Alpine 4-H Members Get Their Animals Ready for Fair in May

A number of the members of the Alpine 4-H have calves and lambs as their project this year. The animals are now being fattened and groomed to be shown at the East San Diego County Fair to be held at Gillespie Field in El Cajon in May.

The animals will be shown and judged and then auctioned off at the Fair. The owners of the animals are currently working to get buyers for their animals who will bid on them at the auction. In most cases it is necessary to have purchasers in advance of the auction who are committed to bid to insure the sale of all of the 4-H animals offered. Anyone who might be interested in purchasing one of these 4-H lambs or calves can contact the 4-H members directly or through Jack Blankenship who is the 4-H leader.

This Sunday's event, in addition to starting pre-sale ticket contests by participating sponsors, marks the presentation of their various candidates for Fair Queen. Last year, 1500 people attended the Kick-Off Jamboree. This year, more than 3000 are expected to attend.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE
NOTES MADE UNDER A JACARANDA TREE:

These purple flowering trees are everywhere you look in the city. They lift their gorgeous branches above the walls of the gardens like great purple bouquets. Beside them the scarlet blooms of another flowering tree called, in English, "The red flower of Africa" blazes in the sunlight. Magnolia trees are blooming, too. The air is perfumed with the scents of these and many other flowers. At night jasmine makes the air so sweet it bemuses and bespells.

Look up and past the flowers on the branches above you and see buzzards soaring, their black wings spread wide as they drift lazily above the barranca just outside the garden wall. Something is dead down there in the tropic undergrowth. Must be something big to attract 10 of the large birds. One lights in a jacaranda tree and settles his grim shape among the lovely flowers. These birds are the very epitome of patience. Their game cannot escape.

Travel writers usually call Mexico the land of dramatic contrast stressing its very rich and very poor, both in land and people. I see a land of little wonders. A land of no clothespins where the family wash is casually draped over lines and bushes at the rear of the homes inside the walled

Tuberculin Tests Set For Alpine Pupils

Tuberculin skin testing of most eighth grade and some kindergarten and first grade school children will continue in El Cajon and Alpine next Monday, April 6 and Thursday, John S. Rhoades, president of the TB and Health Association of San Diego County, reported.

Tests, financed by Christmas Seal contributions, may be given only with parents' consent.

Tests will be made by Dr. Eleanor Hamilton at the Alpine Elementary School including kindergarten and first grade next Monday, April 6 at 11:15 a.m.

Tests will be "read" at the same time on Thursday, April 9 by Mrs. Kirkham Campbell, a public health nurse.

Local Man Joins National Publication

Jack Wilson, who closed his business at the Alpine Store last month, started on a new career yesterday as the sales representative for the Western Horseman Magazine with a territory that includes California, Arizona and Nevada.

Everyone who knows Jack feels that this is a wonderful position for a man of his qualifications and interest in horses and wish him every success on this new endeavor.

Jack, his wife, Mimi, and their children are now living in La Mesa, but Jack says he will be on the road a large part of the time, and with the headquarters for the Western Horseman in Colorado, expects to spend some time there.

Fire Commissioners Election Tuesday

An election has been called for next Tuesday by the Board of Fire Commissioners of the Alpine Local Fire District for the purpose of electing two commissioners to fill two positions which expire this month.

The state law governing local fire districts does not provide for the mailing to each registered voter of a sample ballot and notice of the time and place for holding the election. The only requirement is that a legal notice of the election be published in a local newspaper. This legal notice has been published in the Alpine Echo.

The election will be held on next Tuesday, April 7, at the Al-

These are busy days for the Jaussauds and the Mobbs. With Charlene they spent four days at their home in snowy Lagunas Easter vacation. One day Jack Mobbs worked clearing the road of snow in front of the store. Snow conditions made it necessary to bar all past the meadow except those having cabins and needing to go to the store. It was good tobogganing weather! Phyllis Wilson and children spent Friday with them and reported a wonderful time. The Wilsons and Mobbs were neighbors in Allied Gardens before moving to Jamul. Easter was spent entertaining family and friends. Mary Ann Anderson helped fix luncheon. Monday a birthday luncheon party for Gary Mobbs who turned four the day before Easter was planned for eight children. Gary's great aunts were also guests.

