Large Sales Reflect Growth!

Entertain TV Actor

A well known TV actor who is living a miracle of life spent a happy yule holiday here with his wife's brother and his wife. He is Howard McNear, jovial Floyd the Barber, with Andy Griffith's popular show on Channel 8 Mondays at 9 pm. Mr. and Mrs.

Perhaps a straw in the wind, this week's sale of the Arthur J. Cesario house and land at 2136 Hwy 80, adjoining the Woman's Club with other recent sales of large properties, indicates that this community is going ahead despite imminent cutoff from through traffic by the freeway.

MORE ON 20

Howard McNear, popular with TV viewers around the world, who spent Christmas with his wife's brother, Jack Spatz and wife, at their attractive Alpine home, has become a devotee of the area and its fine climate. Here, after breakfast, with Spatz, at left, and Editor Irvine, Howard signs guest book for Irvine Ranch. The trio are pioneers of LA & SD, did a lot of reminiscing.

Jack Spatz were their hosts till they

Decoration Winners

Alpine Chamber of Commerce announces awards in its annual Christmas Decorations Contest: Residential, Mrs. Theo Jones, 3535 Hwy 80, for nine lighted trees; commercial, Alpine's Convalescent Center for a huge lighted star and myriads of tiny lights.

"It was a task for our five judges to determine winners" Mrs. Katherine Black, committeeman told the Sun "and there were so many runner-up with beautiful decorations".

3 Honors to Rowan

Robert Rowan, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rowan of Acacia Lane, home for the holidays, brought three signal honors from his Dec. 10th graduation at the famous Brooks Institute of Photography in Santa Barbara where he has been a diligent student for three years and two months.

Chicago-born Robert treasures a rare plaque for Outstanding Achievement in Photography, the school having awarded but three since he has been there. The Rowans came here in 1958. Rowan was with Florence's Market for several years. They have one other son, Tim.

The two trophies, shown in photo, were for Best Black & White 16 mm Cinema and Best Color in 16 mm Cinema. He has made proficiency also in portraiture, color photography, and illustrative color, besides, as he modestly states "lucky enough to hang prints in several exhibits, two of which were in April, 1965, in the Professional Photographers of America National Contest in New York City". This is the world's top competition in which he hung two gorgeous photographs.

This talented youth plans to go on to college before accepting one of the many positions he has been offered.

The major menaces on the highway today are drunken driving, thumbs for rides and one-armed driving. To put it briefly,—hic, hike and hug.

Riot Report Calls for Drastic Action.

With 1965 ending tonight, and Christmas with its theme of inspiration, forgiveness and love oneanotherness not a full week past, perhaps it is time for this nation and Los Angeles in particular to take a good look at that 101-page report on last summer's frightening riots for which taxpayers were charged $250,000. In addition it cost $40 million property damages, 34 dead and many injured, besides the humiliation of the Negro population of good, sound, nice folks.

The apprehensive implications in the report were topped by the commission's highlight: "So serious is the situation that unless it is checked, the riots may seem by comparison to be only a curtain-raiser for what could blow up one day in the future."

They concluded that the turbulent six days were due to many factors; too few jobs, insufficient schooling, resentment of police, exploding colored population (75,000 to 650,000 in 25 years); frustration, delusionment inadequate transportation, sidetracked poverty projects.

As a remedy, they suggest "Co-operative programs for employment and training, participated in by the Negro community, governmental agencies, employers and organized labor.

Perhaps Uncle Sam should think more of helping his Negro nephews, and as mentioned in the first paragraph extend more help to them, for, after all they came here not of their own accord, but were brutally captured and enslaved, then downtrodden for these many years. And at the same time we might treat our Mexcian-American nephews better, also.

The world will never, never have a better admonition than "That Ye love one another". — CI

Horse Talk

By Cynthia Irvine

Christmas Day, 1965, usually the most exciting and happiest of all, turned into a sad, sorrowful one when we got the news at 9 am that our Mr. Mac (Roy McClinton) had died of a heart attack right after breakfast. We all were stunned and could hardly believe it. We had gotten up at 4 to open our packages and then gone back to bed and I was sleeping soundly when Celeste brought the news to me. My sisters and I had been over the night before to see them both and Mrs. Mac wasn't feeling up to par but he seemed ok. He had complained about a chest pain when they returned from Pasadena on Wednesday but a drive that long drive that long could have caused that, so no one thought anything about it. And then on Christmas morning he went suddenly before the doctor could even reach his side.

