CAROL COST IN PULPIT SUNDAY

Here on vacation to visit her family, coming from Chicago Theological Seminary, Carol Cost, graduate of UC Riverside, will occupy the pulpit of Community Church Sunday. This is College Recognition Sunday, says Dr. Roger Larson, the church's minister.

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5).

'TRANSFER' PARTY AT CABIN

Barney & Agnes Ratliff, who sold their Log Cabin Cafe to Mr. & Mrs. Muncill, which takes effect Dec. 31, are giving a farewell and welcome party on Monday night at 7:30 for friends of both.

It will be a farewell for the Ratliffs, a welcome to the new owners, so old friends of the outgoing owners may meet the newcomers, who are enthused over prospects of taking over popular spot.

Here are principals in Sunday night's beautiful presentation of the Christmas story in Community Church. From left: Carol Cost, here on vacation from Chicago Theological Seminary, a graduate of UC Riverside; her mother, Mrs. C. D. Cost, organist; Dr. Roger Larson; Bea LaForce, who wrote, photographed and staged the presentation, and Lenore Lusk, teacher of music and singing, who arranged that part of it.

SHELL GRAND OPENING DATE SET

Ron Niccum, owner of the business at Alpine Shell Service, Interstate 8 at Tavern Rd., says the firm has slated a grand opening for the last weekend in January, Friday through Sunday.

"There will be refreshments, gifts, glassware to all purchasers", says Niccum, "with a carton of cokes to each fill-up, plus green stamps, which we are now giving". The busy station is open 24 hours daily.

car scared horses off the roads, they have killed a million more Americans than were killed in all of our wars since 1775.

The company paying for the ad giving these sad statistics was Mobil Oil Corp., whose reason was merely "we want you to live".

Why do we kill so many? Well, most everyone is responsible, but mostly the automobile makers who encourage the stupidity to drive fast cars fast. America goes at excessive speeds, and most of this is due to drunken drivers, statistics reveal.

One of every 50 cars approaching you will be piloted by a drunken driver—not drinking, but plain drunk. People often ask me, a pilot of light airplanes, "arn't you afraid up there in the air?"

No, not a bit, for when you drive a car, there are some 1500 or more per hour coming at you on a collision course. While in the air we seldom even see another plane! I feel much safer up in the air than on any highway.

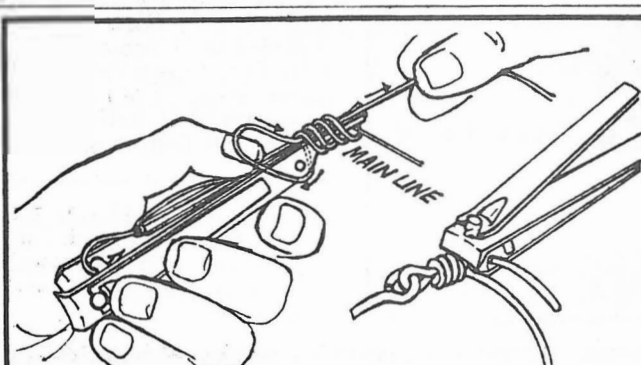

With New Year's Eve only a few days away, it behooves us all to drive extra carefully, and control ourselves behind the wheel. Never let anger, impatience or discourtesy affect your driving. Go defensively. Give that right-of-way to whoever must have it. Be patient; be safe and stay alive. -CI

BUILDS SHELTER FOR BUS RIDERS

The chamber of commerce furnished material and Alpine Kiwanians did the building of this natty shed for folks waiting for the bus in front of the Woman's Club which allows their corner to be used.

The project is one of the many underway by the Beautification Committee, chaired by Elizabeth West. At left Dick Lane and Jack Hoistad are at work with Jim Sockwell hammering on roof.

Mark Schutzer is selling his Morgan-Quarter stud for $300. He has put in considerable time with the colt but he is only green and needs quite a bit of ground work before he can be ridden. He is only 1½, is out of Doug Payne's mare Gracie and stud Red that they had for many years.

April Earickson has been enjoying her nice gelding since he arrived from her former home in Denver, Colo. It took quite a few months to get the horse transported but now that he is here, she is quite content.

Lisa Pierce is looking forward to her second colt out of Skip Beau this spring and this horse is making quite a name for himself, was formerly owned by Melva Riley.

COLDER WEATHER NOW DUE

The Hayseed Fireside Center down at 600 Bdway in EC reports that more residents around Alpine and the back country, which they serve with all sorts of fireplace items, are going in for this type of cozy heating.

Which reminds one that Alpine has no woodyard or local tree service. Tennessee Tree Service comes up here a great deal, however.

Every night from Sunday to Christmas a group of 4H club members enacted this nativity scene, a living Christmas card, on the hill in front of Alpine Convalescent Center.

This is the manger scene, and in front, lower on the slope, they had real sheep and the entire scene was lighted from the center, which supplied materials for the project.

Different young people enacted the parts each night. This photo was made when it opened Sunday.

Wide is the gate and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction.

McCall's Ranch School presented its annual Christmas program Friday of last week in the Woman's Club before a full house of friends and relatives of the students.

Twins, in middle of line, are grandsons Robt. and Russell, of Mrs. Marjorie McClurken of Alpine Terrace.