March was a month for tree planting. Paul Egan, sampling a tangelo, a tangerine-flavored grapefruit, liked it and added a tangelo tree to his orchard. The Beidlers, Erma and Elmore, have more than 250 citrus and avocado trees in their hillside orchard, all planted within the last several years. An area at the crest of the hill is planted in macadamia trees, a promising nut crop in the San Diego area. Joe observed the Arbor Day Month by planting our first and favorite fruit trees: pomegranate, apricot, orange and tangerine.

"Granny" Winberg put her boot up on a chair, tilted her pipe, and proceeded to give a history of Crest PTA "doings" in the past year. She recounted every event, from the Hoot-n'-Holler in April, "made a heap o' money servin' vittles (recollect it was 'possum belly and hog jowls), and a show with dancin' girlies and some pickin' an' singin'," to the reason for her pipe. "PTA had a movin' pitchur showin' how bad cigareets is, an' you don't have to tell us Hill people twicet!"

"Granny" concluded with "You all will have to put on your shoes an' come to our ice cream sociabel next month, that'll be a right smart shindig."

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. McKinsey and their three children motored to Sholo, New Mexico during the Easter vacation. Mrs. McKinsey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Coleman, of 177 Wall Place. The family is "prospecting" for a site for their future summer home. They believe they have found it a Sholo, and they love the country and the climate. They went through the Hopi cliff-dwellings nearby, and came home through the Petrified Forest. I hate to report this, but Mrs. McKinsey says, "believe it or not, the weather was perfectly beautiful until we got back to California."

The Crest Civic Group will hold its April meeting Monday, April 6 at 8 p.m. in Room 6 of Crest School. The main purpose of this meeting is to have representatives of all Crest organizations, the PTA, Woman's Club, VFW, Fire Department and Boy Scouts, present to discuss and make plans for the projected "George Behren's Day." Jimmy Doonan, president, says, "It is planned as a day set apart to honor George Behrens, and to express the appreciation of the Crest for his many years of community service." Doonan says all property owners are warmly invited to join the civic group, not just organizations and businesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. Winberg of 2409 Suncrest Blvd., were hosts to Mrs. Winberg's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Casler of Lynwood, over the Easter vacation. Making a full house were Mrs. Winberg's sister, Mrs. Joseph Goodrich and her daughter, Ellen, from Arcadia, who also spent a few days with the Winbergs during the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doonan of 1121A La Cresta Blvd. drove to Hemet over Easter-time to visit Mr. Doonan's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Pulice. From Hemet, the Doonans went on to San Bernardino visiting friends, and on back home in time for Easter Sunday here.

The Crest Community Church will hold a Crusade for Christ from April 1 through April 5, with special music provided nightly by vocal groups from the Crest Church and surrounding areas. All classes are post entry. Paid-up members of the Pequero Riders will pay 35 cents per entry, all others will pay $1 per entry. The club member who brings in the most class sponsors will win a prize of having all entries for free. Norbob Trophy Company of Alpine is furnishing the trophies and ribbons for the event.

Here at Willow Glen Farm we are busy closing out the entries for the Appaloosa Breeders Association Show which will be held on Saturday and Sunday, April 11 and 12, at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds. To date 227 horses have entered for a total of 458 entries.

Because of being so busy with this horse show I haven't much news about local horse activities. Would appreciate hearing from you horsemen and horsewomen about your horses and what you are doing.

Hatfield Opens Campaign Office

John D. Hatfield, Escondido attorney, candidate for the Republican nomination in the 80th District State Assembly announced the opening of his North San Diego County campaign headquarters at 1 p.m. Wednesday, April 1. The office will be located at 305 Second Ave. in Escondido. The headquarters will remain open until 7 p.m.

Hatfield also announced the appointment of G. A. (Tony) Hardwick as his campaign director and Mary Hammett as campaign treasurer. She will also head the Escondido campaign headquarters.

Hatfield gives as one of the primary reasons for seeking to represent the 80th Assembly District the fact that the incumbent assemblyman recently switched his support from the Republican ranks to Democratic boss Jesse Unruh.

Hatfield said, "The tide of governmental socialism must be reversed and the concentrated efforts of a dedicated team of conservative and trustworthy Republican legislators is necessary to restore the rights of individuals and return of fiscal responsibility." Hatfield, a graduate of the University of Southern California Law School, was elected to the Republican County Central Committee. He and his wife, Jean and their two children reside in the rural area between Escondido and Rancho Santa Fe.

Hatfield said that as an assemblyman representing San Diego County, he would turn his attention immediately toward the elimination of such "slaughter alleys" as portions of Highways 395 and 101; present a realistic program for youth; specific recommendations regarding welfare and to improve the tax program through elimination of nonessential spending.