A wonderful pal has gone out of our lives and when we reminisce over the 10 years he was our friend we see how generous and kind he was. There never was a time when we needed him for our horses that he didn't come, whether it was early or late, rainy or hot, we could count on him. When Maxine Kinikin's horse threw her and she broke her arm I took care of Molly here, Molly slipped on the muddy ground and we thought sure she had broken a bone in her ankle. It was nearly dark and raining heavily and we naturally called Mr. Mac. He made it over in record time and after washing off the leg and examining it, said it was just a bad sprain but he came over for several after and helped us treat it and massage it. When my horse Smokey got caught in barbed wire he suggested a vet because of the puncture wounds and then until the wounds healed he came over every afternoon and helped me wash them out and dress them. He went up to Mrs. Rashes on Willows Road when her horse got colic so bad and helped her out and I'll bet there are many more that have called on Mr. Mac for his knowledge and sympathy when needed.

He loved horses and it didn't matter what kind, would work them out for us. He helped me break my first filly, Celeste's horse had had a 2 year old colt at her side when we bought her and he was thrilled to help me train her. He was over sometimes till noon working and teaching me the know-how of horse training. I took on Cammy, Kip, Cappy and Wendy and with each one he was here to help take the kinks out. Some were ornery but with Mr. Mac they turned into putty and in a short time he had them obeying with a word or a hand signal. It was almost magic to see him work and I will be forever grateful that he was my friend.

Mrs. Scully traded her big grey gelding for a nice little 5 year old mare that needed a bit of calming down and when she called Mr. Mac he said "You know I have been waiting for this opportunity to come over". He went and spent 3 hours with her mare and then asked "Can I come back tomorrow, I have had so much fun!

Mr. Mac had just bought another pony rig that he was using on Bob Smith's donkey and was waiting for us to bring our little Shetland pony home so he would teach me how to train the horse to the rig. He loved nothing better than to get the other Shetland Pepper hitched up and go riding down Tavern Road. He sold that outfit because Mrs. McClinton and he were going to take a nice trip up north and he didn't know how long they would be gone so sold it, knowing he would get another when he returned, which he did.

He never missed any of our Pequeno

ROY McCLINTON

Funeral service was Monday in El Cajon Mortuary for Roy E. McClinton, 76, who died suddenly from a heart attack in his home, 2452 Tavern Rd., on the John Gault Ranch Mrs. McClinton was with him at the time, shortly after breakfast on Christmas morning. Dr. Roger Larson officiated at the mortuary chapel, also at graveside services in Alpine Cemetery. He was born in New Westminster, BC, Can.

He had lived here 10 years after retiring as a driver for Greyhound, Auburn, Wash. They had been married 53 years. She was also an accomplished horsewoman, as "Mr. Mac" was known around the county for his unusual talents in training horses and teaching youngsters to ride.

Survivors: besides the widow Sadie; two sons, Keith of Newark, Cal, and Kenneth of Pasadena, now of Salem, Ore; five sisters, out of state; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

DOUBLE TALK

By Cecile & Celeste Irvine

I guess Alpine will never be the same now that Mr. Mac isn't here any longer. JoAnn Villa's mother took us down to attend the services. Cathy Casey and her family came from Davis to attend the funeral.

They say that things happen in twos and threes but when Bobby Sortino fell Christmas Day and broke his arm his mother began to wonder. They have only lived in Alpine for 7 months and during that time they have had 4 casts to prove that three isn't the end. Scott broke his arm, Mrs. Sortino broke her leg and now Bobby has another broken bone. He had his hand in a cast this summer so now Mrs. Sortino is sure the jinx is off, and we all hope so too.

We were glad the 4-H Amigos stopped off Christmas Eve and serenaded us with their caroling. We were the last stop and they were frozen and hungry but they piled out of the trucks and sang just once more. We all enjoyed it so much.

Mike Scully was the lucky winner at the Alpine Hardware Christmas contest drawing.

Last Wednesday we drove up to Hemet and San Jacinto to visit our cousins and went up to Cherry Valley. The night before snow had fallen and it was so pretty.

Maxine and Lynn Kinikin took a trip to Hollywood before Christmas and toured the studios and other places of interest, also Disneyland before they drove home Sunday.

We were feeling pretty low Monday afternoon after Mr. Mac's funeral so Daddy had a surprise for us. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spatz who live on Victoria Drive had his sister Helen and husband Howard McNear down for Christmas. Mr. McNear is Floyd the barber on the Andy Griffith Show. We sang several songs for them and then we did one that I wrote "Lover Come Back" and Howard said "that one nearly made me cry". We all had such a good visit. Cynthia met Andy when he was at the Del Mar Fair a few years ago and thought he was the nicest TV star she had ever met.