They all gave a happy birthday wish to young Scott Brown as it was his natal day.

FREEWAY DID NOT KILL ALPINE

"The habit of dropping in for a game of pool and a drink, which many have done for years at Casino Inn", says Red Andrews, owner, who runs it with his wife Ethel, "has kept a lot of old customers coming in off the freeway."

With hardly a house to rent here, and the population increasing, the freeway did not make a ghosttown of it, but a good town! The only place that closed with the opening of I-8, was the bakery, and it is said by many local customers that they erred in shutting.

The calves are worth $75. when they are born and it is a shame to lose them in this manner. Keep your dog home if you suspect him as the culprit, that is, if you want him to keep on living! Interested in whale watching? Here is your chance to get a first-hand glimpse of these huge mammals. They leave from the Islandia Hotel and Seaforth Sport fishing piers at 1 on Monday through Friday and 11 and 2 on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. There was an unusually gay homecoming party in Maj. James E. Snow's apartment at Alpine Village Sunday. While happy, it held a note of emotion, for the major's only grandson, Jim arrived from a year's duty in Vietnam.

Terry and Sharon are roommates,

Terry attending SD State, and is a Youth Coordinator at Walker Scott, while Sharon teaches in SD City Schools.

The younger Mrs. Stacy is also a teacher, of English, in Sweetwater School District.

Lt. Stacy who has served 2½ years, has eight months to go, will be on duty in Barstow, can visit here occasionally. His parents live in Santa Ana, left Monday for home.

In drinking a toast to the returning Marine, Maj. Snow, world famous sharpshooter, now 83, retired from the Corps, said, with deep emotion, "I'm not too religious a man, but I thank God that my prayers for the safe return of my only grandson, have been answered".

Even the Sun's editor felt the profound emotions of the little family group, then made this photo of the thankful, happy group.

A present, something that the old officer had long desired, was presented him, an English chimes clock, from Helen, Bob and Sharon.

It was indeed, a very gladsome day for the Stacy and Snow clans!

PRETTY EXHIBIT AT SECURITY BANK

This realistic and colorful living room scene of Christmas with a tubby Santa and all the decorations was made by two of Alpine's hand-craft artists, Mr. and Mrs. John Burness of Eltinge Dr.

They always have a well-decorated house, making everything themselves. The bank this season looks most attractive with many decorations, topped by this picturesque one.

MAKES TRAVEL EASY, TOO.

Some people think one has to pay extra to a travel agent when they get tickets through one, says Rudy Yarmouth, who with Ray Tiber, runs El Cajon Travel Service.

"That is a mistake" says Rudy, who secured the plane tickets for Editor Irvine's recent trip to Reno and Medford. "We do all the phoning and securing reservations and you don't have to pay a cent more than what you would if you bought direct from air, train or bus line", he adds.

'WHERE SUNSHINE SPENDS THE YEAR'

The Sun's Alpine Weather Records, published annually as a public service, reveals, according to the author, C. Robert Elford of the US Weather Bureau office in San Francisco: "Clear skies are the rule during much of the year. Averages show about 254 days to be clear, 51 partly cloudy, and only 60 cloudy".

BUILDING NATIVITY SCENE

Here are two employees of Alpine Convalescent Center, O.E. Bacon, engineer, at left, and Tim Rowan, who built the fence, stable and manger for that colorful living Christmas card everyone admired on the center's front yard hillside.

It took several days to get the scene ready for its premiere Sunday evening. Too bad it was not visible from the freeway.

HC Missionary Society sent over 400 lbs. of quilts, used clothing and new toys to Arizona and New Mexico Missions. Frontier Town donated many new toys this year so members were doubly thrilled to send such a large amount to the needy in this area.

PO RUSH WAS GREATEST

This season's Christmas load at Alpine Postoffice was what H. T. Magnussen, PM, believes to be the heaviest in the history of the local office.

Helping out was Mary Mazzola, of EC, who was allocated here recently following his request for an added part-time clerk. He has two others working on this basis: Shirley Strauch, and Clyde Barnet.

Note- The Sun wishes to thank the local crew for so competently handling distribution of the paper here; also to other offices for their good work.

Bob Wilson, pioneer Texaco dealer here, spends all his spare time around their fine new mobilhome at Vista Alpine where he and wife Iris enjoy living. The entire place is fast becoming lovely with so many putting in flowers, shrubs and the park itself being landscaped.

THIS ATTRACTED ATTENTION

Here is the exterior of the Sceppe's mobilhome with a lighted display of choirboys and angels singing Christmas carols. The lighted window with beautiful tree inside was real attraction in the park.

The characters are made of plastic, with lights inside, which makes them stand out in the night. The display was well worth seeing.

REPORTS STORE VOLUME UP

Jerry Harmer, who with his wife runs Florence's Market, 2262 Alpine Blvd. which has been here over 20 years serving Alpine and the back country, says business has increased visibly since Vista Alpine Mobile Home Estates, adjoining the market, opened.

"And we have a lot of old customers from up and down the highway that still drop in here to shop", he adds.

Pat Naud of the H & R Block income tax office here says "Because of the new tax reform changes, please get your data in early or it will be too late".