Crest Eggs Pay Off

Finding eggs on Easter really pays off on the Crest. The egg hunt Easter Sunday at Nancy Jane Park, sponsored by the Crest VFW and the Crest Fire Department, netted one silver dollar each for the eight children who were lucky enough to find eggs with a silver star on them.

Among the 250 children frantically hunting, the following small fry struck it rich: Harry Kearney, Mike Gould, Bridget McKee, John Vigil, Jenny Ohlson, Ricky Thompson, Teri MacDonald, and Susan Clifford.

Deeann Hamilton found the most eggs of all, and was also awarded a silver dollar, "for effort." It is just a question who had the most fun—the kids participating, or the adults watching. Sounds like a wonderful idea for each Easter.

NEXT TUESDAY'S ELECTION

Last week there was published in the Echo for the third consecutive week a legal notice of election in the Alpine Local Fire District which notified the voters in the District that no persons have been nominated for the two offices of member of the Board of Fire Commissioners to be filled at the election, but that the election is being held pursuant to a petition of voters of the District. This is the only notice required by law to be given of the election.

Since no persons had been nominated, the ballots will contain no names of candidates and blank places will be provided for voters to write in the names of the persons for whom they wish to vote.

The last week's issue of the Echo also contained an editorial stating that to that date only one person, who had not signed the petition, had announced his candidacy and raised the question of why the persons responsible for the petition calling for an election had not come forth with their candidates.

Last Tuesday, one of the persons responsible for the petition, informed the Echo that he wished to announce his candidacy. This would seem to indicate that since only two persons have announced their candidacy, that they are the candidates of the instigators of the petition who were requesting an election in order to have an opportunity of voting for them, since if there had been no election held, the responsibility for selecting persons to fill the positions would have been with the Board of Supervisors.

The voters, however, will not be limited to voting for those persons who have announced their candidacy. Any person who is a registered voter within the Fire District is eligible for the positions and can be voted for by the voters by writing in their names.

The most important thing about this election, however, as with all elections, is that every registered voter should go to the polls and cast his vote. The persons who will be elected at this election will have the power to tax the property owners and spend their money. At this election the voters will not be limited to voting for persons who have been nominated by petition or otherwise, but will have the opportunity of voting for the person, or persons, who they consider to be the best qualified to exercise the power of taxing them and spending their money in the most efficient, economical manner possible.

Be sure to go to the polls next Tuesday and cast your vote for the persons of your choice.

Red Cross to Aid Disaster Victims

The San Diego County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced today that it is starting an appeal for funds for the relief of disaster victims of the Alaskan earthquake and the Crescent City tidal wave. Dan Turner, chapter chairman, said that A. I. Dickman has been chosen as chairman of the appeal and will serve with a committee of community representatives to be named later. Dickman is agency manager for the Equitable Life Assurance Society covering San Diego County and has offices in Anchorage, Alaska, Riverside and Las Vegas.

Gifts have started coming in to the local chapter, Dickman said. Funds donated will be sent in their entirety to the disaster area preferred, he said. While clothing and gifts other than money are not being actively solicited at this time, they will be received by Red Cross and held for earliest possible delivery to the disaster areas.

Two San Diego County Red Cross

staff workers received their orders today. Capt. M. Duke Ferrara, USN, ret., chapter disaster director, will leave Tuesday morning for Western Area Red Cross headquarters, San Francisco, for assignment to Seattle or Alaska. Ernest Jones, Red Cross field director at Naval Training Center, proceeds Tuesday to Seattle for disaster duty there or in Alaska.

At last report, 1,490 welfare inquiries had been received by the local chapter since midnight Friday, Turned said. Because of the problem of communication, replies are coming in slowly but many are expected within the next two days. Thirty-five Red Cross disaster specialists have already reached Alaska.

two members and their animals. Tommy Judd has a six-month old steer which he has had for three months. It is a white-face Hereford which he purchased from the Green Top Farm in Descanso. It now weighs approximately 750 pounds, and Tommy is learning how to groom and show it. Tommy Harris is raising a young lamb which is now about three months old and which he has had for three weeks. This lamb was purchased from Hal Manker of Chula Vista from his pedigreed herd.

Other 4-H members and the animals they have are: Brian Pierce, Danny Hemenger, Doug Ingalls, Donna Schwenk, Kathy Blankenship and Lynn Blankenship who have lambs; and Cindy Byers and Kathy Blankenship who have calves.

