is completed by John Dinsmore and Michael Hoffer who play young romantic males, and Al Sklar, Gabrielle DaPeer, Cheryl
 Millen, Lisa Cilley, Mike Cheal, Ken Howard, John Bell, Jim Cho-
 vick, Byard Pidgeon, Dan McLaughlin, William Meyer and Peter Smith.

The growers have done wonderful things with some of our so called ordinary flowers. Silver medal winner Zinnia Bonanza is one of their improvements, zinnia pink buttons is another, Fireglow Celosia (coxcorn) and marigolds are others. Life Membership in the Crest PTA."

Earlier in the evening, Mr. Philip Sanford, scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop No. 327, told that the Boy Scout Charter will expire soon, and cannot be renewed without the aid and assistance of at least four interested adult males. "When eight or 10 enthusiastic boys show up for a hike, and there is only one grownup, with one car, this cannot be," said Sanford.

He brought out the fact that throughout Crest history, the Boy Scouts have been the only active youth movement able to survive consistently. Other young peoples organizations have tried from time to time. Without adult interest, however, the going has been rough.

To fold up the troop now, could be a final blight on a record of adult neglect.

A committee to form a committee was selected to work on the problem. The end of the PTA year comes next month so the ladies will be endeavoring to enlist needed support and thus insure the promise of a Boy Scout future on the Crest.

Zumwalt, and two of her friends. After a reception at the church the young couple left for a honeymoon in San Francisco. Later they will leave for Alaska where Coy will be stationed with the Air Corps. The bride has been attending Cal Western, and sang in the choir at the First Methodist Church. Her parents used to live in the San Diego area, before being transferred to San Luis Obispo. The Zumwalts used to live in the McEwen place on Lyons Valley Road.

Several days before her marriage to Coy Zumwalt, Jr., Miss Patricia Wayman was given a wedding shower at the home of Bulah Bird by the Rebecca Circle of Jamul Bible Church. The shower followed the Circle's usual meeting, Wed., Feb. 19, at 11 a.m. Special guests were Coy's mother, Mrs. Coy Zumwalt, Sr.; his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Graves of National City; and his aunt, Mrs. Evelyn Graves of Bonita. The group enjoyed games planned by Mrs. Edith King. She made gumdrop-marshmallow, heart-shaped favors, and Mrs. Helen Sherman presented each guest and Patricia with nosegays of violets. Gifts were an individual assortment for the young couple's future home. Margaret Miller, Helen Sherman, and Bulah Bird served cake, ice cream, and coffee.

Jack Colombo drove in from Phoenix Friday evening to spend the weekend with his parents, John and Madeline Colombo, and younger brothers, Mike and Paul. Madeline has a sister, Lucy, in Phoenix, and a sister Mary, in Scottsdale.

Jean and Virgil Beasley and their son Russell are comfortably settled in the new home they've built next door to the old one on Lyons Valley Rd. Madeline Colombo and I had coffee one morning with Jean, and she showed us the results of their talents and hard work. One's first impression is of color, a feeling of space and gay informality. This house reflects strongly the personalities of people who knew what they wanted and succeeded in expressing their ideas. Panelled mahogany walls finished in walnut and relieved by beamed ceilings and front door of knotty cedar. Textured gold rugs in living room and dining room to show off mellow hardwood floors; the same rugs in bold miniature for kitchen and bath. The kitchen: attractive new range, pumpkin formica, harmonizing print linoleum, black hardware. Bathroom: pumpkin formica, marbelized walls—abalone shells for soap trays.

Cupboards in bedrooms and hall right up to the beamed ceilings. Virgil's experience in metal work is very apparent: anodized aluminum shelves in the two hall cupboards; no paint, no paper ever, medieval black flanges on the front door, the scroll holding a cupboard above the kitchen counter. The older house, a small one, will serve as a combination of family room and mud area which should save wear-and-tear on the new house. Jean will do her ironing, laundry, and sewing there, and an outside entry will be made to the bath. An item of great interest to anyone familiar with monkey pod is the slab sent from Hawaii by Jean's mother. It will be finished into a coffee table, a conversation piece.

The Mt. Empire High School journalism class sponsored two basketball games, Friday, Feb. 19. The GAA played the alumni girls and the varsity played the alumni boys. The GAA played hard, fast and furious, but the alumni defeated them again by one point. The score was, alumni 37, GAA 36. During the break between the two games, the coronation of the queens took place. The first queen to be crowned was Miss Beverly Ann Duval, football queen, then came Miss Sue Blaylock, crowned baseball queen, Miss Patricia Richardson was crowned basketball queen, and Miss Elizabeth Prince was crowned track queen. Miss Alaina Strand reigned Homecoming Queen. After the Queens Coronation the M. E. varsity team played the alumni boys. During the half time of that game an electrical wire burned out leaving about half of the gym lights on, and the score board was disconnected, but the game was played to the finish. Although the exact score of the game is not known the alumni boys also defeated the varsity.