Little Susie Sayers, 8, was really surprised Christmas morning when her Daddy took her out to see her present, Popcorn, a nice donkey. They live on Alpine Heights Road and her dad runs the Alliance Police Patrol in La Mesa. He sneaked the donkey up after buying it from Tommy's down in EC.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cole, he's son of Mrs. Weibel whose husband on Arnold Way and Holly Road built adobe houses wrote friends from their home in Ft. Smith, Ark. with some unfortunate news. While out picking hickory nuts Joe fell from a high tree and broke all the large bones in his body. He is in traction and cannot be moved but is making progress. His wife Wanda reports that they hope to have him cast before the new year. The doctor said he was lucky to be alive.

TV ACTOR STORY From I

McNear, slightly handicapped from a stroke three years ago, which kept him away from the studio for one year, says it is a miracle he is alive and working, and is daily thankful for his pleasant work and the loving care of his wife, Helen.

He is no stranger to this area, having played at the old Savoy in SD from age 19 to 21. He was much interested in seeing the Julian Eltinge ranch, as he knew the star very well in earlier Hollywood days.

"Marvel Lawrence, who stands in for me," he says, "is the foster daughter of Eltinge. His voice is known to millions for he played "Doc" on the original "Gunsmoke" radio program for 9½ years.

His first TV work was with Walter Brennan, with whom he also did his first movie. He joined Griffith seven years ago. He is a native Angeleno, born there in 1906, starting his acting career in the Mission Play at San Gabriel where they lived. He was a friend of its author, California's poet laureate, John Stephen McGroarty.

"Yes, the Griffith folks are a wonderful troupe to work with" he told the Sun, "and I'm grateful for being alive and able to work with Andy".

Floyd the witty barber, loved by millions on TV, joking with Cynthia who shot the rest of the interview photos, as Alice made this candid one of him.

The McNears are proud of their son Chris, 21, who spent his holiday fishing near La Paz, being a fisherman since age 6, "and he has caught some real beauties" says Howard, "he landed the second largest yellow tail this year".

Note- We deeply enjoyed our hour with these folks, and hope that someday when jolly Floyd retires, he and his wife will choose Alpine which Mr. and Mrs. Spatz so much enjoy. -CI

Riders shows if he could help it, and always supported them. He was an inspiration to everyone here in Alpine that knew him and his wife Sadie stayed home and patiently waited for him to return, never complaining about his absence.

In 1961 I really surprised Mr. Mac on his birthday. My sisters and Mama and I collected 50 silver dollars and presented them to him. We had received donations from kids that he had helped and he was really thrilled. It made us so happy to do something for him for a change.

I guess about the hardest thing for us to do was to attend his funeral that was held Monday in El Cajon Mortuary with burial in Alpine Cemetery.

All that knew him were amazed at his knowledge of horses but back in 1913 he had graduated from veterinarian school but because of the restrictions in this area never practiced here.

Mr. Mac loved living to the hilt and we know he wouldn't have changed anything. He was happiest when on horseback or talking about them and we will remember him the rest of our lives. And I for one am so glad that he came into my life and poured out his knowledge of horses to me. I probably didn't always appreciate it but because of him, will make a lot better adult. I am sure and I know my sisters and just about every kid here who has a horse, feels the same way.

Mrs. Frank Hawk, chairman of the 59th annual campaign says that respiratory diseases now cause more time lost from work and school than any other illness or injury, and their cost is rising.

FRED YALE

Funeral Service was Wednesday in El Cajon Mortuary for Alfred J. Yale, 70, who died Sunday in an EC Hospital. He had been suffering for some time from cancer and emphysema. The Rev. Wm. Bray, formerly of Alpine, officiated. Cremation followed with deposit in Ft. Rosecrans National Cemetery, Yale being an army veteran of WWI. He was a native of Connecticut, had lived in the area for 45 years, formerly operating a well digging business from his ranch home on Japatul Road.

Survivors; widow, Eleanor B., and step-daughter Craige Bothel, a dramatic actress of New York City. His mother was Milissa Ford, a relative of Henry Ford, and Yale, an expert mechanic, was proud to claim lineage with the great auto manufacturer, whom he greatly resembled.

LARGE SALES STORY From I

This sale, by Charlene V. Brown, of Brown Realty Co., was to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lacko who recently built a fine large home here. Mrs. Mary Lacko, with Mrs. Virginia Scott, own and run Alpine's Active Sportswear. They have made such a success that they needed larger quarters, with parking, so plan to remodel and enlarge the house, and improve the property otherwise. It was at one time used as an infant's wear shop.

Cesario used to live at the house at Tavern Rd. and Arnold Way, which he now has on the market. With his wife he lives in SD. "We believe Alpine has a great future" he told the Sun this week, while ordering his subscription renewed.

Francis A. Wangler, seaman recruit, USN, son of the Robt. E. Wanglers, has started his 7-week basic training at USNTC in SD.
