ALPINE WOMAN'S CLUB BEGINS FIFTIETH YEAR OF SERVICE

On Sept. 22nd, when the Alpine Woman's Club opens its doors at 2 p.m. for the first meeting of the new Fall season, it will begin its fiftieth consecutive year as a leading local organization. It was organized in October 1914 with the late Mrs. May K. Marshall as its first President.

The club was formed with seven members, only one of whom, Mrs. Harold Flegal, is still living. Mrs. Flegal, with her husband and son ran the Alpine Winery for many years. She now lives with her son, Joe-David and his family, in La Mesa. The first name given to the organization by its members was the Alpine Booster Club, but it was soon called simply the ABC Club. The women called themselves the ABCs. In 1921 the name was changed to the Monte Viejas Club, and in 1927 it became the Alpine Woman's Club.

The ABCs met in the homes of members for a short while before renting the upstairs room of the present Woman's Club building which was then owned by the Alpine Hall Company. They paid $10 a year rental and furnished the room themselves. Some of these early furnishings remain the property of the club and are still in use. Among these items are a couple of small occasional tables and some chairs. The most important and impressive item of

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA La FORCE

With Labor Day week over and done with once more, the year seems to rouse like a giant long asleep on a lazy river bank and slowly, unwillingly, rise to shoulder his load, laid down at the beginning of summer. This is a load of kids with their books and papers, and their restlessness and boredom and sometimes even eagerness to learn. To read, mainly. One wise educator has said that if a child learns to read well he can be well educated, but if he does not or cannot read well he can never be educated properly. A local teacher, as wise in the way of educating children as anyone, says the same is true of spelling.

In these two edicts the McGuffey brothers, those famous teacher text-book writers of the last century would heartily agree. They wrote the McGuffey Eclectic Readers for the children of the Western frontier and the McGuffey Eclectic Spelling Book was their companion text. The readers are well known and often talked about but we seldom hear of the spelling books. I think they are as quaint and impressive as the Readers. The one I found came from Kimball, South Dakota, according to the name written in the frontispiece. The name Ada is carefully written in pencil, in big letters, as if done by a young child, while Muzz and Ruzz are written in fine penmanship in the brown ink about the place name. This old book has been well studied. The pages are worn from much turning and I suspect the faint smudges in some places are tear marks. Spelling

New Area Population Tabulated by County

The San Diego County Planning Department has made a census of the population by geographical areas.

The result of this census as indicated by their report and an accompanying map for the areas being served by the Alpine Echo, with two exceptions, are as indicated in the box at the upper left hand corner of page one of this issue of the Echo.

The map shows the Alpine area extending from Harbison Canyon easterly to Pine Valley Creek, and from Los Coches Creek southerly to the Sweetwater River. The Mt. Empire area is from Cottonwood Creek and Pine Valley Creek easterly to the county line, and from Pine Valley southerly to the Mexican border. The Jamul area is from Proctor Valley Road westerly to Cottonwood Creek and from the Sweetwater River southerly to the Mexican border. The Crest area is from Harbison Canyon westerly to Valley Rim Road, and from Highway 80 to Dehesa Road.

The communities of Guatay, Pine Valley and Mt. Laguna are included within large areas to the north which required that an estimate be made by the Alpine Echo of the population for these communities. If anyone disagrees with any of these population figures, please advise the Alpine Echo and an investigation will be made.

Crest Fireman's Picnic 'All Wet'

Saturday, Aug. 29 was the annual Crest Fireman's Picnic at Nancy Jane Park. Department members, their families and guests thoroughly enjoyed the day-long round of activities, exhibitions and games. The lunch was delicious, with Don Newman serving competently as

"Chef" at the bar-b-que.

Trainees Jimmy and Norman Younghusband, Tony and Luigi Caprio, and Bob Donovan presented an hilarious skit, lampooning the methods of putting out a fire. The "Keystone Cops would have doffed their helmets to these boys. The egg-toss became hysterical

Nuclear Power Plant Under Construction

Visible evidence of construction progress is beginning to take shape at San Onofre, site of what will be the world's largest nuclear power plant.

In about two weeks the first sections of the huge steel sphere that will contain the 400-ton reactor are scheduled to begin arriving at the site, two miles south of San Clemente on the Pacific coast. Meanwhile, crews are putting the finishing touches on the 40 foot deep pit into which the sphere will be placed.

"Everything is proceeding right on schedule so far," says R. W. Ayersman, veteran Bechtel Corporation engineer and project superintendent. "Within the next few days we will start erecting the large steel tower for assembling the containment sphere."

Bird Not to Debate With His Opponent

David W. Bird, incumbent County Supervisor from the Second District, announced that he will not debate with his opponent and will not appear on the same platform with him.

The announcement was made by Ralph Chapman and Glen Howell, Bird's campaign managers.

Bird is in Sacramento attending a meeting of the California Supervisors Association.

Chapman said, "If there is any group within the Second District that would like to hear Dave's views on county government, or if there is any group that would like to question Dave about his administration of the many State laws that affect counties in California, Dave will be glad to accept an invitation to appear before these groups."

"Dave Bird has carefully considered both the background of this campaign, and the money-laden maneuvers of his opponent, and has decided that he will not dignify his opponent by appearing with him before the public."

Carpenter Outlines Three-Part Program

Paul Carpenter, the Walking Candidate for Congress in the 35th Congressional District, said today that the lines of battle are clearly drawn between himself and his opponent concerning the well-being of Southern California workers.

Speaking at the annual picnic of the North County Carpenter's Union in Escondido, Carpenter said that the 35th District is threatened with economic stagnation and pointed to a three-part program he is sponsoring as a means of overcoming that threat.