All of these youngsters are doing a fine job in raising their young animals and they will appreciate any help and assistance in getting them sold at the Fair.

CO-CHAIRMEN OF BONEY FOR SUPERVISOR COMMITTEE NAMED

Vice Adm. C. E. Ekstrom, USN, ret., and Petterson N. Hyndman, a member of the San Diego County Board of Education, have been named co-chairmen of the Henry Boney for Supervisor committee, it was announced here today.

gardens, on shrubbery beside streams, and no clothespins needed to hold the wash in place. The air is almost motionless, balmy and soft. Hardly a leaf moves all day until almost on the dot at 2 p.m. the wind blows; by which time the clothes are either dry or have not yet been put out. Obligingly then, the wind signs off at around 3:30 or 4 p.m. It's not a strong wind this time of year.

Taking a ride outside the city we saw a dead horse lying stiff-legged beside the road, its hoofs barely out of the way of traffic. No one seemed to notice. Two days later the horse was still there. Buzzards were gathering like a crowd congregating, standing about while the feast was readied. People passing by seemed indifferent to both. A block away women and girls were washing clothes in a stream and hanging them on bushes to dry. They must be able to smell the cadaver but give no sign.

Easter Sunday morning — a church in the middle of the market place in Cuernavaca. The interior of the small stone cathedral was cool and sweet scented, contained in a peaceful quietness. Above the music of organ and choir market sounds filter in and somehow are not discordant. Worshipers inside the church take sacrament kneeling at the simple altar, while from outside the smell of frying tortillas, with smoke from tiny portable tin stoves "carbonadoras," floats in the open windows beside the altar. Extravagant arrangements of huge white lilies and roses decorate the entire church. On the church steps vendors sit selling their products, everything from handmade articles of thread, clay, tin and straw, to fresh fruits, vegetables, flowers and nuts.

The flower market is a dazzling place for the gardener. I think of the Alpine Gardener and her fans and how they would adore the magnificent blossoms. Carnations are the biggest, the spiciest, and the longest stemmed I have ever seen. Roses, roses everywhere. You can buy six dozen of the choicest for $2.20. Yet they sell plastic flowers in the market place and have an enthusiastic local trade for them. Plastic flowers where orchids grow free, dahlia trees flourish, and any idle dreamer, or beggar, may sit beneath a flowering tree that would look good in Paradise. Land of dramatic contrast indeed!

In commenting on the appointment, Boney, candidate for the Second District Supervisor seat, declared, "I'm indeed proud that such distinguished leaders as Admiral Ekstrom and Mr. Hyndman have volunteered to head my campaign committee. Their advice and counsel will be invaluable and their very presence on my campaign committee is a solid indication that community leaders believe, as I do, that new life is needed on the San Diego County Board of Supervisors.

Headquarters for the Boney for Supervisor campaign committee are scheduled for formal opening this Friday afternoon (April 3) at 2:30 p.m., according to Ron Fuller, Boney's special assistant. Headquarters are at 8302 La Mesa Blvd., at Palm Ave., in La Mesa.

The campaign office, housed in a former bank, contains some 1000 square feet of space. Boney commented on this relatively large office area when he declared, "I thought we would be able to get along quite well with a little hole-in-the-wall office. However, no sooner had I announced my candidacy than we were swamped by offers of help and by people who wanted information about the campaign. It was necessary, therefore, to have a large office to house our campaign volunteers and to have a place to hold campaign meetings."

Boney, a relatively late starter in the supervisorial race, already has mounted a full-fledged campaign and is appearing at an increasing number of community functions to explain his "Plan for Prosperity." Gist of the candidate's plan was summed up this week in Boney's address to his campaign workers.

He declared, "San Diego County can't wait for new industrial plants. We need them, right enough, but we need outside money in San Diego County and we need it now! One way to get this 'new' money is for the Board of Supervisors to provide effective, worthwhile support for year around tourist industry throughout San Diego County."

"Up to now, tourist industry support in the County has come largely from the City of San Diego, which now is completing a splendid convention facility in downtown San Diego. New recreation facilities throughout the Second District — and throughout San Diego County — are needed now to increase San Diego County's tourist income and to provide new jobs and bigger paychecks for people in this area," he added.