"My campaign isn't part of a party-versus-party battle," Carpenter said. "It is a part of the battle the people of this District are waging against irresponsibility and inaction on the part of their representative."

New Publication Starts in Jamul

The Alpine Echo has received a copy of Volume I, No. I, of a new publication being started in Jamul, dated August 27, 1964. The publication states that it is "dedicated to the preservation of liberty and freedom for all."

The masthead states that "Think" is published twice monthly at Jamul, California, the editors being Bob Baecht, Ron Beidler, Ken Heide and Charles Small. It further states that it is distributed free to all interested persons, and that donations are welcome. The mailing address of the new publication is Rt. 1, Box 102, Jamul, and phone number is 463-8953.

The publication is printed in a neat, orderly manner, is well written, and from the context of the articles appears to be favoring Barry Goldwater for President of the United States.

A modern highway today winds its way toward Warner Springs from the place known as Ocotillo on U.S. Highway 80, crossing the Borrego Springs-Julian road at Scissors Crossing. A few miles south of there, the road passes Box Canyon which is marked by a little monument only to easily overlooked by the speeding motorist. Yet, the marker commemorates one of the most amazing feats in our history.

A hundred years ago, this was a near-impenetrable wilderness. On January 19, 1847, a young soldier who, a few years earlier, had been graduated from West Point, stood at the entrance of the chasm through which he and the group of men he was leading would have to pass in order to reach their destination, the last and toughest hurdle on his trip which opened a wagon road to the coast.

Lt. Col. Philip St. George Cook, born at Leesburg, Va. in 1809, had seen war duty in the Black Hawk War and had been in the battle of Bad Axe. A year later, he had been commissioned lieutenant of the dragoons. Now, at the age of 38, he was a lieutenant colonel in charge of the famed Mormon Battalion dispatched to California to assist in the war against Mexico with the approval of Mormon leader Brigham Young who saw in this arrangement a way for the Saints to reach the West with the assistance of the Government. Weeks before he stood at the mouth of Box Canyon, Cooke and his group had left Santa Fe, New Mexico on orders of General Stephen Watts Kearney, en route for California.

Cook had found the situation difficult in Santa Fe. There had been too many families in the Battalion, too many women and children, too many who were too old for a trip through the rough wilderness which knew no road or trail. Moreover, many of the animals had broken down and new animals procured were of inferior quality. Absence of proper grazing and forage facilities in the wilderness further contributed to making the situation a very bad one for Cooke and his force.

Cooke had tackled the problems one by one, ridding the organization as much as possible of those unfit for the rough trip to the coast, and it was well that he did, for before the Battalion had been on the road for more than a month, rations had to be reduced. Eventually, some 58 infirm were sent back reducing the load on the wagons and the strain on the oxen considerably and making it possible to restore regular rations.

Boldly, Cooke struck out in the direction of the coast although his guides, headed by the famous scout Pauline Weaver, admitted they knew little or nothing about the rugged mountain range which formed the Continental Divide ahead. But they drove on across the mountains, warded off an attack by wild bulls on the San Pedro river and reached the Colorado. There were 360 men left in the Battalion who now tackled the burning sands of the American Sahara knowing that only after they reached Warner's the going would be easier.

Mile by mile they plodded on, across sand dunes, through washes, over sharp rocks, with little water, little food. Finally on January 19, three months after leaving Santa Fe, they stood at the entrance of Box Canyon. The scouts had reported that a good, firm road lay ahead which narrowed down to a tiny passage through the canyon. But as the group moved in, they suddenly found themselves confronted by a wall, an almost vertical ascent. Cooke, at the head of the Bat-

THE BASIC ISSUE

In this issue of the Echo appears an article about a new publication being started in Jamul. The publication includes quotes from a number of sources including Lincoln, LBJ and Goldwater, and makes comparison of the principles of the Republican and Democratic philosophies.

Also, we have received from the San Diego Union and Evening Tribune a very attractive pamphlet in color entitled "He Spoke the American Truth — For Yesterday — For Today — For Tomorrow," in which is given a quotation attributed to Abraham Lincoln as follows:

"Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable, is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

These two organizations, the new publication in Jamul, and the Union-Tribune which is in its 95th year of publication, are examples of the organizations and individuals who are advocating that the United States of America return to, and remain on the "free enterprise" form of economy and government.

Based on statistics (if they have any value) such organizations and individuals have little, if any, chance of success. The statistics on which this statement is made are the steady increase in the number of American voters who vote for candidates who promise more and more of the steps that lead from the "free enterprise" form of economy and government to the "welfare state" form of economy and government.

Fifty Years of Community Service

The Alpine Woman's Club is this year commemorating its 50th Anniversary.

Fifty years ago a small group of women in the Alpine community, which in those days was a rural area with practically no conveniences or contact with outside areas, started a Club which has been in continuous existence to the present day through times of war and peace and in times of prosperity and depression.

The Alpine Woman's Club has maintained through all these years the principles and objective of the original founders, and have always been a substantial influence for the good of the community, and have set an example which should be followed by all of the other organizations in Alpine, and elsewhere, of exerting a calm, stabilizing influence on the community instead of arousing dissensions and controversies.

BACK TO SCHOOL WEEK

Let us cut out all this folderal about mama being so over-joyed in getting rid of her brats when school starts and about what the little demons are planning to do to their arch enemy, the teacher, when they get there.

Instead, why not impress on the children how fortunate they are in having the opportunity of obtaining an education? That they should take every advantage of the opportunity and be grateful to their parents and the other members of the community for supporting the public school system?

Also, Mother should at least intimate that she will miss her children while they are away from home at school, but recognize that the school system is better equipped to prepare her children for their futures lives.

was not taken lightly in December 1879 when this "new and revised" text was printed.

The feature that most charmed me is the PICTORIAL ALPHABET. It begins emphatically "A is for Ax" with a drawing of a big sharp axe whammed into a stump. B is for Boy. He came in second to the axe. In those days the boy saw the axe as a work implement used for cutting wood. Our kids would see it as a prop in a murder mystery, movie or TV. C is for Cat, in McGuffey's vocabulary for children. D is for Dog, E for Elk, F for Fox, G for Girl. H is for Hen, I for Ink. K for Kid, showing a young goat. Only goat raisers think of this word as applied to young goats anymore. M is for Man, whom some women think is also a vanishing critter! O is for Ox, left only in the zoo and faraway places, no longer a part of our lives. Q is for Quail, J is for Jug, L is for Lark, N for Nut, P for Pig, R for Rat, S for Sun, T for Top, the old manual kind to be twirled with a string somehow. U is for Urn and there's a delicate drawing of a Grecian antique. V for Vine shows a bunch of grapes. W has a chipper little Wren on a twig. X is the Alpha and Omega Greek symbol. Religion was taught in the schools then from the ABC level. Y is for Yak, and Z for Zebra, with these undomestic beasts pictured quite docile and dainty.

The book states in the beginning "the following 44 sounds are those most employed in the English language." Lesson one starts with the short sounds of A. The picture of the lesson shows three overdressed little girls standing humbly, before a seated lady teacher whose hair is piled atop her head almost as it is piled today. Authorities say that the McGuffey book were responsible for a large contribution to the molding of the American character trained in the concept that education is primarily moral and only secondarily intellectual. The McGuffey books, both readers and spellers are certainly moralistic. Every story points a lesson in the strictly practical sense; the

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Van Til, formerly of San Jose, who recently purchased the Alpine Sun newspaper, have just rented the attractive two-bedroom home on an acre on Lilac Lane just purchased by Mr. and Mrs. William Angus of China Lake, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Angus will not move to Alpine for two years when Angus retires. This sale and rentals were made by Charlene V. Brown of Pierce Realty Company here.

The property owned by Donald and Betty Cline on the corner of Rock Terrace Dr. and Highway 80, having 150 foot frontage on the highway and a two-bedroom home has just been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Linville of Martinez Lake, Ariz. Mr. and Mrs. Linville are retired and plan to improve the property by redecorating and building a new garage. good are rewarded, with sound material rewards, and the bad are the failures who never get rich or famous or win any medals at the county fair. Success was the goal and thrift, duty, modesty, humility, honesty, hard work (especially the hard work part) being obedient and always on time, were the qualifications that assured success. Failure, the stories pointed out, were due to the lack of these virtues. Laziness reaped its just reward and such people deserved only scorn. these furnishings is the beautiful big table which stands up front in the auditorium and is used as the presiding table by the officers. This was made from an old square piano the women purchased from the Thearle Music Company for $5 and had hauled up the mountain in a lumber wagon with a team of horses owned by Mr. Pennoyer who charged them the exorbitant sum of $1 for the hauling. Early minutes of the meetings record these facts with a shade of disapproval of the extravagance of such a purchase.

The club's first project was to improve the library still maintained in the west wing of the building now under the San Diego County Library. The early library was a local one with books and furnishings donated by the Woman's Club and other interested local people. The library remains one of the Club's interests enjoying its sponsorship through the years.

As the membership of the early club grew the small upstairs room became too crowded so the women rented the main auditorium of the hall downstairs and in 1932 when the Hall Company dissolved, the Alpine Woman's Club purchased the building and the land it occupies including its ample parking space, and at the same time they incorporated.

In 1927 the Club Federated with the county clubs, and with the State Federation in 1945. For some time past now the club has belonged to the General Federation and is active in its functions.

The first meeting of this new season will be a pot-luck luncheon and fashion show under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Clay. These fashion shows, fall and spring annual functions, are among the favorite attractions of the club. Mrs. Clay announces that Martells of El Cajon will bring out the fashions to be modeled by club women. The models will be the Mesdames Leta Judd, Nellie Keller, Renie Adams, Lona Schaeffer, Elizabeth Kenovan, and La Donna Muhlhauser. A gift certificate will be awarded to the door prize winner. Mrs. Orville Palmer is hostess chairman of the event. Come and bring a guest and help your Club begin its 50th year as a good force in the community and a real credit to its membership.

Republican Fund Raising Dinner

RADM. Leslie E. Gehres, USN (ret.), Chairman of the Republican Central Committee of San Diego County, announced that the major Republican fund-raising event of 1964 in San Diego County, the 14th annual $100-per-plate dinner, will be held Friday, Sept. 18, in the International Room of the El Cortez Hotel. Dr. Roy M. Ledford, Sr., is the Dinner Chairman.

The Hon. Thurston B. Morton, United States Senator (Rep.) from Kentucky, will be honoree and chief speaker at the dinner. Senator Morton's appearance is jointly sponsored by Republican Associates and the Republican Central Committee.

Senator Morton attracted national attention most recently as Permanent Chairman of the 1964 Republican National Convention which nominated Senator Barry Goldwater and Congressman William Miller to head the GOP national ticket in November. At San Francisco, Morton's firm manner with the gavel and dry humor preserved order and allowed Convention business to proceed when the hyper-enthusiasm of the delegates several times threatened to impede it.