Boney explained that the tourist industry in the area is a $168-

DEERHORN VALLEY

By ROY WALLIN

A "Thank You" from all of us to Mother Nature for the beautiful "Chamber of Commerce" type" Easter weekend we all enjoyed up here on the "Hill" enabling us to have numerous family get-togethers, Easter egg hunts, parties and picnics in our Valley. One of the local activities, hosted by Zona and Jim Hicks in their new home in the Barrett Lake Estates area of our community, was an informal soiree, featuring a spaghetti dinner (and a midnight snack of fried mushrooms by "Chef" Hicks), celebrating Zona and Jim Hicks' anniversary on the 30th, Twila and Bob Daum's anniversary on the 30th, Louise Haughey's birthday on the 29th, and Rory and Roy Wallin's anniversary on the 29th. Present at the festivities were Laura and Homer Haughey, Twila and Bob Daum, Blanche and Charley Layman, Louise and Paul Haughey, Jr., Tom Wiggins, Bill McBurney, and a number of friends from town.

Talking about Bill McBurney—a short note of human interest—sick abed last Thursday with Type "flu", Bill was confronted with three little people (2 boys and a girl, and a dog) who tearfully announced they were lost. Bill ascertained their last name, phone number, and that they were visiting someone up here in our community, having driven up here with a friend of their folks called "Helga." Bill called some neighbors, none of whom had knowledge of a lost trio, and finally asked Rory and Roy Wallin to bear a hand. The Wallin's loaded their children in their car—their dog, a young German shepherd, refused to enter a strange car even with his mistress, for a tour of the "Hill"; whereupon, they came upon three older children searching for the errands in the Monte Robles area. "Hercules," the dog, would not leave Bill's ranch house until his mistress returned to walk away with him... A happy ending, the children are safe at home, and Bill is once again flu-less!

Connie Crowley of "Crow-Vallee Ranch" is a much-relieved woman when she heard from her husband, Joe, Chief Engineer on a tow boat, who rode the quake and tidal wave out in the Seattle area instead of the Alaska area where he might have been. Joe will be heading thataway, but he's safe and sound.

Mentioning Alaska and its disastrous earth-quake, color slides of Alaska will be the feature at this Friday's Deerhorn Valley Civic Club meeting (might now be titled "The Glory That Was") to be presented by Jim Hicks. Also on the agenda will be the election of the club's directors. Hostessing will be Rory Wallin—so let's all make a point of it to be at the building on the Young Christian Workers Camp at 7:45 p.m. this Friday with a neighbor or friend for our community's Civic Club meeting.

Agnes and George West of Monte Robles Acres moved into Marta Krause's "Rancho del Alma" this Wednesday on a one-year lease. Good luck and happiness in your new home.

Three members of the Crest Woman's Fire Auxiliary are now licensed and qualified to drive the fire trucks. They are Mrs. Roger (Donna) Dutton, Judy Lacey and Julie Jump. The Auxiliary has been made responsible for the "grooming" of the American La France fire truck. This unit, of vital importance to the Crest, especially if we should have a bad fire, and the men and boys are not available, is in need of more members. Any girl, 14 years old and up, who is interested in becoming part of a group which offers excellent training and fun, and also will be of tremendous service to the entire community, may receive more information by calling Judy Lacey at 444-3374, or Donna Dutton at 442-4906.

Just as this column was finished, I received word that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ring are the very happy parents of a third daughter, born this morning, Mar. 30. The Ring's other children at 250 East Lane Road, are Bobby, 11, Jean, 8, and Linda, 5. Their button-poppin' poppa is a deputy sheriff with the El Cajon office. Last minute flash! The newest little Ring's name is to be Julianne Marie, and she weighed in at Grossmont Hospital at 8 lbs., 14 ozs. Welcome, Julianne, you just made it for the deadline.

COKE'S KITCHEN

How about a vegetable, salad and dessert to go with the Mexican recipes in last week's column?

During the Easter holidays, mother and sons had lunch at a quaint little outdoor Mexican restaurant where we were served cut-up tortillas, fried very crisp and sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon. Very tasty and really all you need after a filling meal.

CALABAZAS CON CARNE (Squash with Pork)

1 pound lean pork, loin or chops
 1 pound zucchini squash
 1 medium onion
 1 1/2 cups corn or 3 ears of corn
 2 fresh tomatoes
 1/2 cup oil
 pinch of sugar
 salt and pepper

Fry pork in oil. Wash and cut zucchini in rings. Mince onion, chop tomatoes, add corn and seasonings. Cover and cook until tender, 20 to 30 minutes. Added note—pound pork chops in flour with chili powder and salt added for additional flavor.