Senator Morton is currently Chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, succeeding Senator Goldwater. He was also GOP National Chairman during the Nixon-Kennedy contest of 1960. Morton was succeeded as National Chairman by present Republican Vice-Presidential Nominee William Miller.

Funds raised by the dinner will be allocated to the campaigns of all Republican candidates who will appear on San Diego County ballots in November according to a formula previously agreed upon by the candidates' representatives. With the exception of Senator Goldwater and Congressman Miller, all other candidates benefited by the dinner will be present. The list includes U.S. Senatorial candidate George Murphy; Congressmen Bob Wilson and James B. Utt; Congressional candidate Dick Wilson; Assemblyman Hale Ashcraft, E. Richard Barnes, Clair W. Burgener and Richard Donovan.

Dr. Ledford announced that Roscoe E. Hazard, Sr. will be honorary chairman of ticket sales. Chairman of ticket sales is Edward A. Breitbard. Other dinner committee assignments are: Richard G. Capen (Program and Master of Ceremonies), Mrs. Sherman O'Reilly (Arrangements), John P. Starkey (Finance), Robert C. Walker and Peter B. Wilson (Publicity).

when some of the younger children began catching the raw eggs by bringing their palms together, hard.

The high spot of the day was, as always, the water fight. Teams of firemen, manning fire hoses with full pressure on them, faced each other across the tennis courts. There was a volleyball, suspended on wire between the teams. When the water was turned on from the fire truck, each team directed the stream from its hose at the ball, attempting to be the first to send it across the court to the back fence. Winning teams were Fire Chief Roger Dutton and Bob Nelson, Jim Pere and Paul Mon Dragon, Don Coleman and Paul Mon Dragon and trainees Norman Younghusband and Jimmy Drogo.

The participants and spectators ended up sozzled, but as Chief Dutton said, "It was the only thing about the picnic that was all wet."

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Funk's lovely daughter, Patricia Ann, is visiting them this week and will remain until school starts at the University of Arizona where she is enrolled as a senior. Patricia Ann, who is Mrs. Richard Francis Cannon, has been visiting in Mesa, Ariz. where she and her husband were the guests of his parents. Cannon is in the U. S. Air Force and now on his way to his final nine-month tour of duty in Tempe, Ariz. During this period Patricia Ann will finish her studies at U. of A.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clay and daughter, Marianne have just returned from a vacation which they found very refreshing. They went to Riverside where they spent two weeks visiting Mrs. Clay's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Timmons. While they were there Mrs. Clay's two sisters from Texas joined the group for a family reunion. The Clays then went on to Modesto where they spent a week with their married daughter, Julianne, and her husband, Kenneth Kline. On their way back to Alpine they stopped off in their former home, Newman, to see old friends. Now all rested and refreshed, they are ready to get back into harness in their respective Alpine jobs. Mr. Clay, in the Alpine Union School, and Mrs. Clay in the very demanding job as Ways and Means chairman of the Alpine Woman's Club. Marianne is a freshman at El Capitan High School this semester.

Labor Day did not stop 24 members of the Alpine Lively Oaks from attending the regular weekly meeting. Mrs. Fred Barber brought her sister, Mrs. Marion Hall of Los Angeles, as her guest. Mrs. Roy Setser played the piano and the group had a half hour of singing songs of the Gay '90s. The hostesses for the month of September are Mrs. Ellen Schiek and Mrs. Lois Santoros. Next week's meeting is pot-luck day. It is reported that this local senior citizens group is now 85 strong, and they will welcome all persons over 50 years of age as members.

Mrs. Jeanette Hinkle is home from the hospital and recuperating satisfactorily here at home.

Mrs. Cleo Wallen will leave next Wednesday to visit her mother, Mrs. George H. Patterson of Wayne, Neb. Mrs. Wallen will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Ring of Tavern Road on the trip to Wayne. The Rings will then go on to Pittsburgh, Kan., to visit with Mrs. Ring's mother in that city. Cleo will visit with her mother for about two weeks and plans to return to Alpine via San Diego by air.

Mrs. Harold Greenlee of San Mateo visited her uncles, Joseph Wallan of Alpine and Paul Warren of El Cajon, for a few days during the past week.

DEERHORN VALLEY

By ROY WALLIN

Well, the long Labor Day weekend's over, and fortunately none of our friends or neighbors are among the grim statistics—for this we are thankful.

Both Sami and Hugh Arledge of Happy Day Ranch had a bout with the grandfather of all flu bugs, but the Arledges won out and all's well.

Talking about statistics and reports, perhaps you heard about the Coast Guard search (on the "Extra" News station) for a man, identified as Clarence Sellers, aged 50, with one son, who was washed over the side of the fishing boat Mi Amigo out of San Pedro. All the facts fit (a rare coincidence) but our neighbor, Clarence Sellers, is hale, hearty, and not lost at sea.

All sorts of local as well as visiting musical and vocal talent materialized at the Deerhorn Valley Lodge this past Labor Day weekend. Locally we had the pleasure to witness the nimble fingers of Dave Barnum on the piano and accordion as well as the delightful strumming of Herman Franklin on the banjo with vocal assistance by Sarah Barnum and Rory Wallin. Joining in were Chuck on the piano and Bob on the guitar who were visiting our community with the Solar picnic group.

Ran into Jewel Carmody's brother who said that Jewel and Dewey were contemplating returning to our area in the not-too-distant future. The Carmodys were the former residents of Crow Valee Ranch—we'll look forward to seeing you both soon again.

Don't forget the meeting of the Deerhorn Civic Club this Friday evening at 8 p.m. at the Young Christian Workers Camp. We'll look forward to seeing you.

DEHESA

By KATHRYN HEINZ

"Grandpa" John Willson has shown marked improvement the past weeks and is now able to enjoy visitors. Grandpa is in Rm. 11 in the Foothill Medical Center on Chase Avenue in El Cajon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Anderson of Dehesa Road spent the past week in San Francisco visiting relatives and friends, and sight-seeing in the Bay area.

Mrs. Jackie Neder and daughters, Sandra and Frankie of Fresno and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Walker and son, Jeff of Anaheim were visitors last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harvey.

Mrs. Willis Deckard of Costa Mesa was a Labor Day weekend visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Denton and family. Mrs. Deckard is the mother of Mrs. Denton.

Clyde Horstman of Sloans Canyon Road has purchased two horses the past week and plans to use them for family riding.

Miss Katie and Christina Nowak returned home from spending the summer in the Los Angeles area. Katie will enter Grossmont Junior College when the fall term starts.

The Dehesa Junior softball team will play a scheduled game Sunday at 1:30 p.m. with Bates Lane of El Cajon at the Sycuan Indian Reservation on Dehesa Road. The public is cordially invited to attend. Refreshments are available at the ball diamond.

Mrs. Ray Harvey has purchased the El Capitan Barber Shop at 1410 East Main Street in El Cajon. Mrs. Harvey is one of the very few women barbers in the San Diego area.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Anderson and daughters, Lee and Mauri Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goedker, Mr. Edward Meisinger, Mrs. Linda

Tinker and sons, Steven and Jerry and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Thrash camped out over the Labor Day weekend at the Ray Harvey Ranch. The men went to the Imperial Valley Saturday for the opening of dove season and reported getting their limits.

Mr. and Mrs. Andre Pratt and children of Norwalk were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Heinz and sons.

Billy and Richard Russell of El Cajon are house guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Denton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillary Kramer and children were Monday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Heinz.

Dehesa residents are making plans to attend the Granite Hills High School barbecue and dance sponsored by the school's PTA Friday night. The event rounds out the Freshman Orientation Day and gives the children a chance to meet their new school friends.

JAMUL

By THERESA EGAN

Back-to-School. Freshmen entering Monte Vista High School this semester received notices to report Sept. 11 at 8 a.m. for Orientation Day. This will prevent complications when all students go back Monday, Sept. 14.

The new sign at the former Miller Pet Farm on Lyon Valley Rd., now owned by Tip and Betty Tipton, reads "Jamul Pet Shelter."

Registration will take place at St. Pius X Catholic Church Sunday, Sept. 13 after 8:30 Mass for all children planning to attend the grade school of religion and the high school of religion.

When the Shipyard closed, Alfred (Gene) Lowe found a job with AIM—across the street from the old one.

One day of our vacation, just drawn to a close, was spent at Balboa Park. Our first stop was the Fine Arts Gallery. I took along an old gilded make-up box, the lid of which was a framed painting with a mirror on the underside, hoping to have its age estimated and the print identified. The librarian in the gallery will generally perform this service, but the library being closed the assistant director of the gallery gave me the verdict. "A cheap commercial item, contemporary, that is within the last 20 to 30 years. The print is one of dozens reproduced from such originals and not worth identifying." He softened the blow with our old favorite. "If it pleases you that's the important thing."

With us we also had a sample of a plant from our garden our nursery couldn't identify. Going past the lily pond, restored to its old beauty with blooms and goldfish, we entered the cool Botanical Gardens and rested a few minutes on a curved bench in its patio-like interior. Looking up you'll see a framework of metal girders supporting wooden lathwork. These were once part of a Santa Fe Depot, purchased for the park in 1917 and brought to the spot. The luxuriant plants are labelled and you'll notice if you look closely most are in pots to be moved at will. The young gardener told us only established plants, semi-tropical and tropical, are found in the Botanical Gardens and suggested we try the Natural History Museum or the Park Nursery, beyond the merry-go-round. The latter was closed for the day and at the museum we learned the botanist familiar with plants native to the San Diego area was on a trip to Baja California. We lingered to watch the famous Foucault Pendulum and the seismograph recording a normal day's waves, and nearby saw the chart for the day of the Alaskan earthquake.

Joe viewed Aerospace historical items at the Aviation Museum and Sharon and I revisited the Rock Museum. And again we strolled through Spanish Village. Visitors from New York have likened this spot to Greenwich Village. The artists who rent the 42 studios form a corporation that runs Spanish Village. Know-nothings in the art department we had the audacity to discuss their paintings with these experts, and were pleased to find that the two painters who had had impressed us most on our visit four years before still occupy their tiny studios. If you should plan to spend a day soon in the park as we did you will find picnic tables available and other buildings to visit that we've omitted, and you will note your day has not cost you a cent. (Unless you visit the Zoo and the rides).

MT. LAGUNA

By KATHY McMANUS

The Mt. Laguna First Annual Horse Show and Gymkhana was a huge success. The trail ride on Saturday was grand. Although I was not able to obtain the names of all the riders that placed I do know that in the junior division Donna Huntington placed first in Horsemanship and second in Sportsmanship. Her sister, Dea, placed fourth in Horsemanship.