QUACAMOLE (Mexican Avocado Salad)

2 large ripe avocados
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. chili powder
 1/2 medium onion, minced fine
 1 fresh tomato, peeled and chopped salt and pepper to taste
 chopped green chili pepper
 1 tsp. lemon juice.

Mash the avocados in a bowl, which has been rubbed with garlic, add the salt and chili powder; now add lemon juice and minced onion. Add finely cubed tomato and chili pepper cut very thin. Bits of crumbled bacon or sliced ripe olives are often added. Mix well, place in bowl, covering the top with thin layer of mayonnaise to keep salad from darkening around edge. Just before serving, stir well, serve on romaine or lettuce, with corn chips or corn tortillas or with spears of raw vegetables.

SPANISH RICE

2 T bacon drippings
 1 cup rice
 1 large onion, chopped
 1 10-oz. can enchilada sauce
 2 cups water or broth
 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
 salt, oregano to taste

Heat bacon drippings in frying pan; add rice and stir until golden brown. Add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Cover and simmer for about 20 minutes, or until rice is tender. Serves four.

State Beach Park To be Improved

Assemblyman Hale Ashcraft, Republican, Rancho Santa Fe, and a member of the State Board of Public Works, today announced approval of $685,100 for the construction of a camp ground and related facilities at the San Elijo State Park in San Diego County.

The project consists of 174 campsites, paving, comfort stations, and necessary related facilities.

Ashcraft said construction will be commenced in 120 days. A period of 60 days has been allotted for completion of drawings and an additional 60 days for advertising of bids.

Ashcraft also reported that the Board of Public Works has approved $30,000 for planning, engineering and design of facilities at the Torrey Pines State Park in La Jolla.

The Torrey Pines work consists of planning and working drawings for an initial beach development project proposed in the 1964-65 State Budget.

Nearly everyone has some spot around the home where they find it difficult to grow a great many of the plants or shrubs they would like.

Well, there is no need to be discouraged on that score for there are many number of lovely plants and shrubs to fill that need. The lovely Aucuba Japonica, more familiarly known as Gold Dust Plant, pictured above, is one example of what lovely plants you can get for those shaded areas. It is a very shapely and attractive plant with large glossy leaves speckled with gold flecks. Some of these plants are self-pollenizing but to be sure, it would be best to get a male and female plant so as to get the bright berries which come in September and last until Christmas.

There is the Skimmia shrub which has handsome glossy leaves, clusters of tiny white flowers in the spring and big red berries in the fall. It also needs a male and female to insure a crop of berries. There is the Fiddle Leaf Fig which is a very decorative plant and should not be overlooked when buying plants for shaded areas or to be used as potted plants. There are a number of Philodendrons to choose from ranging from large leafed ones to small leafed ones. These are vines and need support of some kind.

All these plants and shrubs must have loose humusy soil and be kept damp but not soggy. Be sure to provide yourself with a good garden spray to keep your plants healthy and free from insects. Fancy leafed Caladiums, a mixed variety, would make a showy spot in that shaded area. These are bulbs and can be planted in pots if you wish, too.

In the mood for a change of scenery? The Ladies' Guild of St. Pius X Catholic Church plan a bus trip Wednesday, April 15. The schedule calls for lunch and a fashion show at Bullocks' Fashion Square, a visit to Exposition Park, and a Greek Orthodox Church, dinner at a spot to be decided, and a visit to the evening TV show, "You Don't Say," then home. Everyone will meet at 8:30 a.m. at Santa Sophia's Church in Casa de Oro. Tickets will be $6 in addition to meals and a twenty-five cent charge per person for Exposition Park. For further information and reservations call Evelyn Finnerty 466-7793 or Marlene Espinola 444-4932.

Mike Egan spent the weekend before Easter at the Ocean House, as a guest of the Kiwanis Club during its Circle K Convention. Circle K, of which Mike is a member, is a service organization in colleges and universities sponsored by the Senior Kiwanis. The purpose of the Convention was to find out what other clubs were doing and to elect officers. The theme was "Provide Free Enterprise." About 400 members from California, Nevada, and Hawaii enjoyed a luau. Other highlights were a caucus, the election and the Governor's Installation Banquet. The International President of Circle K flew in from Louisiana.

A former high school chum of Mike's, Ron Tenison, was home from Reed College in Oregon for Easter Vacation, and attended classes with him at the University of San Diego one day, had lunch and toured the campus.