On Sunday the area around the Horse Show and Gymkhana was jam-packed full of trailers, cars, people, and most important horses, horses, horses. The activities got underway at about 10 a.m. and lasted until 7 p.m. The day was fun-filled from beginning till end. The only mishap of the day was when Judy Person fell off her horse during the Stake Race. This was caused when her cinch snapped. Luckily Judy was not hurt and she continued during the rest of the day to take a first. First place winners were as follows: Cattle penning, Peggy Davidson on Bobette Moore and Phyllis Dunn on Delights; Showmanship, Charle Suylian on Bobette Moore; Pole Bending, B. C. Smiley on Tommy Red; Figure Eight Stake Race, Terry Clark on Scat Cat; Western Pleasure Open, Debra Issacs on Mr. Bucket; Balloon Spearing, B. C. Smiley on Tommy Red; Keyhole Race, B. C. Smiley on Tommy Red; Flag Race, B. C. Smiley on Tommy Red; Western Horsemanship, Donna Ledgerwood on Hot Spur Jr.; Barrel Race, Terry Clark on Scat Cat; Quadrangle Stake Race, Judy Person on Diablo, Judy also happens to be the California Champion and holds the fastest time in this event; Western Pleasure for residents of the Mt. Empire District only, Donna Ledgerwood on Hot Spur Jr.; Trailer Race, B. C. Smiley on Tommy Red; Single Pole Race, Francene Jampepero on Lil' Abner. All in all everyone had a great time and we do hope that they will all come back again for a bigger and better Horse Show and Gymkhana next year.

This weekend there were an estimated 10,000 people on Mt. Laguna. With all these people, you would possibly think there would be quite a few accidents. If there were any, they very very few and minor ones at that.

On Saturday night there were four dances. There was a Square Dance at the Pine House, another dance at the Blue Jay complete with a band. There was a street dance designed for the teen-agers in front of the Laguna Mountain Lodge, and still another at the Shriners Camp.

Smokey Bear was even making the rounds up here on Mt. Laguna. I'm sure all the children had a wonderful time talking to him and shaking his hand.

talion caught up with scout Pauline Weaver who was standing at the end of the canyon looking up at the wall ahead at the very top of which he could see a small expanse of blue sky.

"I believe we are penned up," Weaver said, shrugging his shoulders. Indeed, they were. Most of the seven wagons were so wide that they could not possibly pass through the tiny opening which was a foot narrower than the wagons were wide.

"We're boxed in, all right," Cooke cried drawing his sword, "but this can't stop us" There were spades in the wagons, axes and crowbars. With these puny instruments the men began to hammer away at the narrow canyon wall, knocking off a handful of sand here and a pile of rock there. At the same time, the largest wagon was dismantled and pulled through the narrow passage piece by piece to be re-assembled on the other side. The second wagon was carried across the opening and finally, enough of a passage was hewn into the canyon walls to get the rest of the wagons through. To appreciate this tremendous feat, the visitor to Box Canyon should climb down to the old road which is quite easy. To look up at the narrow passage before which Cooke stood that day in 1847 is to understand the enormity of the task which faced this extraordinary man.

A few days later, the Mormon Battalion reached Warner's and on January 30, Cooke addressed his men in San Diego:

"History may search in vain for an equal march of infantry," he said. "Half of it has been through a wilderness where nothing but savages and wild beasts are found... we have dug deep wells which the future traveler will enjoy... we have worked our way over mountains... hewed a passage through a chasm of living rock more narrow than our wagons. Thus, marching half naked and half fed, and living upon wild animals, we have discovered and made a road of great value to our country."

Special guests included Nathan and Josh Orr, Eric Mon Dragon and Kevin Keavney. The picnic lunch and swimming were greatly enjoyed, and one boy who was not able to go in the pool managed to fall into the Lagoon, so he made it, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Floto, of 224 Scenic Drive, are home from a two-week vacation trip to Independence Creek, near Bishop. They and their three children camped in a tent-trailer, and report that the trout fishing was great. They ascended to 11,000 feet, and saw the Bristlecone Pines, which were discovered in 1958, and are believed to be the oldest living things in the world.

Mrs. Thomas Jump, her daughter, Julie Ann, and her sister, Julia Owen, are home after a month's vacation trip. They visited relatives in Iowa, spent a week in Evanston, Ill. with a sister, Mrs. E. L. Voss, and two weeks in Richmond, Va., visiting another sister, Mrs. Franklin Bacon, whom Annabelle hadn't seen in 15 years. The travelers managed five days in New York City, and saw the Fair.

Bill and "Happy" Simpson and their children are back at 271 Lilac Drive, following a 16-day stay at their favorite "home-away-from-home," their trailer in Punta Bunda, Mexico. In addition to just lazing around, Happy says the troling was good, and they caught barracuda and some bonita. The Simpsons leave their trailer in Punta Bunda, and go down as often as they can manage.

COKE'S KITCHEN

Back to school pretty soon—that means lunches to pack and the usual cookie baking. Mrs. Gina Larson, cafeteria manager of Helix High School has developed a peanut butter cookie where honey is used instead of sugar and flours are whole wheat and soy. Other ingredients are peanut butter and wheat germ. Chopped peanuts, raisins, pecans or coconut are optional additions and the cookie is delicious.

My friend, Pauline Adams sent the "Kitchen" a recipe using peanuts or sunflower seeds which is a little different in addition to another oatmeal cookie which uses crushed pineapple. Kiddoes seem to love oatmeal cookies in any shape or form—even Poppa can't go by the oven without sampling.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

- 1 cup butter (may use ½ cup of other shortening)
- 1 cup honey
- 2 eggs
- 2 tsp. vanilla
- 1 ¼ cups peanut butter (old-fashioned kind with oil on top)
- ¾ cup whole wheat pastry flour
- ¼ cup soy flour
- ½ cup wheat germ
- ¼ tsp. soda
- 1 ¼ tsp. baking powder
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ cup chopped or whole Spanish peanuts, raisins, pecans or coconut

Combine butter and shortening with honey. Beat well. Add eggs and beat until light and fluffy. Add vanilla and peanut butter. Mix together and add gradually the flours, wheat germ, soda, baking powder and salt. If using nuts, fruit or coconut, add at this time. Pat out onto cookie sheet or drop by teaspoons, pressing with tines of fork to flatten. Bake at 300 degrees until light brown. If baked in sheets, cut in squares while warm. Makes approximately 36 cookies.

ADAM'S SUNFLOWER SPECIAL

- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon milk
- ½ tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup flour
- ½ tsp. baking soda
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 ½ cup peck cooking oats
- 1 cup peanuts or sunflower seeds

Mix usual way—bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Drop by teaspoon on greased baking tin.

PINEAPPLE OATMEAL COOKIES

- 2 cups flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. baking soda
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup drained crushed pineapple
- 1 cup finely chopped dates
- 1 cup finely chopped nutmeats
- 2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, cinnamon and baking soda. Beat together shortening, brown sugar and eggs until blended; add sifted dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop by table-spoons onto greased cookie sheet. Bake in 350 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

The health food ingredients listed in the Peanut Butter Cookie recipe may be located at the Nutrition Center, 160 E. Main, El Cajon, Calif.

ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

Our Cactus and Succulent Society of San Diego, instead of meeting at our usual place in Balboa Park, went on a field trip up to Quail Park Botanic Gardens and bird sanctuary inland a mile or so from Encinitas.

This is an organization any interested group or individual may join. It belongs to the county. It is right up the coast in the heart of the County's principal flower growing gardens where poinsettias and other flowers are grown and where bulbs are propagated to be sent all over this country and Canada.

We saw a great many large and unusual specimen of cacti, succulents and sub-tropical plants and shrubs growing. From what we observed, so far they seemed to be specializing in cacti and succulents, but as the gardens become better known and enlarged, there will doubtless be other fine sub-tropical material added.

There were large Agave attenuata specimens and other agave plants. Nice specimen of Alte, Golen barrel, Aeonium arborous which come in both green and near black petals and large heads of yellow blossoms. Cereus pervianus up to eight or 10 feet high. On the porch of a caretaker's house there was a fine specimen of Sedum morganianum (or burros tail) and various bonsai plants in their little dishes.

Down in a deep canyon we saw what looked like hundreds of Amayllis in bloom. It was really a beautiful sight. I couldn't begin to enumerate all the plants we saw at these gardens. Just get a group together and make a day of it and go visit this park. Or join the organization yourself for the modest sum of $3. You will enjoy belonging to such an organization.

Swamp Buggy

ported in San Diego County. Only one human case of arthropod-borne encephalitis has been confirmed so far during 1964 in California. This case was reported in July from Butte County.

"Fortunately, Culex Tarsalis doesn't care much about feeding on humans," Dr. Askew said. "It prefers birds, which run a much higher body temperature. But if the mosquito population should get out of hand, then the Culex tarsalis might no longer be satisfied with its natural food supply and would turn to horses and humans."

An entomologist on the staff of the Health Department uses light traps to keep tabs on the mosquito population near human population centers. Mosquitos found in the light traps are identified and counted to be sure the Culex tarsalis is under control.

In addition to the larviciding program, Dr. Askew said much of the responsibility for mosquito control in San Diego County is turned over to a fish named Gambusia. This top-minnow feeds on mosquito larvae. The Health Department's Mosquito Control Service regularly plants the top-minnows in problem ponds on public lands and in coastal inlets. The Health Department's larviciding program in which the swamp buggy will be used is also confined to public property.

Mosquito breeding on private property can be controlled, Dr. Askew said, if owners keep their land well drained. He added that ornamental ponds and pools should be stocked with Gambusia fish.

The Department of Public Health keeps a supply of these "mosquito fish" on hand in a tank at the County Operations Center, 5555 Overland. People eager to prevent mosquito breeding in pools or ponds on their property may help themselves to the fish.

Handy Household Hints

(For Harried Homemakers)

Don't freeze cooked foods containing hard-cooked egg whites. Egg white changes in texture rapidly, toughness, and tends to develop off flavors when frozen.

To extract juice from an onion, cut a slice and scrape it over the finest part of your grater. Or simply scrape a sharp knife across the cut edge, working over a small bowl. You'll soon have that teaspoonful of juice many recipes call for. Skip the bowl, if you have a sense of adventure, and scrape the onion right into the mixture that calls for it. A few drops more or less won't matter and you save washing the bowl.

Beets peel easily if they are dipped in cold water immediately after they are boiled. Don't soak em, though—they bleed easily. And remember to always leave an inch of stem and roots on beets when you cook them. Cut too close, and they'll really bleed.

Save those good-enough-to-eat pictures of fruits and vegetables from the magazines, then paste them on the appropriate jars when you do your canning. Makes each one look more appetizing, individual, and "pretty as a picture."

Add a little milk to the water in which you boil potatoes. It improves their taste immensely, and prevents them from turning dark. Another way to keep potatoes white is to add a teaspoon of vinegar to the cooking water.

in the history of San Diego County. The $82 million plant is being financed jointly by San Diego Gas & Electric Company and Southern California Edison Company, who will operate the plant and share in its power output. Westinghouse Electric Corporation will build the nuclear reactor "heart" of the plant.

The steel guy tower will be more than 150 feet high and will be used to support the sphere as it is assembled. When installed, the sphere will be partially buried with its top 100 feet above ground level.

The lower portion will be anchored in place below ground by three feet of poured concrete.