Carl and Irene Impink enjoyed a 2½-week stay in Arizona, returning to Jamul in time to prepare for Easter with the grandchildren. They have a 24-ft. trailer parked on five acres the other side of Kingman, "two miles from the clubhouse and humans." The day after their arrival 3 inches of snow fell, but their trailer is snug. During this stay they poured a 12 foot slab and one of these days may add a room or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kistrup, Sr. had as Easter dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jensen of La Mesa and their houseguest, Mrs. Jensen from Wisconsin, and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Petersen of the Grossmont Nursery.

Driving Rules to Reduce Accidents

The next time you get behind the wheel of your car, ask yourself this question:

Am I really aware of the possibility that I could have an accident?

"And, now that you have raised this question, ask yourself another," suggests California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden. "What steps are available to minimize the chances of an accident actually occurring?"

"First," he said, "is compliance with law. Observance of the safety practices spelled out in traffic laws is probably the best single means of avoiding accidents.

"Second is concentration. Driving requires no less than all of your attention, all of the time. Of critical importance, for instance, is what the other driver is doing. He is not in a position to tell you. You can only learn by observing him.

"Third is not-so-common courtesy on the road. Your recognition of the rights of others to their share of the highway is a demonstration of your desire to operate safely—and provide others a chance to do the same."

Chargers Hi-Lite Best in Business

In the mould of Barnum & Bailey, Sid Gillman calls the now ready for public showing "Chargers Hi-Lite" film of the 1963 season "The Greatest Show On Earth."

Gillman came to this conclusion after a premiere screening before the Charger Backers' (official fan club of the Chargers) annual meeting Thursday, March 19, at Ocean House. At the same time, he proudly announced that "I'd like for every football fan to see this film, for if these guys (Chargers) don't look like a world championship football team then I'm in the wrong business.

"This is the best film of its kind that I've ever been associated with."

The Charger office has already been flooded with requests for the "epic" by youth groups, schools, churches, service clubs, PTA's, etc. The only qualifications are that the viewing organization have a 16-millimeter sound projector and screen at its disposal and that it allow 34 minutes, running time of the film. There will be 20 prints made of the film, which will be distributed to every nook and cranny in this country.

The "Charger Hi-Lites," sponsored by American Airlines, produced by the Photography House of San Diego and narrated by Al Couppee, may be obtained by calling Janice Crownhart at the Charger office, 297-4461.

million a year business. "Increase this by just 20 percent and literally thousands of new jobs will be created. Such an increase is possible if county government will take a dynamic, positive approach to the problem of stimulating the tourist industry," he said.

"Remember this," Boney added, "tourist money is good money. Tourists don't require the schools, welfare programs, and other services that increase your tax bill. This tourist money finds its way—either directly or indirectly—into over half the pocketbooks in San Diego County."

Boney explained that emphasis on tourism doesn't mean that programs to increase county-wide industrial development should be put aside. "Actually," he said, "tourism and industry go hand in hand. The more people that are exposed to the benefits of living and working in San Diego County, the better our chances to make a concentrated campaign to secure new industry pay off. To sell the benefits of San Diego County, we first have to get people to come here to see for themselves. Tourism provides an easy—and profitable—way to do this."

Boney, 49, has been a San Diego County resident for 24 years. He came here from Texas and opened a small market in East San Diego. This one store later grew into a chain of markets serving San Diego and the South Bay area. In 1956 he pioneered the "small supermarket" concept and founded what became the 128-store Speedee Mart chain, which he sold earlier this year. Boney plans to devote full time to his job as supervisor.

Active for many years in civic affairs, Boney currently is serving as president of the San Diego County Council, Boy Scouts of America. He also is on the board of directors of United Community Services and the San Diego Convention and Tourist Bureau. He is a trustee of California Western University. In 1961 he was chairman of the United Fund Campaign and, in 1958, was Lieutenant Governor of Division 11, of Kiwanis International. He is a trustee and finance committee member of the La Mesa First Methodist Church.

Boney is married and lives with his wife, Jessie, at 9252 Madison Ave., in La Mesa. He has six children.

Lively Oaks Plan New Activities

The chili luncheon at the Alpine Lively Oaks Monday was very successful. The food was good and plentiful and the tables were decorated in the Easter theme. Erna Earle hand-painted almost four dozen pullet eggs which were too pretty to crack and eat according to those attending. The Chinese are said to have saved their beautifully decorated eggs for centuries, the meat inside drying up into small balls, according to Mrs. Myrtle Hoffelder. Mrs. Amanda Bauer gave an interpretation of a Finland skit and she proved to be quite a comedienne.

A group interested in art crafts will meet on Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Youth Center and all are invited to come and bring new ideas for copying or discussion. Mr. Vancil would like to start a horseshoe club with an eye toward future tournaments. Any men interested can come Thursday while the art crafts class is meeting.

It was voted to change potluck day to the second Monday in order to accommodate those members who like to attend other luncheons on the first Monday of each month. No potluck next Monday but it will be held on Monday, April 13th.

College Overseas Study Offered

San Diego State has a quota of 17 students for overseas study. A total of 239 students from 17 state colleges will be accepted next year, according to Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, dean of arts and sciences. A March 15 deadline has been set for students to apply.

Gulick said the college may be able to send as many as 20 students if other schools do not fill their quotas. Students may study at campuses in France, Germany, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Formosa and Japan.

Cost to the student for one full year of study abroad is $1,850. The cost includes travel, room and board and a $46 registration fee.

Students may earn up to 30 units in the country of their choice of the seven countries.

Students with an upper division or graduate standing with a 3.0 grade point average the preceding semester will qualify, Gulick said. They must also be enrolled in one of the California State Colleges and have an adequate knowledge of the country's language. This does not pertain to Sweden or Japan.

Gulick said about 100 California State College students are enrolled in the program this year. San Diego State has five students participating; they will return in August.

Applications and additional information about the program are available in Room 207 of the administration building, San Diego State.

Mt. Empire Schools Need Tax Override

Representatives will call on the residents in their area to find if each and everyone is registered before April 9.

A very rewarding meeting—the hopes of all parents, is that this much needed override will pass.

No persons filed nomination petitions for the two positions to be filled so no names will be printed on the ballots and each voter must "write-in" the names of the persons of their choice. Since the Registrar of Voters, who is conducting the election, stated that oftentimes in such elections there is much confusion in regard to the persons voted for on account of the variations in the spelling of their names, the local papers offered to publish the names of any write-in candidates with the spelling which they desired to be used. To date two persons have indicated their desire to be write-in candidates and the Echo has published their names with the spelling which they desire.

SCHRADE REPORTS ON LEGISLATION

Once again the financial problems of our public school system are fouling up our normal state budget procedures. As a result, as you read this, the 1964 Budget Session will have adjourned without enactment of a budget bill for the 1964-65 fiscal year.

This means that in order to secure an approved expenditure program for next year, the Governor must include the budget in his call for the current special session. The situation is somewhat like that which occurred at the 1963 General Session, when failure to agree on school appropriations forced the passage of a "skeleton" budget in the last minutes. To secure desired funds for the operating agencies, the Governor then called a special budget session, but it took four weeks to hammer the spending bill out.

This year, the Assembly Ways and Means Committee upped the budget request to $3.67 billion. On the floor, when it became apparent that Republicans would vote against it as a bloc, the "urgency clause" was removed from the bill. This permitted its passage by a simple majority of votes, though the vote on passage was divided strictly on party lines, 49 to 28. This procedure, however, did not relieve the requirement that the Assembly must eventually approve the bill in some form by a two-thirds majority, in order for it to go into effect on July 1.

Assembly Republican leaders said that votes of their party members against the budget were an expression of their desire to learn what financial provision would be made for local school districts. Also reportedly involved was the question of whether college and school construction bond issues should go on the June primary ballot.

As had been anticipated because of previous statements by Senate leaders, when the Assembly version of the budget was delivered to the Senate desk, it was held there, thus shelving consideration. In an open letter to the Chairman of Ways and Means, the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee declared that passage of the bill in the Assembly form would mean that state government would grind to a halt.

In the meantime, the Senate version of the budget bill, supposedly some $12 million less than the Assembly policy on it had not been fixed by a two-thirds vote.

Developments on public school organization and finance in the current special session have come so thick and fast that it is difficult to summarize them briefly. The school district consolidation bill, which would have made a drastic cut in the number of separate districts, was given lengthy hearings by the Assembly Education Committee. Vociferous opposition to it from administrators, school districts, teachers and others convinced all that it has no chance of passage. Accordingly, it was dropped by its primary author, who introduced a completely new measure. Under it, voluntary unification would be permitted until January 1, 1967. After that date, the State Board of Education could order unification. The Governor also revised his financing program, to raise grants to local districts by some $20 million annually.