Segments of the sphere are being manufactured at the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company's plant in Salt Lake City, Utah. They will be shipped via rail car to the site in irregular-shaped "orange peel" sections.

Machining and welding technicians will then assemble the huge dome and put it through extensive pressure tests before the concrete is poured around the bottom and lower sides to fix it in the pit.

By that time, Ayersman estimates, the total work force at the site will have gradually increased to 150 men from the 90-man crew now on the job. All but a few supervisory personnel and specialists are being drawn from San Diego County building trades unions.

Adjacent to the sphere, construction is proceeding in another large excavated area where the turbine-generators will be installed. The reinforced concrete foundation for these units is nearing completion.

When the plant "goes on the line" sometime early in 1967, it will have an estimated capacity of 395,000 kilowatts—enough power to supply the entire electrical needs of a city as large as San Diego.

The structural steel skeleton of the long building, visible from the road overlooking the site, is the warehouse, which will become the plant machine and welding shop later. Bechtel crews also have put up a complete carpentry shop on the site.

Several hundred yards of railway track have been laid, branching off from the Santa Fe Railroad's spur at San Onofre, to bring heavy plant components and supplies to the job.

Coast Guard Academy Applications Sought

Congressman James B. Utt (R. 35th Dist.) announced that the annual competition for entrance to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy will commence with the Dec. 5, 1964 administration of the College Entrance Examination Board Tests. These examinations will be given in over 3,000 test centers.

Congressman Utt emphasized the opportunity offered qualified young men who choose this four-year course which leads to a commission as a career officer in America's oldest continuous sea-going Armed Service and a Bachelor of Science degree.

Appointments are made on a competitive basis; there are no separate quotas for States or Districts and no special categories," he said. "I urge all qualified young men who are interested in this worthwhile profession to write for details and application as soon as possible to the Commandant (PTP-2), U.S. Coast Guard, Washington, D.C., 20226.

A candidate for the next examination for the Coast Guard Academy must be single, must have reached his seventeenth but not his twenty-second birthday by July 1, 1965 and must be in excellent physical condition.

A high school diploma is the minimum educational requirement, although high school seniors assured of being graduated by June 30, 1965 are eligible to take the examination if they will have at least 15 credits by that time. All applicants must have three units of English, two in Algebra, and one in Plane Geometry by graduation.

"I'm glad you're so impressed, dear, with all the information I've given you on banking and economics," remarked the young junior executive. "Yes, darling," his wife answered, "it's amazing all you know about money yet not have any."

of school and other activities and the battening down hatches here in the valley getting prepared for another winter of much rain we hope.

Kent Walker returned to the city last week to go back to school and of course to go into training for another year of football which he dearly loves.

Evelyn Brown and her mother Mrs. Wagner drove up to Lancaster for the yearly event of seeing Randy off to school the first day. It seems this has become a must for Randy, he can't start a new year in school if his grandmother isn't there the first day to wave goodbye to him when he leaves the house.

Marilyn and Jay Reis are back in the valley looking for a home. When Jay finished his military obligation they planned to live in

PINE VALLEY

Los Angeles. So up they trekked and rented an apartment but after a week decided that was not for them so they plan to make their home here in the mountains which they both love.

Rita Browne's home was filled to capacity with friends and neighbors over the weekend. This was a wonderful way to end the summer with a huge pot luck and the table was groaning with the best food. Among those who gathered were Jerry and Diana Cromwell and children, Jerry and Barbara Howell of San Diego, the Bob Garins and a host more from all over San Diego County.

Don't forget the Pine Valley Improvement Club's cook out on the 12th at 7:30. It is always a time of good fellowship and an evening of pure delight.

Katherine and R. T. Hadley are busy entertaining their two grandsons and the parents of course, Mr. and Mrs. George Gorsen of League City, Texas. Since R. T. is working in the park that gives the family a good excuse every night to take his dinner over and have a picnic.

Judy Mulling and her two daughters have moved into the home of Ralph and Ruth while Albert is away and Judy is going to commute to the city to take training as a beautician. Elaine Strand started her training in the same course on Wednesday of the past week.

The U. S. Public Health Service reports that at least 12,000,000 Americans now have some form of chronic respiratory disease, or RD. The commonest symptoms of RD are chronic cough and shortness of breath. Anyone who has either of these symptoms should see a doctor immediately, your Christmas Seal Association says.

College Students Seek Employment

Grossmont College Student Placement Office, a service of the California State Department of Employment on the campus, is in need of jobs for college students who are trained in phases of business or industry.

Statistics show it is vitally important that these young adults continue their education. By the time a student has reached College level, the primary reason for dropping out of school is a financial one. If even a few hours a day of paid employment can keep a student in school, the employer will be well rewarded, placement office officiate said.

Junior College students are receiving training, and many have had work experience operating various business machines; in architectural drafting, photography, art (industrial and commercial), police science, technical illustration, data processing, dental assisting, merchandise management, journalism, secretarial science, accounting and industrial electronics.

College students are available for work in sales, restaurant and drive-in work, cashiers, receptionists, typists, switchboard operators, stock clerks, life guards, swim instructors, delivery, service station attendants, labor (any type), yard work and child care. Applicants for each job are carefully selected and screened by personnel trained by the California State Department of Employment. This is a free service to both employer and employee.

Grossmont College has moved to its new campus in Fletcher Hills at 8800 Grossmont College Drive in late August to be ready for the fall semester. The Student Placement Office will be located in room 114, Administration Center, telephone number 465-1700; after September 1st there will be an additional number, 465-1684.

Day enrollment is expected to increase from 1,762 last fall to at least 2,350 for this fall semester, with approximately 50% of the students needing part time employment.
